Renovation In Main Hall Scheduled For Summer

In accordance with its desire to greatly improve women's dormitory facilities, the Board of Trustees at its Fall meeting last week approved major renovations in Main Hall. These renovations are scheduled for completion by the opening of the 1958 Fall term.

The most outstanding feature of these plans is complete separation of Main Hall from Colonial Hall. This will be done by removing the present connecting links above the carriageway.

Classroom Offices Moved

All classrooms and administrative offices on the first and second floors or in the basement will be moved to North Campus or other buildings on South Campus. Thus Main Hall will become a strictly residential unit for 45 students.

Another important change will be the removal of the stairway through the center of Main Hall. It will be replaced by two new modern, metal stairways in the building. The stairways will extend from the top floor to the basement.

Bathroom facilities will also be greatly improved. One large modern bathroom will be constructed on each floor to replace the two present ones.

Instead of utilizing one room on each floor as a lounge, the renovated dormitories will have lounges in wide parts of the hallways.

The third and fourth floors, which are already used as dorms, will receive the fewest alterations. In addition to the previously mentioned universal changes, several rooms will be enlarged by removing partitions, and two or three closets will be built in unused space.

First Floor Renovated

Several major changes will be made in the set-up of Main Hall's first floor. The present post office will be moved to part of the reception office to make room for a stairway. The area around the Blue Parlors will be closed off and turned into a girl's lounge. A new co-ed lounge will replace the offices of the President and Treasurer. The office of the Director of Residence will be moved forward to that of the Dean of Women, and the rear portion of the director's apartment will be converted into a guest room. As the Dean of Women's office will be moved to another building, the front office will no longer be used by her secretary and will serve only for reception.

Basement Unchanged

Most of the basement will remain the same. Space in the front of the building will be used for a laundry room with one or two washer-dryer combinations and several ironing boards. The coke and cigaret vending room will become part of a stairway, and the machines will be moved up next to the proposed laundry room. No changes are planned for the Femsee or the lounges.

Tonite's Free Movie & Pep Rally

"Destry Rides Again" is the title of the free movie to be shown at 8 p.m. tonight in College Hall, rooms 9 and 10. The movie will be immediately preceded by a pep rally to be held in College Hall gymnasium area.

The Pep Rally will get under way at 7 p.m. and will be concluded in time so as to allow the movie to be shown as scheduled. Selections by the band will be featured and the students present will be led in cheers by the cheerleading squad, whose members will be introduced individually. The highlights of the event will be the introduction of each member of the Greyhounds football team. The movie will begin immediately following the conclusion of the Pep Rally, at 8 p.m.

Board Of Trustees Decides To Hold Down MC Student Enrollment To 750 Until 1965

The Board of Trustees of Moravian College at its annual Fall meeting in the Archives Building last week to restrict enrollment to approximately 750 until 1965 and to approve plans for renovation in Main Hall.

Dr. Raymond S. Hauptert said that the restrictive action placed on enrollment would permit "the college to complete consolidation of the merged institutions and improve facilities in certain areas before any additional growth is contemplated."

At present the college enrollment is 733, as compared to a pre-war number of 300, which represented approximately 150 on each campus.

In order to improve the residential quality of South Campus and further centralize the various aspects of college life, the Board approved plans for drastic renovations to Main Hall. According to the present plan the renovations will be completed before classes begin next Fall.

In another action, the budget for next year was set at $950,000. This is the highest budget in the history of Moravian College, but it does not involve any increase in tuition or other fees.

Three faculty promotions were also voted at the meeting. They are as follows: Dr. Joseph L. Hackenberg from associate to full professor of education; Dr. Stuart S. Kulp to full professor of chemistry; and Dr. Otis H. Shao

Homecoming Is Rescheduled; Valentine Ball Off; I-F Later

by Neil Boyer

All Homecoming activities, with the exception of the alumni coffee hour, have been rescheduled for the weekend of November 8-9, according to Bob Smith, chairman of the Social Activities Committee (SAC). As a result, the Inter-fraternity dance has been postponed, and the Valentine Dance cancelled. Administration official and SAC members gave reasons for the late cancellation for the Homecoming Dance, and the heads of campus social groups gave reasons for cancelling the parade.

