

Sundermeyer To Speak On Schiller's Significance

"Schiller's significance for our time" will be the topic of Dr. William Sundermeyer's talk at an all-student convocation to be held on Thursday, Nov. 19, at 11:35 a.m.

This event will commemorate the 200th anniversary of the birth of Frederick Schiller, German poet and dramatist.

The convocation will be sponsored by the Student-Faculty Convocation Committee.

Dr. Sundermeyer has been head of the German Department at Gettysburg College since 1940. Born and educated in Germany, his early career included teaching at several Gymnasia and also a professorship at the "Institute for Foreign Students." He left Germany in 1939 and came to the United States at that time.

Dr. Sundermeyer is co-author of Schulz-Sundermeyer, Deutsch für Ausländer, now in its 13th edition, and Steinauer - Sundermeyer, Introduction to German, which has been used as a text book at Moravian College.

He has also written articles dealing with language and literature.

Marriage Is Based On Faith, Integrity, Warnecke Explains

The most significant relationship between man and woman is gained in the "sacrament of marriage," stated the Rt. Rev. Frederick J. Warnecke at yesterday's student convocation.

Dr. Warnecke, Bishop of the Bethlehem diocese of the Episcopal Church, noted that sound marriage is based on the values of faith, fidelity, honor, integrity and self-sacrifice.

To this end, he continued, "pre-marital sexual intercourse is wrong," for such a relationship does not bear out the true purposes of marriage.

The characteristics of a "God-blessed marriage" are three, Dr. Warnecke said. They include permanence, in that a marriage is morally binding until death; fidelity and trust; and the presupposition of a home and responsibility.

at which the scheduled speaker is Norman Cousins, vice-president and editor of Saturday Review. It is expected that he will talk of his recent travels to Russia and Iron Curtain countries.

A Get-Acquainted Dance is scheduled for this evening and the conference will end tomorrow with sectional meetings in the morning and the closing luncheon.

Group Cancels Autumn Edition Of 'Manuscript'

The Manuscript, college literary magazine, will not be published this fall, stated Griffith Dudding, Manuscript editor, this week.

The main reason for this decision, according to Dudding, is to allow time to organize a permanent staff. A second reason is that the magazine had no faculty advisor until October. Walter J. Beaupre, assistant professor of speech and drama, last year's advisor, is on leave for 1959-60.

Permanent Staff Duties

A permanent staff will serve as an editorial board, Dudding said. It will not consist of volunteers, but of two appointed students from each class. It is hoped that the staff will be organized before Christmas. The first task awaiting the new staff, he added, is the publication of the spring issue of the magazine.

According to Dudding, it has been the organization's practice in the past to conduct a contest and award prizes for the best article submitted by students. This year there will be no contest held or prizes awarded, although students will, as before, be invited to submit original work.

It is thought by members of the present temporary staff that there "should be enough pride in the student body" that they will submit articles for the magazine in spite of the fact that there is no contest.

It is hoped that the creative writing course to be offered in the spring will foster a desire in some of the students to write articles for the magazine, Dudding said.

Editor, Associate, Attend ACP Convention In N.Y.C.

Convocations, discussions of editorial problems and a dance are events scheduled to highlight the Conference of the Associated Collegiate Press (ACP) which is now being held in New York City.

David A. Schattschneider, editor of The Comenian and Neil P. Eskolin, associate editor, are representing the Moravian College weekly at the affair. The Comenian is a member of ACP.

The conference began last night with an opening convocation listed for 7:30 p.m. Chet Huntley, NBC-TV news commentator, was the scheduled speaker for the event.

Today's program includes sectional meetings and a convocation

Blackfriars Prepare 'Medea' For Presentation Next Week

The Blackfriars, college dramatics group, will present its fall production, "Medea," Friday and Saturday, Nov. 20 and 21. The production will be staged at 7:30 p.m. each day in the South Campus Chapel, and admission will be free.

Blackfriar president Cynthia Geiman will play the lead of Medea. The remainder of the cast will consist of The Nurse, Audrey Hair; First Woman of Corinth, Jean Friedman; Second Woman of Corinth, Susan Berger; Third Woman of Corinth, Wilma Bennewis; Creon, Bob Gohdes; Jason, Griffith Dudding; and Aeguis, Bill Pfeiffer.

Others In Cast

Also included in the cast are Tutor, Beverly Luziatti; and Slave, and Nancy Traubitz.

Burcaw Directs

Director of the production is Robert T. Burcaw, instructor in English.

