

Winter Ball Decorations Follow Seasonal Themes

Final plans for the Winter Ball formal dance are being made by the Social Activities Committee. The dance will be held in Johnston Hall, December 13, 9-12 p.m.

Plans are that snow flakes will be falling from the ceiling of Johnston Hall. The bleachers will also be covered with snow. White tables with blue candles and greens with snow on them will be distributed throughout the Hall.

The dance program is "Snow White." These programs will be lying on the tables.

Opposite the door there will be a big tree covered with snow. In addition several smaller Christmas trees covered with snow will be located in Johnston Hall.

The Social Activities Committee will serve egg-nogs during the dance.

Winter Ball is a formal dress affair in which the attire of the women shall consist of evening gowns while the men according to their discretion, are able to choose between tuxedos and dinner jackets and suits. Due to the nature of the dance, sports jackets are not acceptable.

Pat Conover and Harriet Peters are in charge of the refreshments. In charge of the snow flakes is Joan Albrecht. Peter French is in charge of the trees. Fred DeFrank is in charge of the programs, while Marcia Morgan is in charge of the tables.

Chaperones for the dance will be: Dean and Mrs. Marlyn Rader, Dean and Mrs. Harvey Gillespie, Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd Burkhart, Dr. and Mrs. Otis Shao, Dr. and Mrs. Alden Sears and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Stelmashuk.

Fanos Elected Head Of New Internat'l Club

The Moravian International Club, formed this past week, has elected Jerry Fanos as president and Bela Gulyas as secretary-treasurer. Dean Sartwell, foreign student advisor, will be the faculty advisor of the new club.

Bela Gulyas talked about his school experiences in Hungary. He also talked about his escape from behind the Iron Curtain.

The meeting was a supper engagement at Dean Sartwell's apartment. Those present decided to form a new club for foreign students, under the name of Moravian International Club. MIC is open to any member of the student body.

The purpose of this new club is to give information about other countries and enrich the knowledge of all students. Students will have a chance to meet and talk with different nationalities and achieve a mutual understanding among students of all nationalities.

No Rehearsal Time Forces Postponing Of Fall Production

The Blackfriars' production of Winterset by Maxwell Anderson has been postponed until February, according to Albert Rights, associate professor of English at Lehigh University and director of the play.

The play, which was to have been given this week, has been tentatively rescheduled for the third week in February.

Reasons given by Griff Dudding, president of the Blackfriars, were the inability to secure players for the minor roles and a lack of rehearsal time. Planning for the production began after the appointment of the present director in late October.

Dudding feels that by the beginning of next semester, after the pressure of exams, terms papers, etc. has been removed, more people will have free time to take part in the production.

The main cast will remain the same. Minor roles, especially male parts, will have to be filled.

Request for additional help in the staging and lighting department has also been issued by Vicki Tinnes, in charge of the department. Settings involving a double bridge are being planned.

Shao Begins Foreign Policy Talks At Thursday's Convo

Dr. Otis H. Shao, Moravian professor of political science, will be the featured speaker at the third all-student convocation next Thursday morning in Johnston Hall at 11:30 a.m.

In the first of a series of convocations designed to acquaint students with one of the major problems confronting the United States today, Shao will speak on the topic, "American Foreign Policy in a World of Nationalism."

This foreign policy problem arises from a conflict between our policy towards the peoples in Asia and Africa who are struggling to achieve independence and our policy towards such European powers as France and Great Britain who have traditionally dealt with these same areas as colonial powers.

U. S. Needs Friends

The United States on the other hands needs to gain friends in these areas where it has felt itself in danger or being cut off; yet needs also to strengthen the Atlantic Alliance in a cold war against Russia.

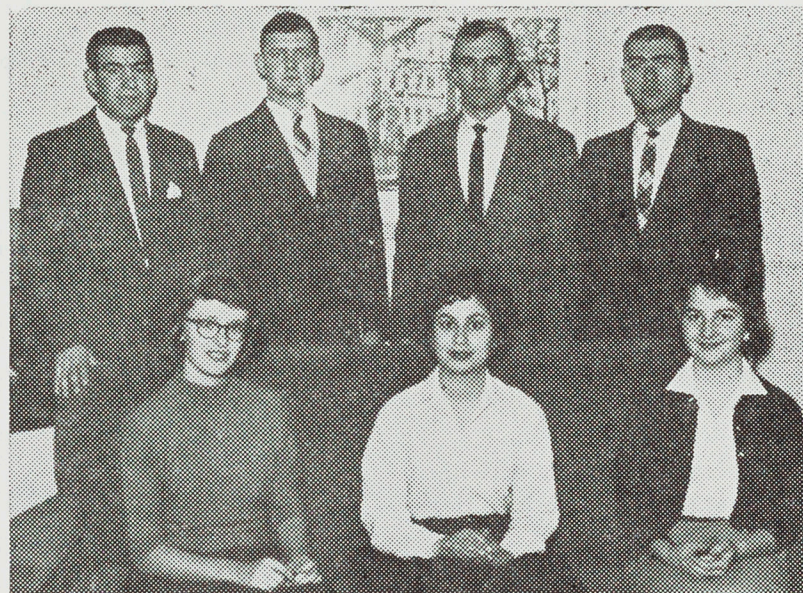

Inevitable tensions have arisen as the United States seeks to adjust its policy in Asia and Africa to its policy in Europe. The question is: Is this difficulty a real and lasting one, or is it a matter merely of emphasis or of timing?

It is the purpose of this series

Who's Who Recognizes Seven Seniors To Represent College For 1958-59

by Elmer Harke

Seven Moravian College seniors were elected to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" this past week. Those elected include Gordon C. Arnold, Fred J. DeFrank, Marcia H. Morgan, Sophie Nicholas, Edgar A. Snyder Jr., Mary J. Vezzoli and John W. Woltjen. Dean Marlyn A. Rader made the announcement this week.

According to Rader the annual selection is made by the executive committee of the faculty, the membership of which, as listed in the college catalogue, consists of Miss Johanna Ott, Dr. Albert E. H. Gaumer, Dean Harvey T. D. Gillespie, Dean Marlyn A. Rader, and Dr. Otis R. Shao.

