Mrs. Josephine Martin Takes Post As Residence Director

Mrs. Josephine Martin, recently appointed director of women's residence, assumed the duties of that position early this week. She was chosen this summer to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Dean Nina Bushnell.

Her duties are, with one exception, the same as those performed by her predecessor. Mrs. Martin is responsible for the upkeep and repairs of all women's dormitories and the conduct of all women dorm students. As resident hostess, she will greet and make arrangements for all guests in the dorms and the South Campus dining room. Dean Halcyon Sartwell is now in charge of attendance at South Campus chapels.

Mrs. Martin, who studied at Theil College in Greenville, Pennsylvania, has worked with young people for many years. She hopes to meet and work with all the students at Moravian.

Before coming to Moravian, Mrs. Martin was, for five years, house mother of the Sewickley Hospital in Sewickley, Pa. From 1947 to 1952 she was a teacher at the Sewickley Fresh Air Home for Crippled Children. Prior to that time, Mrs. Martin was a supervisor of the city play grounds and conducted library and education classes for aliens on a part-time basis in Greenville. She is a graduate of Chicora and Butler, Pa., grammar and high schools.

Mrs. Martin is the mother of two grown children, Phyllis, a high school instructor, and Alan, a minister. She also has two grandchildren. Her hobbies include helping young people and such handicrafts as knitting and painting.

Burcaw Announces Double-Cast Leads In Greek 'Antigone'

Due to abundant competition for the female roles in the coming production of "Antigone," Mr. Robert Burcaw, director, has doublecast two of the parts. Nancy Baker and Mary Lou Clewell will play Antigone, and Audrey Hair and Madlyn Senick will portray Ismene. The male lead, Creon, will be taken by Griffith Dudding.

The play will be produced by the Blackfriars and performed on Friday and Saturday evenings, November 23 and 24.

Miss Baker, who was seen last year in "The Coming of Christ," will perform on Friday evening. Her other local experience with the Blackfriars was as business manager for the production of "Harvey." Miss Clewell, performing on Saturday evening, is making her debut with the Blackfriars.

Miss Hair and Miss Senick will also be making their debuts in Blackfriar productions. Dudding has had previous roles in "The Coming of Christ" and "Harvey."

Nan Gingher, seen last year in "Harvey," will play the nurse of Antigone. Beverly Luzetti, a Blackfriars veteran, will portray Creon's wife, while Wayne Shurgart, a newcomer, is cast as Haemon, Creon's son. Dick Tewell, who appeared in "Harvey," will play the First Guard. Charles Fischel, also a newcomer, will portray the Second Guard. The dual roles of the Third Guard and Messenger will be played by Joe Rosenfeld, who will make his debut in this play. Bernard Staller will narrate the play in place of the Chorus.

Florence Symphony Orchestra To Give College Hall Performance Next Week

For the first time in thirty-eight years a major Italian symphony orchestra is touring the United States. The people of Bethlehem and the student body at Moravian College will be able to hear the only local performance of the Symphony Orchestra of the Florence Festival on October 12 at 8:30 p.m., in College Hall. The Orchestra del Maggio Musical Fiorentino, as it is officially known, numbers 100 musicians and a triumvirate of conductors. The tour includes appearances in sixty-five American cities. Their College Hall concert will consist of the same program that the orchestra will play before the United Nations three days earlier.

Moravian students will be admitted free of charge with the presentation of the community concert tickets obtained with the identification cards. The student tickets are transferable, thereby making it possible for students of other colleges to attend, should they obtain a ticket from a Moravian student. Students will be admitted at a special door, which will be held for students only.

The Symphony Orchestra of the Florence Festival is an integral part of the celebrated Florence "Maggio," a music festival noted for its color and popularity. The Maggio is held in Florence, Italy, each May and June and attracts music-lovers from all over the world. The orchestra is also the official orchestra of this historic city. The three men who are alternating the conducting honors are Carlo Zecchi, Franco Ferrara, and Franco Mannino.

The Symphony Orchestra of the Florence Festival, since its founding in 1928, has performed under the baton of virtually every great conductor in the world.

