Barbara Hooper was selected to head the Benigna, the yearbook, and Cynthia Geiman was chosen as editor of the Manuscript, the literary magazine.

Selected as associate editor of The Comenian was Alan Lippman. Associate editor of the Benigna will be Susan Berger and Robert Muth has been named associate editor of the Manuscript.

Business manager of The Comenian will be Dennis Bleam, and John Schultheis will serve as business manager of the Benigna.

The present editorial board of The Comenian has chosen John Schlegel as news editor and Thomas Fromhartz and Jay Scholl as co-sports editors.

Stephanie Rights will retain her post on The Comenian as feature editor and Chester Galle will remain as photography editor.

Eskolin, an English major from River Edge, N.J., served this year as associate editor of The Comenian. He was sports editor in his sophomore year and previously served as sports reporter. He is a member of the choir, and Pi Delta Epsilon, and has been associated with the Benigna and Sigma Phi Alpha classics society. He is a junior, and is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Miss Hooper, a sophomore, has served as associate editor of the yearbook and is a member of the Campus Christian Association, the Elections Committee, the Student Union Committee and the

Philosophy Society Organized; 17 Accepted For Membership

Phi Sigma Tau, national honor society in philosophy, has been reactivated and reorganized on Moravian's campus, Jerry Witbro, student organizer of the society announced this week.

Moravian's chapter was organized several years ago but has been inactive until this year.

Witbro stated that two of the main purposes of the honor society are to instill an interest in contemporary philosophical issues, and to provide a means whereby the student who has shown acceptable scholastic attainment in the field of philosophy can further pursue and develop his interests in the subject.

Some of the major activities of the organization will be the sharing of student essays on philosophy, debate on philosophical issues and the sponsoring of speakers in the field of philosophy.

The society held its first meeting last week and accepted the following students for membership: Suzanne Astbury, Ronald Dodson, Charles Fischel, Chester Galle, Cynthia Geiman, Dick Gilbert, Fred Harberg, Leonard Heffner, George Jessup, Terry Jones, Henry May, Ernest Pappajohn, David Sherman, Fred Stocker, Vicki Tinnes, Jerry Witbro, and Marino Yozzi.

The faculty advisors to the society are Dr. B. Burns Brodhead, assistant professor of religion and philosophy and Dr. Frederick W. McConnell, instructor in philosophy.

The organization will co-sponsor with The Comenian the debate between Dr. Adolf Grunbaum of Lehigh University and Dr. Frederick W. McConnell of Moravian on May 18.

'Spirit' Premieres Tonight; Staller, Geiman In Leads

Noel Coward's play "Blithe Spirit," the Blackfriars spring production, will be presented today and tomorrow at 8:15 p.m. in the South Campus Chapel.

The cast includes Bernard Staller in the role of Mr. Condomine,

Members of the cast of "Blithe Spirit" polish up their lines for The Blackfriars' spring production, to be presented in the South Campus Chapel today and tomorrow at 8:15 p.m.

Cynthia Geiman as Mrs. Condomine, Audrey Hair as Elvira, Susan Berger as Madame Arcati, Sandra Kromer as Mrs. Bradman, Griffith Dudding as Mr. Bradman and Linda Waters as Edith, the maid.

The production is under the direction of Robert T. Burcaw, instructor in English, who is also advisor to the group.

"Blithe Spirit" is a farce comedy and is considered one of Coward's better plays. It deals with a mystery-writer who invites a spiritual medium for a seance to gain material for his next mystery plot.

The medium mistakenly brings back the spirit of the writer's deceased first wife. Since the writer has remarried, this event sets the stage for hilarious complications.

Vickie Tennis is technical director for the production and Wilma Bennewis is prompter.

Berger, Hock Review Duties Of Citizenship

"Responsible Citizenship" was the title of yesterday's panel discussion convocation held at 11:30 a.m. in Johnston Hall.