Dean Rader said the group was chosen on the basis of three chief categories: scholarship, effective leadership on campus, and promise of future usefulness.

"To begin with," Rader said, "all members of the senior class are considered. And then on the basis of the criteria, scholarship, effective leadership and future usefulness, the field is narrowed until the committee agrees on the individuals that should be included. Whether or not the number the committee elects exceeds or does not reach the quota given does not matter to the school." The quota was 13.

Arnold of York, Pa., is a biology major. He has been a member of the choir for four years and served as business manager and vice-president. He also served as chairman of the convocation committee.

As a member of the RAU Science club he acts as vice-president and publicity manager. Arnold is a member of the Omicron Gamma

Creative Writing Discussions Slated For Weekly Clotches

The Manuscript has announced that it will sponsor a series of discussions on creative writing, to be held every Thursday at 3:00 p.m. in the Emcee Annex. The first meeting was held yesterday.

The discussion group will be open to all students of the student body who are interested in creative writing. The discussions will deal with ideas that might be gained for the writing of creative literature from everyday events such as newspaper headlines to television and radio broadcasts.

Discussion of Original Writing

Some original writing that has been done by students for class papers as well as outside works will be analyzed and discussed by the group.

A long range program of the Manuscript promotion staff is to invite writers from the area to come and discuss creative writing with the students.

The Manuscript is the literary magazine of the college in which any outstanding original student writing is published. The discussion idea was originated by Pi Delt, the national journalism fraternity.

Anyone who is interested in these discussions, and would like more information, can contact Mary Vezzoli, editor of the Manuscript.

Seniors may return their yearbook picture proofs to the representative of Merin Studios in the Gray Room, South Campus Main Hall next Monday and Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

'Harsh' Hazing Practice Out For '63 Girls

Beginning next year, the freshman women's hazing program will be modified so as to eliminate many of the "harsh" and "unfair" practices which characterized the program this fall.

In a report submitted by the Committee to Investigate Women's Hazing Rules to United Student Government, at a meeting of that body Nov. 25, it was suggested that the hazing program be curtailed to the degree that freshman women be required only to wear dinks, signs and kneesocks. It was further suggested that other rules which have previously been in effect be discontinued.

It was the committee's feeling that "putting this plan into effect would sufficiently carry out the true purpose of hazing, that is to acquaint the new students with Moravian, to unite them as a class, and to encourage them in their social and academic pursuits," stated the report.

Also incorporated in the new plan was a suggestion to initiate a big sister-little sister and possibly a big brother-little sister pro-

A Matter Of Poor Judgment . . .

The selection of a group of college students for nomination to an honor group is understandably a difficult task, one which requires the best judgment of any group resigned or delegated to such a mission. The selection of this year's nominees for Who's Who illustrates how poor judgment can result in injustice.

The purpose of Who's Who, according to its information publication, is to reward college upperclassmen for scholarship, leadership, activity participation, citizenship, and promise of future usefulness. The faculty executive committee, in choosing this year's Who's Who, has deemed underserving of the honor many people who have all of these qualifications and who, in addition, have rendered outstanding service to the college.

Deliberately passed by in the selection were the officers of the student government, chairmen and active members of USG committees, editors of the weekly newspaper and yearbook, representatives of all men's sports, and officers and holders of responsible positions in other campus organizations.

According to Dean Rader, the committee in addition seriously considered whether the eligible candidate was active merely because of eagerness for recognition or reward, or because of a sincere desire to participate and contribute to the well-being of the college and the organizations involved.

In the first place, we do not see where anyone, let alone the faculty executive committee, can feel high enough to judge the motives of any person. In addition, we sincerely believe that if those people excluded were active only for the gain or reward they could obtain, they would never have taken on the responsibilities they did.

However, even if it can be conceived that this leadership was undertaken for personal gain only, the fact still remains that it resulted in many worthy accomplishments that benefited both the organizations and the college.

Student leaders have provided the college with many activities on which it can look with pride. To forget these people is to deal them insult and to show a general lack of appreciation.

Probably the most important reason for this injustice is the makeup of the selection committee itself. Faculty members of a small college are supposedly close to the student body. Yet closeness (i.e., knowledge and understanding of the real workings and responsibilities involved in campus activities) is not characteristic to the committee as a whole.

The Who's Who information pamphlet states that selection committees are usually student-faculty-administration groups. Such a make-up should afford a more accurate means of judgment, since it can include opinions from all angles.

We suggest serious consideration of the addition of student members to the nominating committee in the hopes of fairer judgment in the future. And we can only hope that there will be no recurrence of this outright disgrace to both the college and its student leaders.

Under the Table

by Nan Gingher

It isn't often that a serious frame of mind hits us here under this old table, but for some reason

"seriosity" seems to be this week's keynote. It's all over now, we know, but anyhow, the entire campus appears to be up in arms (somebody A LWAYS is) over a BIG deal: and for once it's a thank-you, instead of a

"What d'ya call that?" Namely the Berg-Moravian game before vacation. Naturally, the enthusiasm so rampant that Saturday has died down a lot, but in the hearts of a lot of us, especially senior students, gridders, etc., that game will go down in history as THE ONE. SPIRIT was never so obvious; just proves that we're not always zombies. A gigantic THANKS to the team, and the fans No matter WHAT or WHO happens, or how many so-called "bitty fiascos" develop, let's remember that big day and try to continue this feeling with everything . . .

Thanksgiving was great, as usual, and also SHORT. The only unfortunate part is that everyone is getting SICK and T RED of seeing white turkey meat and dribblings of cranberry sauce all over the place. Go home, pilgrims! It's the pre-Christmas slump period now, and there's no time for fowl when all's so foul.

A few of the old guard "Big Daddies" on campus want to start a NEW group, and call it the "powerful ORDER of mendacity." Don't think they'll have any trouble getting followers, but there's so much conflict trying to find a good meeting place. They're all so jampacked! Perhaps they could combine with other obvious schools of thought on campus and meet out of town, or something. We'll leave it up to the founders.

Even though it's a little early for Christmas clutching to be going on (the hinting season) it was good seeing the Emsee gaily decorated this week. Progress! And the crunched Advent stars on both campuses certainly add a special touch to campus Christmas spirit, even though the time is far off, sort of. And the white candles. And the star on South Mountain. And the tree with the view from the bridge.

