Trustees Approve Plans For Student Center; Will Match $10 Semester Fee

The Board of Trustees at their semi-annual meeting held last Thursday and Friday, April 17 and 18, approved the proposed plans for the establishment of a student center. By providing for a Student Center Fund, the Board cleared the way for the formulation of concrete plans for the center.

The Student Center will be financed by a $10 per semester fee for all students starting in September of 1958 to be matched by the Trustees with funds from annual gifts.

As the Trustees requested, studies and consultations have been started with authorities in the field of student centers.

The Board also authorized the establishment of reserve funds necessary to complete federal loans of $590,000 to build the new men's dormitory.

Three new members were added to the Board at this meeting. They are Mr. Arch B. Johnston, Mr. T. E. Mueller, and Mr. Clarence Leinbach.

Mr. Johnston, a resident of Bethlehem, graduated from Moravian in 1914. The son of a former trustee, he is a member of Central Moravian Church and has established a scholarship fund at Moravian.

A former president of the Julius Kayser Company, Mr. Mueller is currently assistant to the President of the New Jersey Zinc Company. He was originally from Bethlehem, but now is living in Litchfield, Connecticut. Mr. Mueller is also a Moravian graduate, Class of 1910, and a member of Central Moravian. He is a member of the Lehigh University Board of Trustees.

Mr. Leinbach, who lives in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, received an honorary D.D.L. degree from Moravian in 1955. He is a member of the Home Moravian Church.

The Trustees convened on Thursday for committee meetings. In the evening they were joined by faculty members and their wives for dinner in the South campus dining room. After dinner Dr.

Senior Farewell Picnic To Be At Saucon Park, May 4

The traditional Senior Farewell picnic in honor of the graduating class will be sponsored by the junior class on Sunday afternoon, May 4, at Saucon Park, Bethlehem. The picnic, which will begin at 2 p.m., is open to the entire student body, faculty, members of the administration, and guests.

Free birch beer, potato chips, and pretzels will be provided. Each person who attends, however, is expected to provide his own lunch. Dormitory students may make arrangements with their respective dining halls on north or south campus for obtaining lunches.

Informal attire, i.e. bermudas, khakis, etc., is expected. Although the swimming pool will be closed, a program of sports is being planned. Recreation will include soft-

Otis Shao, Assistant Professor of Government, spoke to the group on the topic, "United States Foreign Policy in the Far East in 1937."

On Friday morning at 9 a.m. the Trustees held their final session in the Archives Building. At that time they heard administrative reports and made their final decisions.

About 30 trustees attended this meeting. They were from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Ohio, Wisconsin, North Carolina, and California.

Tomorrow At 5 Is Deadline For Queen Candidate Pictures

The Social Activities Committee (SAC) will accept pictures of candidates for Senior Farewell Queen until tomorrow at 5 p.m. The Queen will be crowned at the intermission of the Senior Farewell formal dance which will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. on Friday, May 2.

Bob Smith, chairman of the committee, announced recently that they will accept the picture of any Moravian coed or the date of any Moravian student, except a former queen of any Moravian social event. He emphasized that the photograph need not be formal and that a snapshot is sufficient.

Five finalists will be chosen from the entries by the SAC. They will be announced in The Comenian next week. The Queen will be chosen by Matt Gillespie and Bill Lawrence, the two orchestra leaders for Senior Farewell. Pictures should be submitted to a member of SAC or left on South Campus for Pat Conover, who is in charge of the Queen contest.

The finalists and their dates will eat dinner with the orchestra leaders in the South Campus dining room at 5 p.m. on the evening of the dance.

Honor Code Must Be Ratified By $\frac{2}{3}$ To Pass Monday, Tuesday Election

The Moravian College Honor Code, a proposed amendment to the student body constitution, will come up as a referendum next Monday and Tuesday, April 28 and 29. In order to become a part of the constitution, the amendment must be ratified by two-thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) of the student body and also by two-thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) of the faculty.

The amendment is being brought before the student body after a sufficient number of names were placed on the petitions which were circulated last week. The new constitution calls for the signatures of a majority of the student body on all petitions requesting amendment to the constitution.

The Honor Code in its present form has been approved by both faculty and USG student committees. It was begun in the Fall of 1956 and has been revised and rewritten several times since then.

If approved by the student body, the Honor Code will be applicable to examinations, tests, and other academic work explicitly designated by the instructor. Each student will sign a statement upon registration for each semester saying he has read the Honor Code and pledging himself to abide by it.

An Honor Court of seven students and three faculty members, each serving for a period of one academic year, will review all cases brought before it. It will hear the accused, the accuser, and any witnesses, to the case in question.

The Honor Code states the following methods in which cases may be brought before the Court:

An offender may report himself to the examiner or to any member of the Honor Court, who shall promptly notify the President of the Court.

A student who observes or has evidence of dishonest conduct is in duty bound to ask the offender to report himself. If the offender fails or refuses to report himself, the observer is obligated to report what he has observed to the examiner or to a member of the court.