Events to be included in the weekend are the two pajama parades, a bonfire-pep rally, the Upsala-Moravian football game, a dance, and the crowning of the queen. Miss Dorothy Ruyak, Director of Alumni Relations, said it would be too costly to send out announcements to alumni again, but alumni would still be welcome.

The activities were planned for the weekend of the 9th after the Interfraternity Council relinquished that date. The I-F Dance had been planned for that night. As a result, the I-F dance date was moved to February 15.

When it was discovered that there were no more available weekends at that time, said Fred DeFrank of the Council, the SAC gave up the date of the Valentine Dance to the I-F, and the Council likewise decided that their dance would be open to the school, and not just to fraternity members. Tickets will be sold, he added. The Valentine Dance, originally scheduled for February 7, would then be too close to the I-F Ball.

Holding the I-F dance between Homecoming and the Christmas dance, now only a month apart, DeFrank said, would have made the dances too close together.

After much deliberation, the SAC decided to move up the entire activity rather than holding only a dance on Friday, November 1, which was their plan last Friday. The change forced the SAC to forfeit $225 to bandleader Matt Gillespie, with whom a contract had been signed for October 19. Gillespie's band was booked solid, Smith said, and Friday, November 1 was his only available date.

Rather than hold the dance on a Friday the SAC decided to include all activities and to hire another band. Payment of the contract sum, Smith said, will uphold the name of the college in business relations and will give Gillespie no reason to break a contract should he sign one with the college for a future dance.

Rader: 'Too Early' To Note Effects Of New Liberalized Basic Requirements Program

Dean Rader said in an interview that it is too early to note any long-range effects from last year's revision of the minimum basic requirements. However, he did indicate some immediate results of the change from the point of view of scheduling courses.

The dean said that the present sophomore class must graduate in the new, liberalized program before definite reactions and trends will be clear.

Rader said that the students have elected fairly equally from economic, political science, sociology, and psychology courses to fill the six-credit social science requirement. Although the student is now required to take only six credit hours of history (History 101 and 102), a large number are electing the previously required history courses. There are now two sections of History 203, which replace the required History 201 and 202. Although psychology is no longer required, a much larger number of students than expected registered for the course. Sections have also been added in some sociology and economic courses.

Students who show proficiency in the English placement test are no longer required to take English 101. This lowers the number of required hours of English to nine. Dean Rader stated the great advantage of this program was that now most students can begin to fill the twelve credit hours in languages in their freshman year.

All lecture courses except Physiological Hygiene have been eliminated from the physical education program. However, the student is still required to complete four semesters of physical activity classes. No credit is given for these classes. The student is allowed two unexcused cuts and if more than two are taken, the course must be repeated.

The philosophy course now required is a three credit expanded course, rather than the former (Cont. on p. 4, col. 2)

Third Election Try For Men's Council Prexy On Monday

The Men's Council will hold its third election for 1957-58 council president on Monday, October 28, in the lobby of Comenius Hall. Running for the office are seniors Bruce Mumie and Bom Smerko. All male students are eligible to vote.

The first election, held last May, was deemed invalid because Smerko's name was left off the ballot. The second election, conducted a week later, was protested by Mumie on the grounds that fourteen of the ballots cast were illegal. Smerko won the second election by seven votes.

At a meeting held in the chaplains office last Wednesday, it was ruled by vice-president Joe Prorok that a meeting of the Council had not been held last year, and therefore past president Phil Wellington did not have the authority to throw out the second election. Mumie's first protest, therefore, could not have been acted on legally, Prorok said.

The Council voted unanimously to accept the protest submitted by Mumie this fall. The election will be handled by Pi Mu President Bob Smith, his chosen associate, and a faculty member.

Officers of the council already elected will not be included on the ballots, it was decided, since there was no protest for those offices.

Mumie has been a letterwinner on the varsity football team for three years, and is presently first string center. He is a member of Omicron Gamma Omega Fraternity. He is married and has a son.

Smerko is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity.

