Schattschneider will assume his duties with next week's paper, while the other two will edit the publications for the next school year.

Miss Roseman has named Barbara Hooper as associate editor of The Benigna.

USG To Hold Referendum On Student Union Increase

Motions to evict six campus organizations from U.S.G., and to refer to student referendum a change in the student union assessment charge, were passed at the USG meeting held last Tuesday.

Following the opening procedure, president Peter French announced that there was a quorum at the meeting. Treasurer Jim McDonald reported the balance of the USG to be $979.07 at the present time. Vice president Fred Lipari announced that there would be a meeting of the Freshman Regulations Committee at 7:30 p.m. in the Emsee Annex on Thursday, April 23.

Six Groups Out

Discussion then followed on the problem of the lack of representation of the six organizations. Dean Harvey T. D. Gillespie questioned whether the USG members present had the right to expel the six delinquent groups.

French stated that the representatives of the groups would not be allowed to vote in the question, even if they were present, as they had missed too many meetings. Patty Deiner pointed out that if the organizations were expelled, they would always have the right to appeal for reinstatement.

It was then moved and passed that the following organizations be dropped from USG for lack of attendance at meetings: the Inter-Fraternity Council, the Fine Arts Board, Sigma Phi Alpha Classics Club, the Veterans Organization, Alpha Psi Omega Dramatics Fraternity and the Spleunkers Club.

French said that the groups could be reinstated subject to consideration of their excuses by the USG disciplinary committee.

French recommended to all club and organization representatives that their outgoing officers and committee chairmen should cooperate fully with the newly elected persons so that they may be fully acquainted with the activities of the various organizations.

Class Representatives

The questions of class representatives to USG was then discussed. It was pointed out by the president that the old class representatives are still the official USG representatives as the new class officers will not be installed (Cont. on p. 6, col. 2)

Student Union Plans Okayed By Trustees

Plans for the college student union were officially approved by the college board of trustees at a meeting held last weekend. The board also approved plans for sabbatical leaves, moving the football bleachers, and expanding the library facilities.

The Board authorized the administration to proceed on preliminary plans for the union with the college architects. It also requested the administration to devise a plan for financing the $600,000 building.

It is hoped that it can be financed in about fifteen years instead of the originally suggested twenty-seven years.

Faculty members with the rank of assistant, associate, or full professor who have been at Moravian six years are eligible for a sabbatical leave. They have a choice of taking one semester of full pay or two semesters at half-pay.

A detailed plan of study must be approved by the academic personnel committee and the Board before the leave will be granted. Persons receiving a sabbatical leave must promise to serve Moravian for two years following the leave.

The trustees also authorized the moving of the bleachers to the west bank of the field. At the same time the playing field will be moved slightly away from the bank. This is tied in with a new rule requiring goal posts to be placed 4½ feet further apart.

The bleachers will be fastened in concrete pillars instead of steel work resting on the ground.

Alterations which will change the Arts Building into reference and reading rooms were also approved. It will replace the present reading room.

The alterations will cost about $12,000. A ceiling will be put in at the level of the balcony to provide stack space for 12,000 volumes. At the present time the balcony is not used.

A reserve room seating 70 people will be on the main floor. A vestibule will be built on the north end.

Friars' Play Rescheduled For May 14-16

The Blackfriars production of the "Bad Seed" has been rescheduled for May 14, 15, and 16.

According to Dudding the reason for the postponement of the production was because Professor Rights felt that it could have been put on April 5, but in order to do a good job he felt that it would be best to postpone it and then produce it in May.

Sandra Kromer has replaced Sandra Iobst and is playing the part of Miss Fern. Diagle, previously cast by John Minor, is now being played by Ira Reuben.

Tickets will be available beginning May 1 from any member of the Blackfriars. Tickets are free due to the subsidiation of the USG.

A Parting Shot, Or Two, Or Three . . .

The time has come to write the last editorial, and we really don't feel like re-hashing the past four years, bestowing superfluous good wishes to the incoming staff, or looking into the future of Moravian College.