The program, as interpreted by Maestri Zecchi, Ferrara and Mannino, will include a number of works by the great old masters, as well as a whole new repertoire of seldom-heard Italian symphonic works. Also to be heard will be the first performance of Signor Mannino's "Sinfonia Americana," a major new work celebrating the first overseas tour of the Symphony Orchestra of the Florence Festival.

Carlo Zecchi, orchestral conductor, concert pianist, and composer, was born in Rome in 1903. Zecchi began his piano studies with his mother, but was early placed under the Sicilian pedagogue, Francesco Bajandi.

After graduating from the Conservatory of Santa Cecilia in Rome, Zecchi toured the world as a piano virtuoso. In 1938 he conducted the orchestra in Basle amid worldwide acclaim. Since then he has conducted the Vienna Philharmonic.

Pajama Parade, Dance, Queen Highlight First Big Weekend

The annual Homecoming Parade, the Pennsylvania Military—Moravian football game, and the Homecoming Dance will each be part of the first big weekend at Moravian on October 18 and 19. Other plans include a pep rally and bonfire immediately following the parade.

The queen of Homecoming weekend will be crowned by last year's queen, Mitzie Pennington, during the intermission of the dance. Voting for the queen will be conducted on October 16. Each combined class will hold its own election to select its three candidates for the weekend queen. The entire school will then choose the queen from the twelve candidates.

The Homecoming parade will begin on Friday evening at 7:30, and another parade will take place on Saturday afternoon at 12:30 before the game. The parade will include the Moravian College Band, fraternity and sorority floats, and the freshmen, adorned in pajamas. Judging will take place on Friday evening, although the winners will not be announced until halftime at the football game.

DeMattio In Charge

John DeMattio is in charge of the parade floats. Ideas for floats by the various fraternities must be submitted to DeMattio and approved by him. Also, persons who have convertible cars for use by the queen and her court in the parade have been asked to contact DeMattio as soon as possible.

The bonfire and pep rally will be held on the lower athletic field immediately after the Friday parade. Saturday's parade will wind up circling the football field. Game time is 2 p.m.

Dance Theme

"Moments to Remember" has been chosen as theme of the dance. Details on decorations will be announced at a later date. Matt Gillespie and his orchestra will play for the dance from 9-12 p.m.

Pictures of the four candidates for queen must be submitted to Sandra Iobst by noon, Tuesday, October 8. These pictures will be printed in The Comenian on Friday, October 11. The queen will then be selected by secret ballot on Wednesday, October 16.

Last Year

At last year's Homecoming weekend 1200 students, alumni, and guests jammed College Hall to watch Mitzie Pennington crowned queen. Her court included Mary Ann Gingles, Polly Repsher, Barbara Shelton, and Fran LeTowt. Miss Pennington, who received a certificate in secretarial studies, is now receptionist on South Campus.

The Greyhounds made a joyous afternoon for the spectators by romping over the Flying Dutchmen of Lebanon Valley, 33-2.

Omicron Gamma Omega Fraternity took top honors in the float contest for the third straight year, while Alpha Epsilon Pi Sorority took second place and Pi Mu Fraternity, third. Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity was awarded Honorable Mention.

President Hauptert Announces Schedule Of Speakers For Campi Chapel Services

The Chapel schedule for services on both the North and South Campi has been announced by Dr. Raymond Hauptert. Those who are in charge of the services have made tentative arrangements with some of the student organizations to participate in the program. A meeting between Dr. G. Alden Sears and Miss Emily Butner, and the officers of two of the campus organizations, Norm Hauser, president of the Campus Christian Association, Dick Ehrenberg, chaplain of Pi Mu, and Bob Smith, president of Pi Mu, was held last Monday, September 30. At this time plans were made for carrying out a series of talks on "Christian Personalities" for the Thursday Chapel services.

The Thursday program, under the direction of Dr. Sears and Miss Butner, includes the student participation plans. Any student in addition to those who are members of Pi Mu or the Campus Christian Association may participate at any time by asking Dr. Sears or Miss Butner. This invitation is extended to all students and student groups.

The Reverend Gordon Stoltz, pastor of the College Hill Moravian Church on Laurel Street in Bethlehem, has accepted the call to be responsible for the Friday morning service on North Campus. He is the only pastor yet to have answered the call to assist in the Chapel services regularly.