Won't be with y'all for the Christmas issue, so now's the time to say—happy holiday season. Relax, have a blast, and look forward to coming back in January to the new Greyhound Scenic-cruiser we're getting from Steve Allen and friends as an extra-special little thought for the season.

Buy Extravagant Xmas Gifts And Save Your Money Too!

This Christmas, and forever after, you can add excitement to your gifts, give things that will be cherished for years, save money at the same time.

Pie in the sky? Hardly. A major clue comes from Billy Rose. If he had only a dollar with which to buy his wife a Christmas gift, the master showman once explained, he wouldn't try to get something that looked like $1.98. Instead, he'd buy a single bar of soap—and have the missus feel like a queen while bathing.

By using similar principles of showmanship, you can quicken the pulse of everyone on your Christmas list—and still not noticeably dent your bank account.

How? In ten different ways . . . and here they are:

1. Stress quality. You'll give more pleasure with the best of a lower-priced product than with the cheapest of a "higher-ticket" item. Better a superb lipstick than an imitation leather purse . . . 100 sheets of high-grade personalized stationery than a mediocre desk set . . . a fine handkerchief than a run-of-the-mill tie.

2. Make it a luxury. Remember your disappointment as a child when you received gifts of clothing? You knew that during the year, if you needed a sweater, you'd get a sweater. Part of the fun or receiving a gift is the glee of owning something not ordinarily in your budget.

Apply the same principle to others. Sure, Uncle John might well need a couple of shirts. But wouldn't his eyes light up if you presented him with a book on his favorite hobby?

History Class Visits Met. Museum of Art In New York City

The members of the Renaissance and Reformation History class (History 306) traveled to New York City on Tuesday, December 2, for a visit to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

While at the museum, the members of the class and Dr. J. Richard Jones, Chairman of the History Department, viewed paintings of the late medieval and renaissance period. The paintings and the various styles of the period were discussed by the group and a museum guide.

Following a luncheon in the museum restaurant the group divided and visited the other sections of the museum.

The members of the class, which traveled by private car and the school station wagon to New York, included Miss Nancy Baker, Charles Bartolet, Griff Dudding, Frank Figlear, Bob Ghodes, Bill Ruch, David Schattschneider, and Edgar Snyder.

Aunt Mary would undoubtedly be suitably gratified by a new pair of bedroom slippers. But suppose you broke the pattern this year and presented her with a beautiful ice bucket to make her hostessing chores a little easier? It's just the sort of gift she'd never buy for herself.

3. Keep it useful. A luxury item needn't be useless. If it is, it's not a luxury—it's a waste. So keep in mind the basic needs of your recipient.

Thus, instead of giving Mom a dust-gathering figurine, why not treat her to some gleaming stainless steel casserole dishes? They're not only eminently useful, but—because stainless is a lot easier to clean than light, cheaper metals—it will save her work all year long.

4. Be sure it's durable. No fun getting something that won't last. Point is: your gift should be the kind that will be around for a while, so that the pleasant memory of you will linger too. For example—cigarette lighters, magazine subscriptions, fine stainless tableware (no plating to rub off), clocks, phonograph records.

5. Let it be imaginative. Gifts of money are very nice, but they smack of "last-minute thoughtfulness." Make your gift unique in some way and regardless of its price—it will reverberate in the recipient's mind because of the obvious pains you took in choosing it.

How about pegging it to a particular interest? (Philatelist George will appreciate your going to the trouble of finding that Bolivian air-mail stamp for his collection.)

Or, why not see to it that milady's favorite cook book is bound in leather? Antique stores are treasure troves of imagination—browse around in one and you'll be amazed how the ideas will gush from you.

6. Personalize it. Show someone a group photograph and odds are he'll look at himself first. Face it: everybody's convinced he's pretty important. So whenever possible, personalize your gift. Maybe it lends itself to monogramming.

Idea: take an outstanding event in a person's life, buy a tiny symbolic charm commemorating it. Sis just graduate? Pick up a tiny golden diploma for her bracelet. Dad recently bowl a 200 game? Wouldn't he like bowling ball cuff links?

7. Be sure it's pleasing to the eye. There is a little correlation between amount spent and good taste. We've all been in homes where the prized—and most expensive—possession left us cold. Take pains to insure that what you're buying isn't so highly stylized that it will shortly be outdated. Whether it's household merchandise or personal possession, keep its lines simple and clean. When in doubt, consult the salesman.

8. Make it easy to care for. Be sure that what you give is a gift—not a chore. Easy-to-wash, not-too-fragile materials are best. Otherwise, when your "giftee" is picking up the pieces, polishing the metal or coaxing the dirt from the fabric—the thought of you and your "bright ideas" will dominate.

9. Is it replaceable or repairable? If your gift is really valued, chances are the receiver will want to replace, repair or add to it at some future time. So buy only

He is the president of Pi Mu pre-theological fraternity. A former member of both the college choir and band, Woltjen just recently was appointed the Assistant Director of Development for Moravian College.

Snyder, a history major from Bethlehem, is a member of the Classics Club, choir, and has been a member of Pi Mu pre-theological fraternity.

Miss Vezzoli, also a native of Bethlehem, is an English major. She has been the Editor of the Manuscript for the past two years. She is the secretary-treasurer of the Pi Delta Epsilon national journalism fraternity. She is a sister of Phi Mu Epsilon social sorority and also a member of Kappa Delta Epsilon, national education sorority. She is a member of the college choir, USG, and is a new member of triangle.

Phi Mu, SPO's Will Hold Xmas Party For Children

"Santa Claus" will visit thirty-six Wiley House children at a Christmas party sponsored by Pi Mu Epsilon sorority and Sigma Phi Omega fraternity next Thursday evening.

The party, in Johnston Hall Rooms 9 and 10, will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Arrangements were made by representatives of the fraternity and sorority through the director of Wiley House.

Tables will be set up in the rooms for more efficient serving of refreshments, which will include ice cream, cookies, and soda. At the tables will be individual favors for the children.