All students are warned that if they violate city parking regulations, their cars are likely to be towed away. This applies to the streets around both the north and south campus. Several violations have been reported to us recently, and warnings given. In the future there will be no warnings given.
Richmond E. Myers,
Dean of Men.

The Flu Vs. Homecoming

Last week The Comenian made the statement that our flu recuperation period was too short. We do not profess to be a medical authority nor do we have a crystal ball to read the future. We merely printed the facts as they were related to us on good authority. This past weekend we have seen, heard, and felt the effects of only a partial cure.

Thus, homecoming weekend 1957 had to be postponed after an administrative cancellation of the annual homecoming dance. The effects of the move by the administration and the eventual postponement of the entire weekend by the Student Activities Committee were shocking, morale breaking, and disappointing.

Although only the dance Saturday night and frosh participation in the parade were called off by the administration, student opinion was such that by popular demand the students themselves decided to forgo the other activities.

The Comenian has pondered for some time on an answer to the question if it was logically correct to cancel the dance and pajama parade. Quite frankly we think that the administration was again guilty of a bungling, even though Dr. Hahn advised the cancellation.

Certainly there must have been some foreshadowing of this sudden decision by Dean Rader. Could not the news have been made known sooner than late Thursday afternoon? We think so. It seemed to be common rumor about campus that this action might take place, but most students as would be natural, thought it only rumor and paid not much heed. Not even the faculty was given a hint of the announcement at a faculty meeting that very same day. We feel that the announcement was without tact and feeling for the student and faculty alike.

Let us not, however, only look at one side of the matter. Student opinion upon the sudden announcement was violent. Perhaps the students can be blamed for some rash judgements in seeing fit to cancel the student participation in the weekend entirely.

The Comenian however feels that the students had some good reason for being alarmed. There is always the question of the "date" that is coming from far off, the expenses involved, tickets, hotels, and etc. But, more than this there was the student expense in time and money for their big weeknd. The cancellation of the Matt Gillespie Orchestra was not an inexpensive proposition, nor was the almost completely decorated gym.

Frankly, we were lucky to get off as cheaply as we did, although the $225 plus for the orchestra and decorations came out of our pockets. This money cannot be regained, nor has the college offered to make it up entirely.

The Comenian feels even more remorse for the five girls vying for homecoming queen. Likewise, explaining to the returning alumni the sudden situation was not easy, after the publicity channels had been giving Moravian's Homecoming Weekend top billing. There were needless to say many disgusted alumni.

There was also the question that if we are so likely to spread the flu at a dance, why then were classes held or even the football contests and alumni tea? This question we cannot answer, as it is one for the medical profession. We can only surmise skeptically.

The past weekend was a flop. However, thanks to a quick acting Social Activities Committee that had the students in mind, something may be salvaged. The Committee made plans to reschedule the entire affair the weekend of November eighth and ninth. They were the only possible dates. Even then the complete rescheduling ran afoul with numerous complications. To move one whole event is no small task.

