Prorok Elected President Of USB As 78% Of Students Turn Out To Vote

Joe Prorok was elected president of the United Student Body (USB) in the general election held on Monday, March 10, and Tuesday, March 11. Election results showed that 78% of the entire student body cast their ballots at the North Campus polling place.

Jack Riedmiller was elected to serve as vice-president. Mary Lou Clewell was elected to the office of secretary, and Ted Lekorenos was voted in as treasurer.

Prorok received a total of 403 votes to win over Jerry Heintz, who had 178 votes. He is a junior pre-medical student from Allentown and has been a representative to the USG for the past two years. He is also past vice-president and present treasurer of Rho Alpha Upsilon Science Society, student co-chairman of Historic Bethlehem Inc., historian and member of the executive committee of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity.

Prorok was the vice president of the Men's Council before it was eliminated by the new constitution. He is a member of the Constitution Revisions Committee, the Political Activities Committee and the Comenian Literary Society.

Riedmiller won the vice presidency with 310 votes, while his opponent Fred DeFrank had 274.

Omega Fraternity. He is also a member of the Veterans Association.

Mary Lou Clewell with 302 votes topped Dora Thomas with 276 votes for the position of secretary. Miss Clewell, from Emmaus, Pa., is a sophomore sociology major. She is secretary of the sophomore class, a cheerleader, and a member of Alpha Epsilon Pi Sorority and the Benigna staff.

Riedmiller is a junior biology major from Bushkill, Pa. He is a member of Rho Alpha Upsilon Science Society, the Political Activities Club, the International Relations Club and Omicron Gamma

She played the title role in "Antigone," the Blackfriars' fall production.

Ted Lekorenos won the post of treasurer with 320 votes over John Woltjen with 255 votes. Lekorenos is a junior English major from Dover, Ohio. He is chaplain of Omicron Gamma Omega Fraternity and a member of the Spaniel Field and Trial Club, Pi Mu pre-theological fraternity, the dormitory council, and the hospitality committee for Religious Emphasis Week. He has been a member of the Glee Club and was secretary of the Men's Council before it was eliminated by the new constitution.

The elections committee also announced that twenty one partial votes had been cast in the general elections.

Oratorical Contest Scheduled For March 27th Convocation

The annual Comenius Day Oratorical Contest will be held at the faculty-student body convocation on Thursday, March 27, at 11:20 a.m.

All students in the college who have not previously won first prize are eligible to compete. Prizes this year will include a $25 first prize, a $15 second prize, and a $10 third prize. Anyone interested in the contest should contact Miss Ella Louise Williams or Mr. Walter Beaupre immediately.

The contest commemorates the anniversary of the birth of the world-renowned educator, bishop of the Unitas Fratrum, and distinguished Bohemian (Moravian) Exile, John Amos Comenius.

Prize money is provided by funds donated to the Moravian College for Men by James M. Beck and to the Moravian College for Women by W.C. Doster to establish oratorical contests at those institutions. Last year the funds were combined to provide one set of prizes instead of two.

JAZZ CONCERT

The Social Activities Committee will sponsor a free jazz concert next Friday evening in College Hall. Matt Gillespie and his orchestra will provide the music free of charge in return for the contracted sum which was paid him for the fall Homecoming dance. The dance was cancelled due to the flu epidemic.

The concert will begin after the movie "Of Mice and Men" which starts at 7 p.m.

Choir Makes Plans For Tour Of South After Easter Recess

The Moravian College Choir and its director, Richard R. Schantz, are making plans for a tour of the Southern Province of the Moravian Church. The 49-voice choir will leave Bethlehem sometime during the third or fourth week in April and not during Easter vacation as previously announced. They will be gone about five days.

While on tour the Choir will sing many of the numbers successfully presented in the Christmas Vesper Service and the Sesqui-centennial Symposium Concert of Eighteenth Century Music.

The tour is being planned to climax the Moravian College Development Program campaign in the Southern Province. It is being promoted and managed by the Committee For the Promotion of Moravian College in the Southern Province.