We really wonder if there is anything worthwhile on which to take a final editorial view. Publishing a newspaper every week and watching the students react has perhaps given us a peculiar perspective of campus feeling.

Many were the times when we heard comments asking "Why wasn't there anything in the paper this week?" and we often found ourselves hard put for an answer.

As far as serving as a portable bulletin board, we think we've done a good job. Unfortunately, this is just the sort of thing the college paper should NOT be. We haven't wanted to be merely a "house organ," reporting the social events and skipping the news and controversial issues.

Real news and controversy, however, sometimes are almost non-existent on this campus. We look at larger schools, such as the one over on the other side of the river, and envy its editors for having the opportunity to "edit," in the literal sense of the word. While they have an abundance of major and minor activities from which to select, we go looking frantically for something to say.

Of course, because of Lehigh's size, it can be expected they would have a lot more news-worthy material. But even when we do find the small amount of such material that we do, the lack of action or reaction on campus makes it little more than bulletin board-type copy. It is read and comments may be heard, but nobody ever has the courage to do anything about it.

For the sake of developing some controversy, we may have blown some items entirely out of proportion, perhaps even taken a radical editorial view of a subject with the hope of starting something.

But of the 31 issues over which we've presided in the last year and a quarter, we have printed letters to the editor in only 13, despite the fact that we censor none and require only reasonable length and printing of the signature. Seven letters centered on campus issues and three complained of the paper's publication policy, but not one commented on editorial stands, either for or against.

The total results, we think, are indicative of a very unhealthy campus situation. It will, we're afraid, take a long time before the situation changes, if there is to be any change at all.

But, we suppose we've had enough to say about things like this. There have been a few good things we'd like to comment on.

Censorship in some other college newspapers has ranged from subtle restriction to word-for-word copy-checking by the dean. For as long as we can remember, however (which is not too long), The Comenian has had complete freedom. And we hope it remains that way for as long as we can foresee.

We have experienced inestimable cooperation from most administration officials, as they often went out of their way to obtain desired information. Rarely have we been denied an answer when it was put to the right person.

In addition, many confidences have been extended to the staff of the paper in hopes of passing on greater understanding of the things which are to be, but which are not yet ready to be made public.

Though without a doubt there have been many misgivings on the part of the administration for these actions, we sincerely hope this cooperation will be continued. Such attitudes toward a student newspaper are indeed earnestly sought by editors on many other college campuses, and Moravian is to be commended here for being one of the leaders in these relationships.

We'd like to thank, too, the faithful members of our staff for their long hours, the yearbook staff for the pictures we stole, the student government officers for cooperation in the face of oft-times harsh criticism, and all other organizations and faculty members who have contributed in any way at all.

We think we've said our piece often enough. Let's hope others now begin to let us hear theirs.

Under the Table

by Nan Gingher

And ANOTHER HAPPY WEEK with your pie-eyed underthetablest. After the morbidismand cynic-ismand criticismand all that of last week's issue, we're completely faggedout. We've decided to stand on our toes, and view with rosy glasses the gleaming horizon, the future, the hope for Moravian College.

Yes, Virginia, there is hope. Even after the joke issue, hope still lives on.

BUT NOT FOR THIS CREW! We're out, finished, caput and done. We shall never see the great changes wrought on the campiofhere. Never will we see, with joy and gladness in our hearts, DeanRaderina bluesuit. Nor will our eyes feast on a picture of dignity and aplomb, MrSnyderina brownsuit. No Greyhoundscenic cruiser will replace the blunderbus in our time left on the campus. Nor will (BEHOLD!) we participate in a lessthanfortychapels program. We will not see housesforsororities, the south campuscompleted, Blackfriars finishingaproducton, or spaciousparkingfacilities.

