

Three Officials Comment On New Dorm Progress

Harvey T. D. Gillespie, Dean of Men, Robert P. Snyder, Director of Development, and Paul E. Cunningham, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, issued statements this week on progress on the new men's dormitory which was to have been completed by Friday, Nov. 27.

"Each day things are reaching a more finished state in the new dorm," stated Snyder.

"The contractor gave Nov. 27 as the date when the "A" unit (the building nearest Johnston Hall) of the new dorm would be finished," added Cunningham, "but since then, things have occurred which may delay the opening."

Two freight car loads of furniture, which had arrived on campus damaged, have since been replaced and returned to the college, Cunningham continued.

All the furniture needed to fill the student's rooms, lounges and recreational rooms are now in storage on campus. In a matter of two to three days after the unit has been turned over to the college, the rooms will be ready for occupancy, he stated.

Dean Initiates New Program For Lunches

Arrangements were made this week by Halcyon Sartwell, Dean of Women, for women dorm students to eat in the North Campus cafeteria and for men dorm students to eat on South Campus under certain circumstances.

Dean Sartwell stated that men dorm students having a fourth and fifth period on South Campus on Monday, Wednesday or Friday could eat lunch in the women's dining room.

She stated further that women having a fourth and fifth period on North Campus on these days could eat in the men's cafeteria.

This plan, according to the Dean, will not be used on Tuesday or Thursday as the facilities are not adequate for the number of students who would probably want to eat on North Campus.

Dean Sartwell stipulated that students who would like to eat on the other campus for one or two of the specified days each week would have to do so on a permanent basis for the rest of the semester.

The Dean concluded by announcing that arrangements for this plan may be made at the business office.

USG Discusses Group Reports On Procedures

The collection of class dues, positive action concerning United Student Government (USG) re-admission policy, and the band situation highlighted discussion at a USG meeting held Tuesday.

Jack Jacob, chairman of a committee to investigate the system of collecting class dues, reported that he had contacted Lehigh University and Muhlenberg College. At these institutions class dues are included in the inclusive fee paid at the beginning of every semester, he said.

After some discussion French asked all representatives to take this suggestion back to their respective groups.

Chairman of the USG re-admissions committee, Joel Leeb reported three points for consideration by the group.

(1) If a group is expelled from USG and loses its allocation because its delegate missed more than three meetings, in order to apply for re-admission the organization must present a copy of its constitution and the name of its representative to be admitted again.

(2) If a member group is dropped for the second time due to non-attendance, its remaining allocation shall be returned to USG and the organization will not be eligible for re-admission until the amount of the allocation it has spent is returned to the USG treasury.

'Mom' Arndt Quits Post; Takes Position At Lehigh

Charles H. Kuhn, Jr., Moravian College comptroller, announced this week that Mrs. Lester Arndt, South Campus dietician, had resigned from her position last week.

When asked why "Mom" Arndt had quit, Kuhn replied that she had been planning to leave for a number of years and when an opportunity arose to get work elsewhere, she decided to accept.

Kuhn stated further that she probably felt she would be happier elsewhere.

It was reported that "Mom" Arndt had accepted the position as dietician at the Sigma Nu fraternity house at Lehigh University.

"We know of no other reason why she left," the comptroller added. "There seem to be some underlying factors that she didn't care to discuss, however."

Sundermeyer Cites German Drama Figure

Freidrich Schiller's significance is due to the fact that he is not a simple case, not a fixed personality.

"He was most human in that he was dissatisfied with himself and was always striving on and on for perfection," stated Dr. William Sundermeyer.

Dr. Sundermeyer, chairman of the German department at Gettysburg College, was guest speaker at yesterday morning's student convocation in Johnston Hall.

Weekend Features Dance; 'Friars To Present 'Medea'

A dance and two presentations of "Medea" by the Blackfriars will highlight Interfraternity Weekend today and tomorrow.

First performance of "Medea" will be held in the South Campus Chapel today at 7:30 p.m. The Blackfriars will enact a free crowning of an Interfraternity Queen, to be chosen by Holmes from five candidates selected by the Interfraternity Council.