The choir, which will be ac-

Festival Finale Features James Burke As Soloist

A concert at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow evening in College Hall will bring to a close the Eleventh Annual Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Band Festival, being held on the Moravian College campus this weekend. The band is made up of 158 musicians from 34 colleges and universities in Pennsylvania, chosen by a special committee selected by the Pennsylvania Collegiate Bandmasters Association. The musicians will perform in the uniforms of their own colleges.

Special attraction for the concert will be the appearance of Jimmy Burke, cornet soloist with the Cities Service Band of America. He will play a solo, accompanied by the band, and will play in a trumpet trip with Moravian Director Ray Huston and Bernard Beitel, owner of a local music store.

Tickets for the concert are on sale in the lobby of Comenius Hall. They will also be sold at the door. Cost will be $1.00 for adults and $.50 for high school students and children younger.

Guest Conductor

Guest conductor for the event is Walter Beeler, band director of Ithaca College, Ithaca, New York. A graduate of New York University and Northwestern University, Beeler has composed method books and solos for various brass instruments. He has done band arrangements for major publishing houses and has been instructor and director at music festivals and clinics throughout the country.

The band members began rehearsals last night on a stage especially constructed for the event along the center of College Hall's west wall. Rehearsals will be held again today from 9:15 to noon, 2:15 to 5 p.m., and 7:30 to 9 p.m. One final rehearsal will be held tomorrow morning from 9:15 to noon before the concert at 8 p.m.

Planning and coordinating of the event were handled by the Moravian College Band under the direction of host Ray Huston. Bob Stewart handled the arrangements for housing the musicians in area homes and in the college dormitories.

The bandsmen are being fed on both floors of the North Campus dining room on a special schedule. Breakfast today and tomorrow is served from 8:15 to 8:45, lunch at 1:30 p.m., and dinner at 7 p.m. A closing banquet will be held at the Wesley Methodist Church, Center and Wall Streets, at 5 p.m. tomorrow.

Open Dance Tonight

After the rehearsal tonight, a dance will be held in College Hall. All Moravian students have been invited to attend the dance from 9:30 to 11:30. Joe Resetar and his orchestra will provide the music. Proper attire will be sports jackets for the men, skirts and blouses or sweaters for the women. Chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. John Godfrey, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Marcincin, Dr. & Mrs. Richmond E. Myers and Mr. Richard Schantz. All members of the faculty and administration have been invited to attend.

A Welcome To Our Guests

As the weekly voice of the Moravian student body, The Comenian takes this opportunity to extend a hearty welcome to 158 of the best musicians in Pennsylvania who are now attending the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Band Festival in College Hall.

The campus has looked forward eagerly to the day when it could have an active and worthwhile part in statewide collegiate activities. Having recently celebrated its 150th anniversary, the college now takes advantage of that opportunity as part of its sesquicentennial activities.

Through personal contacts and by reading other collegiate newspapers, we have found that many people don't even know Moravian College exists. Our sports and other contacts have limited our intercollegiate relationships to a few colleges in eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York. Through this festival we hope to increase and extend our reputation throughout the Pennsylvania college scene.

The musicians will find Moravian College a small, but gregarious community. Due to the nationwide problem of overcrowding, our enrollment has been temporarily limited to 750. However, we are in the growing stage, and expect to move into a new 180-unit dormitory in the fall of 1959. Our latest addition, the building in which the festival is being held, is our pride and joy.

To correct some misconceptions, we are not a music college, although we offer several music courses and boast one of the finest mixed choirs in the state. Neither are we primarily a theological college since less than 10% of the student body is studying for the ministry.

We still suffer slight pains from the merger of Moravian College for Men with Moravian College for Women which took place four years ago. But co-education, we find, is a stimulus to college life, and we like it.

It's true that we don't have a campus like Penn State, our social relationships (three fraternities, two sororities) are slightly less than desirable, and we don't have the "rah, rah" of the Ivy League.

But, in place of those things, we have a friendly, intimate student body, a school in which you won't "get lost" in the crowd, and a college in which you're on speaking terms with almost every member of the student body, faculty, and administration.