Dean Halcyon Sartwell has contacted some of the other local pastors and lay leaders in regard to speaking at the South Campus Chapel services on Tuesday mornings. Two personalities who have accepted are Reverend Dr. Burns Brodhead, local Methodist pastor, and Miss Heimtraut Dietrich, Dean of Women at Muhlenberg College. There are to be others who will speak occasionally for the Tuesday morning services on South Campus. A number of the faculty have already volunteered their services as substitutes for those in charge whenever necessary.

Moravian Has Most Intense Hazing Among Area Colleges

by Marjorie Koch

Fiercely attacked by newspapers, solicitous parents, and outraged administrations, and stoutly defended by many students (even some frosh), hazing has always been a source of campus controversy. As far back as 1901, Princeton noted that its registration of incoming students had dropped due to "severe hazing" the previous year. The origin of hazing is hard to discover, but it may have originally been a naval practice. In 1893 it was stated in the article "S. Brown's Bunyip" that "The process is called 'hazing'. The sufferer gets all the dirtiest and most disagreeable jobs to be found on shipboard."

Moravian College has been more traditional in its attitude towards hazing than the other schools in this area. A campus-to-campus survey indicates that the trend is away from intensive hazing. Cedar Crest limits its hazing requirements to wearing dinks, knowing cheers, the Alma Mater, and the contents of the customs book (the counterpart of our handbook). They too have an athletic competition to end hazing. This year they held a contest to see who could make the most unusual name sign.

At Muhlenberg the official attire for men students is dinks, name pins, black ties, and sport coats. They must carry pipecleaners and matches. Other than shouting cheers and giving the "freshman challenge" they are seldom asked to do anything else by the sophomores. The new co-eds can be hazed by all the upperclasswomen. Contrary to Moravian procedure they are obliged to use the front doors of some buildings. This, however, is only because it is more inconvenient for them. They are required to know songs, cheers, members of tribunal council, and members of the student council. Monday seems to be "misery night" at Muhlenberg, for that is when the male and co-ed frosh attend tribunals.

Little can be said of the Lehigh hazing system, for it is practically nonexistent. Freshmen are only required to wear dinks and name pins.

The consensus of opinion among those most concerned at Moravian appears to be in favor of continuing hazing. Many girls find it fun and "part of college life." They feel the sophomore girls have been fair and have not singled out any girls for special "persecution." On the negative side one girl complained of an aching arm from "all those heavy bracelets." Another favorite gripe was the name signs which they feel have literally become "a pain in the neck."

A thought-provoking suggestion was brought up by one of the freshman girls on South Campus. She said, "The trouble is that you get to know us, but we don't know you. Most of the time the sophomores say 'Button Frosh!' and that's all. Why couldn't the upperclasswomen wear name pins too?"

The male frosh had few comments to make. They also favor hazing, but there has been too little of it to discuss. One freshman feels if there were more hazing it would help to create a better class spirit, for they would "stick it out together."

The reason for the lack of hazing among the men students this year is faculty intervention. This is a definite threat to the future of hazing at Moravian. These are the years when it will be decided if hazing at Moravian is a boon or a bane. If the students want hazing, they must fight—and compromise sometimes — to keep it. Otherwise it will inevitably die out as it has done in so many other American colleges and universities.

The Same Old Story

During the past two weeks of college it has again come to The Comenian's attention that we have an overcrowded condition at both daily chapels. The situation is not new. It has existed each semester for some time.

This year, however, the seating and noise conditions at chapels on both North and South Campi seem to have grown worse. The crowding condition, of course, is due to the increased influx of freshman and transfer students. The noise disturbance is an outgrowth of the overcrowding.

Just three years ago we remember that, with the inception of the dual services on each campus, conditions seemed to work out quite satisfactorily. Two years past we took note of an editorial appearing in The Comenian headlined, "The Chapel Situation." It asked for the cooperation of the student body and administration on this perplexing situation. It was with this editorial that a committee was established by the Dean to study the problem.