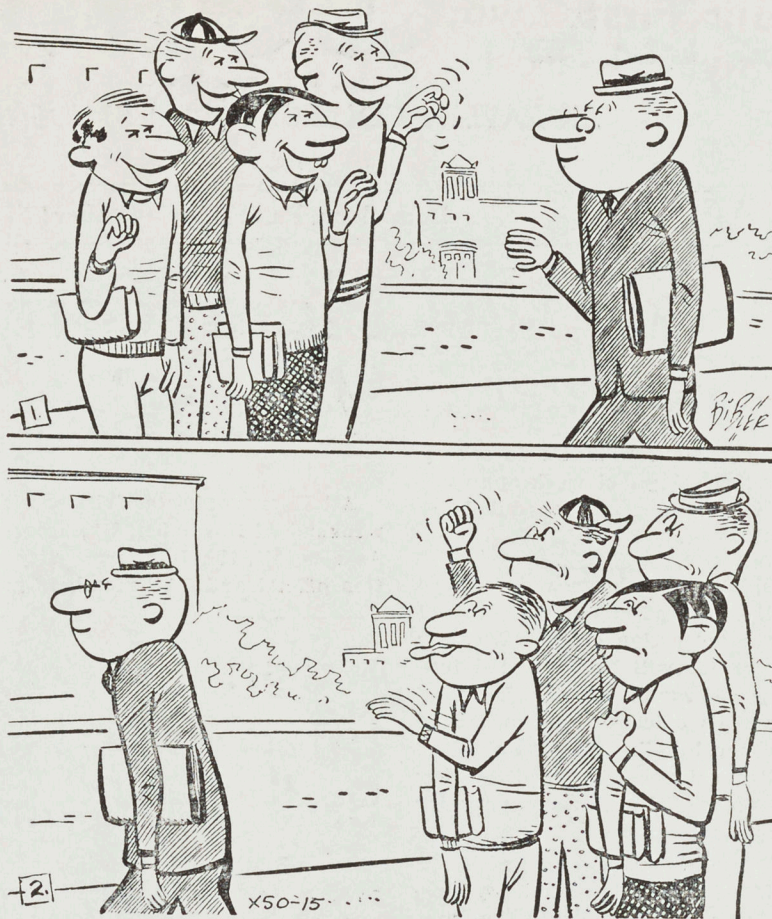

Bob Smith, however, assured this publication that his committee is doing everything possible to make the forthcoming occasion as much like the one cancelled as possible.

The Comenian however is inclined to feel that it will be like an anti-climax to everyone. The spirit which was there in the college has been dampened by last week's fiasco.

The whole situation was unfortunate, but perhaps we all have learned something from the mistakes. Let us hope that if the occasion again ever arises where the entire college and the administration must come to a quick and unanimous decision that it is done correctly, wisely, and systematically so that there will be no harsh repercussions.

Varied Opinions Expressed Over Homecoming Failure

by Gene Salay

It seems that Moravian College is really having a difficult time getting started this year. With the Asian flu epidemic still not fully under control, extra-curricular activities on campus are more or less at a stand-still. Two weeks ago we were hit hard with the initial blow of the epidemic, which resulted in a three-day vacation. Last week, the week we had been looking forward to since the beginning of this academic year, witnessed the cancellation of the Homecoming Parade and the grand Homecoming Dance.

My assignment for this week was to ask some of the students what they thought of the cancellation of some and the postponement of other activities which were to have taken place last Friday and Saturday. The opinions expressed belong solely to those whose names appear at the heading.

Joan Mesko—"In the beginning of the week most of the activities in and around the Lehigh Valley were on the verge of being called off. As the week progressed, most of them were. Why did Moravian wait until the very last minute to call off their activities? Notification was entirely too late."

Fritz Toner—"It does not appear to be fair to the students because this condition should have been realized by the school authorities and action should have been taken sooner. By taking earlier action it is very possible that we could have salvaged something. The school authorities called off the festivities, not the students, therefore I believe the school should share the expense."

Bud Natterman—"As long as the parade and the dance were cancelled, the game might just as well have been cancelled also. Then we could have all stayed in bed. There were an awful lot of disappointed visitors who came here for homecoming events."

Mary Lesin—"Since part of the Homecoming activities had to be cancelled, I'm glad the decision was made to postpone all the events and recombine them into one big weekend. It's too bad that we weren't told of the cancellation until Thursday afternoon because so much work had already been done."

Harold R. Sayre—"Last year the student body was lectured on team spirit; this year when the spirit seemed strong among the students, the rug was pulled from under us. The fraternities and other associations are left bearing the expense—not only monetary but time expense as well."

Pat Conover—"I think a lot of it could have been avoided if the LATE postponement could have been eliminated, but that was due to the fact that the administration was trying to save the whole weekend for us. The failure of some campus organizations to live up to Moravian's usual unity and "working-togetherness" caused most of the confusion. If we can all work together we can still produce ONE GREAT Fall Homecoming Weekend on November 9th."

Dave Seidenberger—"I believe the cancelling of the home coming activities were for the betterment of the school and community. To combat the spreading of these highly contagious viruses, isolation is a necessity. It is unfortunate that the cancellation was announced so late, causing much inconvenience to visitors."