Games are planned for the entire group, which ranges in age from 6 to 17 and includes both boys and girls. There are also tentative plans to show cartoon films.

Highlight of the party will be a special visit by Santa Claus, who will give out a little gift to each child. Decorations in the rooms will include a large Christmas tree.

Wiley House is an orphanage located in Fountain Hill. All transportation of the children to and from the campus will be arranged by members of Sigma Phi Omega.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes Judy Lanning, Chris Clark, and Dee Lang, Phi Mu Epsilon; Ernie Josar, Ron Cavanaugh, and Bill Strohl, Sigma Phi Omega.

Modern Language Club Sponsors Party Dec. 11

The Modern Language Club is sponsoring a party for the entire student body on December 11, 7:30 p.m. in the George Washington Room, Colonial Hall. Everybody is asked to bring a 25 cent gift to be exchanged.

Carols will be sung in the various languages, and refreshments will be served.

Sadie Hawkins Day Comes To Allentown Saturday, Dec. 13

Sadie Hawkins Day will come to Allentown on Saturday, December 13. Feature of the day, which is being sponsored by the Allentown Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be the opportunity to take your date, free of charge, to a matinee performance of the musical comedy "Li'l Abner."

The Jaycees are making available special student tickets at prices of $2.00, $3.00 and $4.00. Buy one ticket at these regular prices, and the purchaser receives one free ticket for his date. The offer is valid only for the 2:30 Saturday matinee performance at the Lyric Theatre. Tickets may be obtained at the Allentown Chamber of Commerce office, Titlow's Music Store, H. Leh & Company, or the Allentown Free Library.

The production, direct from Broadway in New York City, stars Robert Kaye as Li'l Abner and Patricia Northrop as Daisy Mae. Miss Northrop is the star of the National Company's "Oklahoma," "Pal Joey," and "Visit to a Small Planet."

'Pep Band' Will Be Organized To Play At Home Games

The Moravian College band will be ready to play for the home basketball game with Muhlenberg next Wednesday evening, director Ray Huston said early this week.

Instead of having the entire ensemble playing for the games, Huston will organize a "pep band" which will feature music for the varsity game and at halftime. A complete schedule of playing dates will be posted after the holidays, Huston said.

The next band rehearsal will be held next Tuesday in the Arts Building at 3:30 p.m.

Huston will attend the Music Educators' Convention in Harrisburg this weekend. He is chairman of a brass clinic which features cornetist James Burke. Burke was guest soloist at the intercollegiate festival hosted by Moravian last year.

At the convention, plans will be made for this year's band festival, which will be held at Penn State, March 19-21.

Queen, Stevo, Game Provide High Points Of I-F Weekend

by Marcia Morgan

Whenever anyone starts reminiscing about the events of the 1958-59 school year, one of the high points will certainly be the Inter-Fraternity Weekend. Held on November 21 and 22, it provided a spectacular setting for the Muhlenberg-Moravian football game and the close of the 1958 football season.

Each of the many events and activities planned for the weekend was itself a success. Steverino was well-liked by everyone who met her. The Queen was beautiful. A good number of students attended the pep rally. All of the house decorations were cleverly and carefully made. The football team won. Claudio Arrau was outstanding. And even the weather (surprise, surprise!) was perfect.

Over 300 people, including many alumni, were at the Masonic Temple Saturday night to see Miss Venitia Paolucci crowned Queen of the Inter-Fraternity Ball. Miss Paolucci who was escorted by Jerry Heintz, was crowned by Bob Gray, president of the Inter-Fraternity Council.

Members of the Queen's Court, who preceded her into the ballroom, and their escorts were as follows: Peggy Donnelly escorted by Dan Simon, Lorraine Zitone escorted by William Leicht, Pat Albright escorted by Tony Morelli and Norma Senff escorted by John Wilczynski.

The coronation took place during the intermission ceremonies. Just before the Queen and her court were introduced, Gray announced the winners of the three trophies which the I-F Council presents annually.

Omicron Gamma Omega won the award for having the highest scholastic average. The fraternity which received the athletic award, Tau Kappa Epsilon, had the highest record in all Inter-Mural sports. The award for house decorations went to Sigma Phi Omega which had a French theme.

Stevo Meets Ogo

Moravian's mascot, Ogo, and Steverino, the greyhound who reached fame on the Steve Allen Show, really got along beautifully. Steverino obviously enjoyed her brief glimpse of college life. Her trainer, who raises greyhounds, examined Ogo and said that for a dog nine years old, he is in very good shape.

Steverino was very busy while she was in Bethlehem. She arrived on Friday afternoon and immediately went to the office of Bethlehem's mayor Earl E. Schaffer to receive the "leash to the city."

At the pep rally in the evening, she was officially welcomed to Moravian and made an honorary student of the College. Then Tony Matz presented her with a blue and grey felt dog blanket made by Kathy Werst.

Saturday morning Steverino was photographed with the football team and visited several children's institutions in the area.

Before the Muhlenberg game, Dr. Raymond S. Hauptert, president of the College, gave her a citation recognizing her as an "Associate in Animal Letters."

Friday evening after the pep rally Sigma Phi Omega had a house party with music provided by Jim Harkel's jazz group. Tom Meder and Joe Powlette were in charge.

A pep rally will be held Monday night, December 8, at 7:30 p.m. in Johnston Hall. Basketball players will be introduced at this time, and a record dance will follow.

Hounds Drop Squeaker To PMC; J-V's Win

The Benchwarmer

by Neil Eskolin

Well, the boys really finished the season in fine fashion, both the gridders and the harriers. Both squads who didn't look too sharp at mid-season came on strong and really came up to the expectations of the pre-season predictors. The Harriers copped the last four straight while the football eleven nailed down three of the last four. And the finale with Berg was one that won't be forgotten around here for a long time to come. Everyone on the squad played a great game but special recognition must be given to George Hollendersky who played by far his best game of the year and probably of his career and Johnny Olson who played spectacularly at his end position. In fact they did such a good job that both were nominated to the All-East team for the week on November 22. Nice goin', fellas.

