Deadline For Family Day Reservations Tomorrow

Final plans are now being made for Family Day, to be held Saturday, November 15. As of Tuesday, 130 reservations have been received. The deadline for making reservations is tomorrow.

Students whose parents have not received applications and who wish to be present have been requested to leave their name and the number of reservations wanted with Mr. Robert Snyder, Director of Development. His office is located in Colonial Hall, South Campus.

Registration of guests for Family Day, which is being sponsored by the Triangle Honor Society, will take place in the lobby of Johnston Hall on the morning of Nov. 15.

Included in the program for the day is a buffet luncheon, the Moravian-Wagner football game, and a coffee hour to follow. Other activities planned are a Moravian College movie, a dormitory open house, and an Audubon Screen Tour. The Archives Building will be open.

SENIOR PHOTOS

Representatives of the Merin Photo Studios will be on campus to take senior portraits for the 1959 Benigna next week. Pictures will be taken on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 13 and 14, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the "1850 Room" in South Campus Main Hall.

A time schedule will be posted on the second floor bulletin board in Comenius Hall. It is the responsibility of each senior to reserve a time for his sitting by placing his name on the posted schedule.

Inter-Fraternity Dance Tickets On Sale For $2.00

The annual Inter-fraternity dance will be held in the Bethlehem Masonic Temple on November 23. Members of the Inter-fraternity council, Bob Gray, Fred Lipari and Joe Powlette, are in charge of all arrangements. The dance is open to the entire student body and their dates, tickets being $2.00 per couple.

The band of Les Holmes will play for this year's I-F dance.

The three social fraternities will be decorating their houses for the weekend. A prize will be given for the best decorations. Also awarded at the dance will be prizes to fraternity members for outstanding scholastic and athletic abilities.

The dance will be an informal affair (suits and cocktail dresses). An Inter-fraternity queen will be

Valentine Hop Slated Tonite In Johnston Hall

A mid-semester "valentine" record dance will be sponsored by the sophomore class tonight in Johnston Hall, rooms 9 and 10, from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m.

All members of the student body will receive invitations in the form of "valentines," otherwise known as mid-semester unsatisfactory reports.

The cost of the dance will be twenty-five cents per person. Soda and pretzels will be served during the dance.

The rooms will be decorated with large hearts labeled with various academic grades. There will also be a large replica of a mid-semester unsatisfactory report as a wall decoration.

All arrangements for the dance are being carried out by the social activities committee of the sophomore class. Marcee Ammend is the chairman of the committee.

Steverino Will Receive College Degree 'Bachelor Of Canines'

Steverino, the famous greyhound of the Steve Allen television show, will become a "Bachelor of Canines" during her first public appearance on the Moravian campus November 21 and 22.

The "honorary" degree from the college will be one of several honors to be bestowed upon the dog while she is a guest here. Other plans include making her an honorary student and presenting her with a blue and gray Moravian blanket "custom-made to fit."

STEVERINO AND FRIEND

Definite plans to schedule these several awarding ceremonies were drawn up Tuesday evening by a group of student leaders. The official arrangements for the visit of Steverino were made through the representative for the dog, Sam Blake, of the Grey Advertising Agency, and Stu Mansfield, Moravian's sports publicity director.

The decision to bring Steverino to the campus was made by Blake last Thursday, when he received the permission of the top executives of the advertising agency.

Upon her arrival by station wagon early Friday afternoon, November 21, Steverino will be escorted to her quarters for the weekend. That evening she will appear at the pep rally for the Muhlenberg game in Johnston Hall.

Accompanying Steverino will be her trainer and members of her managing staff. Steve Allen will not appear.

Presentation At Rally

At the rally, the dog will officially be made an honorary student of Moravian College. The announcement will be made by Joe Prorok as president of the United Student Government.

Kathy Werst, a member of the planning committee, will make a blue and grey felt dog blanket with the Moravian "M" according to Steverino's exact measurements. The blanket will be presented to the greyhound at the rally by Tony Matz, president of the Varsity "M" Club.

Bob Gray, president of the Inter-Fraternity Council, will then extend a welcome on behalf of the council, to the I-F Weekend on campus.