A large number of activities provides adequate opportunities for all students to participate and to become leaders in their respective groups. The students are largely self-governing, with the United Student Government holding many powers that other college governments do not have.

We attend a college rich in historical background, its roots lying in the development of colonial America. The buildings on South Campus were erected by the Moravian settlers in 1747, and the original Moravian Seminary and College for Women is said to have been the first boarding school for girls in the thirteen colonies.

We are proud of our college, and we invite you, the members of the state band, to share our pride. You are welcome to visit our buildings and dormitories and to drink coffee with us in the Emcee and Femsee (our north and south campus snack bars). We hope you will enjoy your three-day visit to our college and trust that your rewards from participation in the festival will be fruitful.

We are proud to have you on our campus, and again, we bid you welcome.

Increased Voting . . .

We are glad to see such an increased number of votes cast in the general elections for USG officers held Monday and Tuesday. Seventy-eight per cent of the student body is a good percentage compared to those evidenced by elections in other years and by the primary elections this year.

There probably are examples of other schools that have a greater percentage voting, but considering the facts that some are student teaching and others cannot get to North Campus during the day, we think the number of students voting is commendable.

This increased feeling of responsibility for voting may have resulted from personal interest in candidates or a general interest created by the recent change in constitutions. It may have resulted from an increased trust in the validity of the elections because of the new elections committee, which seems to be functioning very effectively and successfully. Or it may be due to the increased amount of publicity around the campuses concerning either the candidates or the elections themselves.

Whatever was the reason behind it—it worked. And we hope that such interest in voting and in other government functions will continue to be evident on the Moravian campuses.

The Mail Box

Dear Editor:

During Religious Emphasis Week we discovered that many of you on campus had no idea that such an organization as the Campus Christian Association even existed at Moravian College. Really, we do exist! Maybe you don't know what our purpose is, when and where we meet or what we as a group actually do.

Let's start with our purpose as stated in our newly revised constitution: "We the Campus Christian Association of Moravian College declare our purpose to be a fellowship of students, faculty, and staff, seeking to strengthen our Christian faith through worship, Bible study, and fellowship, and to fulfill our Lord's commandments by unselfish service to our society."

We meet every Monday evening at 7:15 for Bible study; Tuesday evening for a business meeting, and, we hope in the future, discussion groups and movies. Wednesday evening we enjoy sharing our time with the boys and girls at the Good Shepherd Home. This is truly a wonderful and heart-warming experience and loads of fun. And by recent decision of the group we have decided to adopt, through the Christian Children's Fund, the care of an overseas orphan. This is a responsibility which we as a group have found in our hearts to accept.

In this letter we have tried to explain the purpose and activities of C.C.A. We will continue to strive to establish a Christian college community in which our lives and talents will be shared in Christian love throughout all of our lives.

Sincerely yours,

Cabinet Members of Campus Christian Association

Modern Language Club Will Present Scenes From 'Noe'

The Modern Language Club will present scenes from Andre Obeyes' Noe at a program to be held next Thursday, March 20. This program is scheduled to take the place of the club's Modern Language week activities, which were cancelled due to the snow of February 16 and 17.

Taking part in the production will be Peter Berndt as Noah, Collette Yamaoka as Mrs. Noah, Nicole Yoder and Barbara Seneca as Noah's daughters, and Bob Reed as Noah's son. The presentation will take place at South Campus and will start at 7:30.

After the play, there will be a program of Italian, German, and French songs under the direction of Mr. Schantz. The Modern Language Club has announced that all students are invited to this program. Refreshments will be served.

Margaret Ono Plays Lead In LU Production Of 'Teahouse'

by Ginny Dancy

Pretty Margaret Ono, Moravian senior from Tokyo, Japan, will be featured in the Lehigh University Mustard and Cheese Players' production of "Teahouse of the August Moon" next week. The Pulitzer Prize winning comedy by John Patrick will be given in Broughal Junior High School Auditorium Thursday and Friday evenings, March 20 and 21, at 8:30 p.m. Tickets for $1.50 may be purchased at Huff's Music Store or through the Division of Speech, Lehigh Campus.