Eight affirmative votes of the Honor Court will be necessary to find the accused guilty. Penalties, which will be final and unalterable, may range from a minimum of a reprimand, through various degrees of severity including zero for the work concerned and failure in the course, to a maximum of suspension from college for not more than four months.

The code, which was printed in full in last week's Comenian, may be amended by a two-thirds vote of the student body, ratified by a majority vote of the faculty. Once it has been accepted, it may be abolished by two successive majority votes of student body or faculty not less than three months of term-time apart.

Faculty members of the Honor Code committee were Dean Marilyn Rader, Dean Halcyon Sartwell, George Tyler, John Gehman, Otis Shao, and Johanna Ott. Student committee members were Nan Gingham, Sophie Nicholas, Jerry Heintz, Joe Rosenfeld, and John Woltjen.

Faculty Members Attend Confabs In N.Y., Harrisburg

Four members of the Moravian College faculty were away from the campus this past weekend attending conferences in New York and Harrisburg.

Dr. Margaret Gump, chairman of the Department of Modern Languages, and Dr. Paul E. Mueller, associate professor of German, attended the Northeast Conference on the Teaching of Foreign Languages in New York City. The conference, held at Hunter College, was attended by more than 100 teachers of foreign languages in elementary schools, high schools, and colleges.

Mr. Walter J. Beaupre, assistant professor of speech and drama, attended the 49th Annual Convention of the Speech Association of the Eastern States, which was also held in New York City. Over 46 exhibits from publishers and manufacturers of speech aids were assembled for exhibit.

Dr. Otis Shao, assistant professor of government, addressed a luncheon meeting of the Eastern Pennsylvania Citizenship Clearing House in Harrisburg, on Saturday, April 19. The Citizenship Clearing House has an eastern Pennsylvania membership of over 40 colleges and Universities. Its purpose is to train and instruct students in practical politics.

Dr. Shao was also nominated for the Board of Directors of the Citizenship Clearing House by the Lehigh Valley Foreign Policy Association.

Lower Classes Elect Heintz, Gray, MacDonald As Prexies

Jerry Heintz was elected president of next year's senior class in the general class elections held Thursday and Friday, April 17 and 18. Elected to the offices of presidents of next year's junior and sophomore classes were Bob Gray and Jim MacDonald, respectively.

Heintz, an English major, is from Pelham Manor, New York.

He is a member of USG, the Spelunkers, and Omicron Gamma Omega fraternity. This past Fall, he had a main role in the Blackfriars production of "Antigone."

Other officers of the senior class are Tony Matz, vice president; Ann Corbett, secretary; Charles Korpics, treasurer; and Paul Meilinger, USG representative. Matz, from Reading, is a member of OGO and USG. A math major, he has played on the football and baseball teams.

Miss Corbett is majoring in business-secretarial studies and is from Lancaster. A sister in Phi Mu Epsilon and a member of WAA, she served as secretary of her class in her freshman and junior years. Korpics is a business administration and economics major from Bethlehem. He is a member of OGO and the Vets Association. Meilinger, recently elected vice president of the TKE's, is from Bethlehem also. A business administration major, he is a member of the Political Activities Club, International Relations Club, and USG.

Junior Class

Gray, a brother of Tau Kappa Epsilon, hails from Pottstown.

He is majoring in history and is a member of PAC.

Other officers of the junior class for 1958-59 are Griff Dudding, vice president; Dolores Lang, secretary; Jane Keogh, treasurer; and Ralph DeWalt, USG Representative.

Dudding is an English major from Philadelphia and is a member of Pi Mu. He also holds membership in the Blackfriars and Sigma Phi Alpha.

Miss Lang is from Easton and is majoring in German. A member of Phi Mu Epsilon, she is also in the choir and band. Miss Keogh, a member of Alpha Epsilon Pi sorority, is from East Orange, N. J. Secretary of the present sophomore class, she is a medical technology major. DeWalt, from Allentown, is a pre-engineering major and a brother of Tau Kappa Epsilon.

The Honor System: Pros And Cons . . . Student Hold Variety Of Opinions On System

by Jeanette Mirne

Next Monday and Tuesday a proposed Honor System amendment to the student body constitution will be presented for ratification or rejection. An amendment of such proportions requires careful consideration from the entire student body, and for this reason each student should be well-educated as to the operations of the proposed system before he votes. As a product of the student government and its major project for a year and a half, the honor system is something that the USG should have strived to make known and understood. Yet after presenting it to the student body in The Comenian, no effort was made to clarify or explain its parts — either through posters, chapel talks, discussions groups, or convocation. For this reason, we present both sides of the issue, first the argument for the honor system, and then the negative viewpoint.

Affirmative

The major purpose of an honor system is to create (or preserve) a sense of responsibility within the individual. It is this lack of responsibility that is almost a major characteristic of the Moravian College student. We have all noticed how some of our friends and associates cannot be depended on to do anything, or at least do it right. If we can instill a sense of dependability in these people through approval of an honor system, we should not hesitate to do so.