Trophies will be presented to the three campus fraternities in acknowledgement of scholastic and athletic achievement and for house decorations. Judging of fraternity house decorations will take place between 12-1 p.m.

Tickets for the Interfraternity Dance may be purchased either from a member of a fraternity or at the door. The cost is $2 per couple.

Cynthia Geiman will portray Medea in the Blackfriars' play. Other principle parts include the Nurse, Audrey Hair; Jason, Griffith Dudding; Aegeus, Bill Pfeiffer; and Creon, Bob Gohdes.

The three women of Corinth will be played by Jean Friedman, Susan Berger and Wilma Bennewis.

Medea, according to the legend, meets Jason when he and the Argonauts come to her native land of Colchis in hope of stealing the coveted Golden Fleece. She falls passionately in love with him and aids him with her gift of supernatural powers.

Medea, hungry for power, deceives her own father, the king of Colchis, and kills her brother. She then flees with Jason to his native land where she marries Dorm . . .

In the first issue of The Comenian, dated Sept. 25, the Development Office issued a statement to the effect that the new men's dormitory would be completed "sometime in November."

They were even as optimistic as to say that the freshmen wing might be completed by the end of October.

Passage of time has proven the last part of this statement to be completely incorrect and a realistic look at the situation places the first part of the statement in jeopardy.

Since that time there has been little or no comment from anyone connected with the project.

This week we are happy to report interviews with three key officials.

As usual the Development Office has issued a nebulous statement which really doesn't say very much at all.

The Dean of Men has made a definite statement concerning the matter but as he has pointed out, a great deal depends on the matter of time, and this is what no one is sure of right now.

The most clarifying statement came from the Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds. He pointed out many of the practical problems which have arisen and have postponed occupancy of the new building.

Although the opening date has been moved several times in the past, we sincerely expect that this final date the contractor has given will be the real one.

We recognize that it is difficult to be realistic in setting a final date in a matter like this.

However, perhaps in the future, departments concerned in projects like this will take the time to keep the students informed as to why progress is not being made at the expected rate.

This will avoid needless bewilderment on the part of the student, and also will not cause him to be embarrassed with his college.

Success . . .

The Comenian was recently honored by being awarded first place in a category of the Pi Delta Epsilon 50th Anniversary Convention Contest.

We are very proud of this honor and hope that the weekly paper will continue in this fine spirit.

At the Student Editorial Affairs Conference, at the recent Associated Collegiate Conference, and the just past Pi Delta Epsilon Convention, faculty and administration censorship of college newspapers was a main topic of discussion.

This problem exists in many schools, especially church affiliated institutions.

The Comenian has a long tradition of censorship-free operation. The attitude of the school's officials in recent years has been to allow the paper free reign in its editorial opinions and news coverage, as long as the writers are willing to accept responsibility for what they write.

This is a very healthy attitude and has helped greatly to establish the present completely acceptable relationship between the school officials and the Comenian and has contributed much to its recent success.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS !!

by Neil Eskolin

Happy Valentine's Day . . . Well, on to a less morbid subject. The second big weekend of the school year is already upon us. And it promises to be a good one. A really big football game, a major dramatic production and the annual I-F dance are all scheduled for tomorrow. So have a good time gang. If taking all this in tomorrow proves too much for you, go to the play to-night. Or else stay home and rest up tonight and have a big blast tomorrow.

According to the "Happiness Boys," local poll takers and collectors of incidental facts, up through last Tuesday night, peas had been served in the Lear-a-teria for twenty-three consecutive days. One pea-less day elapsed and now they're back again. How's that for a rut?

The long awaited and well-worth-waiting-for yearbooks hit the camp this week much to the pleasure of all the recipients. Of course there were the chronic complainers who always find all sorts of things to gripe about, but this wouldn't be a college campus or Moravian, to be specific, if it weren't for this breed.

Actually, I believe a really enthusiastic pat on the back should be given to Nan Traubitz for her untiring effort and fine production.

