College Choir Plans Busy Program For Fall; Season To Open With Hymn Performance

The Moravian College Choir, now consisting of 53 members, is contemplating a busy, successful season this year. Several engagements have been scheduled but there are no definite plans as yet completed for a spring tour.

The first choir performance will take place Oct. 8 when Richard R. Schantz, assistant professor of music and choir director, will conduct some demonstration numbers of old Moravian Church music to the annual Pennsylvania German Society meeting, on this campus. Two of the numbers which Schantz plans to have are Michael's "Hearken! Stay close to Jesus Christ," and Wollé's "For Me, O Lord, My God."

The choir's next engagement is on Nov. 8 when it will sing for the State Convention of Pennsylvania Ministerial Federation in Harrisburg.

Twenty-three of the 53 choir members are new this year. They are: Sopranos, Carol Apple, Vic-

Tenors Joseph Merola, Henry Solt, Harold Schlimchlin, John Freyberger, Carl Siegfried, and Gerald Still; and Basses Byron Waterman, Kenneth Briggs, Allen Zeckman, and James Wyrten are also included.

College Band Plans Program For Fall Term

The Moravian College Band will be featured at all home football games and several away games, Ray Huston, director, has announced. He also hopes to sponsor various social activities on campus during the year and to have some instrumental ensembles perform at convocations.

The band will rehearse in the Girl's Gym, South Campus, every Wednesday at 3:30 p.m.

To date 25 freshmen have tried out for the band. All students with band experience have been urged by the director to try out and attend band rehearsals.

Huston will be in his office, Room 61, South Campus, for interviews on Wednesdays and Fridays from 2:30 until 3:30 p.m.

Union Ceremonies Set For Tomorrow

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the student union building will be conducted tomorrow at 1:30 p.m., before the football game.

Presiding at the 15-minute ceremonies will be college President Dr. Raymond S. Haupt and participating in the program will be members of the college Board of Trustees and students.

Chairman of the Board, Dr. Frederick P. Stocker will turn the first spadeful. Others taking part will be officers of the Board, William Needs, chairman of the Student Union Committee, and James MacDonald, United Student Government president.

The ceremonies will take place at the southwest corner of the location on Monocacy St.

English Department Revamps Program For Senior Majors

The Department of English has instituted a new program for senior English majors, which amounts to the introduction of a comprehensive final examination and the elimination of individual quizzes and assigned papers in the senior seminar.

Also part of the new program is a plan to put final spring term English examinations for seniors on a voluntary basis. Under this plan senior English majors may elect to forego taking the final examination in English courses which they will be taking in the spring semester.

The program is planned for this year on an experimental basis, and was decided upon by members of the faculty of the English department.

Dr. Alan F. Herr, professor of English and chairman of the department, is directing the program. The senior seminar will be conducted by various members of the department, who will prepare seminars according to their fields of interest or training.

Although the idea of comprehensive departmental examinations for students in a particular major field is not new, such programs are presently in the experimental stage at numerous other colleges.

Other departments here are also considering the program for adaptation, but the matter is still in the theoretical stage and it is not anticipated that specific action will be taken this year toward the institution of such programs in other departments.

Format of Program

The format of the senior English seminar will attempt to incorporate material designed to serve as an inclusive review of literature and is designed to aid the student to prepare for his final comprehensive examination at the end of the spring semester.

Audubon Screen Tours Begin With Jungle Film Next Week

The Audubon Screen Tours, a program presented by the Moravian College Conservation Association and the National Audubon Society, will begin its twelfth season here on Oct. 8. Leading naturalists will present color motion picture programs which purpose to promote wildlife protection and conservation.

Student Politicos To Debate Issues

William Cordray, junior from Philadelphia, and Ronald Stupak, senior from Allentown will engage in a debate Tuesday at noon on the issues and candidates in the current presidential campaign.

The debate will take place on the lawn behind Comenius Hall and will be moderated by John Pasco, president of the Veteran's Association, which is sponsoring the event.

Cordray, who will debate the republican platform, is majoring in business administration and is president of the Political Activities Club.

Stupak, a democrat, is vice-president of the Political Activities Club and student government representative of the Veteran's Association.

Scott Nominated Sec'y.; Preliminaries Oct. 3 & 4

Nominations were accepted for the position of United Student Government (USG) secretary to fill the office left vacant by Susan Wilbraham at a meeting held Tuesday evening.