The play, which starred Judith Anderson in the original Broadway production, was adapted by Robinson Jeffers. Miss Anderson recently played the lead in the television adaptation.

Vicki Tinnis is chairman of the Staging Committee. Head of the Publicity Committee is Anne Barnes.

The group presented "The Bad Seed" last May. The production played for three evenings in the former Arts Building.

INVITATION

The national officers of Pi Delta Epsilon and the host Lehigh University chapter have extended an invitation to all members of the staffs of Moravian College publications to the "Inkslinger's Ball" which is being held in conjunction with the national convention. The informal dance will take place in the Osbourne room of the University Center tomorrow at 9 p.m.

Dance, Queen Will Highlight IFC Weekend

An informal dance, to be conducted Saturday, Nov. 23, will highlight the second annual Inter-fraternity weekend, Ted Neidengard, a member of the Inter-fraternity Council, stated this week. The affair will be held in Johnston Hall at 9 p.m.

A queen for the dance will be chosen from pictures of dates which were to be submitted to Inter-fraternity Council members by today.

The IFC will narrow the number of candidates to four. Saturday night before the dance the candidates, and Eddie Holmes, band leader of the "Preludes," who will supply music for the dance, will be entertained at the Hotel Bethlehem. At this time Holmes will choose the queen. The queen and her court will be announced at the dance and flowers and a gift will be presented to the winner.

This year's theme, "The Roaring Twenties," will be carried in the decorations of the gym, to be done by all fraternities. Fred Lipari is chairman of the Decorations Committee.

Another event planned for the evening will be the presentations of three trophies to the fraternities. One will be for athletic achievement, another for scholastic achievement and a third for the best house decorations based on the theme "Beat Muhlenberg."

Tau Kappa Epsilon and Sigma Phi Omega fraternities will decorate their houses while Omicron Gamma Omega fraternity has procured Colonial Hall for their decorations site.

House decorations will be judged between 12-1 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 21 by Miss Maria V. Auffant, instructor in Spanish; Mrs. Anna T. Riley, associate professor of art; and Albert E. H. Gaumer, professor of biology.

The IFC is in charge of all dance arrangements. Members of the group are Fred Lipari, Sal DeLuca, John Marth, Jeff Gannon, Ted Neidengard, and Bob Lipkin.

Hall To Present Second Audubon Tour Tomorrow

Leonard Hall, a familiar lecturer in the Bethlehem community, will present the second of five scheduled Audubon tours in Johnston Hall at 8 p.m. tomorrow. He will narrate the film, "An Ozark Anthology."

The film reflects Hall's experience as a naturalist. It depicts a whole realm of biology and the interdependence of organisms in the area of Ozark Mountains of the southeastern United States, according to Hall.

The Audubon tour is sponsored by the Moravian College Conservation Association under the program of the National Audubon Society for the preservation of wild life and natural resources.

A resident of Caledonia, Missouri, Hall is a columnist for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Meyner To Address Group At Conference Tomorrow

Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey will address delegates to the 50th anniversary convention of Pi Delta Epsilon at a banquet to be held as part of weekend activities, tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. The convention will begin this afternoon at Lehigh University.

Representing the Moravian College chapter will be Rita Roseman, editor of the 1960 Benigna, and Alan Lippman, news editor of The Comenian.

The opening sessions of the national honorary journalism fraternity's convention will begin at 3:30 p.m. today with the keynote address to be delivered by D. Lloyd Felmlly, former editor of the Newark News.

The remainder of the sessions today and tomorrow will be devoted to business and to publication workshops. The delegates, representing 96 chapters, will be shown various Lehigh campus highlights tomorrow afternoon. The closing business session is set for 2:15 p.m.

The organization's annual contest awards will be presented at the banquet tomorrow evening. An informal "Inkslinger's Ball" will round out the program tomorrow at 9 p.m.

Only One . . .

The editorial and columns of last week's issue seem to have aroused a great deal of campus comment. Volumes of letters, both pro and con, were threatened, but only one letter was written and submitted.

Much apparent concern was expressed over the content of these articles. And it appears that many do not really know what an editorial or a signed column is.

These regular features of the newspaper represent opinion. They reflect the thoughts of the writer and his opinions on a factual event or statement.

Naturally, since the writer has signed his name to the article in the case of columns, and the editor always writes the editorials, unless otherwise stated, these persons are ready to defend their opinions.