Margaret, who says she has never acted before other than in grammar school, is excited and looking forward to playing the lead role as Lotus Blossom, a Geisha girl. She has even had four of her own Japanese costumes sent here from Japan by her mother. The special costume for her dancing scene was a Christmas present, and Margaret will wear it for the first time in the play.

Being the only young woman to have a speaking part, she is slightly outnumbered at rehearsals. Usually she is the only girl among about ten men. When they rehearse the mob scene, she says, Cedar Crest girls take parts as the members of the Ladies League for Democratic Action. Several other women's parts are taken by faculty wives.

As Lotus Blossom, Margaret speaks only Okinawa throughout the play. She explained that this language is very similar to Japanese, and said that "it feels good" to speak something so close to her native tongue.

Margaret also has the job of teaching the actors in the mob scene and the actor who plays the interpreter how to speak Okinawa. She calls it the "most tough job I ever did." Douglas Kim, a Lehigh senior from Seoul, Korea, plays the part of Sakini, the interpreter, but since he didn't speak any Okinawa, Margaret had to teach him too. At this point, she giggled a little and added, "He cheats sometimes. He uses Korean, but no one knows but me." As for the others she has taught, she thinks that what they speak now is "not English, not Okinawa, but something in the middle."

Her opinion of the play is that "it is excellent, a very good comedy," but she added that "it is very difficult for my part." She went on to explain that when she acts as an Oriental girl, she cannot make the director, Professor H. Barret Davis of the Lehigh English department, understand her interpretation. "It's very difficult because when he asks me to do it his way, I am not Lotus Blossom in Okinawa, but Lotus Blossom in America."

To Margaret, this is her "first chance to show herself before the big public." In her attractive Japanese accent, she said there are "so many people who wish me good luck, especially my mother. I want to answer their expectations."

Baseball Greyhounds Begin Practicing In College Hall

by Neil Eskolin

Now that the basketball season is over and spring is on its way, baseball is coming into the spotlight at Moravian College. With the opening game just four weeks away, the 1958 prospects have been working out in an effort to be in top form for the opener at Haverford on April 12.

The Hounds will have quite a job trying to equal or better their excellent 17-4 record of last year. They'll be without the services of graduated Skip Fegley, Ron Gift, Joe Heard, and Rollie Passaro in addition to the Van Natta brothers, Jim and Jack who were signed to major league contracts.

On the brighter side, however, is the fact that there will be nine returning lettermen, including senior Captain Dick Schwartz who will open the season at short stop; junior Tony Matz who plays left field and batted .350 last season; senior backstop George Hollendersky who knocked the old apple at a .357 clip last season; sophomore Dick Chergey who piled up an impressive 4-0 record, as well as senior outfielder Sy Hirsh, sophomore pitcher Bill Hershey, sophomore catcher and first baseman Charlie Bartolet, junior Willie Wolbach at second, reserve infielder Bobby Volko and junior third baseman Nick Cuttic.

Head coach "Gil" Gillespie stated that the only position that is nailed down is Dick Schwartz at shortstop. There are many openings in the infield, outfield, and especially on the mound.

Since it is so early in the season, "Gil" refused to comment on the new freshmen prospects or on the quality of the team as a whole. He said he'd have to reserve judgment on this until the team gets in a few outside practices and scrimmage games. They've been practicing in College Hall these past two weeks.

Assisting Gillespie, who is starting his 18th year as coach of the Hounds, is Gus Garscar also a veteran of seven years at Moravian.

Leaders' Reward: Gold Or Glory? Pay Or Prestige?

(ACP)—When the University of New Mexico student council turned down a proposal to pay the student body vice-president $30 monthly, the LOBO paused to comment on the paying of salaries to student officials.

"Love might make the world go around," said editor Danny Zeff, "but gold and silver are the lubrication that eliminates the squeaks."

