Miss Moravian Is Named At Tomorrow's Festival

Dr. Allen, Dr. Gallagher Are Speakers At Baccalaureate And Commencement

Miss Moravian of 1958 will be crowned tomorrow afternoon in the program of the traditional Spring Festival, sponsored by the Women's Activities Committee, and held on the South Campus hockey field.

The queen will be one of the five senior girls who were elected to the court in elections held this past Monday and Tuesday. Two senior secretarial students will also be included in the royal court. These students elected to the honor by the women students of Moravian College include Jane Adams, Carol Burwell, Gail Harding, Daneen Jones, and Kay McMurray, seniors; and Dawn Dangler and Lois McDonald, senior secretaries.

The queen, in white, and her court, in pastel colors, will pass through a freshman daisy chain and arch of palm branches held by an honor court. The court, composed of the two girls with the highest scholastic averages in each of the underclasses, will include Ginny Dancy and Mary Vezzoli, juniors; Nancy Baker and Margie Koch, sophomores; and Cynthia Geiman and Carla Nowack, freshmen.

Miss Moravian will then be crowned by her predecessor, Miss Karen Johnson, queen in 1957. A program will be presented in her honor.

A choral group of eight will sing "Now is the Month of Maying," by Thomas Morley, and "Cornish May Song," a folk tune from Cornwall arranged by Charles F. Manney. The group will consist of Dora Thomas, Phyllis Zwarych, Beverly Luzietti, Dolores Lang, Nancy Boerstler, Jean Hudak, Barbara Banker, and Patricia Conover.

They will be followed by two folk dances, "Calber," a Bavarian folk dance, and a German folk dance created by Miss Helga Nehrkorn. Miss Nehrkorn, who will accompany the dances, lived in Husum in northern Germany and attended college in Coburg. The dancers will be Joy Angelini, Betty Blum, Ruth Lomerson, Linda McHenry, Sophie Nicholas, and Rita Roseman. All the girls will be costumed in striped skirts and peasant blouses.

Student Union Authority To Visit Campus

Porter Butts, authority on student unions, has been invited to spend two days on the Moravian campus in connection with the college's plans to build a student center in the near future.

Butts will interview students and meet with faculty members of the USG Student Center Committee during the first week of June. By holding its preliminary survey this Spring rather than waiting until Fall, the committee hopes to speed up work. The committee met last week, at which time they decided to invite Butts and make more definite plans for the center.

Butts was recommended as a student union consultant by George Trautwein, the college architect. Butts and Trautwein have cooperated on several college unions. Butts has worked in a number of colleges comparable in (Cont. on p. 2, col. 4)

The Problem With Placement

Moravian College, as a college which is growing and one which is making plans for continued growth, is beset with many problems, mainly those of being unable to keep up with itself. One of the major departments which has outgrown itself in the last several years is placement, and due to its very necessity in the college community, it should be one of the first to be remedied.

This year, up to last Monday, Moravian's placement office had placed a total of 40 seniors in jobs (10 on the industrial level, 16 in secondary education, and 14 in elementary education), obviously not a good percentage of a 132-student senior class. This percentage, of course, does not include those who did not register for the placement service, and thus leaves out those who are going to graduate school and/or for getting married, and those who found jobs on their own.

The main problem is on the industrial level. Interviews set up this year numbered only 18, and these included the military and civil service representatives. The others were mostly business training programs. The reason the number of these is so low, says Dr. Richmond Myers, Director of Placement, is that Moravian does not have enough to offer them. While most companies want to talk to 25 to 50 students when they come to campus, Moravian has yet to graduate the lower number in any one major.

Several deals were worked out in the past year whereby the company representatives went to Lehigh one day and came over to Moravian the next, but they were not even happy to do that. And Lehigh, which has an extensive, operative placement system (placing all its engineers by April 1), definitely is not willing to set up interviews for Moravian students on their campus, says Dr. Myers.

But while this problem is gradually being eliminated due to Moravian's increased enrollment, others take its place. Moravian has sent folders listing graduates to over 500 companies in the past year, getting interview "nibbles" from at least 50. During the coming summer, Dr. Myers plans to send out at least 1000 such folders, and he is confident that at least 50 interviews can be arranged.

However, with 50 companies coming to call during the year, it is certainly too much to expect one man, who also holds the titles Dean of Men and Professor of Geology, to be able to adequately accommodate these representatives. Moreover, one man cannot keep adequate files (activities, past experiences, plans, etc.) on students who wish to be placed, (1) because he cannot take the time out from other duties, and (2) because he has no room to keep such files.