I'm sure none of you are aware of the near catastrophic situation which arose recently. It was feared that the 2,000 pound, 11½ foot statue of old John "Famous Amos" Comenius would not reach Bethlehem in time for the March 28 unveiling. But rest assured and fear not. Old Amos is here. A dock strike held up delivery for a few weeks but the Comenius statue has arrived. The old boy is resting up after the long trip and will reside in the Bethlehem Steel Company warehouse for the winter. I hear he's been named honorary night watchman.

Well, gang, we won't see you next week. The great turkey is coming with a big sack of toys for good little kiddies and rotten cranberries for the bad ones.

Happy Turkey.

YES, I HEAR MORAVIAN HAS A TOUGH FOOTBALL TEAM THIS YEAR!

Harness Ability To Think To Live A Complete Life

by Stephanie Rights

For every human being who hopes to live a life fuller than that of an amoeba, thinking is essential. Unfortunately man is born only with the capacity and not with the ability to think.

Thus if he is to be any more than an existing mass of protoplasm performing the necessary daily functions of eating and sleeping and breathing, man must put conscious effort into developing his mind.

He must form ideas and he must test them, for new ideas are much like young plants. If they are deprived of space, they become stunted in size; if they are deprived of light, they become colorless; if they are deprived of water and air, they become flaccid.

Like plants, strong and healthy ideas will withstand the rigors of the environment and flourish until they bear fruit, and like plants, the ones that are weak and unfit to survive will perish.

Therefore if a person is to enjoy his life intellectually as well as sensually, he must find some way of trying out each new conclusion or inspiration. One of the best and most effective methods in existence is that of discussion, for it offers ample opportunity for the expression of different thoughts and opinions and a chance to discover faults in reasoning and thinking. Discussion is thus very necessary to the formation of clear, concise, and interesting thoughts.

In every college student the love of discussing all subjects should be so deeply ingrained that it is second nature.

However, on the modern American campus, the art of discussion seems to be dead or in the process of taking its last breath. Informal discussion groups are extremely rare and in many colleges formal discussion groups are becoming few in number. Debating teams are almost obsolete.

What is creating this kind of intellectual stagnancy? Perhaps, and most probably, the ordinary person who is now attending college no longer cares about his mind for his mind's sake. He has geared himself to a society that requires of him not a fine, flexible mind, but a prestige-winning diploma.

As a teenager, he managed to be as apathetic about the world of the abstract as his elders and thus neglected to read any books other than those required to pass a course with a good mark.

When he came to college, he brought with him the same attitude about learning that he acquired in high school, that is learning is not an end in itself, but a means to an end. Occasionally now that he is in 'somewhat' highbrow surroundings, he finds himself sparked by an idea. His interest in the world of the intellect has been temporarily stimulated and he would like to see the reactions of fellow students and teachers to his brainstorm or to his sincere feelings about a subject.

Yet immediately he feels his inadequacy, for he lacks a basis of facts for his opinions that reading might have given him. He remains silent, and so, with little emotional trauma, he happily returns to his normal world of mundane thoughts where he is more at ease and secure.

The causes of this problem may be symptomatic of the modern society rather than of the modern college, but it is one whose solution lies within the hands of college students.

The potential is ours, and whether we use it or not is up to us. We must start to read and to evaluate what we read, both individually and through group discussions, and we must learn slowly but surely to do original thinking that is profound and meaningful.

will remember the warm, friendly, informal chapels of the past, in which President Hauptert would give a short, off the cuff, moralistic sermonette; or who can forget Dr. Gaumer's traditional mid-term chapel talk on "Those Who Almost Made It"; or how about Mr. McConnell's highly philosophical, informative, humanistically humorous metaphors of "Lobo,"

Happy Memories . . .

To the Editor:

Two weeks ago there appeared in The Comenian an article in which Rev. Lewis said that he considered an improvement had been made in the chapel system, but many more were possible. That article motivated me to do some deep subjective thinking about the present chapel system as compared with that which had been in effect long before I came to Moravian.