In like manner the reader has a responsibility. If he disagrees with these opinions it is his responsibility to state his disagreement by means of a letter.

Excessive talking about an item but taking no positive action in the form of a letter is failure on the part of the reader to fulfill his mutual responsibility.

Perhaps this situation will be remedied in the future.

Coming . . .

One week from today the Blackfriars will present their fall production of "Medea." As is true of several other organizations, the group has lost its 'old home' in the Arts Building and is being forced to work in less desirable quarters.

Last year the organization was plagued by problems which resulted in the cancelling of its fall production and the performance of only one play "The Bad Seed," for the entire year.

This year it appears that most of the problems faced by the group have been overcome and a production is soon to appear.

In the past years the efforts of the organization have always been rewarding and the results have been admired and enjoyed by those who attended.

If the Blackfriars hold true to their tradition, next week's production will also be worthwhile, and something for which we may bestir ourselves just this once in an effort to support a school organization.

All letters to the editor must be placed in Box 86, North Campus by 3 p.m. Tuesday, if they are to appear in the issue of the following Friday.

Something Wrong . . .

To The Editor:

Your theme for the editorial which appeared in the November 6, 1959 edition of The Comenian is very appropriate concerning the forethought and character of the editorial, itself, and this is "Disappointing."

It appears to these readers that the editorial and other articles concerning Homecoming showed very poor taste, preparation and lack of respect in regards to classes and student organizations at Moravian College. Evidently the authors of these articles did not check with the students in charge of the bonfire or the Social Activities Committee or they would not have stated many things which they did.

Can the fault of plans not materializing be specifically directed at one or two persons, when in reality it takes the entire student body to make any event successful or unsuccessful? We say it can not and should not be done.

One must not forget other factors involved in the viewpoint:

1. The number of day students at Moravian. Here is a unique problem whereas it brings family life and employment into direct competition with campus life.
2. The activities concern work and very few people like to work.
3. It must be brought out that the "Let George Do It" attitude exists among a vast majority of students.
4. Also the fact that Homecoming this year was scheduled at approximately mid-semester when many students had tests.

In closing we would like to ask the authors of these articles this question. "I was there, where were you?"

"WELL, THE WEATHERMAN DID SAY 'FAIR AND WARMER!'"

German Poet, Philosopher Remains Significant Figure

by Jutta Leheis

Friedrich Schiller, whose 200th anniversary the world celebrated on November 10, is the greatest German poet besides Goethe, with whom a close and productive friendship united him during the last years of his life.

Schiller's life was a heroic one during the course of which he proved the victory of mind over matter and the moral freedom of the individual. In his youth he took up spiritual arms against a despotic duke under whose military command he received his education and from whom only a very courageous flight freed him; later on, it was mainly poverty and ill health against which he had to fight.

Schiller was a poetical genius whose work still gives us true satisfaction through its perfection and by expanding the limited realm of our own emotions.

His philosophy proves to be extremely timely — even today, 200 years after his birth and 154 years after his death, his ideas have lost none of their importance. His philosophy is idealistic and might serve as an antidote to our materialistic age; his philosophy of state is anti-totalitarian, and it was no mere coincidence that his essay, The Legislation of Lycurgus and Solon, a study on the totalitarian state, was used by some German students as a weapon in their fight against the Nazis.

For the tourist visiting Germany, several places connected with Schiller's life will be of interest. There is, first of all, his birth place: Marbach, a picturesque little Swabian town on the Neckar with old framework-houses, narrow streets and well-known inns. It is located near Stuttgart, the capital of Wuerttemberg, which likewise played an important part in the poet's life.

Here he attended the Karlschule, a military academy of the Duke Karl Eugen. The Karlschule itself no longer exists, but we still find Schloss Solitude, one of the ducal residences, near Stuttgart.

Karl Eugen's main residence was Schloss Ludwigsburg which is also nearby. This castle is built in a baroque style, and in the summer time you can enjoy a beautiful garden exhibition called "Bluehendes Barock" as well as excellent concerts in the elaborate rooms of the castle.

While the above places are linked with Schiller's youth, Jena and Weimar are the places where the poet spent eighteen of his most productive years.

ADDITION

The Placement Office has requested that the following be added to a story in last week's issue. The story (p. 6, col. 3) discussed Dean Harvey T. D. Gillespie's attendance at a placement officers conference. The following should be pointed out in regard to the last paragraph: "Many positions open to women graduates of liberal arts colleges require ability in typing and in some cases shorthand. It is good to be aware of this requirement."