The findings of that committee were fruitful but few. Findings did stem the distractions, close the chapel doors to late comers, and bring forth an official list which required those students with last names beginning with the letter A to K to attend first chapel exclusively. Those with last names alphabetically L to Z were restricted to second chapel.

As late as last year we recall the noisy and crowded conditions in chapel again. The noise and talking disturbances while the chapel service was in progress became so bad that, at one time while the president was officiating, he was so rudely interrupted by loud voices three times during that chapel that the service was dismissed early. The incident in reference happened on North Campus.

Again this semester we find somewhat the same problem taking place. Granted, the students may be more respectful to the speaker, but those of us who happen to arrive a bit late, either by our own accord or because of the bus, are still obliged to worship while standing in a crowded aisle or pushed out into the hallways.

The problem seems to again need complete revamping. We have simply grown too large in number for our small chapels. It is only human nature to become restless and tired when asked to stand through a worship service, especially if the service is poorly prepared. Possibly the whole chapel program needs change or "face lifting" as the campus buildings were this past vacation.

We do not condemn the fact that the college requires the attendance of approximately three chapels per week. Moravian was founded on the belief of a need for schooling mentally and spiritually. To condemn a required church service would be nonsensical. It must be realized, however, that Moravian is no longer a small school. Moravian will not be receding in enrollment in the coming years if present plans go through. Among these plans must be some consideration for an enlarged chapel program.

Strangely enough, many student suggestions have cropped up during the last week on campus. The Comenian has heard many suggestions. They include many ideas, everything from abolishing chapel altogether to holding three chapels per month, in accordance with the one convocation per month.

The latter idea seems at present the best solution yet. The service could be worked in conjunction with the convocation and could be devoted to a full period if necessary.

Perhaps the above student suggestions are faulty, as can be found with most any idea, but we print them for only what they are worth . . . and idea for improvement. We mean not to infer that this suggestion is the answer, nor will the ultimate come easily.

The college chapel situation does need some consideration. It cannot be run or tolerated as it has been for the last few years.

NEIL'S SPIELS

by Neil Boyer

Well, group, we saw most of you thoroughly enjoying the "pop" fire drill on Tuesday morning last. Quite a nice break to interrupt all those ambidextrous profs. And to all you disturbed professors — NASTY GASH! Inkadently, we saw several fourth floor dormers watching the fire drill from the inside. I guess it would be embarrassing to come down in your PJ's at 9:30 a.m.

We had our breath held all throughout the ceremony at Nazareth on Wednesday for fear our illustrious band would strike up "Saints" for a recessional. We greatly fear it would not have been appreciated by our visiting Moravian dignitaries from foreign lands.

We understand there is a house upon the hill (Phi Gam, to be exact) on the other side of town which now has 3 stretchy girdles dangling from its chandelier. It seems that several Moravian coeds had their suitcases rifled after they had changed from cocktail dresses to bermudas. Not checking their belongings until they arrived back home, they found themselves a little short (and a little bulgy, at that).

News item: a squirrel by any other name it NOT a mongoose. Not to embarrass any of our new foreign students, however, we feel they should not become excited at seeing one of our bushy campus friends go zipping by. The other day, it seems our new student practically ran up a tree himself, shouting, "Look out, look out; it's a mongoose."

Well, it's a shame, but tomorrow is the last day for girl's hazing. A shame, that is, for everyone but the poor freshman girls. But just to think how pretty they all looked — with their earrings and necklaces and bracelets and waste cans and big, readable signs. To the tune of "Good Morning, Miss Blank," the lowly frosh can all look forward to Tribunals — next week.

Dr. Mary Kennedy found the "On the Air" sign on while conducting a history class in 308 the other day. Rumor has it she didn't see all the fan letters she received from home-bound parents who accidentally tuned in to a thrilling account of the First Continental Congress via station WGPA. The facts are, tho, that no one knew how to turn off the sign.

We grabbed a sneak preview of the 1957 yearbook the other day and found it very enlightening. Here's hoping somebody gets around to passing them out in the very near future.

Well, if you're planning on making the long trip to Williamsport tomorrow, better start early. And we'll see you there, if you don't get lost. Here's hoping!

If you've been having trouble getting excuses under the new cut system, remember — You, too, can have the Asiatic flu. Write your Congressman. Do it today!