I have tried to recall the various speakers we have had so far this year and the context of their sermons. I find that the former is extremely difficult and the latter practically impossible. In contrast I wonder how many years both I and other upperclassmen

35th Annual ACP Confab Draws 1000

Over one thousand delegates representing over two hundred colleges and universities all over the country convened at the Hotel New Yorker last Thursday through Saturday for the 35th annual Associated Collegiate Press Conference.

The Comenian, Moravian College student weekly was represented at the New York City conference by David A. Schattschneider, editor, and Neol P. Eskolin, associate editor.

The conference began Thursday evening with the opening convocation and an address by Chet Huntley, NBC-TV commentator.

In his address, Huntley theorized that the United States is slowly drifting away from democracy and Russia away from Communism. He then submitted the theory that the U.S. and Russia may someday both meet on a common ground.

The conference members broke up into several smaller groups on Friday and held panel discussion, work shops and a series of meetings in which they were addressed by various professional newspapermen.

A highlight of the conference was the convocation held at 1 p.m. on Friday. The meeting featured an address by Norman Cousins, editor and vice president of the Saturday Review.

Cousins stressed the dangers of accidental warfare, the dangers of preparing for a war, and the dangers of not preparing for war.

He offered as a solution to these dangers an effective basis of security within the basic framework of the United Nations, an effective plan of disarmament, and the solution of the world's social problems.

The group meetings continued throughout the afternoon and reconvened on Saturday morning before the conference came to a close at the concluding luncheon and convocation.

Discussion, Film, Plans Are Featured By CCA

Discussion of world Christianity and discussion of the "Lost Generation" and the showing of a film, "The Return," have been the topics of recent meetings of the Campus Christian Association.

The study of world Christianity was led by the Rev. Henry Lewis at a meeting of the group on Nov. 5.

According to a spokesman for the group, the "keynote of the discussion was consideration of the idea that "the most dangerous assumption a Christian can make is that he or she, in fact, is a Christian."

Outside the Camp, by Charles West, a new text on world Christianity, was presented to members of the group for their consideration as a possible purchase.

The "Lost Generation" was the topic of the organization's meeting held on last Thursday night. Linda Waters was in charge of the discussion which took place in the George Washington room.

Some members of the group defined "Lost" as a "feeling of insecurity in terms of material val-

Teltschiks, Duo-pianists, To Perform Next Week

Alfred and Herbert Teltschik, duo-pianists, will be guest artists at the Bethlehem Community Concert Association - Moravian College Series program planned for Saturday, Nov. 28, at 8:30 p.m. in Johnston Hall.

Moravian students may attend the performance by using their Moravian College Student Concert Series card. This card also entitles them to attend programs of the Easton Community Concerts.

The Teltschik brothers were born in Floresville, Texas, of Austrian parents. Their musician-father was their first instructor. They also studied in Houston, Texas, and at the Juilliard School of Music in New York City.

Upon their return to Houston, they taught in the city's public schools and also in their own studio.

The brothers soon began to give two-piano recitals and their suc-

Sartwell Plans Social Program This Afternoon

An open house for all women students will be held today at the home of Halycon Sartwell, Dean of Women, at 430 Main St. Announcement of this program was made early this week.

A "last name" alphabetical schedule has been arranged by the Dean. She urged that all women students consult this schedule, which is posted on the North Campus bulletin board.

Concerning the women visitors, the Dean stated, "If you are unable to come at the hour set for your name, then come at a time that is convenient to your schedule. In any event, please come."

down on the farm?"

My thoughts lead me to question why I could remember more of what was said and who said it in chapels of years gone by than I could of chapels of a few weeks ago. My personal answer is that the ex-chapel system was much more personalized than the present and it was this personal element that makes me sentimentally remember talks such as those I have stated.

True, the chapels are now much more formalized with a closer semblance of a church service, which would result in clergymen regarding them as better than those of the past, but are they really impressing or helping the students? Will today's freshmen have traditional memories of chapel as my classmates and I have? I doubt it very much!

'Comenian' Is Honored By Journalism Society

The Comenian was awarded first place in the 50th Anniversary Pi Delta Epsilon Convention Contest held last weekend at Lehigh University. The Moravian College newspaper was judged from among comparable papers in the schools of 600-1200 enrollment.