Just before the beginning of the football game with Muhlenberg that afternoon, Dr. Raymond S. Haupt will bestow upon Steverino the honorary degree "Bachelor of Canines." He will present her with a regular diploma form citing the honor.

This will be the first time the college has presented a degree to a dog, and probably the first time Steverino has ever received one.

Another possibility in this publicity campaign is the presentation of "the leash to the city of Bethlehem" by Mayor Earl Schaeffer in his office sometime that Saturday morning.

Also, there are still indefinite plans to have Steverino name and break ground for "Steverino Walk," which will lead from Locust Street to the proposed men's dormitory when it is built. If the plans materialize, a signpost indicating the walk will be erected.

Steverino will leave late on Saturday in order to return to New York for the Steve Allen Show Sunday evening.

chosen by the director of the band, Les Holmes. Those being eligible for queen must be escorted by one of the members of a social fraternity.

Tickets for the I-F Ball may be purchased from any one of the fraternity members.

Capture The Flag, Snipe Hunts Result In Choir's Journey To N. J. Mountains

by Marcia Morgan

Take one camp in the mountains, add a group of college students anxious to forget the problems of academic life, and season with just enough purpose to make the whole thing worth while. The result should be a wonderful, memorable experience. And that's just what happened when the Moravian College Choir went up to Camp Hope, New Jersey, last weekend to do some extra rehearsing while having a good time.

The weekend started about 4 p.m. Friday when choir members arrived at South Campus laden with suitcases full of warm clothes and several heavy blankets. With a lot of shoving and pushing everything was piled into ten cars, and the trip to Camp Hope began.

After a short rehearsal, the evenings fun commenced. The feature, a movie entitled "Kind Hearts and Coronets," starring Alec Guinness, ended prematurely when the projector broke down. To fill the gap, Beverly Luzietti and Company presented a satire on the life of a music director entitled, "This Is Your Life, Melvin Frump" with Mr. Richard Schantz, choir director, in the starring role.

Snipe Hunt

As it was a fairly warm, moonlight night, the group decided to have a snipe hunt. They started out as one large pack, but small parties split off which spent their time hiding from the others instead of looking for snipe. The composition of these groups kept changing because it was pretty dark in the woods and people kept appearing and disappearing.

After about an hour and a half of wandering, everyone gathered in the dining hall for a cup of hot coffee. Then tired and forced by a one o'clock curfew, they went up to the partially heated cabins to get a little rest.

Saturday started with breakfast at 8:30. Cooking chores were taken over by a professional, so no one had to rise with the sun. However like all other groups, this one had a few who like to watch the sun come up. After this breathtaking experience they had nothing better to do so they became a self-appointed reveille committee and greeted the sleepy campers when they emerged from the cabins.

Most of the morning was devoted to a series of rehearsals. After lunch some tried to play football while the others devoted their time to decks of cards or attempts to catch up on much-needed sleep.

By 8 o'clock everyone was tired of working and the entertainment began again.

After some dancing in the Upper Lodge, the scene of action changed to the athletic field for an exciting game of Capture the Flag. Darkness made it difficult to identify friends and foes, but by fast running and a few tricks, the boys managed to win three times.

'Here We Sit Like . . .'

After all that exercise they were hungry so the entire choir climbed into cars and descended on a local hotel for pizza. There weren't quite enough chairs to go around and some had to sit on the floor. No one minded the inconvenience except maybe the local patrons who did not wish to her the impromptu concert put on while the choristers waited for their pizza.

Like all other good things, this weekend had to come to an end, but the more than 40 who were at Camp Hope are already making plans for another trip there in the spring. And you can be sure that during the long winter that lies ahead, the members of the choir will be thinking of some bigger and better stunts to occupy their non-rehearsing hours at the camp.

For Services Rendered . . .

Year after year, issue after issue, The Comenian has been complaining about the lack of student initiative in extra-curricular activities and about the apathy of the student body in general. But for the most part, we've found, weekly "pep" talks don't do much good, if any. Unfortunately, few care about their "time to build."

So this week, we thought we'd take a different approach to see if perhaps we might stimulate the college into giving a little aid by contributing some incentive toward extra-curricular participation.