GUS RAMPONE

Rod Miller, Gus Rampone Named Football Co-Captains

Rod Miller and Gus Rampone have been elected co-captains of the 1957 Greyhound football team. Both boys, who have been valuable assets to the Blue and Grey team over the past years, were elected not only for their great playing, but also for their outstanding hustle and spirit.

Rod, a 5'9", 185-pound senior halfback, started playing football in his freshman year at Bangor High School. He has earned three varsity letters at Mo-Mo in football. Miller has been one of the powerhouses in Moravian's backfield for the last three years.

While just a freshman in high school, Rod earned his first varsity letter. This unusual feat was duplicated when he entered Moravian, earning his letter while playing in the fullback slot. Last year Rod gained 432 yards in 80 attempts for an average of 5.4 yards per carry.

Gus, 5'9", 200-pound junior guard, hails from Stanhope, N. J. While in high school, Gus earned three varsity letters in football and was captain of the grid team in his senior year. At that time, Rampone played quarterback. He also won two basketball letters and two baseball letters. He has earned two varsity letters at Moravian thus far in football. Gus' biggest thrill has not been in the past because being elected co-captain of the Greyhounds far surpasses any other of his thrills.

This year the co-captains are eagerly looking forward to leading the Greyhounds through an undefeated season. Gus says, "Our team is much stronger than last year, but so is our competition. If we get by our first two games and play to our capacity in the remaining games, we should go all the way."

Students Admitted Free Of Charge To Lycoming Game

Moravian students who plan to attend the football game at Lycoming tomorrow will be admitted free of charge. The Lycoming Student Council, in a letter to Dean Myers, states; "We, the members of the Student Council on the Lycoming Campus, wish to extend an invitation to you to attend this game with no admission charge. However, as a means of identification, it will be necessary to present your student activities card at the gate."

The best travel route to Lycoming, located in Williamsport, Pa., is to take Route 22 By-pass from Bethlehem to Route 29 at Fogelsville, and proceed north to Berwick, Pa., via Hazelton. Upon arriving in Berwick, follow Route 11 and continue to Northumberland, via Bloomsburg. From Northumberland to Milton, follow Route 14. At Milton cross the river to Route 15 and proceed to Williamsport. The trip is approximately 110 miles. It is advisable to allow at least 4 hours for the journey.

Calvo Readies Greyhounds; Lycoming Opener Tomorrow

Hounds Have 17 Lettermen; 9 Lycoming Starters Return

by Bill Campbell

The Moravian College Greyhounds of 1957 are rapidly being whipped into shape by Head Coach Rocco Calvo and his assistants. The Moravian eleven will open its season by meeting Lycoming on their field in Williamsport tomorrow.

Coach Calvo and his team will be going all out to match or improve last years record of 5 wins and 3 defeats. Last year, Moravian was able to trip Lycoming 20-6 with some great defensive work turned in by the entire team. Later in the 1956 season, Lycoming became stronger and dubbed Juniata 13-6 and handed them their first loss in 25 games. They are expected to be at full strength for the opening contest tomorrow.

The first home game of the season will be with the ever-tough team of Juniata. As was mentioned earlier, this is the team that had a 25-game winning streak until they were halted by Lycoming last season. They are apt to be out for revenge this year, so you can look for a hard-fought game when they invade us on October 12.

Coach Calvo has had to find four men to fill the vacancy's left from last years team. The quarterback roll appears to be well in hand with the return of juniors Tony Matz and Nick Cuttice who will probably alternate at this position.

Returning at the Halfback positions will be Paul Slifka, who was voted most valuable player last year by his teammates, and Rod Miller, another very fine runner. The team's punter and fullback will be George Hollendersky. As a sophomore, his hard running was consistent, and he had a punting average of 39.9 yards per boot.

On the front line, coach Calvo may be able to fill most of the positions with lettermen, but, while lacking in experience, the reserves are showing progress. At the end spots will be Dave Kratzer and Ron Rhen, who last year understudied co-captains Jerry Potter and Harry Shopshire. Bob Esposito, the third letterman, is out with a knee injury.