Theodore Berger, special assistant to Congressman Curtin of Lehigh-Bucks County, and Donald Hock, former mayor of Allentown and the Democratic candidate for Congress, were the guest speakers on the panel which was moderated by Dr. Otis Shao, associate professor of government.

Henry Cordray and William Tattersall served on the panel as representatives of the student body.

Each of the speakers delivered a short introductory address on the "Responsibilities of Citizenship" after which followed an open discussion on issues raised by Cordray and Tattersall.

Student Government Debates Eligibility Of Organizations

A question involving the eligibility of United Student Government representatives of retaining their membership privileges in that body was brought to light at USG's regular meeting Tuesday evening on South Campus. The question involved excess absences of certain organizations from regularly scheduled meetings and failure of all organizations but one to submit required monthly budget reports.

The issue was brought up by Joel Leeb, who moved that although the Inter-fraternity Council has had three absences this semester, and is therefore eligible for dismissal from USG, such action should not be taken due to the fact that the Council has suffered organizational difficulties as a result of non-concurrent elections by the member bodies of that group.

Because of this situation, there has been no official representative to USG for the I-F Council this semester. (A member is liable to expulsion, according to the USG constitution, if it exceeds two absences per semester.)

Thomas Christianson, USG treasurer, remarked at this point that, according to the USG constitution, a member is liable to expulsion from USG also for not submitting a monthly budget report. In this case, he added, the

The Death-Knell of USG . . .

Tuesday night's United Student Government meeting witnessed the repetition of an unfortunate situation which has occurred in the past.

Once again the problem of member organizations not fulfilling their responsibilities has arisen.

In a technical sense, every member group, with the exception of the Board of Publications, is eligible for expulsion since only that group has bothered to submit the monthly financial reports as required of member organizations in the constitution.

Several groups have also missed three or more meetings thus causing them to be eligible for expulsion.

Therefore USG is grossly violating its constitution in order to continue its existence.

An attempt at remedying the problem was made Tuesday night when that body approved a motion which will empower the president to notify groups that are delinquent as far as attendance is concerned and the treasurer to do likewise when the monthly financial reports are not submitted.

Unfortunately such a motion was necessary though it employs grammar school tactics to deal with supposed young adults.

There are several reasons why campus organizations should be willing to meet these rather simple membership requirements.

USG is, or is supposed to be, the voice of the students in discussions with the administration. If this voice is silenced through disinterest and carelessness no student will have the right to complain about any policy or action taken by the administration.

On a less idealistic level, no campus organization could exist in its present state without the USG for the simple reason that no organization would receive money with which to operate.

There are other implications of this problem but USG must now begin to crack down on its membership requirements. If it is necessary to expel a few organizations due to attendance delinquency or the failure to file financial reports, let it be done. If it is necessary to send out reminders to various groups to get them to fulfill their responsibilities, let that be done. In any event, allowing the present situation to exist any longer will only make a complete farce out of a governing body that is now dangerously near that state.

The Change . . .

Next week's issue of The Comenian will be the first produced by the new editor and his staff. The retiring editor wishes to extend his congratulations to all those who have received new editorial appointments and wishes them luck.

The effect that The Comenian has upon the members of the Moravian College community will never be fully determined. The past year has brought both praise and criticism, often from unexpected quarters. We hope that this interest will continue and that The Comenian will continue to increase in its journalistic caliber and the fulfillment of its role as a college newspaper.

The retiring editor also wishes to sincerely thank every member of his staff, and all members of the student body, the faculty, and administration who have assisted, in any way, in the publishing of the The Comenian during the past year.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS ! !

by Neil Eskolin

Looks like there's been a little hanky-panky going on around the campi this week. Some clowns thought the greyhounds in front of Archie's Gym might make better "red" hounds, and some other clowns, or maybe the same ones, thought "Famous Amos" would look good cuddling a beer barrel. However, they made sure that the barrel was empty. After all, old Amos was a teetotaler and you know how quickly nasty rumors can travel.