But who remembers the good thing anyhow? A bit of nostalgia always shows for the situations not-so-perfect, the people always-giving-trouble, the coffee-too-strong, and so forth. Get the picture? So when YOU graduate and leave to conquer the world, you probably won't always recall the great Senior Farewells all the time, or the "gemutlichkeit" in the Emsee and all over, or that one chapel speaker who always had something good to say. The imperfections somehow seem to hold a certain fascination in themselves.

So that's why this column is just so FASCINATING, eh? We never did get to take you under our favorite tables, but somehow college policy wouldn't go along with THAT. But it's been fun chopping and gossiping and debating and chopping and joking and sillying and chopping. AND seriousing occasionally and chopping.

The fact is thatwe'vebeenfired and nobodywants thiscolumnany-more andwehave toleave. Ostracizedand beaten down, we'regoing tosay farewellforever toComenian andfriends. Nomorewillwese our picture staringout from wordsof wisdom. We have a new theme song, taken from our friend Walt Kelly's POGO:

Oh I may be your cup of tea,
But baby, please don't sugar me.
Don't stir me, boy.
Nor try to spoon.
Don't sugar me, cause
Us is throon.

Tributes and love to our Alma Mater. We WILL remember, no matter what, and how long. But we'll do it only under tables . . .

Who Writes The Editorials?

To the Editor:

Who has been writing the editorials for The Comenian over the past year? To my way of thinking it is somewhat unfair and inconsistent in that there is an apparent breach of policy. During the whole year the editorials were very rarely signed.

It will be discovered by consulting the first issue published by the present editors that their policy would be to publish any and all letters that they received, providing the writer signed his name, and allowed the letter to be published that way.

The illustrious editors published many editorials during their tenure which I feel would have taken a great deal of fortitude to admit writing.

There is no accusation here about the editorial writer's mincing words; whoever wrote these editorials did "call a spade a spade." I merely think that their hiding behind the ambiguity of unsigned editorials was a cowardly thing to do and this goes directly against their stipulated policy.

In addition, neither of our editors has taken credit for what might be their scholarly, power-packed, hard-fisted crusading editorials. If they saw fit to write them, I am sure that they would want credit where they felt it was due.

Has there been, perhaps, a hard-fisted little mouse who has anonymously written the editorials and graciously refused credit for them?

Very truly yours,
Robert J. Boyler

Reader Boyler appears incapable of comprehension of the distinction between two words we learned the meaning of in elementary school, i.e., letter and editorial. Policies regarding one certainly have no relationship whatsoever to the other. We suggest he consult a dictionary.

Editorials, he will find, reflect the opinion of the editors. The policy of The Comenian has been to initial all editorials NOT written by the editors, with the assumption (perhaps wrong) that readers, if interested, could determine the authorship by looking at the masthead on the same page.

In the case of co-editorship it can safely be assumed that unless signed by either one, both will stand behind it.

Unsigned letters can obviously be written by any one of some 800 students or faculty members, thus the signature requirement. In the case of unsigned editorials, responsibility for authorship is printed in black and white, if the reader cares to take the time to look.

To our thinking, however, authorship of editorials does not really matter if the editors-in-chief are willing to stand behind them — which we are, 100 per cent. It is merely a question of accepting the responsibility.

Along this same line, we will print any letter, signed by the student or faculty member who gives it to us, regardless of whether or not it was written partly or solely by someone else. We ask only that someone take the responsibility.

Editorial form policies such as these may be found anywhere from the New York Times to the East Cupcake monthly Gazette. It is almost unbelievable to find such a lack of comprehension of this basic journalistic tenet, whether it belongs solely to Boyler or any other person on the campus.

Perhaps it was too much to take for granted for college people supposedly college-educated. We really had higher hopes for Moravian.

Membership In NSA Being Dropped By Many Colleges

(ACP)—Wayne State University's Daily Collegian raises the question, "Why are so many colleges dropping out of the National Student Association?"

In a recent issue the newspaper of the Detroit school quotes NSA executive vice-chairman of the Michigan region Leon Cohen with this answer: "Many of the larger and better schools seem to drop out every other year or so. I believe it has a lot to do with the individual outlook of each school."