There are, we've found, many different means of incentive: (1) Money. (2) Scholarships. (3) Academic credit. (4) Official transcript recognition. (5) Awards (sweaters, blankets, etc.). (6) Food. (7) Enjoyment. (8) And even excuses for avoiding gym classes.

Incentives such as these can and will increase student participation, give the organization leaders something to "hold over" errant members, and generally create a good feeling toward the college.

For years members of the band have been dickered with the college for some sort of recognition for the talent of its members (many have spent much time and money in learning to play instruments). The band has now reached a virtual stalemate with the college: the band can't improve in music, marching, or size until it receives some sort of recognition, and the college appears unwilling to give that recognition until the band improves.

Bands of similar-sized schools, e.g., Albright, Wilkes, Juniata, have decent-looking, -playing, and -marching organizations, but all give credit. Albright band members receive 1/4 credit per semester and all get graded according to their participation. Other colleges give 1/2 credit; Lehigh gives 2 credits per semester. From 2 to 16 credits for four-year participation is certainly not to be frowned at.

The Moravian band has the reward system (sweaters, pins), but history has proved it hardly enough incentive to provide really active participation.

And while the band is in dire need of sufficient recognition, it can hardly be given to only that group when there are other organizations just as deserving, if not moreso, i.e., choir, Blackfriars, publications, and the officers of the student government.

The choir has grown tremendously since Mr. Schantz took over three years ago. In addition to the regular sweater and pin awards, which the band gets, the choir has a lot to offer in its extended concert trips and "working-vacations" such as they took last weekend (see front page).

Perhaps the editors of the publications, the band, Blackfriars, and other groups could accomplish as much if they got "sent away" for a weekend to organize and to have fun, and with half the expense paid by the school.

At least the choir has a small incentive for belonging; a sweater does not suffice for the band, and neither do the harsh criticisms which are the only reward for those working on the publications and leading the student government.

The three major publications already take over 55 percent of the USG funds, and it would hardly be fair to request more to give out awards for "service." The publication staffs, however, work as hard as, or harder, than the other groups on campus (some of the editors donate up to 20 hours per week), and there is no form of remuneration there whatsoever.

At other colleges, publications benefit by credit (one credit per semester at Lehigh), money, and some share profits (as obvious from last week's Comenian, this is impossible here).

Local college student government officers (at Muhlenberg and Lehigh) receive honorary keys symbolizing their service to the institution. Higher forms of recognition are given at other colleges.

Moravian has already realized that a sports program can not offer adequate competition without an incentive (over half the participants receive some form of scholarship, according to head coach Calvo; lettermen receive awards each year), and it must now realize that its other student programs cannot adequately function without similar reward.

Activities in the past have stood up despite the lack of incentive mainly due to a few diehards who continued with the organization after everyone else lost interest. However, the time may come when even these diehards may disappear.

Credit for service rendered to Moravian College has been sorely lacking in the past. Apathy on the part of the student body has been one of the prime results, and it is up to the college to correct this situation with a suitable recognition program.

Bring Home The Trophy!

The football game at East Orange, N. J., tomorrow will mark the initiation of the Blue-Gray Football trophy competition, while at the same time extending a long, 19-game rivalry between Upsala and Moravian.

It is the hope of the Upsala chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, initiators of the trophy, that traditional competition of this sort will increase the spirit and participation of the rivalry between the two schools.

We commend Alpha Phi Omega for its efforts in donating the beautiful trophy and sincerely hope that the ensuing rivalry will prove fruitful and rewarding to the fraternity and to the colleges involved.

The trophy cases in Johnston Hall, we believe, can always find room for one more monument to victory, and this handsome trophy should certainly provide an incentive.

While stating in the traditional but modest way (as is usually the case in these instances), "may the best team win," we'd like to add, "May the best team be us."

Bring home that trophy, boys!

Director Cites Additional Ancient Music In Bethlehem

To the Editor:

I was delighted to see in the October 24 issue of The Comenian Mr. George Mitchell's article, "Ancient Music Master Pieces Stored in Winston-Salem Hall."