Since Moravian finished so strong they were rated the number one team in the entire country—by me, that is, just follow this and you'll see that it's logical too—well, almost logical, anyway. Moravian beat Muhlenberg 30-20, right? That makes Moravian 10 points better than Muhlenberg. Berg lost to Lafayette 27-14 so that puts Moravian 3 points below Lafayette. Now Lafayette and Lehigh tied, and Lehigh and V.M.I. tied, so that still keeps the Hounds three points behind V.M.I. Now V.M.I. crushed Villanova 33-6 so naturally Moravian has to be rated 24 points better than Villanova. Villanova topped Wake Forest 9-7 so Moravian must be 26 points better than Wake Forest. Further down the line, Wake Forest lost to Clemson 14-12 so the Hounds still rate 24 points above Clemson. Georgia Tech shut out Clemson 13-0 but Moravian is still 11 points over Tech. Georgia Tech knocked off Tennessee 21-7 placing Moravian 25 points over Tennessee. Alabama slipped past Tennessee 14-7 so the Greyhounds must be rated 18 points over Alabama. Now to wind it up Alabama bowed to the supposedly number one team in the country, Louisiana State by a 13-3 score. Therefore in conclusion, Moravian has to be rated 8 points above LSU. So—Moravian is the number one team in the nation—Better get your Bowl tickets early!!!

Congratulations to the Sigma Phi intramural football team on their fine victory over the Seminary squad in two straight playoff games for the I-M crown.

The Hound cagers have already opened up their schedule. Before the season started, however, they had a few scrimmage games with East Stroudsburg State Teachers, Lehigh and this past Monday, Ursinus. The cagers easily knocked off the Teachers and narrowly slipped past the Ursinus five. It's also reported that the Hounds held their own against Lehigh. But on the same note, Lehigh scrimmaged Scranton and was unmercifully slaughtered by "Kasakovich and friends." It looks as though the Royals are going to be tougher than ever this year and they're going to be out to get revenge for their double overtime defeat at the hands of the Hounds last season. Mark those games on the calendar gang, they're sure to be great ones.

There were a couple of surprises in high school football on Turkey Day, namely the Bethlehem-Allentown game. Neither team showed too much this season but it was a surprise to see the underdog Hurricanes tie the favored Canaries. Also the P-berg fans suffered last week. They may not have been favored but they sure didn't expect to be beaten so badly. Congratulations have to go to the fine Easton squad who had their best season in many years. Another jolt was the upset of Hackensack, N.J. by Teaneck—Whadayamean, where's Hackensack? Oh well, wait til next year!

Back on the baseball scene for a moment, the MVP selections were made recently. Jackie Jensen of the Boston Red Sox was honored in the American League. The former football All American beat out the Yankee's ace twirler, Bob Turley to be the first member of a non-pennant winning club to get the MVP award since 1954. In the National League, the slender Cub shortstop, Ernie Banks was named. Banks, who led the majors in home runs last season, had the best year of his career batting over .300 and knocking in over 100 RBI's.

The Major Bowl selections have been made and the teams are all set for the New Years' Day Classic. It seems that some of the games are going to really be lopsided though due to the fact that some teams such as Army refuse to play the post season classic. Actually these games are not contests for national or sectional supremacy since all the top teams aren't competing. Well, they should be interesting games anyway.

See ya on the bench.

Greyhounds Paced By Causley, Potter In Close Defeat

By Neil Eskolin

The Greyhound basketball squad under Head Coach Rocco Calvo dropped their opening contest of the '58-'59 season to a fired up PMC quintet by the heart-breaking score of 76-75.

The Hounds who seemed to have everything under control for the first fifteen minutes suddenly found themselves in the midst of a terrific battle. A tremendous factor in the losing effort was the benching of Moravian's jump shot ace, co-captain, "Deck" Causley who sat out much of the second half with four fouls.

Minutes after his re-entry, "Deck" committed another foul and was out of the game. He led both squads in scoring with a total of 25 points.

PMC opened the scoring with a foul shot by Tom Driscoll. Moravian's Causley quickly came back with two free throws to put the Hounds ahead. At the end of ten minutes of play, the Hounds were comfortably in the lead, 19-11, 10 of which Causley had accounted for.

In the closing minutes of the half, the Cadets put on a dazzling surge and with three spurts of six, four and eight points in a row, found themselves on top at the buzzer, 32-30.

As the second half got underway, Causley sank one of his deadly jump shots to tie the score. Seconds later, the Hounds put six points together on a jumper and a charity flip by Causley, a driving layup by Potter and another free throw by Keglovitz. The Cadets however came right back with 5 of their own in a row to really tighten the game.