Harvard dropped out some time ago, Daily Collegian noted, but "according to informed sources is expected to rejoin the association." The paper added, "The University of Texas has a communication problem with the NSA main office being in Philadelphia." Cohen says he doesn't believe the University of Texas will drop out of the association.

"We had this problem here in Michigan when Michigan State dropped out some time ago. Now they are back in."

Wayne State, even though it has criticized a number of NSA-sponsored policies, has never dropped out, Daily Collegian said.

While some schools, may drop,

Said Seawanhaka editorial: "With the initial period of caution behind us, it is to be hoped that Student Council will both avail themselves of benefits and opportunities NSA offers and also contribute the time and effort to NSA that makes such benefits possible."

Freshmen Hurlers Excel As Hounds Topple Drew, Wilkes

by Russ Simonetta

Hopes for a terrific season brightened last week as the baseballers won two. Last Thursday afternoon the Hounds racked up a 7-1 win over visiting Drew and Saturday afternoon beat visiting Wilkes, 3-1.

Brian Hill, freshman hurler from Coplay, walks off the mound after setting down Wilkes to the tune of 3-1 in a game played on Moravian field last Saturday afternoon.

George Hollendersky, veteran senior catcher, blasted his second homer of the season against Drew increasing his batting average to .692, going 9-13 for the season.

The Hounds avenged a 6-5 defeat at Drew last year. Freshman righthander, Jim Gano, former Easton High star, hurled 6 and 1/3 innings allowing only four hits and one run. He was on the wild side, however, walking ten batters to go along with his eleven strikeouts. Freshman, Lou Klucharich relieved in the seventh and fanned the only two men he faced.

Except for Hollendersky's home run, Moravian did little in the way of impressive hitting, getting only four hits. However, they scored on errors, passed balls, and walks which resulted in a sloppily played game for Drew. Lettermen Bill Hershey, Gene Medei and Mike Lansenderfer picked up the other three hits for Moravian.

Last Saturday, former Coplay High righthander, Brian Hill, looked very impressive as he pitched a five hit, 3-1 win over Wilkes, their run being unearned. Hill walked five and struck out four.

After going five innings in a scoreless duel, Drew scored on two successive singles and an error. The Hounds immediately retaliated in the bottom of the sixth to tie the game. Jeff Gannon walked, was sacrificed to second by Gene Jani and scored on an infield error.

After Hill put down Wilkes in order in the top of the seventh, the home team used a double to left by Charlie Gilbert and a single by Hal Rice for the leading run. In the eighth, heavy hitting Tony Matz tripled to right and came across when Bill Hershey beat out a hit to shortstop.

6-Year-Old Opens Gate With Popcorn Box

(ACP)—University of Kansas campus police couldn't understand how cars were getting into a parking lot, past a toll gate, without specially issued cards. The cards had to be inserted into the gate to make it rise.

Yet drivers without cards were parking there, said Daily Kansan.

Then a little boy was seen putting something in the gate and gleefully watching startled drivers edge into the lot. His "ticket?" A piece of a popcorn box.

"I saw people putting cards in," explained the six-year-old, "so I tried my own." Police have reset the toll gate so popcorn boxes don't work there anymore.

Zavacky Paces Junior Hounds In 10-5 Season

Len Zavacky, 6' 4" hustling freshman from Bethlehem, led the Moravian Junior Varsity basketballers during their highly successful 1958-59 season. The Junior Hounds finished the season with a fine 10-5 record, 8 wins of which came in the final contests of the campaign.

Zavacky was highly instrumental in this impressive streak as he scored over 30 points on several occasions. He finished with a total of 254 points for an average of 16.6 points per game.

Zavacky was followed by speedy 5'10" Wendy Terry, who sank 189 markers for a 12.6 average. Jim Gano who also saw considerable action on the varsity squad finish with an average of 12.1 in 8 games. Jim McCrudden 6'3" sophomore was the other Junior Hound to average in double figures with 10.1 per game.