Almost everyone on campus, during his brief or lengthy stay, has had some part in dishonor during a test—either by giving or receiving answers, using crib sheets, or watching others do these without saying anything. The honor system aims to eliminate this wholesale cheating, but yet this is only secondary to its main goal of cultivating responsibility. And the responsibility which is cultivated is not something which will end with graduation, but is rather a lifelong attribute which will better society and will make a college education truly "something of value."

The function of a college is practically useless if it cannot teach its students to be better citizens. Students themselves waste their time and money by attending a college where they find it easy to cheat and take advantage of that fact. If Moravian College is such an institution (and any student can tell you that it is), then corrective measures must be taken. The honor system is an excellent place to start aiming for a better institution. Greater selectivity in admissions will sooner or later eliminate the lazy and the cheaters who come to college for a sheepskin but not an education.

To show friends, neighbors, and future employers in the community that we attend a college whose students are immature, undependable, and not capable of even trusting in themselves will not benefit anyone and will certainly not help the college. Our disapproval of the honor system shows only that we are inherent cheaters who cannot trust ourselves to stop cheating and will probably not be able to stop these ways when we leave college.

The matter of being afraid to report close friends or to ask them to report themselves is a relatively minor phase of the system. Without it, of course, the honor code will not work, and yet this is the premise upon which the whole idea of responsibility is built. We must be mature enough, and man enough to ask someone else to report himself if he is seen doing a misdeed in class. The person who cannot do this, as well as the person who cheats, does not belong in college.

Moravian students must face up to themselves when considering the honor system on Monday and Tuesday. It is only with a true sense of responsibility, or a desire to cultivate the same, that we will find the true meaning of a college education and a better life after graduation.

Negative

An honor system, rather than creating and developing a sense of responsibility, is actually doing more to inferiorate the student's sense of responsibility. By "hanging something over his head," such a system makes the student feel that his own judgment, his own sense of right and wrong, is not capable to handle the decisions and temptations he will undoubtedly encounter in taking examinations, doing school-work, etc.

The utopian answer would be that each individual student would practice an unwritten honor code of his own accord. But to assume that the honor codes would be identical would be to assume an improbability. However, isn't it just as improbable to assume that we should force upon a person a universal code to which he cannot wholeheartedly agree? Shall we take it upon ourselves to say that those who cannot sign it because they believe in an individual, personal honor code should not be allowed to remain in school? Should the code be accepted, will students in that position who are enrolled now, be refused admission for the next semester until they agree to sign it? Is this the freedom a liberal arts college claims it grants students? This sounds more like a military institution, or to be even more radical, a type of prison.

No matter how explicit the rules in this honor system, it will be difficult to draw the line between "cheating" and "obtaining help in a legal manner." Who will define these terms? The court, after the offense has already been committed?

Besides this fact, there is still the possibility, and the probability, that some will be wrongly accused. Actions on the part of a student that are misconstrued into being a form a cheating may be quite hard to defend if there are no witnesses. Most of the cases will probably end up as one person's word against another's. Will they judge on reputation then?

On the other hand, suppose a student is guilty of cheating. If this school is composed of the "cheats" of which it is being accused, would they hesitate to lie in their defense? Who is to say whether or not a person's defense is a lie? The matter still ends up being a case of reputation.

Finally, since this is a case for placement of responsibility, why don't the members of the faculty assume their share? We have heard of plenty of examples where professors who remain in the classroom while giving an examination cannot help but observe cheating, yet they do nothing about it. In fact, in some cases, we have been told that professors have helped individual students during tests. On another point, work handed in late is docked in marks for some and not for others. Is this honor?

If the faculty does not take any action to curb cheating and, by doing so, virtually encourages students to take advantage of cheating, how can they expect the student body to abide by an honor code? If the honor code is to be universal, it must be applied to all concerned.

In view of these facts, it is important that the student, when considering the honor code on Monday and Tuesday, should decide whether or not it has the possibilities of working practically.

After a year and a half of being passed from one committee to another, which resulted in four different revisions, the proposed Honor Code was finally finished, and published in last week's Comenian. It turned out to be quite a conversation piece, for since it affects every person in the school, there are very few who have not formed some sort of opinion on it.

To the question, "Are you in favor of proposed honor system?", Moravian College students had this to say:

Mary Vezzoli, junior English major: An honor system is an absolute essential for any college of high standards. It will be up to the instructor to carry this honor code to its fullest possibility, such as application in take-home tests, and term papers.

Peter Berndt, senior German major: In two words, it stinks. I am very much opposed to the automatic presumption that all students cheat.

Loretta Soltis, freshman secretarial major: I am in favor of an honor system, except that for the fact that I would hesitate to report another student if I saw them cheating.

Ron Cavanaugh, sophomore forestry major: I am opposed to an honor system of any sort. It is unnecessary for college students and there is no sense to it. If someone is inclined to cheat, he will do so whether we have an honor system or not.