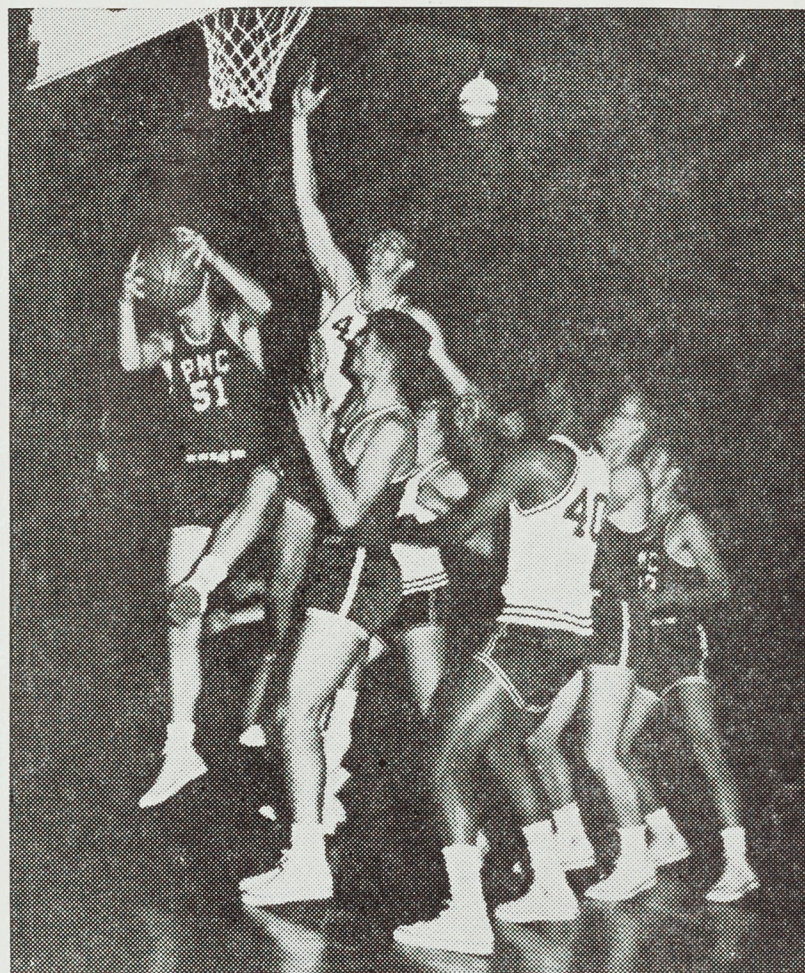

From there on it was nip and tuck all the way, with the leaders never more than six points ahead. With a little more than two minutes remaining and the Cadets ahead 63-59 the action got red hot. The fouls were being committed left and right with the Cadets picking up eleven of their final 13 points on foul shots.

With 55 seconds to go and the score knotted at 73-73, Curt Mills was fouled by freshman guard Hal Rice. Mills picked two points and moved PMC ahead by a duce. Ducky Potter, the Hounds play-making guard came right back to sink a 15 foot jumper to tie it up again with 39 seconds to go.

Seconds later Bob Adelman was fouled and sunk the free toss to ice the decision. The Hounds took the ball in with 13 seconds remaining and Potter took a last chance shot but missed. By this time it was all over and PMC was victorious.

Behind Causley in scoring for the Hounds was Potter with 20 points and Keglovitz with 10. PMC was paced by sharp shooting forward Tom Driscoll who netted 23. Other Cadets who hit double figures were Curt Mills with 17 and Vince Gorman with 13.

In the preliminary game, a very promising Greyhound J-V team inched past the Junior Cadets 48-46. The game was highlighted by good ball handling and the use of the first break, especially by the Hounds. Wendy Terry led all scoring with 12 points. He was followed by Zavacky with 10. Gberman of PMC also had 10.

Keeping his head—and the ball—is P.M.C.'s Vince Gberman (51), who snared this rebound from Mo-Mo center Joe Keglovitz (44) as Deck Causley (40) Hound forward vies for position.

Gridders, Runners Finish Strong To Save Seasons

By Russ Simonetta

The battling Greyhounds with their magnificent victory over traditional to-be rival, Muhlenberg, and the speedy Harriers ending their season with four straight victories turned a dismal athletic season into a bright one with promise for the future.

The Greyhounds, led by their eleven iron men and promising freshmen, started off and ended the season in perfect form after slipping in the middle of the schedule.

The Hounds opened with a victory over Wilkes by a 30 to 8 score. This victory was followed by three successive losses—28-6 to Juniata, 14-6 to Pennsylvania Military College, and 14-0 to Lebanon Valley on our rain-swept Homecoming Day. They then rallied to defeat Albright 15-12. This was followed by a loss to Upsala (26-8), who walked off with the first Blue and Grey Trophy to be awarded to the annual winner.

The Hounds then treated a Parents' Day crowd to a perfect 34-6 win over Wagner. The season-ending 30-20 win over highly favored Muhlenberg proved to be the biggest win in many a year for Moravian football. The Hounds played perfect rough and tough football every minute of the game and compensated for earlier losses.

This season marks the fourth year for Coach Calvo who has yet to experience a losing season. He has compiled a record of 19 wins, 10 losses, and 1 tie.

Departing seniors, to be sorely missed, are Captain Gus Rampone, Tony Matz, Mike Payonk, Joe Esposito, George Hollendersky, and Nick Cuttie.

Besides the seniors, other Greyhound leaders were John Olson, Jim Kritis, Charlie Bartolet, Bob Haney, Dave Coe, Jeff Gannon, Ron Myers, Paul Noonan, Fred Lipari, and Sal DeLuca.

The Harriers opened the season with a 25-32 win over Pennsylvania Military College. Three successive losses followed 35-20 to Juniata, 45-18 to strong Lafayette and a close 28-27 loss to Elizabethtown. These three losses triggered the Harriers and set them on to four straight wins; 26-29 over Franklin and Marshall, 20-37 over Albright, 27-29 over Haverford, and a closing 16-47 romp over Muhlenberg.

The Harriers were led by freshman sensation Wendell Terry, who placed first in seven out of the eight meets. Terry was backed up by sophomores Ray Herman and Jim Worman and received ample support from freshmen George Fregel, Bob Durn, and Bill Rinker, sophomore Jack Jacob, and junior Dick Gross.

The season (the second for Coach Paul Kuklentz who initiated the sport at Moravian) proved to be his first winning one after having a 2-2-1 season in his first year. Wendell Terry and Jack Jacobs co-captained the senior-less Harrier squad.

Coach Kuklentz and his runners celebrated the winning season at a delicious dinner prepared by Mrs. Kuklentz and their daughter and served by Coach Kuklentz himself.

Holly, Olson Lead Hounds To 30-20 Upset Win Over 'Berg

by Bob Fatzinger

The afternoon of November 22, 1958 will be a long remembered date in the sporting annals of Moravian College. It was on this sunny but crisp fall day that a crowd of more than 4,000 fans, largest crowd since the early 1940's, witnessed highly favored Muhlenberg eleven bow before a fired up Greyhound squad, 30-20. Thus the Greyhounds ended the season with a 4-4 log and have yet to have a losing season under Head Coach Rocco Calvo who took over the reigns in 1955.

This was truly a team victory. The defense while allowing 160 yards through the air held the vaunted 'Berg running game to a mere 74 yards. It was the defense who set up the Hounds last score by dumping 'Berg's quarterback in the end zone for a safety and thus gaining control of the ball on a subsequent kick-off.

What is more important was the ease with which the Hounds contained the running of the widely publicized Herb Owens and Ed Yost. Although the latter did break loose for an 82 yard kick-off return the two combined netted only 37 yards rushing in 17 attempts.