The name of Jeanne Scott was the only one placed in nomination. The preliminary election at which write-in votes may be made will be held on Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 3 and 4 in the lobby of Comenius Hall. If there are any write-in votes, a final election will be held the following week.

James Naisby, vice president of USG, stated that the second year of the freshman orientation program "has generally worked out very well" and "has improved considerably over last year's program."

Naisby added that identification tickets will be collected at the meetings that will be held to acquaint the freshmen with campus life, and that all freshmen will be required to attend. The orientation committee will also assist the Social Activities Committee with the traditional freshman pajama parade and the "tug o' war" which will be held during half time at the Homecoming game.

Naisby also stated that any member of the freshman class not complying with the rules that deal with the wearing of dinks and buttons will be referred to either the dean of women or the dean of men.

A suggestion was made that the student handbooks be placed in the packets along with the other information at registration.

Thomas Christianson, treasurer of USG, reported that the balance from the year 1959-1960 was $1,103.76. He also stated that budgets for the year 1960-1961 will be due next Tuesday, Oct. 4 at 5 p.m., and that any organization not submitting a budget by that time will not receive an allocation.

The budget committee will meet next week to act on the budgets of the various organizations for the year. The committee consists of Christianson, chairman, Paul Graf, Robert Ftzinger, Marta Roberts, James MacDonald, president

Three Seniors To Participate In Honor Study

Three senior students will be participating in the honors study program this year, Dr. Lloyd L. Burkhart, professor of English and chairman of the Honors Committee, announced this week.

Cynthia Geiman, of Bridgeport, Conn., will be studying in the Department of English under Robert T. Burcaw, assistant professor of English. Her subject is to be Eugene O'Neill.

Earl Pfeiffer, of Coopersburg, Pa., will be investigating Basic Non-Linear Electrical Resistance Elements and will be studying under Jack R. Ridge, associate professor of physics.

Rita Roseman, of Hellertown, will be studying the French poet and playwright, Paul Claudel, under Mrs. Jean Beecher, assistant professor of French.

This year's program, with three participants, represents a decrease of nine in the number of students taking advantage of the course offering last year. Last year, the initial year of the program, saw twelve students participating.

Tyler Discusses 'Truth' At Convo

Speaking on the subject of Truth at yesterday's convocation in Johnston Hall, Professor George Tyler, head of the classics department at the college, stated that truth lies not in the absolute but in the individual.

Tyler raised the question, "How can we know when we have found truth?" He answered by saying that we can't prove truth; the only way we can find it is through total commitment.

In commenting on the nature of truth, Tyler quoted Jesus as saying, "I am the truth" . . . and stated that God and Jesus are the same truth.

In further consideration of the topic, Tyler expounded on Aristotle's views on the values of truth and life as well as other philosophical views on the matter.

Concerning The Band

The beginning of the football season at Moravian annually brings to mind the subject of the college band, an organization which ideally should play a prominent role in the fall sports schedule. Unfortunately, in the past several years, the band has not lived up to "pre-season expectations."

For some reason or other the band's annual plans have continually failed and as a result the band unfortunately has become the "black sheep" of the college family.

This year Director Huston has once again announced plans for a program which, if carried out, should provide the first successful year the band has enjoyed in many years.

We are hopeful that the group can redeem itself but it faces many obstacles. When the Arts Building was remodeled last year the band lost its rehearsal quarters. Members are in need of uniforms. Their past rehearsals have lacked unity and organization, and general student interest has not been high.

Because of this, the school administration has announced that the band will be put on a one year trial—a move which, we feel, should have been enacted several years ago. If the band does not show definite signs of improvement this year there will be a major "shake-up" in the organization, a plan which we heartily endorse.

An analogy to the band situation can be made with the condition of the College Glee Club of several years ago. Granted the situation then was not as grave as is the band's present position but a new director, possibly also the answer to the band's problem, completely inspired, revitalized and reorganized the Glee Club into one of the finest vocal organizations in the area.

If this trial period evinces no improvement in the band, we urge the administration to take steps as they did in the case of the choir. A band is too important an organization to let its potential lie dormant.

In further connection with the band and in an effort to promote cooperation and interest—has expressed a desire to co-sponsor with the band a "jazz session" in the spring semester. This is the latest of a number of most worthwhile projects which the Moravian Vets have initiated.

The Veterans Organization

Through their efforts Moravian College was able to obtain the flag which flew over the Capitol on July 4. This flag was presented to the college at a recent convocation. Then more recently, the Vets decided to donate $25 to Phi Sigma Tau, the newly organized philosophy fraternity, in an effort to help expand and develop the society. Next week they are sponsoring the first in a series of political debates to be held on the lawn behind Comenius Hall.