He urged that students be paid from Associated Students funds—"something to dig the talent out." At present only the student body president gets a salary ($75) from student funds, and seven Lobo staffers are paid from publications profits.

Zeff pooh-poohs the idea that "prestige" should be the only remuneration for students who work hard on campus projects.

(ACP)—Editors of the Heights Daily News (College of Engineering, University Heights, New York University) don't even mention pay when discussing what a student leader gets for his time and effort.

Criticizing editors of a Canadian college paper who resigned because "nobody cared" about the job they did, the Heightsmen noted "if students reach any posi-

SPRING SPOTLIGHT

Dick Schwartz

With the baseball season just around the corner, we have in the spotlight senior Dick Schwartz, captain of this year's Greyhound team. Dick, whose home town is Northampton, Pennsylvania, is 21 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighs 160 pounds.

He attended Northampton High School where he played shortstop throughout his four years. In high school Dick received three letters.

Last year, as a junior, Dick had a batting average of .350. His over-all average for three years is .270.

His greatest thrill came in 1954 playing for the Coplay Legion team in the Pennsylvania State Junior Legion Tournament, which won the championship. Dick received the Most Valuable Player Award.

Dick's interest lie in all sports, music and occasionally visiting his cabin in the mountains. He is majoring in Business Administration, although Dick would not turn down the opportunity of playing pro-baseball if it should arise. He is a member of the E.B.A. Club.

When asked what he thought the team's chances were, this year, he predicted a fair to good season, depending on the rookies.

Annual Comenius Day Celebration Includes Banquet, Alumni Award

The Annual Comenius Day Celebration for 1958 will be held on March 28. This day is celebrated in honour of John Amos Comenius an early Moravian Bishop who was considered by many historians to be the Father of Modern Education. The administration building at Moravian College is named after Comenius. Annually the Moravian College Alumni Association presents its Alumni Award to the man with outstanding achievements on the anniversary of the birth of John Amos Comenius.

A banquet will be held at 6:00 p.m. March 28 in the main dining room of the Hotel Bethlehem. The speaker of the evening will be Cyril N. Hoyler whose topic will be "Compass for Tomorrow." Mr. Hoyler, who is manager of Technical Relations for the David Sarnoff Research Center of the Radio Corporation of America in Princeton, New Jersey, will receive the Annual Alumni Award for outstanding achievements in his field.

Students of Moravian College are also invited to this celebration. Tickets at a cost of $3.00 per person can be obtained from committee members, board members or from the Alumni office on South Campus.

tion of importance, they soon realize that the time involved is way out of proportion with the credit or glory.

"Then they remain a part of the activity because they feel they are doing something for the school and they enjoy the work."

Greyhound Gossip

By Dick Steiner

One of the most difficult jobs of a sportswriter is to find interesting and informative material to present to his readers between athletic seasons. When one season has just ended and the next is yet to begin, he must do a lot of thinking to find such material, for although no one is playing, the paper is still publishing.

If we depart from our local scene, however, our task becomes somewhat easier, for two college champs and one pro winner are yet to be decided on the basketball front. Baseball has also made its customary Spring debut, and can now be considered fair game for the columnists.

On the college scene, eliminations are under way in the NCAA and NIT tournaments as teams from all sections of the country battle for the number one position. Already many of the favorites have fallen by the wayside, the victims of upsets which seem to characterize all tournaments.

Among the favorites that are out of the running are Kansas State, Duke, and North Carolina. From our area, Temple seems like the team with the best chance of taking the NCAA, while among the colleges we played this season, St. Peters is still in the running for NIT honors.

Every year about this time we stick our neck out and offer some far-fetched baseball predictions. The greatest mistake to record was predicting the Phillies for last one year. (I thought that there were't any more Phillies fans around until I saw them coming toward the Arts Building with a rope!) Anyway, I'm still foolhardy enough to take one last fling at the prognosticating game before graduating, so here goes.

The Yanks will go all the way in the American, and their chief competition will come from the Chisox. Boston, Cleveland, and Detroit will finish in that order, all well out of the running. Baltimore, Kansas City, and Washington will fight over the scraps, finishing in this order.