This was a good presentation of the work of The Moravian Music Foundation as well as of the nature of the music collections here. We are, therefore, very happy that it could be brought to the attention of the Moravian College student body.

I should like to point out at this time that a counterpart to this collection is in the Moravian Church Archives in the Moravian College campus. This particular collection is of approximately the same quantity and quality as the collection in Winston-Salem.

Included there are the manuscripts of the Musical Heritage which was indigenous to Bethlehem in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries as well as a large number of very rare editions of music by prominent composers of Europe.

The Moravian Music Foundation, which was established as an agency of the Moravian Church in America in 1956 is entrusted with the research, publications, and education rights to both of these collections. In this way we hope to make available to the present day world a knowledge and appreciation of the musical heritage of the entire Moravian Church.

Thank you for your interest in this subject.

Sincerely yours,
Donald M. McCorkle
Director
Moravian Music Foundation

'Chewing Out' Gets Chewed Out

To the Editor:

Last week there appeared in

Neil Eskolin's column ("The Benchwarmer"), a so-called "chewing out," as Neil puts it, of the football team.

As just one of the many students who read this unjustified and unauthoritative "chewing out," of the football team, I would like to know, and many others too would like to know, if Eskolin knows how many hours a week our team is out on that field, practicing and scrimmaging in all kinds of weather while Neil sits in his little chair "chopping" the team up.

I would just like to remind Eskolin that the same team that he "chewed out" is our school's team. They're out to win, not to lose. There isn't a man on that team who doesn't want to win.

We're here to cheer and back up the team when they play and unless we know what we're talking about, I don't know anyone, sports editor or not, knows enough about football to "chew out" the team. If anyone is to do that, it's the coach's job, not yours, Neil, or anyone else's.

Our job is to cheer for the team, not knock it down. If you, Neil Eskolin, think you have enough knowledge or authority to "chew up" the team, I suggest you apply for a coaching position on the squad.

If you don't think you have the above requirements, I suggest, and many are with me in this, to just write your stories and let the coaches do the "chewing out." That's why they are here.

Respectfully submitted,
Bob Sottile, '59

'Much Ado About . . .'

By Dave Schattschneider

Although its hardly the season for them, I guess the old "valentines" will be making their mid-semester appearances within the next few days.

Let's not belabor the point — for soon after their words of greeting come term paper deadlines and what-have-you — so here's a little lighter matter to relieve your overburdened weary minds!!

After all, we can always remember the professor who said, "I shall now illustrate what I have on my mind," as he erased the blackboard.

Or there was the professor who said, "If I saw a man beating a donkey and stopped him from doing so, what virtue would I be showing?" to which a voice from the back of the room replied — "Brotherly love!"

Then again there's the story of the professor who said to the bewildered student, "Why didn't you answer my question?" which brought forth the reply, "I did, sir, I shook my head," with which the professor countered by saying, "Do you expect me to hear it rattle way up here?"

And let us not forget the professor who stated, "I will not begin today's lecture until the room settles down," to which that same sleepy voice from the back of the room responded, "Go home and sleep it off."

In closing this little section let's consider the tale of the professor who really wanted to give his class a difficult logic question. "The United States is bounded on the north by Canada, is bounded on the south by Mexico, on the east by the Atlantic Ocean and on the west by the Pacific. How old am I?"

Student: "You're forty-four."

"Right, but how did you reason it out so quickly?"

"I have a cousin at home who is twenty-two, and he's only half crazy."

By now, you can probably stand no more of this so here are some dates to keep in mind — pay attention gang, there are exactly (counting today) 20 days left until Thanksgiving vacation — and this includes regular school days — as well as the "lost weekends."

As far as that goes there are exactly 40 days left until Christmas vacation gets under way — on a Tuesday, Dec. 16, this year — of all days! And did you look up to find out when it ends — on a Friday (January 2) at 7:55 a.m., this is worse yet!

Well, it was a struggle but that's all for this week — see you in two weeks — "whatever you are!"