John Woltjen—"The Administration should have used greater foresight and not delayed so long in making its decision. As a result of the school's decision several hundred dollars were lost. This loss could have been prevented by better planning."

In summarizing I find that (1) most students said "the announcement came too late" and (2) although "late" it was "beneficial."

The Mail Box

An Open Letter To The Student Body:

It has always been a policy of mine to give credit where it is due. On the other hand, when a censure is in order, I feel that I am entitled to voice it also.

I am obviously referring to the inconsistency, lack of aisicality, and lack of consideration on the part of the administration of Moravian College in the rescheduling of most of the activities slated for the past weekend. Same weekend was, of course, to be Homecoming.

The few brave alumni who did show up for the weekend were exceptionally disappointed. I spoke to a few of them and they stated that they did not understand how the school was functioning curricularly while at the same time the administration saw fit to postpone the extra-curricular activities that were scheduled.

Why are students allowed to jam the chapel like commuters in a subway train at rush hour? Why are lecture classes allowed to be held when they are so crowded that the students are breathing down each other's necks? Let me know the difference between these examples and a Homecoming Dance in College Hall.

Much of the students' disappointment and bitterness due to their putting much "blood, sweat, and tears" in the preparation for the weekend would have been considerably lightened and eased if the administration had acted quickly and postponed the dance at an earlier date. I have heard from reliable sources that there was talk of postponement on Monday the 13th of October. At that time Dr. Hahn, the school physician, had made some suggestion as the possibility of rescheduling the dance to a later date. I wasn't until Thursday, the 17th, that rumors of the postponement started to circulate. The Dean's office posted the official notice on Friday, the 18th, at approximately 11:40 A.M. It was most inconsiderate to wait until such a late date to finally make a decision one way or the other.

I understand that Dr. Hahn, upon whose recommendation the dance had been cancelled, had advised the administration to close school several days before they actually did. This all took place the week before the dance. Why didn't the school close upon Dr. Hahn's suggestion, immediately? Why is the protection of the student's health in school any different from the protection of same outside?

Why was the Alumni Tea held last Saturday afternoon? Obviously there were preparations made, and a definite investment at stake. What about the investment of the S.A.C. in decorations, which were promptly torn down after the postponement?

I heard a member of the administration say that a write-up in The New York Times of Friday, October 18th stated that many football games had been cancelled. He insinuated that because of this the students should sanction the postponement of the dance. Why, then, was our football game played according to schedule?

In closing let me say that a great deal of disappointment, ill- (Cont. on p. 4, col. 5)

Moravian Harriers Split First Two; Sunyak Fastest

On Saturday, October 19, the Moravian Cross-country team, an enthusiastic but inexperienced group, journeyed to Elizabethtown for their opening meet of the year. After a tough race, Elizabethtown came out on top by a score of 42-17. They placed the first four men with the winner, Glen Brucklost, running a swift 24 minute, 19 second. Moravian's speedster, Hank Sunyak placed fifth with a 26 minute, 4 second timing.

The story was quite strongly reversed, however, on Tuesday, when the same Moravian Harriers, with a bit more confidence and experience, ran against P.M.C. on the Cadets home course, which was a rugged, hilly 3.8 mile stretch. Again Moravian's Hank Sunyak displayed his speed by finishing first for Moravian and second in the race just two seconds behind Bob Lasdet of the losers. Sunyak's time was 21 minutes, 28 seconds. Moravian also placed third, fourth, sixth, seventh, and eighth, while P.M.C. salvaged fifth place giving the Hounds a 37-22 victory.

Behind Sunyak was John Jacobs who finished third with a 21:41 time; Bob Fatzinger, fourth in 21:46; Jack Reidmiller, sixth in 23:30; Jim MacDonald, seventh, in 24:08; and John Laymon, eight, in 24:14.

Coach Keinklentz has been working hard with the boys and has built up confidence in them. There are three meets remaining with Albright, Muhlenberg, and the last meet, being the M.A.C. Championship meet at the St. Joseph's course. With a little more experience and the continual spirit and self-confidence, Moravian may add another top team to its list.