The panel of judges making the decision was composed of editorial officials connected with the Associated Press, the National Broadcasting Company, and various professional newspapers of the Lehigh Valley.

Second place in this category was awarded to the Muhlenberg Weekly of Muhlenberg College.

New Jersey Governor Robert B. Meyner was principal speaker at the national collegiate journalism fraternity's anniversary banquet held last Saturday evening in the Asa Packer Room of the Lehigh University Center.

Meyner explained that the future of freedom of the press is dependent on the continuance of responsible, mature, unbiased journalism. He stressed the "necessity of acquiring facts" and the responsibility of realizing one "can ruin a career or assist a career by what one writes."

He noted three faults which he found with the contemporary American Press. First, he said, "many reporters are becoming lazy," and are willing to allow facts to come to them rather than going out after a hard-to-get story.

Second, he voiced concern over the fact that many newspapers are "scoop happy," and "by digging, could do a more effective job." Third, he stated that there exists too much speculation in news stories and a tendency to rely overmuch on rumor.

Despite these shortcomings, he said, his own relations with the press have been "generally good." He stated that "Americans have respect for the printed word" and that it is the responsibility of individual journalists to uphold this respect.

The keynote speech of the conference was delivered last Friday afternoon, when Dr. Lloyd Felme, past editor of the Newark

New 'Benigna' Is Published; Now Available

Editions of the 1959 Benigna, published last Friday, may be secured by upperclass students in the service room opposite the George Washington room on South Campus.

The yearbook will not be made available to freshmen until after Christmas.

Editor Nancy Traubitz stated this week that "we have tried to include what people will remember." To this end, the book contains many views of campus life and a number of photographs dealing with campus activities in action.

Theme of the yearbook is "Progress at Moravian." The Benigna depicts many aspects of this thought, noting especially progress on construction of a new dormitory and restoration of historic South Campus buildings.

Mental, creative, and social advancement by students is also depicted.

News, and presently acting chairman of the Department of Engineering at Newark College of Engineering, stressed the tradition of freedom in the press and told of the journalist's obligation of responsibility to the reader.

A series of newspaper, yearbook, and magazine workshops highlighted the program Saturday. In the newspaper workshops, the responsibility of the college newspaper to the community, mechanics and techniques of newspaper writing, and the necessity of firm editorial stands were discussed in detail.

In the magazine workshop the problems of money, material, and student response were discussed. The yearbook workshop was concerned with the technical aspects of producing a work which would be significant and worthwhile.

Hounds Face Mules In Defense Of Trophy

Gridders Travel To Allentown To Oppose Rival Muhlenberg

by Bob Fatzinger

Tomorrow the Moravian Gridders travel to Allentown to play their traditional college football game with the Mules of Muhlenberg College.

Although the Moravian-Muhlenberg gridiron rivalry dates back to 1900, tomorrow's contest will mark only the eighth meeting between the two teams. Over this long period of time the series stands at three games to two in favor of Muhlenberg. Two scoreless ties, in 1900 and 1901, have also been played.

The winner of tomorrow's game will be presented a trophy, contributed last year by the student governments of both colleges. The trophy now resides in Johnston Hall as a result of last year's 30-20 upset victory by the Hound squad.

Host Muhlenberg sports a 2-6 won-lost record thus far for the 1959 campaign. This, however, does not reflect their full potential. As the scores indicate, they are a fine defensive team with a rugged forward wall.

They have beaten Temple 14-13 and Scranton 31-12. Their six losses include: Gettysburg 12-7; Lebanon Valley, 12-7; Lafayette, 19-6; Hofstra, 18-0; Albright, 27-22; and F & M, 22-6.

Although comparing scores of mutual opponents is usually fruitless, it is interesting to note that both Lebanon Valley and Albright have beaten Moravian and Muhlenberg.

Operating from the "T" formation the Mules are quarterbacked by sophomores Rollie Houseknecht and Ralph Borneman. Houseknecht is primarily a passing quarterback and in the Lafayette game threw 37 passes, completing 15.