Carolyn Felver, junior elementary major: The honor system would be fine, if it works. However, every student would have to uphold such an ideal.

Sylvia Lambert, freshman language major: I am in favor of the honor system. I think it should at least be given a chance to prove its worth. Personally, I haven't seen any great need for an honor system at Moravian College, but I suppose it will serve its purpose.

Jim Cannon, junior engineering major: The honor code, as outlined in the Comenian, is not worth the paper it's written on. It is really no honor system at all. All it accomplishes is having the students constantly looking for others who may be cheating. From an ethical standpoint, this isn't putting anyone on their honor.

From a practical standpoint, who can say if another person has cheated? A person wrongly accused of cheating, will always be condemned in the eyes of the students, despite the fact that he has been proven innocent. Also, a student who turns in another would be practically ostracized from the rest of the group.

Jane Keogh, sophomore mathematics major: I am very much in favor of the honor system, and I believe that Moravian students are capable of carrying it out. However, this would have to be an all or nothing agreement. If we sign an honor code, the professors must be willing to trust us completely. The one thing I disagree with is the idea of practically forcing incoming freshman to sign the honor code.

Ronald Fradeneck, sophomore physics major: The honor system would be of no help to the conscientious student. It doesn't improve his position any, because he wouldn't attempt to cheat in the first place. As for myself, when I take a test I am too busy trying to complete it in the allotted time to look around and see if anyone else is being dishonest.

Karen Roggenkamp, sophomore sociology major: I am definitely for it. An honor system would give us a sense of responsibility, and start us on the road to maturity. As for turning in students caught cheating, I think they should be given 24 hours to report themselves, and if they don't, another student would have every right to turn him in.

Blackfriars Cancel 'Bus Stop'; Burcaw Cites 'Difficulties'

Mr. Robert Burcaw, faculty advisor to the Blackfriars, announced on Tuesday, April 22, that the group's production of William Inge's "Bus Stop," has been cancelled. The production was originally scheduled for May 7-10 in the Arts Building.

Burcaw blamed "technical difficulties" for the cancellation of the play. He stated that the main problem was loss of three members of the cast. One man dropped out of the cast and no replacement could be found, another man had tentatively dropped out and a third member of the cast became ill with German measles on Monday.

These cuts in the cast plus the difficulty of scheduling rehearsals caused the group to decide against proceeding any further with preparations for the production.

Columbia Students Feel System Will End Moral Laxity

New York, N.Y.—(I.P.)—Columbia's Student Board has given its support to the eventual establishment of an honor system in the hope of curtailing the strong competition for marks which is believed to be the cause of much of the cheating on exams. The board admitted, however, that an indoctrination period of several years would be necessary before the program could be put into full force.

Board members felt that the cut-throat competition for high marks in the College has brought about a spirit of moral laxity, and that a sense of individual student responsibility should be fostered.

Others expressed doubt that an honor system would remedy the situation, and felt that the College had a definite responsibility to make marks as reliable as possible.

This program is a part of an overall plan to "deemphasize the competitive aspects of Columbia life," and will serve as a guide for further study by the Baird's Academic Affairs Committee, according to the Columbia Daily Spectator.

Knox College Defines Cheating In Honor System Amendment

Galesburg, Ill.—(I.P.)—Two amendments to the Honor Board constitution have been adopted by the Student Senate of Knox College. The amendments come under section two of article IV, powers, and change the section to read as follows: A violation of the Honor System is any influence of cheating and shall include:

- The signing of one's name to any work which is not, both in letter and spirit, one's own.
- The giving or receiving of any authorized help in any course.
- The use in an examination of any source of information (such as a "crib," another student's paper, signals between two students, or a book) which is unauthorized by the instructor.
- The use of material plagiarized from either a published or unpublished writing which is presented for any written assignment such as a book review, term paper or theme.
- The use or procurement of any test without authorization.
- Double marking of machine scored tests.
- Writing a test in any area outside the building in which the test is being given.
- The willing assistance of a second party in any of the aforementioned violations.

The Honor Board has made a change in the new blue book. In place of the previous code of ethics is the statement: "I hereby state, upon my honor, that I have neither given nor received any unauthorized information on this test and have complied with the principle

Gettysburg System Includes Exams, Papers, Homework

Gettysburg, Pa.—(I.P.)—All examinations, term papers, reports, laboratory work, and all home work are included in the newly-installed honor system, according to a report by the Gettysburg College Honor Commission.

Fraternity files will now include only past examinations. The faculty has been instructed to inform the students if they feel cooperative work is in order as in laboratory work or mathematics problems.

Won't Proctor Tests

The faculty will not proctor any tests unless it is necessary as in the case of laboratory practicals, language orals, and other tests requiring their presence. Professors will make themselves available for any questions at the beginning of the exams and then inform the class where they can be contacted during the exam for questioning.

The commission suggests the professor retire to his office. If the office is in another building, he may remain in the testing room with permission of the class. The student under the honor system is obligated to be honorable himself and to report any student he notices abusing the code.