Blue and Grey Trophy Is Initiated Tomorrow

The Benchwarmer

by Neil Eskolin

It's sure good to see that the football and cross country squads got back into the swing of things. Nice goin' fella's; keep up the good work. Now with the football season going into its final three weeks, the winter sportsmen namely the basketballers, wrestlers and indoor track men are busy getting into shape. The cagers, 35 strong, hit the hardwoods of "Archie's Gym" last week and appear to be quickly getting into top form. They seem to have the potential to be one of the best teams Moravian has put out in many years. The entire starting team, except for Fritz Toner, in addition to four other letterman are returning to this year's squad. Also there are several excellent prospects in the freshmen ranks.

The Hounds will have height, experience and plenty of depth as well as great potential from the frosh. Outside of a few really tough games like those with Lafayette, Muhlenberg, Hofstra and Scranton, the Hounds should not have too rough a time. Of course ole man upset sticks his nose in many games as he did earlier in the season in football, but taking an overall picture of the basketball scene, the Hounds should have no trouble posting another winning season, probably by a considerably greater margin than last year.

The wrestlers also seem to be in good shape man-power wise. They too will have their whole team back except for Ron Cziracky who captained last year's squad and wrestled at 147 lbs. Here too the freshmen will play a big part, several of them probably pushing last year's first stringers for a berth. Last year the grapplers, due to inexperience and lack of confidence, started off slow but finished strong with two lopsided victories at the close of the season. This year they have that needed experience, plus the confidence, so look for them to have a fine season.

The indoor track men are also going into their second season of competition. Last year they failed to place in any of their meets but they too gained a lot of experience and know-how. They should put on a better showing this season under the able coaching of Paul Kuklantz . . .

Tomorrow as the Hounds face the Vikings of Upsala there will be an extra added incentive. An Upsala fraternity has introduced a trophy to be given annually to the winner of the Moravian-Upsala football game. Look for it to be in the Moravian trophy case next week because the Hounds should trip the Vikings by a good margin, 21-12 maybe.

Of the Major colleges, the only two unbeaten, untied teams are LSU and Rutgers. Rutgers faces Lafayette tomorrow in what promises to be a good game. But look for Rutgers to keep its streak intact. Lehigh will face undefeated V.M.I. tomorrow. The Engineers sorely miss the services of their star quarterback Dan Nolan who graduated last year. Even with Nolan last year, V.M.I. tripped Lehigh who lost only that one game all season. This year Lehigh is not nearly as strong as last year while V.M.I. is as powerful as ever. So look for Lehigh to lose tomorrow as they did in their last encounter. Finally in the Valley, Muhlenberg takes on Albright tomorrow. The Mules have power this year as they showed last week when they topped favored Hofstra, 12-0. Albright is having a tough time of it winning only one of six starts. So look for Berg to maul the Lions.

See ya on the bench.

FALL FOCUS

Wendell Terry

In this week's column of Fall Focus we turn our attention to Wendell Terry co-captain of the Moravian Cross country team. One of Coach Kuklantz' top runners, Terry hails from Vestal, New York. Wendy, in his freshman year here at Moravian, is 18 years old, 5 ft. 11 in. tall and weighs 150 pounds.

His sports career started at Vestal Central High School where he participated in cross country four years; basketball four years, baseball four years, and track three years. He earned a total of 13 letters. In his senior year, he was captain of every sport he participated in. In basketball he was All Conference guard in his senior year. For two years he was All Conference centerfielder and pitcher, and he raced in the state championship track meet for three consecutive years.

Fifth in AAU Meet

In 1957 Wendy ranked fifth out of 359 in the New York state cross country run. During this past summer, he played American Legion baseball where he went to the semi-finals as a pitcher.

In an AAU track meet on September 5th, he placed fifth. Some of the top runners he was competing with were Alex Henderson of Arizona, who holds the U.S. record for the two mile run, Max Truex of Australia, the national cross country champion, and Laszlo Tabori, one of the men to have broken the four minute mile.

In addition to being co-captain of the Harrier squad, Terry is planning to participate in basketball, indoor track and baseball.

Terry is majoring in business administration. His interests, besides sports, include popular music and dancing.

Hounds Attempt To Even Record Against Upsala

by Jim MacDonald

After bouncing back into the win column by eking out a 15-12 victory over Albright last week, Moravian's football team will meet Upsala tomorrow at East Orange, N.J.