I have a cold. As a matter of fact, I think almost everyone has a cold. Campus chatter this week sounded as if everyone had a clothes pin on his nose. Common colds indeed! Why I'll have you know these colds are not common. They are the absolute and final result of Homecoming, mid-semester exams, and two weeks of November weather.

Before I stop feeling sorry for myself and move on to a less contagious topic, let me pass on a few helpful hints on how to deal with your cold. First, if you're going to have a cold, don't be content with a few sniffles or a slight cough. Manage to stand out in the rain at the football game or sit in a draft. Remember, a cold is a thing of personal pride. Let's not do it half-way!

Once you have caught "it" people will offer all kinds of cures. May I recommend hot lemonade and honey? It's absolutely no help but it tastes good. Your grandmother is sure to show up with a mustard plaster, but you should be able to hold her off. Wives and mothers always suggest two aspirins and a week in bed, probably the wisest idea of all. One more suggestion. Be sure to take those pink throat lozengers they give out at the South Campus infirmary. It's great fun to see the expression on the doctor's face when you open your mouth and expose a flaming scarlet interior.

News and views around the campi. Does it seem possible that the choir is already rehearsing their Christmas concert? Note: Blackfriars will present "Medea" Nov. 20 and 21. Why not take in the play and the IF informal on Saturday and make an evening of it?

Heard the neatest way to stop gossip the other day. When you hear wild stories circulating in the smoker or the MC, nod wisely and say "You know, I heard that, too . . . and it's true!" This should produce a shocked reaction 'midst the group. It will also kill the rumor because few of us are really interested in what's true about people.

That's about it for this week, group. Remember, you have at least three weeks before those pre-Christmas term papers are due. Panic not!

The Sports Story

by George Fiegel

The Moravian football players deserve a hand this week for their tremendous defensive and offensive efforts in the game against Upsala. What was predicted as a sure loss for Mo-Mo (I predicted a win), became a startling upset in Moravian's favor. Although I hate "name-droppers," I'll go against my better judgement and give a little credit where credit is due. Of course, the biggest play of the day was by our tackle, Jim Kritis. Kritis made Eastern College Athletic Conference's All-East team for his efforts last Saturday.

After these two points were struck up in our favor, the Moravian defense went into action. "Bucky" Yelovich, Ron Myers, Lou Rozelle, John Olson, John Williams, and Jim Frank held the Vikings to little or no gains. Sam Maczko, Dick Bedics, Paul Noonan, and Russ DeVore also played superbly for Mo-Mo. The outstanding ground-gainer for Moravian was Dave Coe with his offensive movements which brought him 87 yards in 24 attempts. This stand-out performance earned him a nomination for sophomore of the week among Eastern Collegiate football powers.

We cannot overlook, of course, the many fumbles that occurred during the game which hindered the Gridders' chances for scores. With a little more tightness on that pigskin the footballers have a chance for a winning season.

The cross country team also put forth its best efforts last Saturday at Haverford. They beat Haverford College and Temple University in a triangular meet to bring their seasonal record up to 4-4, winning their last four meets.

Most of the Lehigh Valley teams travel away this weekend. Our Hounds of the gridiron travel to Staten Island to meet the Seahawks of Wagner.

Although Moravian won last year, they'll find Wagner a little bit tougher than the last time they played. The Greyhounds will take this game by the score 12-7. The Engineers of Lehigh are going South for a game with Davidson. This is the first game between these two teams and it's hard to make a prediction on these grounds. Under the assumption that Lehigh is slowly getting better I'd say the Engineers will take this one by at least two touchdowns.

The Mules, losing the last four games making their record 2-5, are in for another one when they play F & M tomorrow. The Diplomats of F & M will trounce the Mules by a score of 24-13. The Leopards entertain Tufts at Easton in a game which may go either way. I'm going to stick with Lafayette in hopes for another Lehigh-Tufts game.

That's the sports story for this week.

Greyhounds 'Hit the Road' To Play Separate Duels

The Moravian Greyhounds, after winning a real thriller against Upsala last week, face Wagner College tomorrow afternoon at Wagner.

The Hounds should have no trouble winning this one as they have beaten the Seahawks eight straight times. Last year the score was 34-6 in favor of the Hounds. Even in 1950, when the Greyhounds had lost seven out of eight games, the one game that they won was against Wagner by a score of 46-14.

So far this year the Hounds have a 3-3 record and Wagner has a 5-2 record.