We have Bev Luzietti to thank for the following excerpt which she uncovered while doing research on some little paper she was working on for a Mickey Mouse course—I think it's called an Honors paper or something like that. Well, anyway, she came across an account of John Singleton Copley, a colonial minister who, while traveling through the Middle States, was impressed by the Moravian settlement at Bethlehem, Pa. He commented on it as follows:

"The Nunnery, as they call it, is an object of curiosity. A picture of diligence, but I could not but observe, much to the ruining of their health and to the destruction of the social disposition. About sixty or more girls kept entirely to work without any recreation or amusement and without any intercourse with men, under the strict orders of an Old Maid Governess. Judge how miserable must be their condition! — Their complexions are sallow, and discontentment is painted on every countenance. More ordinary people I never saw. A remark struck me when I heard an Old Man Praise the conduct of our soldiers [Revolutionary War] when they were in Bethlehem. He said there was not one instance where they attempted the chastity of their women, which I could impute to another cause besides their love of virtue. For No Woman need have against a Man any other armour than her ugliness, and the Girls at Bethlehem are well equipped with this Coat of Mail."

If anyone thinks I'm making this up, they can find this delightful account in Barrett Wendell's Literary History of America.

Well, gang, it's that time of the year when some changes take place around The Comenian office. You'll be relieved and no doubt overjoyed to find that this insipid drivel will no longer have to be endured by you faithful readers of the "Grass"—all six of you. It was a lot of fun throwing this nonsense together every other week and if you enjoyed reading it as much as I enjoyed writing it, it was successful. Anything said was in the spirit of fun and was not meant to hurt anyone and I hope it was taken in that same spirit. And now, good-bye cruel world and loyal friends—argh!!

Ghost Stories Perpetuated At Moravian

South Campus on a moonlight night is the perfect setting for the ghost stories and legends that grew up there. Modern industrialization has added to the ghostliness of the scene. The high whine of the cars crossing the New Street bridge, and the red and purple glow from the steel company's stacks are as exciting to the modern ghost hunter as was the moon and low murmur of the river to his curious counterpart of the early nineteenth century.

Back when Moravian was a girl's boarding school, some of the girls had been petrified by a ghost who, loudly weeping, would haunt what is now Heckewelder Place. In desperation the girls pleaded with old John Heckewelder, the prominent Indian missionary, to rid them of the "weeping spectre."

He promised that the next time she ran down near the school he would speak to her. Not long after that when the ghost reappeared with her usual gusto, Heckewelder chased her down to the river and demanded to know why she insisted upon making a nuisance of herself.

The ghost explained that when she was a mortal, she had run away from an unhappy marriage and subsequently married again to a gentleman from Bethlehem. This marriage also proved to be unhappy. It was during this time that her former husband found her in Bethlehem and threatened her life. In despair she drowned herself in the Lehigh river just below South Campus.

Because of that black deed, she had been condemned to relive the drowning periodically until the day that she was actually supposed to die. She told Heckewelder that it would be in another month and that she would be gone before classes started in the fall.

John Heckewelder delighted in passing on the tale to wide-eyed school girls. The girls never reputed the respectable missionary's story, because the element of the supernatural has always been connected with Moravian.

Unbelievers, if they needed evidence, could witness the bloody hand as it appears to this day on a wall in the "dungeon" of the Brethren's House on Church Street.

The "dungeon," a cement room adorned with large hooks, was a meat-curing room turned hospital during the Revolutionary War. It happened that while one of the soldiers lay dying he turned on his side and let the bloody imprint of his hand on the wall as a warning to all of the hollow glory in dying a hero.

If, perhaps, we should forget the sacrifices of the past, the ghost of the Revolutionary drummer may very well again be forced to mysteriously ring the bell of the Central Moravian Church.

The Mailbox

Concerning Attitudes On Honor . . .

To the editor,

Occasionally the subject of honor comes up as a topic of conversation. Recently I spoke with a student who expressed the all too familiar "I don't care attitude." As he so aptly put it, "I don't care if other students cheat, so long as I know that I am not cheating." It seems to me this line of thought is detrimental to what Moravian College should stand for. If this unhealthy attitude persists it will eventually destroy the ideals of those few students (these students do exist) who desire to make our college a place to be proud of.