Upsala's new coach, Arthur Pilch, former coach of Springfield College can muster up a fine array of backfield talent but the Vikings face the disadvantage of a weak line.

The Vikings defeated King's Point 31-12 last week but have had a dreary season otherwise. They have lost to American International, 8-0; Hofstra, 34-8; Lebanon Valley, 16-6; and Bridgeport, 14-8.

There will be an extra addition to the rivalry between Moravian and Upsala this year. The brothers of Alpha Phi Omega, Nu chapter, of Upsala College have introduced a trophy called the Blue and Grey Football which will be presented annually to the winning team.

The name is derived from the fact that both colleges have the same colors.

According to the trophy chairman, Dick Hissing of Upsala, "The purpose of this annual presentation is to encourage the development of small college football in the East, especially between Upsala and Moravian; to foster a greater competitive spirit among the members of the rival teams; and to encourage and increase student interest and understanding of college football."

Trophy Rules

The following are the rules governing the presentation of the award:

1. The trophy shall be awarded to the captain and football coach of the winning team by the President, or his representative, of the losing college immediately after the annual Upsala-Moravian varsity football game, the trophy will be present at the site of the contest and placed on a table to the right side of the football bench along the sidelines. At halftime, the President of the host college will state the purposes of the trophy and anything else that, in his judgment, is appropriate.

2. The trophy shall be kept in the possession of the winning team from the day of the contest until the next year's game.

3. In the case of a tie, the trophy will be kept in the possession of the previous year's winning team.

4. The trophy cannot be retired until a time that the Upsala-Moravian annual football contest is discontinued.

5. If the annual contest is discontinued, the team with the most victories shall keep the trophy.

6. In case of an equal amount of victories at a time when the annual Upsala-Moravian contest has been discontinued, the team with the most aggregate points shall retire the trophy.

7. If the annual Upsala-Moravian contest is continued after a period of discontinuance, the presentation of the trophy shall be reactivated on the basis of these previous rules.

8. The winning team shall be responsible for the upkeep of the trophy and the transportation of the trophy to the site of the game and into the possession of the Director of Athletics of the home team.

9. Any additions or changes of these rules shall have to be approved by the Athletic Directors of Upsala and Moravian Colleges and the Executive Committees of Alpha Phi Omega, Nu Chapter, Upsala College.

Hollendersky, as well as Fred Lipari, strong and aggressive Hound center who also sustained a leg injury last week, will probably be ready for action tomorrow.

George Hollendersky, troubled by a weak ankle all season, reinjured it last week but still gave a standout performance. Hollendersky scored both of the Hounds' touchdowns, clicked on his attempted extra point kick, and averaged nearly 40 yards per kick in his punting.

Moravian Breaks Jinx In Close Win Over Albright

The Greyhounds traveled to Reading last Saturday to meet the Lions of Albright College and returned in the best of spirits due to their hardearned 15-12 win.

For the Hounds, it was their first victory on the road this season and brought their record to two wins and three losses, brightening their hopes of evading a losing campaign.

A week earlier the Hounds had their Homecoming spoiled, but the shoe was on the other foot this week and it was their turn to play the role of spoilers.

Led by 220-pound George Hollendersky, Mo-Mo's reliable veteran fullback, the Hounds had the necessary offense and defense punch when needed. George scored both touchdowns on one and five yard plunges and kicked an extra point to personally outscore the Lions.

Albright, battling furiously all day, opened the scoring with a march of 75 yards in the first quarter. The payoff pitch being a nine yard pass from quarterback Sudock to halfback Varano on a fourth down and goal to go.

Moravian fighting back retaliated in the opening minutes of the second period going 46 yards in nine plays following a Lion punt. With the ball lying on the 20, Matz fired a pass to Hollendersky in the flat and Big George rolled to the seven. Hollendersky on three consecutive carries carried it over and then added the go-ahead point with a placement.

Early in the third period the Hounds scored again marching 63 yards. Hollendersky again played a major role in the score. He ran for the opening first down and kept the assault going with a do or die fourth down tackle slant that moved the ball to the 20.