The following players also figured prominently in the J.V.'s record. In parentheses is their point average per game. Neil Foley (8.3), Dave Coe (7.5), Fred Donatelli (6.9), Hal (Moose) McGee (6.3), and Bernie Medei (5.7)

Sigs Take Opener In I-M Action

The Intramural softball league got underway this past week. The league this year is made up of eight teams: Seminary, Tekes, Sigma Phi, Vets, Freshmen, OGO's Jersey Boys, and the Red-lighters, who were last year's champs. Each team will play five games and the two top teams will play a two out of three game series for the championship.

Seminary and the Tekes were scheduled to play the opener on Monday, but due to inclement weather, the game was postponed.

On Tuesday, Sigma Phi behind the sharp pitching of Joe Keglovits, trounced the Vets, 18-6. The big man with the wood for the Sigs was Nick Cuttie who got 4 for 4. Dick Mugione was the losing pitcher, going all the way for the Vets.

The Benchwarmer

by Neil Eskolin

With everything going smoothly in the way of sports here at Moravian, there's not much to say in this corner. A little special mention can go to the golf team, however. The duffers have a strong nucleus of five veterans headed by Tom Volko, who won low medalist honors in two of the first three matches. It's rumored that Tom, who is probably one of Moravian's all-time top golfers, is considering turning pro sometime in the future. The other big four are Bob Volko, Tom's brother, Ducky (All East) Potter, Gene Salay and Buddy Soloff. The first three are juniors and Soloff is a sophomore, so except for Tom Volko, who is a senior, the golfers will lose little punch after this season. Before looking to next year however, we should concentrate more on this season.

The golfers beat Muhlenberg last week by a convincing 14-4 score and topped Upsala on Tuesday by the same score. They did drop one decision, however, and that was to always tough Lafayette. Last year they sported an 8-3 record losing only to Muhlenberg, Lafayette and Albright. This year, I believe the golfers have the team to at least equal last year's record and probably improve upon it.

In fact I'll stick out the old neck again and predict a 10-1 slate. While in the prediction mood, I'll call for a 14-5 season for the diamondmen and (now don't get mad, it's only my opinion) a 3-12 record for the tennis men.

See ya on the bench.

Hound Netmen Stomped By Haverford Team, 9-0

The Moravian College tennis team was visited by powerful Haverford College on Saturday and the Hounds were soundly drubbed, 9-0. The Moravian netmen can gain some consolation from the fact that Haverford is probably the strongest team on their schedule.

The Hounds could not win a single set and only Bob Lipkin, number one man, came close to winning in singles as he lost his first set by a 6-4 count.

The closest match of the day was in doubles as Lederer and Blackburn were hard pressed to defeat Simon and Lazarowitz, 6-4, 6-3.

Summary:

Singles — Kelly (H) defeated Lipkin, 6-4, 6-1; Fullard (H) defeated Lazarowitz, 6-1, 6-2; Lederer (H) defeated Simon, 6-1, 6-0; Blackburn (H) disposed of Cole, 6-1, 6-0; Parker (H) defeated Spaugh, 6-3, 6-1; and Penn (H) defeated Feigel, 6-2, 6-1.

Doubles — Kelly and Fullard (H) defeated Lipkin and Cole, 6-1, 6-2; Lederer and Blackburn edged out Simon and Lazarowitz, 6-4, 6-3; Parker and Penn defeated Spaugh and Feigel, 6-4, 6-1.

BOB LIPKIN gets set to return the ball (arrow) during the match with Haverford on the Moravian courts last Saturday. Superior play gave the visitors a whitewash over Moravian's courtmen.

Gillespie Chalks Up 200th Baseball Victory

Baseball has for many years been acclaimed the national sport here in America and for many years, 19 to be exact, Dean Harvey T. Gillespie has been at the helm of Moravian's highly successful baseball team.