Senior Herb Owens leads the team in touchdowns with five and also in rushing with 285 yards to his credit. Charles Kuntzleman, halfback, is second in rushing for the Mules.

Another backfield threat is fullback Ed Yost, a junior from Allentown, Pa. Although hampered by injuries for most of the season, his performance in the F & M contest indicates he will be in top form for tomorrow's game.

The trophy, presented at the conclusion of the game, was initiated last year by both student governments in order to promote better relationships between the two institutions.

The rules governing the trophy are similar to that of the Blue and Grey Trophy awarded to the winner of the Moravian-Upsala game. They provide that the trophy will be held by the winning team for one year.

The trophy cannot be retired until the series is discontinued and the team with the most victories shall have permanent possession of it.

Kuklantz Has Practice For Matmen, Runners

With the winter sports program coming upon the scene in a few short weeks, Paul Kuklantz has a two-fold coaching duty to fulfill. In addition to preparing the Moravian wrestling squad for its December fifth opener against Albright, Coach Kuklantz must also supervise the training and conditioning of the indoor track team.

Runners Win Tri-Meet; End Year With 6-4 Slate

The Moravian College Harriers finished their season on a high note with a victory in a triangular cross-country meet last Saturday.

This double victory for the runners was their sixth straight. They opened the season with four straight defeats, but then sparked to life and swept the final half dozen meets to compile a respectable 6-4 season slate.

The Hounds defeated Ursinus and Muhlenberg by a score of 28-51-54 respectively. The meet was held at Muhlenberg over a 4.2 mile course.

Moravian finished six men out of the top ten to compile its winning score. Jim Worman and George Fiegel were the top finishers for the Hounds, winding up in the third and fourth places respectively.

Vernon Morgan of Ursinus finished in the first spot in the time of 22 minutes, 29 seconds.

Order of finish: Vernon Morgan (U); Dick Ochs (Muhl); Worman (Mor); Fiegel (Mor); Bill Pratt (U); Bill Rinker (Mor); Don Wetmore (Mor); Tom Grammes (Mor); Gordon West (Muhl); Terry Horlacher (Mor).

The matmen were very fortunate to lose only two men from last year's squad which compiled a 8-1 record. The two graduating seniors were Bob Silvetz (167 lbs.) and Gus Rampono (177 lbs.). This year's team will be led by Bill Rinker (123), Dan Turner (147), and Ron Myers (157), all sophomores. Rinker compiled a very enviable 8-1 record in dual meet competition, losing only to the eventual winner of the MAC wrestling tournament.

Other returning lettermen include Dave Cornelius, Bob Sallash, Lew Rozelle, and Jack Jacob. With the exception of Jacob, who returns to the mats after a year of inactivity, all are sophomores.

Among the host of newcomers, several of them show signs of promise. Most of them are expect-

Harriers Enter Championship; Send Frosh, Varsity Teams

The Moravian College cross-country team travels to Philadelphia this afternoon to compete in the Middle Atlantic Conference Championship Meet. The meet is held at the Cobbs Creek Golf Course with St. Joseph's College being the host.

There will be many teams participating in this event. LaSalle, Lafayette, West Chester, P.M.C., Rutgers, Juniata, Lehigh, Dickinson, Swarthmore, Elizabethtown, F. & M., Haverford, Gettysburg, Albright, and Delaware are some of the colleges and universities in the Tri-State area that will be competing.

LaSalle, St. Joseph's, Lafayette, and West Chester are favorites since each squad has at least four outstanding runners.

The M.A.C. championships has a freshmen event getting under way at 3:00 P.M. and the varsity contest scheduled 45 minutes later. Representing Moravian in the freshmen event will be Byron Borst, Tom Grammes, Don Wetmore, Terry Horlacher, and Vince DellaMonica. In the varsity event, The Harriers have Jim Worman, George Fiegel, Richard Gross, Dave Koch, and Lou Brown.