It looks like the Braves will repeat in the Senior loop, with Los Angeles giving them their biggest scare. Next will come San Francisco (sounds strange, huh?) then the Cardinals, followed by Cincinnati. At this point the crystal ball gets a little hazy, but it looks like the Phils next, trailed by Pittsburgh and Chicago. Oh well, only time can make me look bad, and I hope to graduate in June.

See ya next week.

Internat'l Relations Club Arranges For United Nations Trip

The International Relations Club (IRC), in cooperation with the Political Science Department has arranged a trip to the United Nations in New York City for Tuesday, March 25.

The group will travel by bus, leaving from North Campus at 7 a.m. and from South Campus at 7:15 a.m. They will attend meetings of the various U.N. committees in session that day. The bus will leave from New York at 12 mid-night.

Students who are going on the trip will receive excused cuts for the classes they will miss. All students interested should contact either Dr. Otis Shao or Walid Nammari.

Plans for the trip will be discussed further at the meeting of the IRC and PAC on Wednesday, March 19, at 8 p.m. in Comenius Hall.

Five Judges Chosen To Pick Manuscript Contest Winners

Five members of the faculty and administration have been selected by the staff of The Manuscript, Moravian's literary magazine, to serve as judges in the magazine-sponsored creative writing contest.

These judges were chosen from the various academic departments of the school in order to have a representative judging.

Departments

Dr. Mary Kennedy will represent the history department. The English department will be represented by Mr. Robert Burcaw, and Mrs. Beecher will judge on behalf of the modern language department. President Raymond S. Haupt and Mrs. Kathryn Phelps will represent the administration on the panel.

March 15 Deadline

All entries must be handed in to one of the Manuscript staff members before Saturday, March 15. The judges will select the three best works, and the authors will be awarded first, second, and third prizes of $15, $10, and $5, respectively. The prizes will not be awarded in any one specific category of writing; they will go to the top three entries regardless of what type of literature they may be.

Richard McCollum Is Featured Performer In Easton Concert, Tuesday

Richard McCollum, tenor, will be the featured artist at the Easton Community Concert on Tuesday, March 18.

Moravian students will be able to attend the concert by showing their Bethlehem-Moravian College Community Concert Series ticket.

The concert is scheduled to begin at 8:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Easton High School. The school is located at 12th and Northampton Streets in Easton, Pennsylvania.

Festival Finale

Upon registering at College Hall yesterday afternoon, each visitor was given an envelope containing his housing arrangements, a Chamber of Commerce map of the city of Bethlehem, the airview pamphlet of the college, a schedule of events, a nametag, and a Moravian College pencil. The nametag will be required for entrance to the dining hall.

Directors of the visiting college bands will be guests of Liberty High School Band Director Joe Ricapito at a rehearsal of his band this morning. They will also attend the rehearsals and clinics of the state band and will be entertained at the home of host Ray Huston tonight.

The directors, all members of the Pennsylvania Collegiate Bandmasters Association, will elect officers for the coming year and choose the music for next year's concert. Present officers are C. David McNaughton of Indiana State Teachers, president, and Moravian's Ray Huston, vice president.

The band will play "Fanfare and Allegro" by Clifton Williams, "Three Chorale Preludes" by William Latham, "My Fair Lady" by Lerner-Loewe, "Maracaibo" by J. J. Morrissey, "Pageant" by Vincent Persichatte, "Legend" by Paul Creston, "Tulsa" by Don Gillis, "Jubilee Concert March" by George Kenny, "The President's March" by Henry Fillmore, and "National Spirit March" by S. J. Hummel.

Participating Colleges

Participating colleges and the number from each are as follows: Albright 2, Bloomsburg STC 2, Bucknell 1, Carnegie Tech 8, Drexel 2, Duquesne 2, Edinboro STC 3, Franklin & Marshall 4, Gettysburg 2, Grove City 3, Indiana STC 9, Kutztown STC 3, Lafayette 2, LaSalle 3, Lebanon Valley 4, Lehigh 7, Lock Haven STC 3, and Lycoming 3.