First of all, a student should strive to "know thyself." However, we should not stop here; but rather, we should assist our fellow students to know themselves.

It is the duty of the professors to present us with the facts of education, but it is our fellow students, more than our professors, who mold character. Therefore, if we take the "I do care attitude," we can, with pride, say "I go to Moravian."

Sincerely,
Chester Galle '61

Medical College President To Speak At Convocation

The speaker for the Women's Founders Day convocation to be held on Thursday, May 5, is Dr. Marion Fay, president of the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania, which is located in Philadelphia.

A tea will be held in conjunction with the ceremonies for the Women's Founders Day that afternoon in the President's Reception Room on South Campus.

The tea, which will honor Dr. Fay, will extend from 3:15 to 4 p.m., and all students are invited to attend so that they can informally meet and talk with Dr. Fay, Halcyon Sartwell, Dean of Women, stated this week.

The concluding ceremony will take place at the Daughters' of the American Revolution House in West Bethlehem at 7:00 p.m. At that time, a wreath will be placed on the tomb of an Unknown Soldier of the Revolutionary War by representatives of the heads of the women's organizations.

The two social sororities and the Women's Activity Committee and the Women's Athletic Association will be represented.

A wreath has been placed there annually for the last five years in commemoration of the founding of the former Moravian College for Women. Students and faculty are invited to attend, according to Dean Sartwell.

Taps will be played at the ceremony.

Dr. Fay will be the recipient of an honorary degree at the commencement exercises which will be held in June.

She received the Bachelor of Arts degree at Tulane University in 1915 and the Masters degree at Colorado University in 1922. In 1925, Dr. Fay was granted the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in physiological chemistry from Yale University.

She has taught at Colorado, Yale, and the University of Texas. In 1935 she became a professor at the Women's Medical College and was made dean in 1946.

Dr. Fay has been included in Who's Who in American Men of Science.

Farewell Queen Pix Due By Monday

Pictures of candidates for Senior Farewell Queen must be submitted to the Social Activities Committee for judging by Monday, May 2, at 5 p.m. Any girl who will be escorted to the annual affair is eligible for the honor.

Pictures may be of any size. Newspaper clippings will not be accepted.

The name and home town of the girl and the name of her escort must be printed on the back of the picture. Pictures may be given to any member of SAC or may be turned in to the main reception office on North Campus.

Five finalists will be chosen from the pictures submitted. These girls and their escorts are then expected to attend the Queen's Dinner the evening of Senior Farewell, Friday, May 6. The dinner will be held in the South Campus dining hall.

At this time, the HiLo's and orchestra leader Matt Gillespie will choose the queen. Her identity, however, will not be announced until intermission at the dance.

Eighteen Hour Summer School Limit is Set

Moravian College will accept a total of no more than 18 credit hours of summer school taken at another institution during a student's four years at Moravian, announced Marlyn A. Rader, Dean of Instruction, early this week.

In conjunction with this, a student will not be permitted to take more than nine credit hours in any one summer, Rader continued. However, the student will be able to take summer school work at Moravian in addition to the 18 credit hour total accepted from other schools.

The reason for this change in policy, Rader stated, is that "if we feel that there is a uniqueness about a degree granted by Moravian, we feel that we must set a limit at 18 hours.

"We don't feel that accepting more than 18 credit hours gives the student the integration of work that we have planned at Moravian," Rader continued.

Before this regulation was adopted, individual cases concerning acceptance of credits were handled by the Executive Committee, Rader concluded.

Philosophers Will Discuss On May 18

A discussion will be held by Dr. Adolf Grunbaum, professor of philosophy at Lehigh University, and Dr. Frederick W. McConnell, instructor in philosophy at Moravian, on May 18 at a place and time to be released later.

The event will be sponsored jointly by Phi Sigma Tau, newly reorganized philosophical fraternity, and The Comenian.