George Scores Again

With the ball finally lying on the five with third down and goal to go, George did it again. Crashing through left guard he appeared halted at the three but he squirmed free of two would-be tacklers for the score. With the score now 13-6, quarterback Tony Matz passed to Johnny Olsen for the all important two point conversion making the score 15-6.

Quarterback Sudock, the only senior on the Lion squad, hit his left end, Sheeler, with a pass on the midfield stripe. Sheeler, wide open when he made the catch, continued on to the Hounds 35 before being bounced to the ground.

Two plays later, after Sudock had raced to the 27 on a keep play, Varano took a direct hand-off and hurried through the Hounds defense for 27 yards without a hand touching him. The score read 15-12 with plenty of time remaining.

Esposito led the ball carriers with 63 yards followed by Myers with 55 and clutch runner Hollendersky with 54.

Harriers Paced By Terry Turn Back F & M, Lions

A fired up Greyhound cross country squad evened its seasonal record at 3-3 by defeating F & M and Albright this past week, with freshman sensation Wendall Terry finishing first in both meets.

On Wednesday of last week, the Harriers traveled to the F & M campus and defeated a fine Diplomat team, 26-29. Led by frosh ace Wendell Terry who covered the 4.5 mile course in 23:32, the Harriers were able to split up the Diplomats and pull out the victory. Behind Terry, placing fourth and fifth respectively were sophomores Ray Herman (24:20) and Jim Worman (24:37.)

Victory Over Albright

Three days later, the Harriers again took to the road, this time to meet the Albright Lions at Reading. They returned with an impressive 20-37 victory. Terry captured his fifth victory in six starts by covering the 4.4 mile course in the identical time of 23:32. Again Ray Herman and Jim Worman backed up Terry; this time finishing second and third respectively to completely outclass the Lion squad.

Rounding out the top ten for Moravian were George Fiegel, Bob Durn and Bill Rinker.

RAU Plans Meeting, Rader Will Lecture

Marlyn A. Rader, Dean of Instruction, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Rho Alpha Upsilon (RAU) Science Society on Thursday, November 13. The meeting will be held in Comenius Hall, room 304, at 7:30 p.m. The meeting is open to the public.

The topic of Rader's talk will be "Tricks with Math."

The program is under the direction of the executive committee of RAU Science Society and the committee in charge of the refreshments, which will be served following the meeting, is headed by Bob Kern.

Rader has received the Bachelor of Science degree from Moravian College and the Master of Arts degree from Lehigh University. He is presently serving as Dean of Instruction of the college and as a professor of mathematics.

Sems On Top In I-M Action; Finals Follow

The end of the third week and the beginning of the fourth week of intramural football action saw some close games including a big upset. Last week, Sigma Phi, the Upsetters, and Fighting Irish picked up wins while the Seminary and the OGO's fought to a tie.

With the aid of Jim VanNatta, Sigma Phi rolled over the Frosh 26-6. VanNatta pitched strikes all afternoon to his fine receivers.

The OGO's and Seminary played to a 12-12 tie on Wednesday. Both teams displayed fine defenses. The Seminary scored both T.D.'s on passes thrown by Dick Steiner to Granely. The OGO scores came on the fine running of Gene Jani.

The Fighting Irish handed the TKE's their third setback in a row. The Irish scored on a long pass from Bill Gaughan to Ned Wagner. On Tuesday, the Vets forfeited to the Upsetters.

In this week's action, the Seminary got back on their winning ways by downing the Upsetters 20-13. Ken Sepe scored two T.D.'s for the Upsetters. Dick Steiner led the Seminary by throwing two T.D. passes. Bill Gramely connected for the other one. The Seminary has displayed so far this season the finest pass attack in the league.

On Tuesday, the Fighting Irish upset the OGO's 8-0. Bill Gaughan threw a long pass to Ned Wagner who got behind the OGO's safety man for the T.D.

John always did take things too seriously... like that habit of locking his Coke up in a safe! Sure everybody likes Coca-Cola... sure there's nothing more welcome than the good taste of Coca-Cola. But really—a safe just for Coke! Incidentally—know the combination, anyone?