The interest shown in other organizations by the Vets is to be sincerely commended. Their helpful pace-setting programs, displaying an attitude of co-operation and campus advancement, should be carefully observed and followed by other campus organizations.

USNSA Organized To Deal With Issues Involving Several Facets Of Student Life

This is the first in a series of articles which will appear periodically dealing with the operations of the United States National Student Association. The following discussion is concerned with the nature and function of the organization.

by Alan Lippman

At a time of swelling collegiate enrollments, of increasing recognition of the importance of the student's role in the world community, and of deepening involvement of students in local, national, and even international situations, there has arisen in this country a unique organization, the United States National Student Association.

There are perhaps two broad generalizations by which the operation of the organization may be characterized. First, NSA is the only completely student-controlled body devoted exclusively to serving the needs of American students. Similar organizations exist in foreign countries (such as The Union Nationale des Etudiants de France and the Federation de las Universitarias Argentine), but this is the only one of its kind in this country.

Second, NSA has endeavored since its inception to discover and represent as accurately as possible interests, problems, and aspirations of the American student.

What, specifically, does NSA do? In the first place, it performs many services for its member colleges, such as publishing special materials dealing with campus problems and intra-college interests. It publishes a national intercollegiate newspaper. It also provides extensive research and information facilities and furnishes opportunities for student participation in national seminars and international student exchange programs.

Further, NSA operates inexpensive student travel programs and work-study projects. Each summer it conducts a series of conferences for student leaders and the National Student Congress, a policy-making body of American students who determine what projects the organization will sponsor and undertake.

NSA is one of the major proponents of student activity in educational areas. Sponsoring such projects as "Student Responsibility," NSA motivates and assists individual campuses in helping to solve problems of academic freedom and educational planning. The organization sponsors an annual "Academic Freedom Week."

nual "Academic Freedom Week."

The NSA's Student Government Information Service serves as a research and information center for consultation on student administrative problems on the campus. NSA further conducts research projects into the nature and effectiveness of student government, through the Ford Foundation-sponsored Student Activities Research Study.

NSA's international program is one of the most extensive in the student field. The Association represents this country at the International Student Conference and acts as a liaison with students throughout the world. Under the Student Leadership Project, foreign student leaders are brought to this country for study and for investigation of the American collegiate system.

In addition, NSA awards scholarships for foreign study to American students, and sponsors an annual Conference on Foreign Student Affairs. Also, NSA provides opportunities for low-cost student travel in foreign countries each summer.

The Association is, in addition to all this, the voice for the American student community. It is (Cont. on p. 4, col. 3)

Charles Univ. Rector Praises College And Success Of Statue Presentation

The following is a portion of an article written by Dr. Jaroslav Prochazka, Rector, Charles University, Prague, which was printed in the student publication of Charles University, and which commented on the trip to the United States of the Czechoslovakian delegation last March in observance of Comenius Day.

March 28 this year, 368 years have passed since the birth of John Amos Comenius. This is also a day for teachers. On this special day in the United States of America, at the city of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, I unveiled, in the name of Charles University, a statue of John Amos Comenius and transferred it into the care and keeping of Moravian College.

The delegation sent by the Ministry of Education and Culture took part in this festival activity. Other members of the delegation were the Pro-Rector of Polacky University at Olomouc, Prof. Ivan Poldauf, and the Secretary of the Czech Brethren Unity, Radim Kalfus.

We were received most cordially and fraternally in Bethlehem. Largely due to, above all, the President of Moravian College, Dr. Raymond S. Hauptert. For the unveiling of the statue proper, preparations had been made with a printed program and inviting guests.

The aim of the delegation was to hand over and unveil the Comenius statue and to make official visits at certain universities. This aim the delegation fulfilled. The trip of the delegation must be considered a beginning of much close ties between the Universities of CSR and USA. Friendly receptions, which we experienced, present the hope that it will be possible to extend such contacts.

Presentation and unveiling of the statue of Comenius was for our time symbolic. Comenius's desire for peace came out of the horrible experience which he experienced and which struck the Czech people and his homeland. Comenius strove for more than just peace, he strove for international cooperation. He visualized that peace would mean not only cessation of the terrors of war, but would lead also to an exchange of experiences, findings of science and culture, raw materials and manufactures between nations. Our delegation which presented and unveiled the statue of Comenius in the United States, had, therefore, a peaceful message.