Although passed last spring in a record turnout of 1,102 voters in an enrollment of 1,355 students a surprisingly large figure of 267 added comments to their ballots.

The faculty received considerable mention. One comment requested that "pegging," "jap test," and other unfair practices be eliminated . . . get rid of the "curve" system of grading.

Suggestions Made To End Cheating Without A System

Ames, Ia.—(I.P.)—Until an honor system can be worked out that would be satisfactory, Dr. Roy Kottman, associate Dean of Agriculture at Iowa State College, suggests several things that instructors here can do to eliminate cheating in their classes.

1. Alternate tests for alternate rows.
2. One or more monitors in the room at all times during the test—these monitors to actually patrol the room and not read a newspaper while the exam is held.
3. Old exams available to all students in classes so that all students will have equal opportunity to study old tests.
4. Departmental committees to review tests before they are given so as to make sure that questions cover the principles involved, not mere trivia.

Another aid urged by Dr. Kottman is that all organized residences keep an up-to-date file of used tests. He noted that there are several ways of learning the principles involved in a course, and that sometimes studying old tests is one of the easiest.

Steven's System Runs Successfully Since Year 1906

Hoboken, N.J.—(I.P.)—Can the average college student be entrusted with the responsibility of proctoring his own examinations? A strong case for the affirmative was made recently by a group of Stevens Institute of Technology undergraduates, who described their system of self-government to representatives of 40 eastern colleges. The occasion was the third Annual Honor System Conference, held this year at Lafayette College.

Stevens' Honor System has been in operation uninterruptedly since 1906. Since that time every student has assumed responsibility for all his examinations, laboratory work, and reports; faculty members do not act as proctors at any time.

The conferences were started at Stevens two years ago, in order to encourage schools without honor systems to establish them. Lafayette College, though it does not have such a system, asked to be host this year to the student representatives. The conference was sponsored by the Stevens Student Council in Cooperation with the Honor Board and Gear and Triangle, an honorary student activities group.

Girls Make Better Eskimos

(ACP)—Girls make better Eskimos than men, announces the Western Reserve University Reserve Tribune.

Why? Because they can get along with less clothing, says the newspaper. Editors weighed the winter clothing of one coed and one male student—everything from "unmentionables" to cuff links—and learned the girl wore 8 lbs. 12 ozs. of clothing, the boy 15 lbs. 3 ozs.—almost double.

Under the Table

by Nan Gingham

THAT TIME is here again—but we wonder how many people are really glad to see it. The buds and blossoms are lovely, we admit. But this time of year means more than just new foliage and choiping birds. We cannot overlook the fact that when spring arrives, so arrive stifling classrooms, sticky clothing, too many bugs, and the prospect of exams. The season just ain't what it's cracked up to be. As one poet put it:

Sprig, Sprig!
Beautiful Sprig!
De wild rose blooms
Ad everything.
Oh Bother
What is the batter with
By dose?

Noses really seem to take a beating around this time. Along with the sniffing of new croci and freshly cut grain (great for those hay fever people,) we also detect whiffs of sundry types of greasy suntan lotion. The South Campus Roof-Goers are at it again! Nice if you own a helicopter; most of us have to rely on binoculars and an evil eye. At any rate, we have some nice burns walking around the campi. And the FRECKLES!

Balmy weather has more than one effect on some of us. It appears that an overwhelming desire for cigarettes prompted some joker to loot the Emsee butt machine and get away with some 160 odd packs of cigarettes. So if you know of anyone who has been over-generous with his hand-outs lately, check his prints. By now he's probably got a good case of lung cancer in an effort to smoke them before they get stale. He was honorable in one sense, anyway. He didn't take one pack of matches! Some people seem to have an idea of the culprit's identity, but no one feels the need to speak up. Wonder how that Honor Code would work here.

Sad news comes from the Blackfriars this week. Due to much confusion, difficulties, and MEASLES, the production of Bus Stop has been cancelled. Seems they couldn't find someone to play the role of the bus. Guess we'll have to wait until fall to see Moravian's version of MARILYN MONROE.

This week's tip is of utmost value to all college students—especially those who want to be IN THE SWING next fall. When the winter winds blow, do you shudder and shiver? And do you feel insignificant at those rah-rah football games? Would you like to be the center of attention wherever you go? There's only one way to rid yourself of these problems. Get yourself a RACON COAT!

Susie LeTowt is having a "Going Out of Business" sale, and she has only five coats left. They are in magnificent disrepair, and are reasonably priced to boot. Get one now and avoid the rush! This is a paid political advertisement.

Southern Province Totals $119,151 For Progress Fund

A total of $119,151 has already been pledged to the Moravian College Development Program by members of North Carolina Moravian Churches, it was announced recently by campaign chairman Frank F. Willingham, Winston Salem.