At a convocation this semester, Grunbaum stated his views on the topic, "The Science of Human Behavior." Grunbaum, a determinist, said that, "man exhibits regularities similar to those exhibited by nature," and that "man is an integral part of nature."

Bernard Staller has made arrangements for the program, which will be open to students free of charge.

College Pre-Medical Students Attend Banquet, Conference

Pre-medical students from the five Lehigh Valley colleges, including a number from Moravian, will attend an annual banquet to be held at Cedar Crest College, Wednesday, May 4, at 6:30 p.m.

Following the dinner, Dr. R. C. Truex, professor of anatomy and chairman of the department of anatomy at the Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia, will address the guests on the topic "Whales, Hearts and Things."

The annual banquet is conducted at a different Lehigh Valley College each year. Moravian was host in 1956 and will again be host next year.

Last weekend eight Moravian students and two faculty members attended the 14th annual Eastern Colleges Science Conference at Hunter College in New York City.

Eighty colleges and universities participated in the conference, which heard nationally and internationally known lecturers in the various fields of science, including Dr. Margaret Mead, the world-renowned anthropologist and Dr. Solomon E. Asch, social and experimental psychologist.

Attending the conference were Jacob Elliott, Peter Gill, Faith Hartman, Earl Pfeiffer, Ted Neidengard, Victor Shen, Edward Streubert and Edward West. Faculty members accompanying the group were Dr. Albert E. H. Gaumer, professor of biology and chairman of the biology department, and Kenneth A. Bergstresser, associate professor of biology.

Choir Guests

Richard Schantz, assistant professor of music, and director of the college choir, invites any students interested in auditioning for the group next fall, to attend any of the choir's remaining rehearsals on May 2, 4, 9, 11, and 13. All rehearsals are held in the South Campus chapel from 3:30-5:15 p.m.

Women's Organization Plans National Affiliation

The Women's Activities Committee (WAC) on Tuesday April 26 in the North Campus Chapel voted to affiliate with the Inter-Collegiate Association of Women Students. The move is subject to the approval of the United Student Government (USG).

The association, a national women's student organization, is a member of the Commission on Student Personnel and the Commission on the Education of Women.

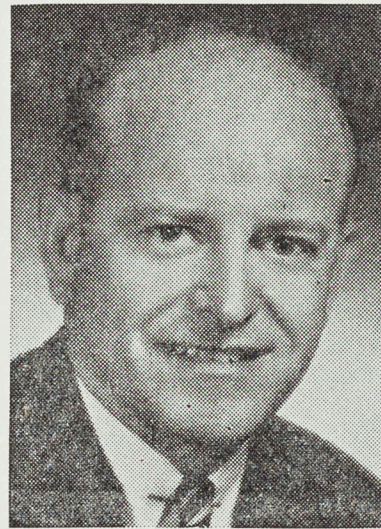

WAC was contacted by the national organization through the college administration in the early part of March.

Information sheets were handed out at one of the convocations in March. Discussion followed and vote was taken on Tuesday. This action was under the supervision of former chairman, Dora Thomas.

The idea for the national organization originated at the University of Wisconsin in 1914. Since that time numerous other colleges have become affiliated with the organization. It sponsors an annual convocation which deals with topics of interest to college women.

One of the main functions of WAC has been to hear and review any complaints that women of the college might have. The Council has requested that if any women have complaints which would come under the jurisdiction of WAC, they should contact a member of that organization.

Audubon Tours Finish Season Tomorrow Night

William A. Anderson

"Designs for Survival," a natural color film to be presented by William A. Anderson, will highlight the final program of the Audubon Screen Tours tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Johnston Hall.

The film tells the story of the constant struggle in both the animal and plant kingdom to adapt to nature's design which is aimed at the perpetuation of species.

Anderson, a resident of Homestead, Florida, was launched upon his nature film career by a film, "Monarch Butterfly Story" made in conjunction with his wife.

He and his wife have been pursuing this career for the past 10 years and have done research, written scripts, edited and sound tracked 16 classroom nature films as well as supplying sequences for three of Walt Disney's "Oscar" winning nature films.