He passed his 200th milestone by edging out Muhlenberg in a 5-3 contest on Thursday afternoon.

Most teams consider themselves doing well if they get out of the season with a .500 percentage. But at Moravian that's just not good enough.

In his 19 years as Greyhound mentor, Gillespie has compiled an astounding 195-87 won lost record, a mark of which any coach would be proud. And now in the opening weeks of his 20th campaign Gil's passing the second century mark for wins is an accomplishment of which few college baseball coaches can boast.

Of course Gil would never take all the credit for the fine job that has been done. The name of Gus Garscar must also be brought up when Moravian baseball is mentioned. Gus has been at Gil's side for 11 years and has done an excellent job of relaying his keen baseball savvy to his young charges.

Everyone at Moravian is proud of the baseball team but even more that that, they're proud to have Gil and Gus leading the squad to another winning season.

Gillespie avenged his defeat on Wednesday at the hands of Swarthmore by leading his boys to a thrilling ninth inning clutch victory over the Muhlenberg Mules on the losers' field Thursday afternoon, and thereby gained his elusive 200th victory.

The big blow of the game came as a result of Dick "Pops" Chergey's titanic 450 foot two run home run in the ninth inning. With the Hounds behind, 3-2 in the ninth and after Mike Lansenderfer singled to the infield, Jim Gano, who ran for him, scored from first on Gene Medei's two strike triple to left center. Chergey then stepped up and clouted the first pitch over the center field hedge to account for two big runs and put the Hounds out of reach, 5-3.

The Hounds had been limited to just three scattered hits through the first eight innings by ace righthander, Don Nicols. In the ninth, however, Nicols tired and the roof fell in on him. Bill Hershey went the rout for Moravian and pitching in spots, picked up his second victory of the season against one set back.

Gillespie failed in his attempt to gain his 200th victory on Wednesday afternoon as the diamondmen of Swarthmore overcame an early four run deficit to come on strong in the late innings and overtake the fading Greyhounds, 5-4.

The Hounds opened the scoring in the first inning and added three more markers in the top of the fourth frame on three walks, a sacrifice fly, an infield out and an error.

Swarthmore retaliated in the bottom of the fourth with one run and added two more in the sixth and one in the eighth to tie it-up. Two safeties in the ninth produced the winning run and sent the Hounds down to defeat.

Les Lazarowitz—Tennis

The tennis team has a great asset in Les Lazarowitz, a senior pre-med student who was raised in Bethlehem, but is now living in Miami Beach, Fla.

Les is 21 years old, stands 5'10½" and weighs 160 lbs. He is doing a fine job for the netmen and is fun to be with due to his fine sense of humor and candid, witty remarks.

Les played basketball, soccer and tennis for Liberty High in his senior year. He started his college training at F and M and transferred to Moravian in the middle of his sophomore year. At F and M Les played on the freshman basketball squad.

Since coming to Moravian, he has been on the tennis team two years, played intramural sports and served as president of RAU science society and vice chairman of the Budget Committee of USG.

After graduation in June, Les is planning to continue his studies at the University of Miami School of Medicine. He would like to someday open a medical practice somewhere in Florida.

When he has nothing special to do, Les enjoys getting into a good game of bridge.

Les had this to say when asked for a statement about the tennis team, "If our great spirit can offset our lack of experience, our fortunes should improve."

Eskolin has served as sports editor of The Comenian and presently writes the weekly sports column. A sophomore English major from River Edge, N. J., he has been a member of the Blackfriars, classics club, choir, yearbook sports staff, and is a pledge of Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Miss Hooper has assisted with the yearbook during her freshman year. She is an English major from Lake Mills, Wis.

Simonetta has been a member of The Comenian sports staff for the past year and is a member of the cross country team, Varsity "M" Club, and is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon. He is an engineering major, living in Bethlehem.

Golfers Gain 2-1 Record On Split With Leopards, Vikings

The Greyhound golfers contributed to Lafayette's third consecutive win by dropping a one-sided 13-5 decision last Friday at the Northampton Country Club.