Juniata Player Found Dead In Dormitory

A 19-year old Juniata College football player, Howard Specht, was found dead in his room at Saylor House on the Juniata campus last Saturday evening.

The College Hill Campus was saddened by the death of the young man, a reserve on Coach Ken Bunn's Indian football squad.

An autopsy performed by Dr. Harry M. McCormick showed that the youth's death was not caused by the respiratory illness. Findings in the post mortem examination showed that an enlargement of the heart due to the collapse of the lungs was the cause. McCormick stated that although this illness is not common in young people, it is one of the causes of sudden death among youths.

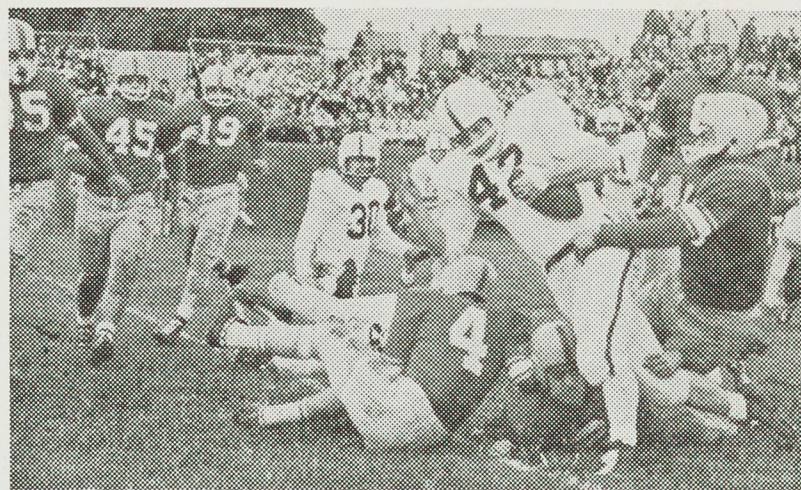

Specht's passing took on special meaning in light of the fact that he had been ill for two days with the flu. He had been released from the college infirmary at noon Saturday, just seven hours before his death.

OGO'S, Defending Champs Of I.M. Football Edge Pi Mu 6-2

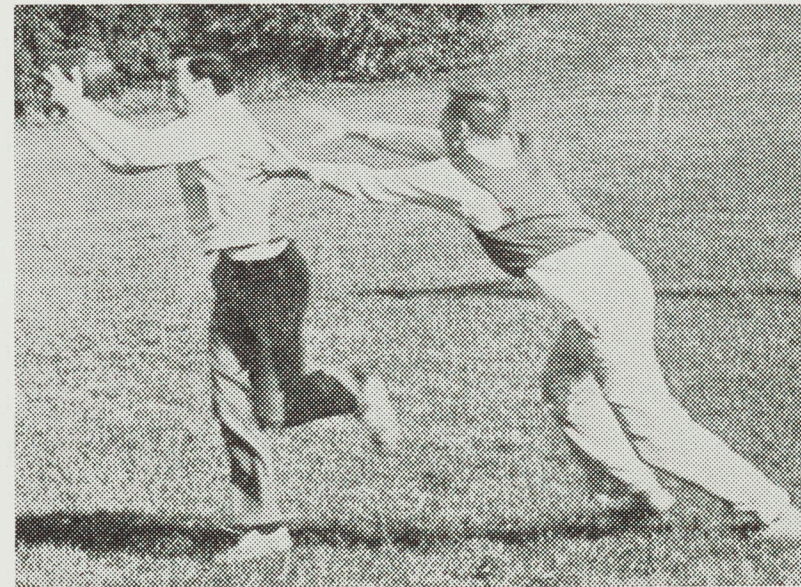

The intramural football league got under way on Monday with a well played game between the OGO's and Pi Mu on the lower athletic field. The OGO's, defending champs of the league downed the Pretheo's 6-2 on a second period touchdown. Pi Mu, however, scored first on a safety in the opening period when they trapped the OGO's Jack VanNatta in the end zone.