Two Dignitaries Issue Greetings

During the summer, college President Dr. Raymond S. Hauptert received a letter from Dr. Radim Kalfus, secretary of the Moravian Church in Czechoslovakia, while Kalfus was visiting Dr. Albert Schweitzer in Equatorial Africa. Appended to the letter were remarks made by Schweitzer and both are reprinted below.

Kalfus was one of the foreign dignitaries present last March 28 for the celebration of the 368th anniversary here of the birth of John Amos Comenius, the educator.

Kalfus' message stated:

"Best wishes and memories to you, Brother Hauptert, to your family, to the student body and to all professors of our Moravian College from Lambarene, where I have spent good days with Dr. Albert Schweitzer."

Schweitzer added the following: "My best wishes for the life and work of Moravian College."

Scott Nominated . . .

of USG, and Harvey T. D. Gillespie, Dean of Men.

Christianson further stated that any member of USG that receives dues or any other outside money must turn it over to USG.

Reports were given by Christianson and Alan Lippman on the conferences sponsored by the United States National Student Association and held this summer at the University of Minnesota. A number of speakers and a series of workshops on the various aspects of the student government and the student newspaper were presented at the conference.

Under old business, the problem of what to do about the band was brought up. Graf, chairman of the band committee, stated that the band will be under a one year trial period by the administration. If, by that time, improvement has not been made, there will be a "shake-up" in the organization of the band.

Since the Elections Committee has not yet been fully chosen and will not be approved by USG before the election of a new USG secretary, a motion was made to the effect that MacDonald would be given the power to approve the committee until the next USG meeting. This list of committee members will be printed in The Comenian, and if there is any reason why any person should not be on this committee, it will be brought to USG's attention.

The Veterans' Association was commended by USG as a worthwhile organization, having been instrumental in getting the United States flag for the college and in helping out in other capacities on the campus.

A motion was passed stating that Alpha Phi Omega, the campus service fraternity, be in charge of running a collection under the auspices of USG to gather funds for the Community Chest.

Athletic Abilities Tell Story Of Calvo's Life and Career

by Bob Fatzinger

Athletics have been an integral part in the career of Rocco Calvo. His athletic prowess and ability were displayed on the gridirons of both Bethlehem High School and Cornell University.

Calvo's athletic abilities are now being utilized in the coaching capacity, being head coach of both the football and basketball teams, as well as the college physical education instructor.

Calvo's name first came into sports prominence when he quarterbacked the 1945-1948 football teams for the Red and Blue of Bethlehem High. Under the tutelage of Cornell coach Lefty James, Calvo went on to become one of the Ivy League's better field generals.

In 1949 he guided the Ithaca team to its second consecutive Ivy League Championship.

With Calvo quarterbacking the Cornell varsity from 1949-1952 they boasted a 2-1 record against their biggest rival, the University of Pennsylvania. Upon graduating with a B.A. in Economics, Calvo was inducted into the armed forces.

ROCCO CALVO

Stationed at Fort Lee, Virginia, Calvo played service ball in the fall of 1952. Name professional players complemented the rosters of this fast moving league. The Fort Lee entrant compiled an 8-1 record.

Calvo's tour of duty also included a nine month overseas hitch in Korea. After his discharge in 1954, he replaced Jim

The Moravian College Harriers, under the guidance of Coach Paul Kuklantz, are busy preparing for their first match of the season next Tuesday, when they meet Elizabethtown. Kuklantz has not yet announced his starters.

Last year, the Harriers bowed to the Elizabethtown squad by a score of 21-34. Elizabethtown captured the top two slots.

Jim Worman was the top Moravian runner, capturing third. He was followed by George Fiegel in fourth.

The Harriers have seven returning lettermen. George Fiegel, Jim Worman, Tom Grammes, Byron Borst, Jack Jacob, Hank Sunyak, and Rod Rathbun have all won their varsity sweaters.

There are a number of freshmen who should prove tough competition for the lettermen in the battle for starting positions.

Shreve as head football coach in February of 1955.

Starting off with a successful 6-2 campaign, Calvo has compiled a respectable 22-15-1 record over the past five seasons.

During this period coach Calvo has developed such outstanding gridiron stars as Paul Slifka, Champ Storch, and Rod Miller. Storch was nominated for All-State Pennsylvania teams, while Miller was selected Most Valuable Player at Moravian during the 1956-1957 seasons.