I-M Football Reaches Peak In Final Week

The intramural football league has reached a peak this week with the two top teams, The Fighting Irish and South Hall, fighting for the championship.

In the last regularly scheduled game the Tekes defeated the OGO's by a score of 9 to 7. This upset was sparked by Steve Edraney and Bobby Volko of the Teke team. Barry Gaal scored the OGO touchdown.

This game created a tie in the intramural fraternity championships between the Tekes and the OGO's. They played Wednesday (Cont. on p. 5, col. 1)

The Sports Story

by George Fiegel

Our Greyhounds are traveling to Allentown to play their traditional rival Muhlenberg. Muhlenberg has a record of 2-6, loosing to Franklin and Marshall last week, for their fifth straight loss and Moravian has a 3-4 record losing badly to Wagner. Without too many fumbles Mo-Mo will possibly take this one. Our Gridders took last year's contest 30-20 to hold possession of the Muhlenberg Trophy.

Both Lehigh and Lafayette have identical 4-4 records this year, each winning last Saturday's games. The two schools have played 94 games in past years of which Lafayette has taken 58 and Lehigh has won 32 with four games being tied. The Engineers will take this one as they have the past three.

The Bethlehem-Allentown rivalry is on the agenda for Thanksgiving Day. The Canaries from Allentown with an impressive 7-2 record face the Red and Blue of Bethlehem who are 3-6. This one-sided affair will go to the Canaries.

I'm glad to see the interest in the intramural program this year. The football games are good entertainment and help promote good sportsmanship among its participants. Now we are engaging in intramural bowling and basketball. I'm happy to see this growing interest. Let's keep it up.

The cross country team has finished their season with a roaring 6-4 record. Although the Hill and Dalers had a slow start, pacing four difficult opposers, they clinched the season with six straight wins including two triangular meets.

After 27 consecutive wins Juniata suffered its first loss to Albright last week. Moravian was the Indian's 15th and 23rd victims of the series.

That's the sports story for this week.

Seahawks Slam Hounds; First Time In 12 Games

The Moravian College Gridders faced a defeat at the hands of Wagner by the score of 42-8 last Saturday at Wagner College.

Led by their All East quarterback, Don Cavelli, the Seahawks swamped Moravian for the first time in a 12 game series.

The win put the Seahawks in a three way tie with Albright and Juniata for the Northern College Division of the Middle Atlantic Conference.

Cavelli passed to George King for the first Wagner score of the day. Frank Mellos bulled over for the second.

The Greyhounds' first threat came late in the second quarter when the Hounds, under the passing of John Williams and the running of Dave Coe, marched to the Wagner 6, only to fumble again.

As the second half opened Cavelli took the opening kickoff and streaked 82 yards for a score. Minutes later Rudy Fusco recovered a fumble on the Hounds' 20. Cavelli plunged from the three for his second score.

Wagner made two more touchdowns, one on a seven yard run by Johnson and a three yard pass play from Bertholet to Wilson.

The Greyhounds collected their eight points midway through the fourth quarter.

On a fourth down pass play, Williams threw a pass into the flat to the lonesome end, Bill Hershey, who then galloped 53 yards into the endzone. Williams passed to Jeff Gannon for the two-point conversion.

FALL FOCUS

George Fiegel—Cross-Country

The Fall Focus this week is on George Fiegel an 18 year old, 170 pound sophomore from Bethlehem.

George participates in cross-country, indoor track, and tennis at Moravian. While in high school he participated in tennis.

His greatest thrill in athletics was running in indoor track at Madison Square Garden last year.

George is also sports editor of The Comenian. He likes sports as a recreation and also enjoys girls and stamp-collecting as a hobby.

Fiegel is majoring in physics and after graduation, he plans to enter the Navy before beginning graduate work.

Concerning cross-country, in which George is presently participating, he stated, "Somehow I knew we would pull out a winning season this year, even though we lost our first four meets. The team has the spirit and the will to win."

Sundermeyer

Dr. Sundermeyer stated that much of Schiller's importance to modern readers is due to his concern with "universal history" and "a rejection of Kant's belief that the individual can approach the Divine Power through reason."