The safety came after an exchange of interceptions, Pi Mu's Dick Steiner intercepting an OGO pass near the goal and then on first down Steiner attempted a touchdown pass which the OGO's VanNatta picked off. However, on the next play Pi Mu caught Van Natta in the end zone and they led 2-0.

The OGO's TD march also began with an interception, Pi Mu was moving well through the air when Jerry Heintz made the first of his three interceptions. On first down Heintz carried around right end for 10 yards, Jack VanNatta then passed to Morelli for a good gain and another first down. Van Natta then spotted Jim Howell in the end zone and hit him with a pass for the TD.

That ended the scoring in the game, although both teams threatened repeatedly in the third and fourth quarters. Pi Mu made consistent long gains on passes from Steiner to Lipkin and Christensen, but the OGO defense tightened near their own goal and picked off Steiner's aeriels.

Jack VanNatta was the offensive star for the OGO's as he ran and passed well throughout the game. Jerry Heintz ended the last Pi Mu threat in the last period

Rampone, Enstrom, Payonk Hold Line; Offense Not Fast

A fairly large Homecoming crowd of alumni and students cheered to no avail Saturday as the Cadets of P.M.C. edged the Greyhounds by a 6-0 score.

Although outplayed throughout the entire game, the Cadets managed to hit pay dirt on a bobbled ball by halfback Paul Slifka. Slifka was his, bobbled the ball in the air and into the arms of a Cadet who lateraled to a P.M.C. lineman. The lineman slipped over for the score. That was all the scoring done in the game.

The Hounds threatened several times throughout the remainder of the game, but only came close to pay dirt once, that being in the fourth quarter. With fourth down and six inches to go for a tally, Tony Matz checked a play. However, the check was not heard by the whole team, and instead of Slifka carrying the ball, Matz handed to Berner, who passed incompletely to Slifka.

The Greyhound line, led by captain Gus Rampone, Miwe Payonk, and Larry Enstrom, held the Cadets to 80 yards while the Hounds ran up 202 yards with the consistent of halfback Rod Miller and fullback Dick Berner, who gained 122 yards between them.

Nine fumbles, six of which were recovered by P.M.C., hurt the Greyhounds considerably, along with the inability to complete passes.

The Hounds played without the presence of senior end Ron Rhen, halfback Joe Esposito, and centers Joe Guman and Fred Lipari.

Paul Noonan and John Olsen did a good job at the end slots. Olsen, a freshman, hails from Allentown. Noonan is a sophomore and hails from Morristown, New Jersey.

Kappa Delta Epsilon Names Program, Project Committees

Kappa Delta Epsilon Education Sorority held its first meeting on Tuesday, October 15, when plans for the year were discussed and two committees were named.

A Program Committee consisting of Sylvia Bilig, chairman, Dolores Durner, Jane Adams, and Judy Fretz has been set up in order to secure speakers, representing both in-service teachers and student teachers. These speakers will give lectures and panel discussions on the problems which are confronting the teachers of today. The programs will be open to anyone who is interested in the field of education. It is felt that a well-organized program of events will stimulate interest in the newly-formed chapter of this sorority.

Louise Sottosanti, Kathy Werst, Connie Hanks, and Carol Burwell were named to the Project Committee. Possibilities which this committee will look into are the Coopersburg Children's Home and the Children at Allentown State Hospital.

The final order of business was the naming of Connie Hanks and Gail Harding as delegate and alternate to U.S.G. This will be the first year that this sorority will be represented in the U.S.G.

Meetings are to be held the second Tuesday of each month. Post cards will be sent to the members before each meeting to inform them of the program for the night.

Members of the student body who have not yet done so are requested to pick up their student identification cards and community concert tickets immediately. They may be called for in the Business Office on North Campus. Students need the identification cards for all major school functions and the concert tickets are necessary for free admission to the Moravian College - Bethlehem Community Concert Series.

Costanzo Will Play

Smith announced Wednesday after the SAC meeting, that Nick Costanzo and his orchestra, of Netcong, N.J., has been signed for the Homecoming Dance. The Administration has agreed to pay out of the school funds for one of the band contracts, either with Gillespie or Costanzo, whichever is lowest.