United Nations Trip Planned By P A C

Members of the Political Activities Committee and the class in International Organization will participate in a field trip to the United Nations headquarters in New York City Tuesday, May 3.

The morning program will be devoted to attending committee meetings and in the afternoon the group will meet with members of the American delegation and members of the delegation from the United Arab Republic.

Pranksters Paint Dog Statues; Place Keg In Comenius' Arms

The cast iron greyhound statues located on either side of the main entrance of Johnston Hall were painted red late Monday night by some unidentified pranksters and a beer barrel was placed in the arms of the statue of John Amos Comenius sometime during the same night, announced Paul A. Cunningham, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds on Tuesday.

Cunningham said that no action will be taken in regard to these pranks other than the repainting of the greyhound statues.

Three Players Share Wins As Netmen Drop Fourth

In losing to Muhlenberg 5-4, Moravian's tennis team came as close to victory last Tuesday as they have been all year. The Hound's record now stands 0-4.

In the singles play, the Moravian netmen were able to split with the Mules, each team winning three matches. The singles winners for the Hounds were Bob Lipkin, Ken Walsh, and John Bregman.

In the doubles competition the Hounds did not come out so well, losing two out of three matches. The only Moravian combo to win in doubles was that of Bregman and Walsh.

In the singles action Lipkin and Walsh won in three sets over Leon Silverman and Nate Mirch, while Bregman won over Bruce Fryer in two sets.

George Fiegel lost to Bob Lavine in three sets, while Carl Siegfried lost in the same number of sets to Gary Kushner. Moravian's Dick Spaugh lost to Dick Kirschebaum in two sets.

In the doubles action, Lipkin and Fiegel lost to Silverman and Lavine in three sets, while Spaugh and Tom Christianson lost in two sets.

Moravian's only doubles victors, Bregman and Walsh defeated Barry Weisner and Terry Sweder in two sets.

The Sports Story

by George Fiegel

This is my last week as sports editor of THE COMENIAN. As of the next issue of this newspaper Jay Scholl and Tom Fromhartz will become co-sports editors. These are both very competent men and will "carry the ball" quite efficiently. I will, however, continue my column until the end of the year . . . Too bad, you didn't get rid of me yet!

The golf team is really moving by winning their first four meets, as of April 25. The netmen have done just the opposite up to that date.

The baseballers got back on the winning trail after losing their second to a tough Temple team. The pitching by the veterans and newcomers of the team has been especially good.

The annual sports banquet is being held May 17 in the South Campus Dining Hall as shown in another article in THE COMENIAN. This is always a great experience for the athletes and I urge all such students to attend. Those blankets are nice.

That's the sports story for this week.

Hound Linksmen Open Season; Defeat First Four Opponents

The Greyhound linksmen, coached by Harold Bilheimer, opened their season last week with impressive wins against Upsala 14½-3½, Haverford 13-5, Wilkes 12-6, and Muhlenberg 15-3. Upsala results:

Rick Swanson (U) def. Bob Volko, 3-0; Ducky Potter (M) def. Bob Magee, 3-0; Gene Salay (M) def. Herb Ross, 2½-½; Frank Sofka (M) def. Corp Aubry, 3-0; Jim Kovacs (M) def. John Suchnon, 3-0; Bob Pastir (M) def. Bob Bioren 3-0.

Stickmen Win On Freshmen's One Hit Effort

Freshman hurler Barry Shollenberger added 11 strikeouts to his total in picking up a 3-2 win against St. Joseph last Monday afternoon.

Shollenberger gave up only one hit in eight innings in a game which was shortened by rain. His second win of the season gave the Hounds a 5-1 record.

The Greyhounds threatened to score in the first inning when Jeff Gannon doubled and Bill Hershey was safe on an infield error. Charlie Gilbert was hit by a pitched ball to load the bases, but the rally failed when Dick Chergey popped out. Shollenberger fanned, and Hal Rice lined out to the shortstop.