In the tackle slots, Larry Enstrom and Jim Kritis will open the holes. Larry is a 200-pound veteran who previously won a letter at Moravian, while Jim is a freshman hailing from Allentown. The guards will be Gus Rampone and Mike Payonk. At center, between these two fine guards, will be another veteran Bruce Mumie, a senior from Lindenwold, N.J.

FOOTBALL PROFILES

Joe Guman and Bruce Mumie

This week Football Profiles splits the spotlight on two of the Greyhound centers, Joe Guman and Bruce Mumie.

Joe Guman, 190 lb., 6 foot 1 inch, Senior, a native of Bethlehem, is starting his third year on the Moravian squad. Joe started his football career in Allentown Central Catholic High School where he played center. In his senior year Joe was captain of the team and was selected for the Catholic All-State Team. During his high school sports career he had earned a total of five varsity letters, three in football and two in basketball.

JOE GUMAN
Guard

Joe will always remember the day of the Hazleton game in his senior year at Central Catholic. The score was 7-6 and Joe charged through to block the kick, thus winning the game for Central.

His other interests lie in dancing, fishing, and reading mystery novels. He belongs to the Sigma Theta Pi Fraternity in preparation for a teaching career. Joe is now majoring in English. Wishing to continue his athletic interest, Joe would like to coach football and basketball.

When asked about the team's chance this year, Joe replied, "I think that team is better balanced, has more depth, a lot stronger than last year's and I feel if we get past Lycoming and Juniata we should win them all."

Six Teams Sign Up For I-M Football; First Game Oct. 7

Six teams are scheduled to compete this year in the 1957 Intramural Touch Football League, Harvey T. Gillespie, Director of Athletics, recently announced. They are Pi Mu, OGO, Hurricanes, Tekes, Sigma Phi Omega, and Seminary. The season's first game will be between Pi Mu fraternity and the OGO's on October 7, starting at 4 p.m. on the I-M athletic field. The second game will be on the same afternoon starting at 5 p.m., with the Hurricanes facing Seminary.

The season runs to October 16, when Seminary will oppose Sigma Phi Omega. A complete schedule of the games to be played may be obtained in Mr. Gillespie's office.

Rules for the game will be the same as last year. There are four quarters in a game, each quarter being eight minutes long. Each zone is fifteen yards long, and there are four downs to advance the ball from one zone to another. Forward passes must be made from behind the line of scrimmage.

The OGO fraternity are the defending champions of last year. At the end of this season the four teams with the best record will determine the championship in a double elimination tournament. With all teams looking for a championship, a lot of good touch football is expected.

Bruce's football career began at Regional High School in Camden County, New Jersey. In his senior year he was one of the co-captains and was given Honorable Mention in the voting for the Group 3, N. J., All-State Football Team.

With drawing as his hobby, Bruce is cartoonist for the Comenian. He is a member of the Pi Delta Epsilon Fraternity, of which he is vice-president, and the Omicron Gamma Omega social fraternity.

Bruce, an English major, is married and has a son, Robert Bruce.

Greyhound Gossip

by Dick Steiner

Tomorrow, after five long weeks of practice, the Greyhound gridsters get their first opportunity to test their strength against another football team. If this statement seems a rather bizarre way of opening a sports column, it's only because yours truly feels the time has come to add a game or two to our 8-game schedule.

In the lean years, the policy of scheduling just 8 games was certainly necessary, because, by the end of the season, we were lucky to have eleven healthy specimens to put on the field. Between injuries and lack of interest due to continual defeat, everyone was glad to see the end of the football season.

Things have changed greatly during the post-war years. We now have teams which hold their own with any school, but still we play only eight games. The consensus of players, students, and fans seems to be that our season should start when other schools do. Most of our opponents have already played at least one game. It is hard for the coaches and players to maintain a very high morale through five weeks of practice with no actual contests. It is indeed a tribute to Rocco Calvo and his fine coaching staff that our morale has suffered so little this season. The players have battled hard for starting berths through every practice session, and team spirit is very keen. It is my contention, however, that the athletic committee should recognize the value of at least one additional game and try to alleviate this problem.