And besides this, there is no adequate place to conduct interviews. The old president's office on South Campus has proved useful for single interviews, but when representatives from more than one company come on the same day, uncomfortable places like the George Washington Room must be used. And then the limited records which are available are all in the placement office on North Campus.

Teacher placement does not run into as much a predicament, but still a problem exists. All students who wanted to be placed in elementary education (under Mrs. Frances Dager) had jobs by March 1. By last Monday slightly over 50% of those wanting high school teaching jobs were placed, and director Dr. J. H. Hackenberg expected the remainder to be placed in the next few weeks. Last year 100% were placed in both elementary and secondary education.

Here, too, however, the duties of teaching and counseling prove too much for the above-named professors to handle placement in the manner they would like.

Professors in other departments (science, business, etc.) have made contacts on their own to place students, but they still have not provided students with adequate opportunities.

The answer to the problem is obviously a full-time placement director with all the adequate space for files and interviews. Reportedly there will be room in the new student center (fall of 1960 at the earliest) for placement files, interviews, and discussions.

But for the immediate future, it is necessary to hire a placement man who will work only at placement with the facilities available. Senior classes which will average upwards of 150 require a placement service which is capable and successfully operative. A full-time director is the only way to insure this, and the time to hire one is now.

Under the Table

by Nan Gingher

The rainy days which have been plaguing us for the past few weeks have sort of kept me out of commission under the table. If this monsoon season continues much longer, the campus will be transformed into a tropical rain forest, and students will need river boats and guides to get from one class to another.

Some faculty members, such as the librarian and the director of development, would be enthusiastic over the possibility of establishing a tropical AVIARY for some of our brightly-colored fine feathered friends. Then we could have a BIRD WATCHER'S CLUB!

This bird business is out of the question right now, anyway. Most of us are too busy doing more important things. Not term papers or final course work—but the things which really COUNT. For example, there are a couple of more anxious souls around who have been in the process of building an ARK for the coming deluge. Construction itself causes no problem, but several hopefuls are having difficulty stocking the thing. Aardvarks aren't too prolific these days. If anyone happens to know of an unattached female aardvark, contact Jack Higgins. He has the male, but aardvark bachelor life is a pitiful thing. Believe there are a few Moravian ones walking around campus—but they're all engaged.

One of our newly-formed organizations, the WAC, has already made quite a job for itself. They're faced with the many problems involved in making the Spring Festival successful. In past years, this South Campus tradition seems to have been suffering from a lingering death. After much administrative chopping and lack of student cooperation, the ceremony to honor Moravian's most outstanding women (?) has been roughly pushed into the background. This year again we see Spring Festival coming into the blurry Moravian picture. Those responsible for organizing the event have been valiantly fighting student apathy. Let's hope that this year somebody realizes the value of such a tradition—and support it. It's fun to run around in bare feet and sing, "Here we go gathering nuts in May . . ."

Culture doesn't appear to be completely dead around here. This year's publication of the 'Manuscript' just came off the presses last week, and there seems to be a lot of creative talent that nobody ever recognized before. Only thing it's too bad that more people don't appreciate little Martin and his dilemma— if more people did, well . . . you figure it out . . .

One last word for the end of the school year, after many grueling hours in class, etc.: as one appreciative man said: "Those who can, do; those who can't, teach." Another great tradition.

Low Bid At Auction Produces 1885 Philadelphia Newspaper

by Gene C. Salay

Several months ago Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Moser of Springtown attended an auction. Being newlyweds, they were interested primarily in purchasing a few pieces of usable furniture at a reasonable price. They arrived too late to compete for some of the items they could have used.

As it turned out, an enormous mirror for which they bid and paid five cents was the only thing Bob and his wife walked away with that day. When the mirror was brought home, they thought it was "too ugly" to hang in plain view, and so the huge unwieldy object finally ended up in the cellar to collect more dust.

It was two weeks before Christmas that the discovery was made. As Bob was disassembling his five-cent prize, he noticed that the back of the mirror contained a newspaper. This had no significant effect on him until he saw the date on it, August 23, 1885, The Sunday Republic, Philadelphia. It was remarkably preserved.

After he showed the 73 year-old find to his relatives and neighbors, he brought it into work with him and he let me examine it. I read the paper with a great deal of pleasure.

It is interesting to compare this 73 year-old paper with today's newspapers. The first noticeable thing about it is its size. It is almost twice as big as present-day papers—very unhandy and unwieldy.

Instead of today's current events headlines on the front page, a serial story is featured. Another odd feature of the paper on the front page is a column of proverbs, and their taste in jokes would seem to be very mild as compared with what is considered funny to-size and finances to Moravian. He was instrumental in the construction of the new student union at the University of Delaware and at present is director of the Wisconsin Union at the University of Wisconsin.