The funds, which will be used to strengthen the theological library and establish an additional professorship in the Department of Religion, represents reports from 31 of the state's forty Moravian Churches. Reports from approximately half of the congregations are partial reports of campaigns begun in late February or early March. Gifts and pledges from individuals are included in the total, as are congregational pledges from twelve congregations on unified budgets.

"The goal of $125,000 for the Southern Province should be reached when all congregations have made full reports," chairman Willingham stated.

Officers of the steering committee for the provincial effort in addition to Willingham are Claude Phillips, vice-chairman, and E. L. Stockton, secretary-treasurer, both of Winston-Salem.

Chergey Drops Quakers As Hounds Break Streak

by Neil Eskolin

The first home game of the '58 season saw the Moravian Greyhounds break their three game losing streak and move into the win column. Wednesday afternoon the Little Quakers from Swarthmore traveled to Bethlehem to take on the hardluck Greyhounds who had dropped their opening three games of the young season.

Sophomore hurler Dick Chergey of the Hounds tossed a neat game and was in no serious trouble until the ninth when the bases were full of Little Quakers with only one out. After a single by Swarthmore center fielder Denny Cole, Hound second sacker Charlie Gilbert overthrew to first base on a grounder by Pete Ebersole, Cole stopping at third. Bob Emerson took a swinging third strike after which Quaker catcher Blaine Braniff walked.

With three on and one out, Chergey struck out pinch hitter Ed Steiner. Lead off man Steve Agard drove a run home on a slow infield hit before Al Brown ended the game with a dribbler to the left side of the box which Chergey relayed to Matz at first.

Moravian starte off the action in the first inning when Hound first baseman, Tony Matz drove a long triple to right center. He scored when Quaker center-fielder, Denny Cole dropped an easy fly off the bat of Charlie Gilbert.

The Swarthmore nine retaliated in the top of the second as they picked up a run on a double by Cole and a single by Emerson. The bottom of the second saw the Hounds come alive as they pushed home three big runs. Hirsch started it off with a walk, Medei reached first on a error by the catcher and Gannon followed with a walk to load the bases. Pitcher Dick Chergey then rapped a two run single to left scoring Hirsch and Medei. Gannon scored one out later on a ground ball to first by Tony Matz. Moravian tallied again in the fifth on a triple by freshman center-fielder, Jim Frank and an infield out. This ended Moravian's scoring for the afternoon.

Swarthmore scored one in the sixth on a triple by Christianson and a sacrifice fly, and their last run in the ninth. Although the Hounds were outit 8-4, the run department showed Moravian on top 5-3. The Hounds played errorless ball until Gilbert's overthrow in the ninth.

The win was the first of the year for the Hounds who seem to have come alive. They had dropped three previously. For Swarthmore, it was their fourth loss against two victories.

Haverford And Albright Down Tennismen In Lopsided Wins

The Moravian College tennis team this week dropped two matches after they had opened the season last week with a win. Haverford and Albright both took the measure of the Hounds by lopsided scores, Haverford by 9-0 and the Lions, 8-1.

Haverford is rated as one of the best tennis team in the East and soon they showed the Hounds that they aren't overrated. The final tally in matches was Haverford-9-Moravian 0. The Haverford club ran through six singles matches and three doubles contests. Bob Kelley of Haverford began the day by downing Moravian's number one man, Dick Roth in straight sets 6-3 and 6-4. Dick, at 6-4, came the closest to winning a set for Moravian.

Other scores were: Bill Fullard (H) over Bob Lipkin 6-1, 6-0. John Weil (H) over Les Lazarowitz 6-0, 6-1. Norm Book (H) over George Parish 6-0, 6-1.

In the doubles matches, Weil and Engelhart (H) defeated Roth and Lipkin 6-3, 6-2. Kelley and Books (H) defeated Simon and Lazarowitz 6-2, 6-2. Fullard and Howe (H) defeated Cole and Parish 6-2, 6-3.

Gillespie Cuts Down Squad After First Three Defeats

by Neil Eskolin

After losing the first three scheduled games as well as two pre-season practice games, head baseball coach Gil Gillespie and assistant coach Gus Garscar got together last week and cut down the baseball squad to just fourteen men. Those who got the ax included freshmen, Joe Castellano, Tom Christiansen, Barry Gaal, Elmer Bigley and Bob Muth and sophomore Bill Keller. Although none of these showed any exceptional promise it must be noted that Bob Muth was the leading batter on the team with five hits in nine at bats. It must also be noted however, that several of his fielding errors were costly to the team.

For Benefit Of All

In an interview, Coach Gillespie stated that the squad was cut down for the benefit of all concerned. He said that those who were cut, he felt, were not ready for college baseball and they would be far better off playing for another team where they could gain much needed experience rather than sitting on the Greyhound bench. He said that it would be better for the boys on the team also since it would afford them more opportunity to play and to get extra practice at their positions and at the plate.

Defense Is Problem

Gillespie said that defense has been the big problem for the Hounds so far this season and he hopes that they will be able to improve in this essential department.