This year marks the 200th anniversary of Schiller's birth.

Statements On Dormitory

A strike at the plant where the ceramic tile for the showers and lavatories is being made caused a holdup in completion of unit A of the new dorm. The tile for unit B (the building further from Johnston Hall) has arrived, but due to the fact that there are less showers in unit B than in unit A, there will not be enough tile. Since the color also differs in each building, the tiles cannot be interchanged, Cunningham added.

If the unit is not completely finished, it cannot be turned over to the school, because once this is done, complaints concerning the building cannot be handled by the contractor, he concluded.

"It is hoped that the freshmen will be allowed to move into the new dormitory by Nov. 27 and administration. I wasn't even consulted when Lear was brought in. It just wasn't Moravian any more."

It was reported through reliable sources that two carloads of dormitory girls went to the home of Raymond S. Hauptert, Moravian College President, when they heard of "Mom's" resignation with intent to protest this action.

Kuhn stressed that through her twenty years at Moravian "Mom" had become an institution in herself. "We'll all miss her," he added.

New Appointment

Neiswender, who is in charge of the South Campus dining room as well as the North Campus cafeteria, refused to comment on "Mom's" resignation.

He announced however that he had appointed Mrs. Margaret Mackes to replace "Mom" on South Campus. Mrs. Mackes formerly worked in the South Campus student snack bar.

USG Discusses Policies On Dues, Admission, Band

(3) All organizations which do not submit budget reports by the 10th of the month in which they are due, will be dropped from USG membership and lose their allocations until the report is submitted.

This third point was amended by USG treasurer James MacDonald so as to make the USG representatives responsible for notifying the organization's treasurer when a report is due. Leeb's report was approved as amended.

During a discussion of the Moravian College band, USG president Peter L. French reported that he had discussed the situation with Moravian College president Raymond S. Hauptert. During a discussion of band finances, Harvey T. D. Gillespie, Dean of Men and administration representative, stated that the administration's views on the status of the band were not clear. He expressed agreement with French's suggestion of appointing a faculty-student committee to study the problem.

In other business, Joel Leeb requested that something be done about the scheduling of the Interfraternity weekend which lists the Blackfriars' production for Friday and Saturday night and the I-F dance Saturday night.

He said that the cheerleaders had been forced to cancel a scheduled Friday night rally due to the conflicts. French said that he would check with Halcyon Sartwell, Dean of Women, who is in charge of the calendar, to determine the reasons for the conflicts.

Club Considers Plan For Dues, Game Program

A change in the amount of membership dues and plans for selling basketball programs were discussed at a meeting of the Varsity "M" Club held last Thursday.

Members of the organization voted to lower the semester membership dues from $1 to 50¢.

The club's president, Charles Bartolet, announced early this week that the group has decided that any active members who do not have their dues paid by January 15, 1960 will be dropped from the membership roll.

It was voted by the members that the organization should proceed with plans for the printing and selling of programs at all basketball games.

According to Bartolet, the programs will be sold to spectators at a cost of 10¢ each.

ed to present the letterwinners with a big challenge for starting positions. Included in this group are Jerry Symons, Gene Medel, Dick Schaffer, and Don Vogel.

Bethlehemite Dick Bedics, who along with Myers and Rozelle are on the football squad, will report to the wrestling room upon the termination of the football season. Coach Kuklantz also expects several other gridders to try out for the team, especially in the heavier brackets.

Although it is too early for any predictions, Kuklantz feels that Wilkes, Lafayette, and Muhlenberg are the Hounds' toughest opponents in that order. Lafayette is a newcomer to the schedule while Wilkes and Muhlenberg have been foes for the past two seasons.

The indoor track squad boasts three returning letterman. They include Jim Worman, George Fiegel, and Bob Kern. Both Worman and Fiegel are standouts on the cross-country squad. The track team will be competing in the Millrose Games, January 3; Evening Star Meet, January 23; Philadelphia Inquirer Meet, Feb. 12; New York Athletic Club Meet, Feb. 13; and the Knights of Columbus Meet Feb. 27.