Also, Mansfield STC 13, Millersville STC 5, Moravian 11, PMC 4, Penn State 21, Shippensburg STC 2, Slippery Rock STC 3, Susquehanna 7, Swarthmore 2, Temple 2, Ursinus 4, Washington & Jefferson 2, Waynesburg 3, West Chester STC 9, Wilkes 4, and Westminster 2.

Last year's concert was held at Indiana State Teacher's College. This is the first year the festival has been in eastern Pennsylvania since Lehigh University played host in 1951.

Divergence Of Opinions Concerning R-E Week

by Robert Kellow

This feature is the first of a series of three. It will show the student reaction to Religious Emphasis Week. The second will be a condemnation of our current chapel system. The third will contain the views of Rev. William Cohea of our college and a few of his thoughts towards the betterment of this college.

Rev. Cohea came to us with a definite intent. He wanted to make us think. He must have achieved his purpose in making us think. The fact that almost every student to whom I have spoken has realized this gives evidence towards its verity.

The views of some of the outstanding students on campus follow. Sam Zeller was also kind enough to give us his view on Rev. Cohea's provocation.

Alan Bergstein: "From the limited conversation I had with Rev. Cohea during the week, for the most part, I found him to be rather ambiguous in answering my questions. Strangely enough, I was a little disappointed in his convocation kick-off speech.

"The main reason for this was the fact that his speech seemed disorganized, and that I could not find an actual purpose within the speech itself or in its delivery."

Marlin Schaffstall: "I think the organized church was not given enough credit for what it is already doing, but this may have been an intentional oversight in order to emphasize the point of review he was representing. From the little I heard of his presentations he seems to have accomplished his purpose of forcefully stimulating new emphases on Christian thought and action."

Hal Cole: "I don't know what Rev. Cohea had as his main purpose but from the discussions I heard, he was not merely interested in giving his own opinion on a subject. He was undoubtedly trying to stimulate our own ideas. If this was his purpose, he needed more time. The students were only beginning to express themselves on the last day. As for his speech, I don't know why so many students were shocked."

Jerry Heintz: "I find few persons on campus who speak as honestly as Rev. Cohea about their opinions. I think his suggestions concerning the school are wonderful. I believe, as he said, the students have no place of authority to which they can go to obtain adequate guidance. He's a man to be respected and reckoned with."

Sam Zeller: "He has challenged a great many students. He met with many reactions. He created a lot of thinking, some of which was antagonist."

These opinions evidence a divergence of thought on Rev. Cohea's work. One healthy aspect of this divergence is that the opinions are either for or against his methods. The division is abrupt as one can readily see after having read the above opinions. Few students are "lukewarm."

Next week—Chapel in retrospect.

Chairman Announces Southern Campaign Brings In $109,000

Mr. Frank Willingham, Chairman of the Southern Campaign, announced Monday that $109,000 of the $125,000 goal for his district has been received. Willingham stated that there is every prospect of reaching the $125,000 if results continue to come in as expected from the churches who have not completed their individual campaigns.

During the Southern campaign of the Moravian College Sesqui-centennial Development Program, of which the total goal is $1,050,000, 39 of the 42 North Carolina Moravian Churches were visited. Over 1,000 persons have contributed to the total $109,000 already received. Three individual gifts accepted amounted to $1,000 each.

Committee in Each Church

The organization of the Southern Campaign included a committee in each local church which visited every member of the church's congregation. A kick-off meeting was held in each local church, at which a twenty-minute film was shown and a campus representative spoke to the group. Every family in the congregation also received the booklet "150 Years," which states the aims of the entire campaign.

The fund raising campaign has already been concluded in Wisconsin, Montana, Ohio, Indiana, North Dakota, and South Dakota. None of the Moravian churches in Canada have been reached yet.

Bronze Plaque

Mr. Robert Snyder, Director of Development, stated that when the campaign is completed, a bronze plaque similar to the one already in existence will be placed in College Hall. The names of all who have contributed will be placed on this plaque.