Although forced to punt seven times, the offense got yardage when it was vitally necessary and capitalized greatly on all the breaks thrown their way. They were quick in picking out huge holes in the 'Berg line and quicker still in detecting 'Berg flaws which added a considerable amount of yardage. A single wing was also employed with great success which helped to keep the stunned Mules off balance.

The game however was not without its individual heroes. Voted the games outstanding back, big George Hollendersky ground out 104 yards in 28 carries, many on clutch plays that kept drives moving. Sophomore end, John Olson kept practically all end runs to his sector on the inside and was thus greatly responsible for stopping Yost and Owens. He also intercepted a Mule pass and scampered 64 yards for a T.D.

Captain Gus Rampone anchored down the line and was denting the 'Berg line time and time again. It was Rampone along with Jim Kritis who hauled down the 'Berg quarterback in the end zone for the safety. Tackles Charlie Bartolet and Bob Haney along with center Fred Lipari and end Paul Noonan were also standouts in Moravian's stunning victory.

On the fourth play of the second quarter, Jim Kritis fell on a Dave Jones bobble at the 'Berg 16. Hollendersky crashed to the eight. Two rushing plays gained nothing and on forth down Tony Matz faded to pass. He flipped into the right corner where Coe couldn't quite hang on. The ball bounced off his fingertips into the waiting arms of John Olson. Hollendersky's attempt for two points failed.

The next Hound tally was not so easy to come by. Matz returned a punt 22 yards and in the subsequent plays stuck to the ground. With the ball on the 24 Jeff Gannon picked a hole over right tackle and moved to the 13. Matz gained six on an option after which Hollendersky just couldn't be stopped as the hardworking fullback crashed into the end (Con't. on p. 6, col. 4)

Hounds Win Scrimmages; Look For Winning Season

By Jim MacDonald

The Moravian Greyhound basketball team stands on the brink of another long, hard schedule this week. But the Hounds seem to have the balance of experience and young talent that would make this season one of their most impressive.

The probable starting team will consist of four veteran ball-players plus the possible addition of a talented freshman. The veterans are: Joe Keglovits, center and top rebounder of last year, speedy forwards "Deck" Causley and Dick Chergy and guard "Ducky" Potter.

Potter must fill the play-making shoes of last year's captain Fritz Toner. Toner, a smooth passer and quick-thinking defensive player, besides being last year's top scorer, will naturally be missed. But Potter has shown great poise and ability in the back court this year and could definitely be one of the finest playmakers Moravian has ever had.

The fifth starter will be either Leo Stimmer or freshman Jim Gano. Stinner, a sophomore, is a strong rebounder and played varsity ball as a freshman last year.

Of all the freshmen ball-players Gano has shown to the most advantage. In the words of head coach Rocco Calvo, "Gano has worked in very well with the varsity, he is a smart ball-player and his shooting has improved in our last two scrimmages." It is hoped that Gano will be the man to work with Potter as "Ducky" did with Toner last year on Moravian's fast break-pattern.

Other experienced letter winners from last year's squad will be Lorenzo Martin and Bill Davis. Both will add considerable shooting strength to the Hound's bench.

Jim McCrudden will be the only ball-player to move up from last year's Junior Varsity squad. Jim was a strong rebounder despite injury troubles last year and can certainly make his weight felt under the boards.

Other promising freshmen who may see some varsity action are Hal Rice—All East Penn League at Wilson Boro High — and the steadily improving "Moose" McGee, a strong rebounder and scrapper under the boards.

Coach Calvo believes that if the number five to eight men on the squad come through we will have a highly successful season.

The Hounds have shown only fairly well in pre-season scrimmages, however. They defeated East Stroudsburg quite easily, played a toss-up game against Lehigh but barely managed to squeak by a weak Ursinus five.

Grapplers Open Season Tomor'w Nite At Albright

The 1958-59 wrestling campaign will get underway tomorrow night at Reading when the Albright grapplers will play host to the Moravian Greyhounds. In the first duel meet for both teams this season. The Greyhounds will be out for revenge for last year's defeat by a 21-9 score.

This year the team will have a total of nine meets; the new additions being Dickinson and Haverford. On Feb. 27-28 the MAC Tournament will be held at Hofstra.

As to the probable line up, it shapes up like this. In the 123 lb. division there is Bill Rinker, a freshman from Bethlehem. Bill wrestled for Liberty High and went to the District playoffs. At 130 lb. there is Dave Cornelius, a freshman whose wrestling days began at Mespeth High School, Long Island. He wrestled there four years.

The 137 lb. class has several contenders. They are junior, Willie Wohbach, and freshman, Denny Chew, and Bob Sallash. These boys will have time trials two days before the meet to determine who will wrestle at this weight. Wohlbach is a veteran of last year's squad. He wrestled in the 123 lb. division.

At 147 lb., it looks to be Steve Viglione also a veteran of last years squad. In the 157 lb. class there are two Vestal N.Y. freshmen contending. They are Dan Turner and Ron Myers. Both of these boys wrestled four years at Vestal Central High School.

Veteran Bob Silvetz is back at 167 lb. Last year Bob had a fine record of 3-3-1. The 177 lb. class has two contenders, namely sen-

Sigs Take I-M Crown; Top Seminary After Opening Tie

The Seminary and Sigma Phi Omega played a best of three game series for the I-M championship. The opening game ended in a 13-13 deadlock. In the next two games, the Sigs came out victorious to take the crown.

The first game was played under inclement weather conditions as both teams displayed fine spirit. The Seminary scored first on a pass from Dick Steiner to Pete Hauptert. They missed the extra point attempt.

After receiving the ball on the ensuing kick-off, Sigma Phi marched down field to pay dirt without giving up the ball. The T.D. came on a pass from Jim VanNatta to Larry Fatzinger in the end zone. The Sigs missed the extra point on an incomplete pass from VanNatta to Don Evans.

Second T.D.

In the opening minutes of the third quarter the Seminary scored their second T.D. on a pass from Van Duran to Bill Gramly. Dick Steiner connected a pass to Jim Johnson for the extra point, making the score 13-6. Just before the end of the quarter, Jim Van Natta again threw one of his pin point passes. This time Willie Wohlbach was on the receiving end. The Sigs knotted the score when VanNatta spotted Wayne Pysher in the end zone for the extra point.