Tom Volko, who tallied the only win of the afternoon for the Hounds, however, was low medalist with a three over par, 74. Low for the Leopards was Allen Goore with a 75.

Playing host to Upsala at the Bethlehem Municipal Course, Monday, the Hounds turned the tables and were back on the win trail once again, the final score reading 14-4. Tom Volko again took honors as low medalist with a 79.

Editor Balks At Refusal Of NCAA Bid

(ACP)—As invitational tournament time came 'round, administrators in several schools had to do some thinking. They had to decide whether they should play in a tournament which was or was not (depending on the tournament) integrated.

The administrators made their decisions and battles of words began.

At Duquesne, Pittsburgh, Pa., the administration said no to a New Orleans Sugar Bowl basketball bid because of Louisiana's segregation laws.

The Duke quoted a few student opinions:

* This action was necessary to uphold the Christian principles on which this university is based.

* The school is talking about building up sports, but I don't see how they can do it by turning down tournament bids.

* We have no negroes on the team so why not go?

* I think it was good mainly because if we want integration it is up to the college students to promote it.

Mississippi State received a bid to play in the integrated NCAA tournament, which was turned down. Editor Travis Staffworth of the University of Mississippi Mississippian wrote an article titled "Consistently Inconsistent" in which he said people were laughing at "poor backward Mississippi," that the school had thrown away free publicity.

A reader, James Cahill, took Stallworth to task with "You are about the only one who is laughing. The majority of Mississippians are proud of their state, its high social ideas and its Southern way of life. Integration is progress about like sewage is good food . . ."

"You should be aware that principle should never be sacrificed for glory . . . To let State go to that integrated tournament would show that Mississippi is retreating just like Virginia is. The decision . . . was a very wise one and Burke Johnson was elected president of the Moravian College Choir in an election meeting held on Monday in the South Campus Chapel.

Elected to serve with Johnson were Ralph Shields, vice president; Dora Thomas, secretary; Dolores Lang, treasurer; Beverly Luzietti, business manager; and Paul Graf, USG representative.

Other business conducted at the meeting included discussion of a recording which the choir is making, and the possibility of a social gathering for the group.

Johnson, a history major, is from Winston-Salem, North Carolina. A member of the sophomore class, he has been in the choir two years. He is also a member of Pi Mu pre-theological fraternity and a pledge of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Shields is a resident of Bethlehem and is in his junior year. A pre-med student, he is active in Rau Science Society and has sung in the choir for two years.

Miss Thomas, a junior English major from Butztown, was re-elected to her position. In addition to participating in the choir for three years, she has served as a member of the Women's Council, Women's Athletic Committee and has been active on the women's basketball and softball teams. She is also a member of the band, Triangle Honor Society, and has served as recording secretary and vice-president of Phi Mu Epsilon sorority.

Miss Lang is a resident of Easton and is majoring in German. A member of the junior class, she has sung in the choir for three years and was recently elected president of Phi Mu Epsilon sorority.

Miss Luzietti was also re-elected to her position as business manager. She is a junior, majoring in English, from Phillipsburg, New Jersey. In addition to singing in the choir for three years, she has served as a member of the Women's Council, Blackfriars, and has been active in women's sports. She has also participated in USG and is a member of Triangle Honor Society and Phi Mu Epsilon sorority.

Graf is a resident of Sturgeon Bay, Wis., and is a sophomore English major. He is a member of Pi Mu pre-theological fraternity and served on the Hospitality Committee for Religious Emphasis Week. He has been in the choir for two years.

Student Union Fee To Go Up

French stated that the new president of member organizations should give the proper credentials to their representatives and also notify the USG secretary of the new appointees.

Al Bornstein was named by French to fulfill the unexpired term of Bob Gray as Social Activities co-chairman since Gray does not expect to return to school in September. Bornstein has currently been serving as vice-chairman of the committee. French announced that the vacancy will be filled after Senior Farewell.