Although the title of this column suggests that I should stick to the collegiate side of sports, I can't check my enthusiasm entirely when outside items are also attractive. Since we are in the middle of the World Series, an annual event which parallels in interest the Rose Bowl, the All-Star Game, and the intra-mural hand-ball championship, I feel it merits a few words of wisdom. Though my predictions aren't anything to rave about as a rule, I'll pick the Yankees in six games. Man for man, the Braves may be better, but when the Series comes, the dollar signs light up in Yankee eyes. It should be a colorful series and if you can't get a seat in the Emcee, see me. Bob Topping gave me a mess of box-seat tickets which I haven't been able to unload. (My mother's maiden name was Topping.)

Vets Association Inducts New Men At Legion Tonight

New members of the Moravian College Veterans Association will be inducted tonight at 9 p.m. at the Howard F. W. Johnson American Legion Post, 535 N. New St. All veterans interested have been invited to attend.

Plans are underway for the float for the Homecoming Parade and for the organizations participation in intramural sports. At previous meetings, the Vets scheduled their annual social activities, including a Halloween party, Turkey Day, and Christmas dances. The association also plans to make a donation to the William Hauptert Memorial Scholarship Fund.

At a future meeting, the veterans will be taken through the Higbee School for Handicapped Children. From the tour, members can get an idea of how they can help if they so desire.

Officers are Bob Kellow, president; Joe Jardot, vice-president; Francis Korpics, secretary; Stephen Kalamar, treasurer; Ernie Pappajohn, alumni secretary; and Howard Mendelsohn, USG representative.

Moravian Femmes Entertain At Tea For 'Berg Women

Moravian women students will entertain women students who are attending Muhlenberg College at a tea to be held Sunday, October 6, from 2-4 p.m. in the George Washington room.

An invitation to the tea was sent recently to Jayne Kuntzleman, newly elected president of the one hundred and fifteen Muhlenberg girls.

Plans for the tea were made by representatives from the Women's Council, Women's Athletic Association, House Board, Alpha Epsilon Pi, Phi Mu Epsilon, and Dean Halcyon Sartwell.

Members of the Hostess Committee are Carol Burwell, Kay McMurray, Ruth Salabsky, Daneen Jones, Jane Adams, and Eleanor Rellinghaus.

Mrs. Raymond S. Hauptert, Miss Heimtraut Dietrich, Dean of Women at Muhlenberg, Mrs. Conrad Seagers, wife of the president of Muhlenberg College, and Dean Sartwell will pour at the tea.

The committee hopes that all Moravian girls will make an effort to attend this tea.

"The Champion," a story of a prize fighter, comes to the College Hall screen in the first of the college's free movie programs. Starting time of the movie is 7:30 p.m.

"The Champion" is the portrayal of the big-time prize fighter who does not care how he gets to the top, or who he hurts accomplishing his quest for fame.

The original story by Ring Lardner has been adapted for movies and features Kirk Douglas in his first starring role. Co-starred with Douglas are Arthur Kennedy, and Ava Gardner.

Teke Prexy Danyi Attends Fraternity National Conclave

Frank J. Danyi, Jr., president, was the official voting delegate from Moravian's Epsilon Gamma Chapter to the twenty-ninth biennial national conclave of Tau Kappa Epsilon social fraternity. The conclave was held from August 27th to September 1st at The Bedford Springs Resort Hotel in Bedford, Pennsylvania.

Representatives from the 142 undergraduate and 33 graduate chapters discussed national policies, rushing, housing, pledge training and other issues of general TKE interest. Epsilon Gamma chapter was one of three chapters to receive a public commendation from Wilson B. Heller, Director of the College Analyst Bureau for Fraternities.

In answer to a request made earlier this year, the administration last week announced that Epsilon Gamma chapter would be allowed to use Clewell Hall for their fraternity house beginning next September.

Chapel . . .

Chapel services can be quite varied as long as the non-sectarian aspects are continued and the talks advance the religious aspects of student life. Dr. Hauptert has stated, "It is the purpose of all of those responsible for conducting Chapel to have a Chapel service which provides for opportunity of intelligent worship."