When asked if he thought fourteen would be too few for the squad, Gil answered negatively stating that the team has great flexibility in that nearly everyone can play several positions. He has two catchers, outfielders who can substitute in the infield, infielders who can shift around in the infield and pitchers who can play the outfield when necessary. He is impressed with freshmen rookies Jim Frank and Jeff Gannon who have been excellent on defense but who could improve considerably at the bat, and also with infielder Charlie Gilbert who has excelled in the field and is currently leading the team in batting.

Gillespie said that the season is going to be a rough one due to the many losses from last years great team.

SPRING SPOTLIGHT

Joe Collins, Golf

Featured in this week's Spring Spotlight is Joe Collins, a linksmen for the Hounds. Joe, a six foot 150 pound senior, resides in Allentown.

He attended Allentown High School where he earned his letters by participating in golf and basketball.

Upon graduation Joe entered the Army for two years. After his hitch in the service, he attended the University of Maryland where he played freshman basketball.

Since coming to Moravian, Joe is in his second year with the Hounds. Last year he had nine wins, one tie and one loss to his credit.

Joe's greatest experience was the winning of the sports award for the Patriots for Class A basketball in 1955.

A major in business and economics, Joe plans to be a salesman. His interests are in golf, swimming and sports in general.

Greyhounds Host Nine Of Ten Outings This Week

The Moravian Greyhound athletes will play host to nine of the ten teams they face this next week. The diamondmen will be playing four games starting today against Lebanon Valley. Last season the Hounds met the Flying Dutchmen twice and in their encounter the Dutchmen set the Bethlehem nine down by a 15-9 score. Moravian only lost three other games all spring. In their second outing, the Hounds avenged the upset in at 15-1 victory.

Tomorrow the baseballers will move over to Allentown to tangle with the Mules of Muhlenberg. The Hounds split two games with the Mules last year, the first was a 5-4 defeat in a game played in Allentown, the second was a lopsided 20-6 victory on the Hounds' home field.

Monday will see Moravian entertaining St. Joe's diamondmen.

The Seahawks of Wagner will journey to Bethlehem next Thursday to try to reverse last years wild lopsided 22-5 defeat. It was that game which saw the Moravian sluggers pound six Wagner pitchers for a total of 20 base hits.

On the tennis scene, Moravian will play host to Wilkes tomorrow when they try to make it two straight on the home courts. The two squads did not meet last season.

The netmen from Lafayette will be the next opponents of the Hounds on Tuesday as Moravian will try to reverse the solid 8-1 drubbing they sustained last year. Thursday Moravian will face the Flying Dutchmen from Hofstra.

The Hounds will also host all three of their golf matches this week. To start it off, today Haverford will tangle with the Hound linksmen at the Bethlehem Municipal Course. Last year the Hounds returned home after their match with a 13-5 win to their credit.

Lafayette will move in on the Hounds next Monday as they try to change the score of last year's close 9½-8½ loss.

Action will be rounded off on Tuesday when the Moravian golfers meet Albright. Last year Albright was one of Moravian's eleven victims as they suffered a 10-9 loss.

Hound Duffers Top Hofstra Easily For Season's First Win

The Moravian Greyhound golfers won their first match of the season 13½-4½ over the Flying Dutchmen of Hofstra at the Bethlehem Municipal Course on Tuesday afternoon.

While the Hounds were winning five of the six individual matches, sophomore Ducky Potter turned in the best performance of the young season with a two over par 74 defeating John Wagner. Teammate Fritz Toner won his second straight match of the season in a 2-1 victory over Hofstra's Don Baldwin.

Freshman Buddy Soloff in his first match for the Hounds defeated Frank Malz of Hofstra 2-1. In the first hole of a sudden death playoff, Tom Volko, the Hounds' leadoff man, lost to Tony White 2-1.

The Greyhounds in winning evened their record at one win and one loss. For Hofstra it was their third loss in seven starts.

Other scores were as follows: Bob Volko (M) defeated Pete DeMayer, 3-0. Ken Skrable (M) defeated Tom Gallaccio, 2½-½.

Greyhound Gossip

by Dick Steiner

Although the going has been a little rough for Gil's Diamondmen thus far, you can rest assured that things will get better. Now when all the breaks seem to be going against us, recall if you can last year and the year before when we got virtually all the breaks. Although we had tremendous teams both those years, we won a number of games which could have gone either way. Coaches Gillespie and Garscar should be happy to confirm this statement. It's been a long time since Moravian baseball has had a losing season. I'm still betting this year won't be the one to break the string.

The size of our squad now stands at fourteen following a six-man cut of the team. Although this number sounds more like a basketball team than a baseball crew, actually it should be sufficient to win games. The major problem that could arise is a shortage of pitchers, there being only three listed currently. The saving feature of this arrangement is the fact that Matz and Hershey can vacate their infield or outfield posts to relieve in case of emergency. We might even see Dick Schwartz walk in from shortstop sometime to put out a fire.