Report Distributed

The meeting was then turned over to Director of Development Robert Snyder who gave a brief resume of the discussion on the student union held last week at the special USG meeting. The "key section," according to Snyder, of consultant Porter Butts student union evaluation report was then distributed to the members present.

The report contains a breakup by floors of the facilities which the survey conducted on campus last September revealed were needed in the new student union. The basement minimum in square feet is 3,200, while the preferred area is 3,750 square feet.

The minimum area needed on the first floor, the report stated, is 10,552 square feet, while the preferred area is 11,864 square feet. The second floor minimum area is 2,296 square feet. The report also contains "proposed future additions" to each of the three floors.

Snyder pointed out that a year ago, the first estimates had been for 13,000-15,000 square feet at a cost of $15 per square foot. Now, however, the survey reveals a need of a total of 20,800 to 23,000 square feet at $22 per square foot.

Three Plans

A discussion of the three possible financing plans followed. "Plan A" which is now in practice, assess each student $20 per year. Under this plan, assuming the total cost to be $600,000, and assuming that there will be an increase of twenty-five students from 1961 to 1971, the total cost will be paid off in twenty-seven years, with a cost of $407,827.15 in interest. Snyder said that this plan presents a "dual problem." The first aspect is that it binds the school for twenty-seven years and there is also a problem as to where to get the initial $600,000.

"Plan B" allows for a $5 per year increase per student and would allow the bill to be paid off in nineteen years with $284,064 in interest.

Should Colleges Stop Counseling, Close Supervising Student Behavior?

(ACP)—From Scriptorium, College of St. Scholastica, Duluth, Minnesota:

During the past month in several college papers the question has been raised, "Have colleges become too paternal (or maternal), too concerned over student welfare? This "concern" refers to the counseling system in many colleges, the close supervision of class schedules, fraternities, sororities and dorms, adjustment, personality and general behavior of the students.

Items questioned concerning paternalism were, "Should parents receive news about their child's progress in college; should professors take attendance or give quizzes to see that everyone keeps up on the subject, should an upperclassman run to his counselor for advice every time he or she is in difficulty; should the student's personality and problems be the business of other people?"

Many believe this "paternalism" should stop; many believe that it is of an absolute necessity. But only strong arguments can present the answers to these questions. Here are two.

Pro

Students should be thankful that schools devote time assisting them to solve their problems. The counseling system is a great boon to student. Granted, an upperclassman in college is an adult; still he or she needs help in selecting a program.

Also professors are justified in taking roll and in giving short quizzes. The instructor spends time preparing class work and he should not be forced to lecture to a group of inconsiderate "boobs" who come to class to get out of the rain.

As for sending reports to parents, why was this even mentioned? Who has a better right to know a student's progress than the parents of each particular student?

Adjustment, personality, and general behavior should be recorded. In this way a student's improvement can be noted. This information furnishes school authorities with sufficient background to give prospective employers an idea of present students.

Perhaps this outlook would not be considered "adult by some, but every student, especially a freshman, must admit that he or she is not capable of charting his or her future without assistance. The personnel and faculty of colleges throughout the country are doing a vital job.

Con

Excessive "paternalism" has no more of a place in a college or university today than it does in a company. Must college students, many of them well over twenty, be treated as high school teenagers?

High school graduates who decide not to go to college but secure a position in a firm are generally treated with more adult measures than their college student counterpart who is supposed to be learning "management" methods.

Will the student who is patted on the head fondly, or kindly told, "This is not the way we do it here," be able to successfully control those workers under him who have had the experience of the laboring world?

The labor force will not treat the young executive or graduate nurse with "kid gloves." In the future college students must take responsibilities seriously and work to attain a promotion.

In this era of moon rockets and six and one half hour jet flights to London, our colleges and universities cannot afford and should not presume to be twentieth century counterparts of eighteenth century finishing school for "gentlemen and gentlewomen."