The weekly schedule of those responsible for the Chapel services is as follows for North Campus: Monday, Dr. Hauptert; Tuesday, Dean Rader; Wednesday, Dr. McConnell; Thursday, Dr. Sears or students; Friday, the Rev. Gordon Stoltz; and Saturday, Dr. Zeller.

On South Campus: Monday, Dr. Zeller; Tuesday, Dean Sartwell; Wednesday, Dr. Hauptert; Thursday, Dean Myers. There is no scheduled South Campus chapel on Saturday.

'Campus Beat' Radio Program Set For Wednesday Debut

"Campus Beat," a new live radio program originating from Moravian College's radio studio on the third floor of Comenius Hall, will be broadcast for the first time on Wednesday, October 9.

Station WGPA, of Bethlehem, has agreed to broadcast the weekly, all-student variety show each Wednesday from 1:30-2 p.m. Not only is "Campus Beat" designed to appeal to a local commercial audience, but it is further intended to provide the participating students with a full range of broadcasting experience and a knowledge of the fundamentals of radio and television. The program will be under the direction of Mr. Walter Beaupre, assistant professor of speech and drama.

The theme song is being recorded by twelve students from the choir plus a rhythm section composed of Dick Lambert, drums; Andy Rexroth, bass; and Bob Sotile, tenor sax.

For the first show the format shapes up as follows: first, the campus hit of the week; secondly, candid opinions on campus, which will be student opinion on vital national issues gathered via tape recorder. During 'Campus Star Time', a portion of the show devoted to live musical talent, the Four Hoods, a new instrumental group, will perform. A radio comedy skit with Hal Cole and Nancy Gingham, followed by an 'Alumni Salute' to the class of '35, and a final summary of campus news and announcements will complete the program.

With occasional changes in format and cost the program will operate on the same basis for the entire series, which is planned to last for thirteen weeks.

USG Schedules 'Open House' For Prospective Frosh

The United Student Government will hold an "open house" for prospective students, their parents and friends on Saturday, October 12. The program will get under way with a buffet luncheon to be served at the Women's Campus at 12 noon. Following the luncheon the visitors will be the guests of the college at the Junia-ta—Moravian football game. The visitors will be invited to remain and hear the Symphony Orchestra of the Florence Festival at 8:30 p.m. in College Hall.

This is the first of a series of such programs and it is designed to acquaint prospective students with the faculty and students as well as with the campus at Moravian. Saturday's program will be planned especially for out-of-town residents. Those living in Bethlehem and the vicinity will be invited at a later date in the semester in order to allow travellers from a distance the more favorable weather.

Student Health Service Is Expanded Thru New Committee And Dispensary

Moravian College made a stride forward in its student health service last week with the formation of a student health committee and the opening of a new dispensary.

The Health Committee is composed of Mr. Harvey Gillespie, Dr. Karl W. Hahn, school physician; Dean Myers; and Dean Sartwell. Mr. Gillespie's primary duties will be arrangements for physical examinations, Salk Polio injections, and chest X-Rays. Dean Sartwell's interests will be concentrated on the efficient operation of both the women's infirmary and the new dispensary.

The new dispensary will be open to all students, men and women. It is located adjacent to the infirmary on the South Campus. Dr. George Donaghue of Bethlehem will be on duty during all weekdays from 4-4:30 p.m. to diagnose and treat all minor ailments brought to the dispensary. The doctor can also be reached by phone in case of emergencies. He will be assisted by registered nurses.

Symphony . . .

ic, the Concertgebouw of Amsterdam, and the Symphony Orchestra of the Florence Festival.

Called "the greatest musical find of the century" by Toscanini twenty years ago, Franco Ferrara was born in 1911 in Palermo, Sicily. He studied violin and piano in his home and later at Bologna. He has since appeared with every major orchestra in Italy and the Berlin Philharmonic, as well as winning several major prizes in both composing and conducting. In 1945 he became the musical director of the Santa Cecilia Orchestra of Rome.

Franco Mannino was born in Palermo, Sicily, in 1924. He completed his early studies at the Conservatory of Santa Cecilia, Rome. Only 37, Mannino already has six important symphonic works, some chamber ensembles, and piano, voice and ballet music to his credit. He is renowned as a conductor, composer, and piano virtuoso.