The Seahawks are building their hopes around sophomore quarterback, Don Cavalli. Last week in Wagners 26-6 victory over Susquehanna, Cavalli completed 17 out of 31 passing attempts, and three of them went for touchdowns. He, himself, ran for the other touchdown.

Moravian is depending upon Jim Kritis, Dick Bedics, Paul Noonan, and Dave Coe who played outstanding ball against Upsala last Saturday.

Harriers

Also tomorrow the Harriers will be going to Muhlenberg for their last cross country meet before the M.A.C. championships on November 20.

The Mules have an 0-5 record while the Harriers have a 4-4 record. Muhlenberg is banking its hopes on Ochs, West, and Breinig; while Moravian is counting on the running of George Fiegel, Jim Worman, and Tommy Grammes.

Race Tightens As I-M Close; Two Are 4-0-1

The intramural football league is coming to a close and the race is beginning to tighten. South Hall and the Fighting Irish have a 4-0-1 record, while the OGO's have a 3-0-1 record.

The Tekes added another game to their winning column by trouncing the Vets 24-0. Steve Edroney scored two touchdowns by receiving two passes from Bob Volko, while Charlie Bartolet, and Charlie Lindner also scored for the Tekes.

The OGO's and the Fighting Irish battled to a 13-13 tie. The Irish took a 7-0 lead but were unable to hold it.

In this game the OGO's came back with the passing of quarterback Ken Sepe. Sepe ran the ball for one of the touchdowns and passed to Hunter Matthews for the other. The Irish tied the game with a pass play.

In another game the Sigma Phi team squeezed out a victory over a determined Pi Mu team. The final score was 13-6.

Spirited Hounds Victorious; Win Blue and Grey Trophy

By Bill Pyscher

Moravian College's highly spirited football team upended Upsala 2-0 before 500 chilled fans to take possession of the Blue and Grey Trophy last Saturday.

The Greyhounds' defensive line did a tremendous job in holding All-East candidate Steve Friedman and his hard running teammate Jim Apple to short gains. The "Vikings" found a rough sea as they never penetrated deeply in Greyhound territory.

The victory for the Hounds was the best team effort so far this season. Moravian's spirit was evidenced by their crisp tackling, hard running and bruising blocking.

Early in the first quarter, "Jabby" Williams booted the pigskin 60 yards and the ball rolled dead on the Upsala 3. Upsala was forced to punt from their own end zone. Jim Kritis smashed through the line and blocked the kick for a safety, which turned out to be the only score of the afternoon.

Moravian threatened to cross the Viking goal line throughout the game but none of the threats materialized. In the first quarter the Greyhounds drove from their 49 to the Upsala 15, but the drive died as the Vikings held for four downs. Fullback Dave Coe gained 24 yards in 4 carries in this drive.

In the closing minutes of the game, the Vikings desperately tried to get their offensive machine moving but Moravian's line stopped them cold on their 42.

The game ended with Moravian in possession on the Upsala 37.

Standout leaders for Moravian were Coe who gained 87 yards in 24 attempts and Williams, whose punts kept Upsala deep in their territory.

Schollenberger Wins Award From Youth Hall Of Fame

Barry Schollenberger, Moravian freshman, recently received the Youth Hall of Fame baseball award at Connie Mack Stadium, Philadelphia. He received the award for outstanding ability, sportsmanship, and character in American Legion baseball, pitching for the Pulaski American Legion team.

FALL FOCUS

Sam Maczko—Tackle

This week the fall focus is on Sam Maczko, a 20 year old, 205 pound junior from Rutherford, New Jersey.

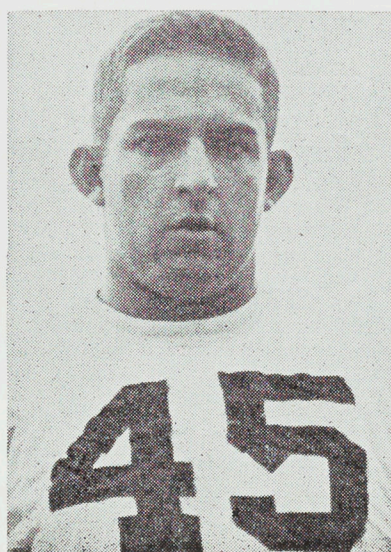

While in high school Sam participated in football and track. He was co-captain of the football team in his senior year and during his high school days earned 3 letters in football.

His greatest thrill in sports came in his senior year in high school, when his team, Rutherford High, defeated Passaic for the first time in 9 years.