After Chergey flied out, Shollenberger got on on a boot. Rice then singled Gilbert home with the Hounds first score.

Shollenberger started the Hounds two run sixth with a walk. Rice struck out while the St. Joe's hurler balked and sent Shollenberger to second. John Bowman walked and Shollenberger moved to third on a passed ball. Gene Jani walked to load the bases.

Don Vogel then came on as a pinch hitter and hit what should have been a double play ball. But Joe Bisil in attempting to go for two, threw the ball into left field allowing two runs to score.

St. Joe's got into the game in the seventh inning scoring two runs on a Hal Rice error, two walks and an Ed Avince single which scored two runs.

Batmen Travel For Two; Face Lafayette, Dickinson

The Moravian baseball team will be faced with two away games on two straight days next week.

The Hounds will be at Dickinson, May 4. Dickinson was on the short side of an 8-2 count in their game with Moravian last year and should provide another good game this year for the Hounds.

Lafayette, usually fielding a strong team, has had a disappointing record this year. They have won four games and lost five. Wins were recorded over Upsala, Seton Hall, Fordham, and Syracuse. Losses came at the hands of Bucknell, Penn State, Lehigh, Muhlenberg, and LaSalle.

The reason for this record can be traced to Lafayette's pitching staff. The staff has not had a pitcher go the full route to date. Leading returning pitchers from last year are Bill Evenko, Gene Parsons, and last year's freshman team ace, Dick Eckenfelder. Evanko had a 4-1 record and 1.94 earned run average.

Leading hitters are second baseman, Bob Kessler and outfielder, Captain Bill MacDonald. Kessler batted .419 and had 22 R.B.I.'s and MacDonald batted .378 last season.

Shollenberger Fans 17; Baseballers Win Third

Swarthmore, Muhlenberg, and Lebanon Valley were the diamondmen's second, third, and fourth victims respectively. The games were played on Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday of last week, with Muhlenberg being the only away game.

Behind the fine three-hit pitching of Jim Gano, the Hounds stopped the Swarthmore nine. Gano walked seven and fanned eight. Moravian scored one of their two runs in the fourth inning when Bill Hershey walked, was sacrificed to second, and rode home on a Dick Chergey single.

Barry Shollenberger's first start of the season was quite an occa-

Netmen Travel; To Face F & M On Rival Court

The Greyhound netmen travel to Lancaster this afternoon to face Franklin and Marshall. The tennis team will be trying to post its first win against the Diplomats, after losing their first five matches.

Next week the Greyhounds' courtmen have a busy schedule with two matches on May 3 and 4 respectively. On Tuesday they play Hofstra at home at 3:00 P.M. On Wednesday they face Dickinson at Carlisle.

The probable starting line-up for Moravian in the three matches will be: Robert Lipkin, George Fiegel, Dick Spaugh, Ken Walsh, John Bregman and Carl Siegfried.

sion for the young hurler. Seventeen 'Bergmen went out via the strikeout route as Moravian won 8-4. Although allowing only 5 hits, Shollenberger and his mates needed a six run fourth inning to decide the game.

Charlie Gilbert and John Bowman singled home two runs apiece in the big inning. 'Berg pitcher Dave Jones walked Hershey and Chergey with the bases loaded to force another two runs across.

A triple by Chergey and an error by Jim Nonnemaker on Hal Rice's grounder accounted for the third inning run.

In the fourth inning of the Valley game, Klucharich walked, and Don Vogel got on by an infield error. Shollenberger singled, scoring Klucharich. With one out, Chergey blasted a three run homer. Both teams exchanged single tallies in the fifth and sixth innings before the Hounds added three in the seventh.

With the bases loaded via walks and errors, Chergey scored on a wild pick off attempt. A single by Fritz brought home two more tallies.

Faulty Greyhound fielding in the ninth inning opened the gates for a three run Valley outburst. The Hounds won 8-4.

only members which could technically retain membership in this respect is the Board of Publications.