John DeMattio, chairman of the floats for the parade, said that all groups who wish to enter floats in the parade, must submit their ideas to him before beginning construction.

Loss due to the postponement of the dance cost the SAC a total of $280, Smith said. This amount included programs which had already been printed, decorations, and the band contract.

Dean Marlyn Rader explained that the dance was called off last Thursday on the advice of the college Physician, Dr. Karl H. Hahn. Members of the administration stated that although they knew the action would cause "much disappointment and scurrying about," it was not their part to argue with advice of the doctor.

Increase of Flu Cited

Dr. Hahn stated that by Thursday there was increasing incidence of flu among older people, and since the dance was not restricted to students alone, it was not advisable to hold such an activity. The Bethlehem epidemic had taken a trend for the worse on Thursday and that was why he decided to call a halt at that time.

The administration stated they had checked with Hahn on each day of the week, but even as late as Wednesday Hahn advised the college that it would be allright to continue with its plans. As Hahn had advised, the trend of the epidemic became more serious, and by Tuesday 22 of 42 in Pennsylvania had died in Lehigh Valley hospitals due to respiratory disorder.

Hahn also advised the administration to call a halt to the pajama element of the Homecoming parade and to the bonfire. It would be allright to hold the football game, Rader quoted Hahn, since the people who would be exerting themselves, the football players, would have access to blankets and showers after their activity. Demonstrating freshmen, however, would most likely become overheated in the parade, and would not have such access, he said.

No Reason To Stop

Before closing the college for three days, Rader said, absentees numbered over 32% of the student body. Returning on Monday, no more than 5-10% were out, and after consulting with Hahn, they found no reason to put a halt to Homecoming activities.

Many rumors circulated around the campus that various groups were having trouble organizing and constructing their floats, although John DeMattio, float chairman, stated that no group had approached him stating their problem.

According to another administration member, Mr. Robert Snyder, if several social groups had expressed the fact that their floats were in trouble, and if the Social Activities Committee had stated that they felt they could not be ready for the weekend, the Homecoming activities could have been postponed much earlier.

Since no formal action was taken by any of the social groups, the SAC, the administration or Dr. Hahn before Thursday, no group had any reason for curtailing the activities before that day, Snyder stated.

Floats Withdrawn

Social groups took over where the administration left off by deciding to withdraw the floats from the parade, thereby halting all remaining plans but the football game.

When asked why their organization float was withdrawn when most of the work was complete and when the parade was still scheduled, these answers were received:

OGO President Brian Saderholm: "We felt it was ridiculous to have a float on a weekend which consisted of nothing else. The dance would have been the climax, and we didn't think it was worth it."

Pi Mu President Bob Smith: "Because they weren't having a pajama parade."

Phi Mu Epsilon President Kay McMurray: "We did it to go along with the rest of the group. It was a unanimous decision, and we went along."

Teke President Frank Danyi: "It was a joint project. There was no spirit or enthusiasm left, and we just didn't feel like working on our float."

Vets President Bob Kellow: "We felt it was foolish to have it with no dance or pajama parade. It wasn't there, but our representative said he didn't really want to take the float out, but he went along with the others. Personally, I don't think it should have been withdrawn either."

Sigma Phi Omega Vice President Nick Cuttic: "We didn't want to be the only one with a float. The whole feeling of the weekend was gone with the dance. There was prize money involved, and we didn't feel it would be right to enter our float with no competition since the others had withdrawn."

Representatives of Alpha Epsilon Pi Sorority and the Moravian Wives Club could not be contacted.

feeling, and general animosity was unleashed due to the weekend postponement. I believe that much of the spirit of the school, and especially that of the male Frosh, who were looking forward to the pajama parade with much eager anticipation and enthusiasm was lost. It is my personal opinion that this spirit will never be regained, regardless of what is planned for the future.

I hope that if in the future any decision of this kind is necessary, and I sincerely hope it will not be, the U.S.G. will be consulted to a greater degree. I think that U.S.G., since it is the voice of the student body, should have more to say about such a decision.

Your truly,