He is a brother in Omicron Gamma Omega and a member of the Varsity "M" Club.

Sam's outside interests include deep sea fishing and watching sports events.

About the current season, Sam said, "The team has shown it possesses the ability to play good football, and with the same desire and hustle as demonstrated last weekend we should have a 5 and 3 record for the season."

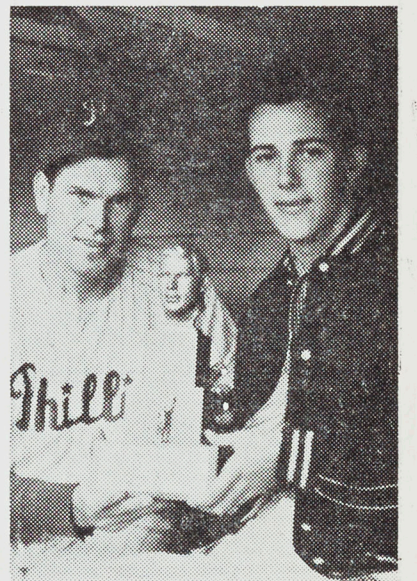

Schollenberger, a math major, resides in Reading where he played both high school baseball and basketball.

The award that Schollenberger received was a sculptured head of Robin Roberts, pitcher for the Philadelphia Phillies.

Among other awards Schollenberger obtained was the runnerup award for The Philadelphia Inquirer Most Valuable award for the All-East Legion game and a Most Valuable award in the East-West baseball game at Lancaster.

Muhlenberg College has sent a limited number of student tickets, for the Moravian-Muhlenberg game, which may be purchased in Dean Gillespie's office for $1.

Runners Win In Tri-Meet; Outrun Haverford, Temple

The Hound Harriers ran away with the triangular cross-country meet held at Haverford College last Saturday.

Taking three of the first five and four of the first ten, Moravian finished with a score of 30 while Haverford was second with 38 and Temple last with 54.

The race was run on a wet, soggy course making the pace slow. In some spots the runners had to run through puddles and small creeks. With slippery leaves on the ground, narrow paths through the woods, and conditions in general, it was hard to pass and the race stayed in its general line-up throughout the 4.2 miles.

Matt Strickler of Haverford came in first and his time was 23:47. The first Moravian man to finish was George Fiegel. He took second in the overall standings. Other Hound Harriers in the top ten were Jim Worman (third), Tom Grammes (fifth), and Byron Borst (seventh).

The first ten were: 1. Matt Strickler, (H); 2. George Fiegel, (M); 3. Jim Worman, (M); 4. George Crispin, (T); 5. Tom Grammes, (M); 6. Ed Hariman, (H); 7. Byron Borst, (M); 8. Hank Bibber, (H); 9. Dick Wannermacher, (T); and 10. Zroba Kazanjian, (T).

Last Friday evening's sophomore class folk party, the "Bauertanzeri," was attended by a large number of student "hicks," some of whom are pictured in one of the dances led by Paul Weiland and his Penn Dutch music group.

Eskolin Named Correspondent To University Press Service

Neil P. Eskolin, associate editor of The Comenian, was appointed official correspondent to the University Press Service last Thursday, Nov. 5. The Comenian has recently become a member of the service.

Announcement of the appointment was made early this week by David A. Schattschneider, editor of The Comenian.

University Press Service is a non-profit, voluntary association of American college editors. It was formed to bring news of important campus happenings and problems to the maximum number of readers.

Eskolin will be in charge of notifying the service if he feels that any major story has arisen on campus. At the National Student Association headquarters in Philadelphia a trained staff member will receive the copy which will be telephoned or wired to all participating dailies, and mimeographed and mailed to other members.

This is the third national press service of which The Comenian is a member. The paper is also a member of the Associated Collegiate Press and the Intercollegiate Press.

The national student news service was originally conceived when a number of college editors met at the National Student Association's recent annual Student Editorial Affairs Conference and found that many of their campus problems were similar.

Super Sub!

It's been said that the atomic submarine "Nautilus" stays submerged so long that it only surfaces to let the crew re-enlist.

Perhaps for this reason, the Navy has taken valuable space aboard the "Nautilus" for the only soft-drink vending machine in the entire submarine fleet.

Naturally (or you wouldn't hear about it from us) it's a Coca-Cola machine. And not unexpectedly, re-enlistments are quite respectable.

Rugged lot, those submariners. Great drink, Coke!