Leeb's motion was defeated, and no other action was taken to remove other organizations from USG under the above stipulations. Besides the I-F Council, Epsilon Beta Alpha and the Inter-Sorority Council have exceeded the allowed number of absences.

Alan Lippman suggested that USG officers be required to notify individual organizations when they fail to fulfill their responsibilities under the constitution, before they are voted out of good standing. A motion to this effect was passed.

In other business, a $20 allocation was given to The Comenian to cover partial expenses for the appearance of Dr. Adolf Grunbaum of Lehigh University on May 11, when he will engage in a discussion with Dr. Frederick W. McConnell, instructor in philosophy. (See story on page 3.)

The Women's Activities Committee was voted $25 to cover the expense of dues to the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students, which the group has recently joined. (See story on page 3.)

Neil Romanoff, United States National Student Association coordinator, reported that he has had no reply to a recent inquiry of NSA for information on the World University Service. The WUS appealed at USG's last meeting for student aid to needy students in foreign countries. The matter was tabled until a communication from NSA is received.

Paul Graf, chairman of the band committee reported that the problem of band organization will shortly be taken up by the college administration.

Jane Albrecht, member of the newly-appointed committee to investigate the feasibility of implementing an honor system here, reported that the committee has decided to send questionnaires to area colleges inquiring of their attitudes toward honor systems.

Also, questionnaires will be submitted to students and faculty of the college to determine present reaction to such a program. Stephanie Rights, chairman of the committee, announced that subcommittees will be appointed to work with the committee proper.

Lippman, chairman of the committee to investigate possible revision of the grading system of the college, reported that he had conferred with Dean of Instruction Marlyn A. Rader, who said that the college administration and faculty would be receptive to any work USG might do in this direction.

Lippman will meet with college president Raymond S. Hauptert to determine whether a student-faculty committee could be formed in this matter.

French Takes Beck Contest Top Honors

Peter L. French, political science major from Plainfield, N. J., was awarded first place in the annual James M. Beck oratorical contest, held Thursday, April 21, at a student convocation program in Johnston Hall.

French addressed students and guests on "The Challenge of the Liberal Arts Institution."

The liberal arts college, he stated, "must nurture in the student a wide breadth of knowledge." In addition, the student "must be made aware of the powers he possesses as a citizen." Finally, French said, "a powerful sense of moral integrity" should be inculcated.

Other participants in the contest were William Cordray, who spoke on "United States Foreign Policy;" David Howard, "Science Fiction — Trash of Treasure;" Theodore Rights, "Christianity Today;" and Wasil Yurchak, "Anxiety — A Twentieth Century Approach."

French was awarded $25 for first place, Cordray received $15 for second, and Rights $10 for third.

Judges for the contest were Frank W. Broad, Robert S. Lukens, and William S. Zieger, Bethlehem educators.

Faculty Committees To Give Honors Program Oral Exams

The grand finale of this year's Honors Program will begin on Tuesday, May 3 when the first oral examination will be administered. Examinations will continue until May 12.

According to George Tyler, professor of classical languages and chairman of the Honors Committee, each examining committee will consist of a director and two other examiners chosen from the related fields of the submitted papers.

The examination will cover the paper presented by the particular student and the field immediately supporting the subject. It is entirely oral and not comprehensive. In a few cases, an attempt will be made to procure an outside examiner on the committee.

All faculty members are welcome to sit in at each oral examination, although only the specially appointed examiners will vote on the person who was given the examination.

Government Okays Student Union Loan

Word was received earlier this week from United States Senator Hugh Scott from Pennsylvania that the Federal Community Facilities Administration will approve a loan of $530,000 to build a student union building on campus.

"This loan, to be matched by $195,000 of the school's own funds, will provide a structure to replace a present dining hall that is nearly 70 years old," Senator Scott said.

Robert P. Snyder, Director of Development, stated that the ground-breaking ceremonies would take place sometime in the early summer, but that it could not be done before the semester is over.

Scott will be at Moravian on September 22 for the first convocation of the fall semester. He will also address individual classes.