From here and there: If you observe some gentlemen in the stands at our home games taking notes and keeping an intent eye on the action, chances are good they are major league scouts. Prime target on the current Greyhound nine is Captain Schwartz . . . Tomorrow the Hounds will try to avenge a Berg victory of last year. We should have won that one hands down, but it was just one of those days. On the whole we've dominated the baseball rivalry as much as they have the basketball. I wonder who will rule the football throne starting this fall.

See ya next week.

Hounds Bow To Drew And Wilkes By 6-5, 11-5

by Art Potasnak

Moravian's baseballers are off to one of the worst starts in recent years, as they dropped two more games last week to bring the seasons record to 0-3.

Last Wednesday the Greyhounds had a 5-0 lead over Drew University and lost as Drew scored six unearned runs. Freshman hurler Mike Lansenderfer gave up two runs in the third inning, but the damage was done in the seventh inning when the Greyhound defense cracked and four more unearned runs poured across. Lansenderfer was almost out of the inning after a double play eased the pressure, but Bob Muth booted a grounder, which scored a runner and then Drew's shortstop George Hayward belted a home run to left field to score three more runs.

Moravian began the scoring in the first inning with three runs, two scoring on Charlie Gilbert's bases loaded single. The balance of the scoring was done in the third on a walk to Hollendersky, Hershey's single, a double and two errors.

Wilkes Beats Chergey

On Saturday, Moravian traveled to Wilkes College and were trounced 11-5 by the Colonels. Once again Moravian outit the opposition, but committed four errors to continue their inept fielding through the third straight game. Sophomore hurler Dick Chergey was the victim and lost his second straight of the young season. Chergey held the Colonels scoreless for three innings, but lost his control in the fourth when he walked two men and the bases were loaded when a sacrifice bunt went for a single. Then with Walt Folek at bat Chergey threw a wild pitch, but catcher Hollendersky caught the runner attempting to score from third base. Chergey then fanned Folek but catcher Harvey rapped a double to score two runs. The colonels scored three more times on first baseman' Mike Dydo's 385 foot home run over the left-center field fence, with two men on via a walk and error.

Matthews Relieves

Wilkes knocked Chergey out of the box in the seventh inning, when they scored four times to make the score 9-0. He was relieved by Freshman Hunter Matthews who was touched for a two run double by John Harvey, his second of the game.

Moravian didn't score until the eight inning when pinch hitter Sy Hirsch singled to start the rally. Tony Matz and Bill Hershey both walked to load the bases and then Charlie Gilbert belted a double to center. all four runners scored when centerfielder Hendershot fumbled the ball. Jim Frank followed with another double and scored on an infield single by Gene Medei. Bill Keller batted for Matthews and struck out to end the inning.

Gilbert Bats In 5

Tony Matz and Charlie Gilbert each had two hits in four bats, Gilbert has had five for thirteen and produced 5 RBI's in three games for the Greyhounds.

Wilkes centerfielder Mike Dydo paced all hitters by going three for four, a three run home run and two singles.

The lucky seventh inning has been working overtime for Greyhound opposition. In three games Moravian has been touched for 14 runs in that inning.

Comets, 'Lighters Win High Scoring Games, 25-10, 14-11

Intramural softball action last week saw the Comets trounce the Seminary 25-10 and on Monday the Red Lighters downed Pi Mu 14-11.

Jim Kritis hurled for the Comets as they coasted to a win over the Seminary. Dick Martin of the Comets blasted a grand slam home run and Ray Herman also hit one for the Comets in the bottom of the sixth with one man on. Pete Hauptert hit a solo home run for the seminary and they threatened in the seventh inning, but Kritis settled down and allowed only one run to score.

Monday's game featuring the Red Lighters and Pi Mu found Red Lighter pitcher Joe Fliszar throwing a no hitter at Pi Mu for five innings. Fliszar coasted while his teammates supplied the power with three home runs. Nick Cuttic started it off in the first inning with a home run off Pi Mu pitcher Norm Prochnau with one man on. In the third inning Ron Cavanaugh and Roy Search each blasted a homer, the latters coming with two mates on.

Prochnau Spoils No Hitter

However, in the fifth inning Norm Prochnau ended Fliszar's spell with a solid shot to center field, but no further damage was done. In the sixth inning though, Pi Mu suddenly came to life and Fliszar lost his control accounting for 10 Pi Mu runs and a tie game. The inning started with a walk, single, another walk and after Bob Smith struck out, Tom Christensen got an infield single to score Pi Mu's first run. Ted Rights and Prochnau each walked to score two more, while a Red Lighter error brought in another two runs. Fliszar then walked two more to load the bases again and Brian Kent blasted a grand slammer to deep center field. Fliszar walked in the tying run, but got Rights to pop out to end the inning.

The Red Lighters came right back in the seventh inning to score 4 runs and ice the game, Freiler doubled and scored on Nick Cuttic's dropped fly ball. Another three runs scored on errors by Pi Mu before the inning ended. Pi Mu scored one more token run in the bottom of the seventh on a single by Kent, but Fliszar settled down to end the game.