If accepted in its proposed form, the student center would be financed by an added $10 per semester activity fee, matched by the Board of Trustees. The building would house a cafeteria to serve day and dorm students, a recreation room, Benigna and Comenian offices and dark room, USG office, and a browsing library, as well as several lounges, wash rooms, and student organization meeting rooms.

During this summer Clark E. Rapuans will study the problems of location. Members of the USG Student Center Committee are Paul Meilinger, John Woltjen, Joe Prorok, Sophie Nicholas, and Mary Lesin.

Selling points also must have been different in those days. Imagine a book advertisement stating that a story is pure in order to get more sales!

Here is one familiar feature though. Even in those days baseball must have enjoyed the popularity it does today. Scores and write-ups were given for the baseball games. But another present-day must is absent—imagine a daily paper without comic strips—the funnies!

This newspaper is now located in our North Campus Library, its initial stopover before being placed in the Archives Building. Since it was of "no value" to them, Bob and his wife presented it to Moravian College. Those who are interested in catching a glimpse of the Philadelphia news of August 23, 1885, can do so by contacting Miss Mary Snively, Librarian, in the North Campus Library.

Athletes Move Into Closing Stretch As Season Nears End

The Moravian Greyhound Baseball, Tennis and Golf teams will near the close of their respective schedules this coming week.

This afternoon the Greyhound diamondmen will play Scranton in a game that was originally scheduled for last Wednesday a week, but because of rain was postponed.

Tomorrow the Gillespie men will take to the road to encounter Dickinson on their diamond. Last year, Moravian's ace hurler Jim VanNatta, pitched the Hounds to a 3-2 victory in a game that saw Dick Schwartz display his base running ability by going from first base to third on a sacrifice.

On Monday the Hounds will play host to Muhlenberg. This game is also a postponement due to the rain on Alumni Day.

Tuesday will find the Hounds taking to the road again this time to do battle with the Albright Lions. Last year Captain Ron Gift hit Joe Heard in from third base on a sacrifice fly to score the winning run in a 4-3 victory for the Hounds.

The Hounds' next to last game will be played on Thursday when they travel to Upsala to tangle with the Jersey Collegians. A rharb highlighted the Viking contest last year which the Greyhounds won in the eleventh inning 2-1.

Turning to tennis, Coach Kilpatrick's netmen will make a journey to Dickinson on the same day that the diamondmen will be entertained there. Last year the Hounds dropped a hard fought match which was decided in the final doubles match.

In the last match of the season the Hound netmen will travel to Upsala. The Vikings took last year's match 6-3.

On the "greens," the Hound golfers will be traveling to F & M this afternoon. Last year the Hounds walked away with a 14-4 victory. Once again on Monday, the duffers will journey to Reading to take on the Albright Lions. Albright will be out for revenge for last year's solid 13-5 drubbing.

On Wednesday Coach Bilheimer's charges will bring to a close their season with a match with Upsala. Last year they finished out their fabulous 11-1 season by downing the Vikings 15½ to 2½.

Hound Streak Halted At 5 By Ursinus Squad, 5-1

by Art Potasnak

Bill Hershey absorbed his initial loss of the season on Monday afternoon at the hands of Ursinus College 5-1.

Ursinus made Moravian its sixth victim in a row on Monday and broke up Bill Hershey's scoreless inning skein. Moravian broke into the scoring column first in the second inning. Hirsch was sent to third on a single and came home on a bad throw to second, attempting to get the runner stealing. Ursinus got to Hershey in the fourth inning, when third sacker Bob Famous blasted a homer into the left field stands. The next batter, Weinland, blasted a Hershey pitch over Sy Hirsch's head for a triple, but was out trying to stretch it into a home run.

The game remained at 1-1 until the seventh inning, when Moravian's hard luck inning caught up to them again. Ursinus had been showing signs of getting to Hershey in the earlier innings, as they had been getting good wood on the ball. Gene Medei had to climb the left field bank for a ball in the fifth inning, but the seventh began with a bloop single. The next batter bunted and Hershey threw to second late, and both runners were safe.

A solid single to left brought in a run, then right fielder Sy Hirsch misjudged a flyball and two more runs romped home. Another single brought in the fourth run of the inning and Ursinus led 5-1. However, Hershey wasn't out of the inning yet. A hit batter and a walk loaded the bases, after which a grounder was turned into a inning-ending double play. Gilbert to Schwartz to Matz.