The final period was played in almost complete darkness. There was no scoring in the fourth quarter and the game ended in a 13-13 tie.

The second game saw Sigma Phi winning 26-12. The Sigs were led by the fine passing of Jim VanNatta who connected for four T.D.'s.

In the final game, the Seminary took it on the chin by a 25-6 score. VanNatta again was the spark plug of the Sigma Phi attack. Larry Fatzinger and Don Evans caught a T.D. pass and Willie Wohlbach grabbed two. Also deserving credit for the success of Sigma Phi are Ron Cavanaugh and Jack Freiler who played outstanding games on defense through the season.

Houndettes Hold Practices; Open With Wilkes Tomorrow

The girl's basketball team started practice last week. To date, sixteen girls have tried out for the team with seven as forwards and nine as guards. Back from last year are Vicki Kokolus and Judy Clay, who were both forwards, Sandra Yaeck, Dora Thomas, Dolores Lang, and Beverly Luzietti, who were guards.

The tentative dates for this season's games are: Dec. 6, 2 p.m., Wilkes, Home; Jan. 15, 4 p.m., Upsala, Home; Feb. 4, 3:30 p.m., Rider, Home; Feb. 7, 2 p.m., Marywood, Home; Feb. 11, 3:30 p.m., Centenary, Home; Feb. 14, 10 a.m., Lebanon Valley, Away; Feb. 21, 9:30 a.m., Albright Playday, Away; Feb. 28, 1:30 p.m., Misericordia, Away; March 7, 9:30 a.m., Kutztown Playday, Away.

Last season, the team had a record of six wins and two losses. The Houndettes defeated Wilkes, Misericordia, Albright, and Cedar Crest. They lost to Kutztown and Lebanon Valley.

J. Ridge Guest Of PP&L At Session On Atom Reactor

Jack Ridge, acting chairman of the physics department of Moravian, joined more than 40 other deans, professors, and instructors from 29 eastern colleges in Pittsburgh last weekend for a firsthand look at progress in developing atomic energy within the electric industry as a heat source for power generation.

Ridge was a guest of the Pennsylvania Power & Light Company, which, along with the Westinghouse Electric Corporation, is pursuing a research and development project on the homogeneous slurry type reactor.

PP&L and Westinghouse have been studying the homogeneous reactor concept since mid-1955 in an effort to determine the feasibility of building a power plant using this advanced type of reactor as a heat source.

The educators attending the session came from colleges and universities located in seven East Coast states. Jack K. Busby, PP&L president, explained that the visiting educators represent colleges and universities to which PP&L has looked for its engineers, mathematicians, and other scientists and service area colleges to which the company makes scholarships available.

zone. The Hounds had moved 47 yards in 10 plays. Matz fired to Coe for points 13 and 14.

While the fans were thinking about a major upset their hopes were dashed momentarily. Ed Yost took the subsequent kick-off and scampered 82 yards for a T.D. A Borneman to Owens to Pearsons pass pattern made the score 14-3.

As the second half got underway the Mules drove to the Moravian three yard line and a first down. A brilliant display of defensive work halted the Mules bid for 6 points. However they were quickly back in business as Paul Clymer recovered a Hollendersky fumble on the 10.

ior Gus Rampone and freshman, Steve Edraney. Rampone is a veteran of last year's squad.

In the unlimited class there is back, a junior from Easton, Charlie Bartolet who last year went undefeated in dual meet competition.

Lafayette Scrimmage

In a scrimmage with Lafayette on Tuesday Nov. 25, the Hounds came out on the short end of an 18-11 score. The summaries were as follows: At 123 lb., Rinker decided Hart of Lafayette, 8-0. Rinker had a takedown, reverse, near fall and riding time.

The 130 lb. class saw Principi of Lafayette decision Dave Cornelius, 4-0. Principi got a reverse, takedown and riding time. In the 137 lb. contest, Marks of Lafayette pinned Denny Chew with a reverse cradle in 2:40. Moravian forfeited the 147 lb. class.

Tom Lerch of Moravian pinned Hanson of Lafayette in 6:51 with a double tie up in the 157 lb. class. At 167 lb. Brislin of Lafayette eeked out a win over Bob Silvetz when he pinned Bob in 8:59 1/2 with a jackknife.

Brown at 177 lb. for Lafayette pinned Steve Edraney with a half nelson and crotch in 4:44. In the unlimited class, Bartolet in his first night of practice won a decision over Otto Berhens of Lafayette 5-3. Charlie had a takedown, reverse, and escape while Berhens had an escape and reverse.

Borneman pitched to Pearsons for the T.D. and the Mules were back in the ball game. The placement sailed wide and the score read 14-14.

'Berg's passing helped lead to their downfall. Tom Wargo returned a Hollendersky boot 32 yards and two ground plays moved the ball to the Hounds 45. At this point Borneman faded to pass. He chucked to an intended receiver at the 36 but big Dave Coe tipped the ball and again there was Olson. Big John, behind fine blocking reversed field and scooted down the right sideline for a 64 yard scoring jaunt. Hollendersky crashed over for two more and the Hounds led 22-14.

Muhlenberg wasn't quite ready to concede as they drove for another 6 points with Wargo going over. It was also Wargo who tried for the two points conversion and the tie but the Hound line rose to the occasion and stopped him inches short.

With 7:35 left to play Sal DeLuca recovered a 'Berg fumble on their 17. They regained possession on the eight. On the first play Borneman retreated to his end zone to pass. Barreling through the line Rampone and Kritis spilled the 'Berg chucker for a two point safety.

An on-sides kick from the 20 gave the Hounds possession on the 33. Hollendersky bulled his way to the 21. Russ DeVore, substituting for Tony Matz, tried to pass on fourth down. Finding no one open he twisted and squirmed to the eight and a first down.

With everyone rooting for big "Holly" he carried four times into the 'Berg forward wall. On the fourth try he crashed into the end zone to climax his brilliant collegiate career.

The Hounds operated without the services of Joe Esposito and Ron Myers, starting halfbacks. Esposito who injured his hip in a scrimmage early in the week was the Hounds leading ground gainer of the year with an average of over 5 yards per carry.