Moravian never seriously threatened again, although Hollendersky did lead off the ninth with a single and was out trying to go to second. Bartolet grounded to second and Hershey doubled to left, but pinch hitter Chergey took a third strike to end the game.

Ursinus hurler Lynn Drummond went the route to pick up his third win of the season, without a loss.

Sports Banquet Scheduled For Wed., May 21

The athletic department has announced that the Annual All-Sports banquet will be held on Wednesday, May 21, at 7 p.m., in the south campus dining hall.

Invitations are extended to all members of the following groups: football squad, cross country squad, basketball squad, wrestling squad, indoor track squad, baseball squad, tennis squad, golf squad, bandmembers, cheerleaders, and managers.

Chergey Zeroes P.M.C. In Hounds' Fifth Straight

Dick Chergey evened up his seasonal record at 2-2 on Saturday, when he blanked the Cadets 12-0. Chergey scattered five singles as he coasted the full route at Chester. Moravian collected a total of 13 hits, although none of them were for extra bases. The Hounds scored the first of their 12 runs in the first inning, when Dick Schwartz singled and was followed by Jim Frank and Bill Mershey with hits, a walk, and an error accounting for three runs.

Golfers Place 6th In MAC Tourney Top Colonels, 10-8

The Moravian linksmen traveled to Mount Union, Penn., for the site of the M.A.C. golf championship on Friday, May 9.

Our golfers placed sixth out of a field of eighteen and 29 strokes behind the winners Lehigh, with a total score of 697. Each college was represented by four players, and after 36 holes were played on Saturday, May 10, their scores were accumulated. Tom Volko placed fifth in the individual tournament and lead our team with 160 strokes, followed by Fritz Toner, Ducky Potter, and Kenny Skrable with 166, 184 and 187 respectively.

Defeat Wilkes

Last Monday the golfers traveled to Dallas, Pa., to play Wilkes College. Moravian squeaked out the win by a 10-8 score. Fritz Toner shot an 81 on the rain soaked Irem Temple course for low medalist, and he also picked up 2½ pts. as did Joe Collins. The golf record is now 6 wins and 2 defeats with 3 matches left.

Six Runs In Second

The Hounds kept right on hitting in the second and routed starter Charlie Kolb. Six runs scored in the big second inning. However, in Kolb's 1 2/3 innings he gave up only one earned run while his teammates committed eight big miscues. Chergey singled, Schwartz bunted and Kolb threw wild to first, allowing Chergey to score and Schwartz to go to third. Matz grounded out, Frank walked and Gilbert singled to center, and the centerfielder misplayed the ball allowing Frank to score. Frank went to third, and came home on another error. When Hershey singled, Kolb left in favor of reliever Driscoll. Jeff Gannon singled off the newcomer to score two more runs, and Moravian led 9-0.

Single runs were scored by Moravian in the third, sixth, and seventh. Most of the hitting was done by Moravian's frosh. Frank and Gannon each had three hits and Charlie Gilbert came through with two.

In picking up his second win of the year, Chergey walked four cadet, struck out three, and chimed in on the hit parade with two singles of his own.

Tennismen Drop Tough 5-4 Match To Visiting Bears

Moravian College's tennis team entertained the netmen of Ursinus College on Monday on the home courts. The match turned out to be another hard fought loss for the unlucky Greyhounds. The final score read 5-4 in favor of the Bears.

In the singles matches, Art Martello (U) defeated Dick Roth 7-5, 6-4. Gene Morita (U) defeated Bob Lipkin 3-6, 8-6, 6-3. Dick Steiner (M) defeated Shelton Wagman 4-6, 6-3, 6-1. Boris Broy (U) defeated Les Lazarowitz 6-3, 4-6, 6-2. Larry Halgood (U) defeated Hal Cole 6-4, 1-6, 6-3.

In the doubles matches, Martello and Morita (U) defeated Roth and Steiner 6-4, 6-4. Simon and Lazarowitz (M) defeated Wagman and Broy 6-2, 4-6, 6-1. Lipkin and Cole defeated Gilgore and Halgood 8-6, 6-4.

The MAC Tennis Tournament was held at Haverford on May 8-10. Captain Dick Roth and number two man freshman Bob Lipkin represented Moravian at the tournament. Both Roth and Lipkin won their opening singles matches, but in their second match both were defeated. Roth lost to Martello of Ursinus and Lipkin was topped by Scarlett of Lehigh who later went on to the finals only to be defeated by Pratt from Swarthmore. Roth and Lipkin did not fare well in the doubles match as they faced and lost to the strong Lehigh duet who went on to win the doubles honors.