According to Calvo, the 30-20 upset victory over heavily favored Muhlenberg in 1958 was his most satisfying experience in the coaching ranks.

In 1957, Calvo assumed the role of head basketball coach, replacing H.T.D. Gillespie. His teams have compiled an admirable 39-24 record. Fritz Toner and Ducky Potter rank as two of the outstanding men guided by Calvo.

With the first 1960 gridiron contest only a day away, Calvo was asked to comment on the outlook for the entire season. He replied, "Even with more depth, speed, and potential this will be the toughest season in six years in that every team will be a conference contender."

He also indicates that with only four seniors and four juniors on the squad, the sophomores and freshmen must do the bulk of the work.

What exactly is coach Calvo's formula for success? The two main factors involve personnel and the ability on the part of the coach to instill desire into the squad, thus enhancing the prospects for a winning season.

Calvo has shown these factors in his years at Moravian and if he continues them he will in all probability maintain the fine record he has established.

Grayhounds To Open Season; Face Wilkes In First Contest

Gridders Aim For 4th Straight Over Colonels

The Moravian Greyhounds will attempt to prolong their football superiority over the Wilkes Colonels tomorrow on the Moravian football field. During the last three years Moravian has beaten the Colonel's team by scores of 19-7, 30-8, and 28-6.

The main strength of this year's team will be built around the nucleus of four returning senior lettermen. The quartet consists of John Olson and Jim Kritis at the end positions, Sam Maczko at tackle, and Jeff Gannon at halfback.

The probable starting lineup for Saturday's opener for Moravian is as follows: Jim Kritis and Jesse Kiefer at the end positions, Ed Weinhofer and Jim Mazza at the guard slots, Sam Maczko and Tony Gawronski at the tackle positions and Dick Bedics at center.

In the backfield, Bucky Yelovich will start at left halfback while Jim Frank starts at right halfback. Either Dave Coe or Bill Hino will be the starting fullback. Andy Semmel or Jabby Williams will be at quarterback.

Wilkes College opened its 1960 football season on Saturday, September 24, at Lebanon Valley. The Flying Dutchmen pushed across a touchdown in the last four minutes of the game to beat the Colonels 14-8.

Wilkes scored on a 40 yard intercepted pass play by Ray Marchikitus followed by the two point running conversion by M.A.C. wrestling champion Marv Antinnes.

The Wilkes team will be strengthened by 12 senior lettermen. The Colonels will be using the I formation this year, which features a strong inside attack.

The Wilkes' squad, consisting of 33 players, is the largest team which the Colonels have had in many years. Halfback Marv Antinnes is considered to be Wilkes' main weapon in the running department.

Six New Cheerleaders Chosen, Plan Rallies For Fall Sports

Janet Heller, a senior from Coplay, was chosen recently to captain the 1960-1961 squad of cheerleaders. Judy Laning Cavanagh was chosen co-captain of the group.

Six new members were selected to enlarge the squad to nine permanent cheerleaders and one substitute. The new members are Winnie Hearn, Sue Kovacs, Richard Atwell, James Dean, Richard Wilsey, and Greta Zigler, the freshman substitute.

Miss Heller announced that three pep rallies are planned for the fall athletic season. The first rally was held last night in Johnston Hall, and was followed by a record dance, sponsored jointly by the cheerleaders and the sophomore class. Pep rallies will also be held before the Lebanon Valley game, which is Homecoming, and the Muhlenberg game.

Three returning members of the squad will be awarded blazers. These members are Janet Heller, Jan Stever and Joseph Burns.

Mrs. Cavanagh is a senior English major residing in Bethlehem.

Burns, a history major, resides in Butler, Pa., and is a member of the junior class.

Miss Kovacs, who is majoring in elementary education, is a freshman from Bethlehem. Miss Ziegler is a member of the freshman class and a medical technician major from Bethlehem.

Dean, who lives in Highland Park, N. J., and Wilsey from Montclair, N. J. are business administration majors and members of the freshmen class. Atwell is a freshman pre-law major from Yonkers, N. Y.

Well gang, here we go again. Moravian starts its season tomorrow and we have to stick our necks out and make a few predictions.

Moravian faces Wilkes in the season opener. The Hounds took the Colonels last year by a 28-6 margin. We look for the stronger Hounds to widen the margin to about 35-8.

T. Fromhartz

In other local games we look for Lafayette to take the Mules of Muhlenberg by two touchdowns. The Leopards were beaten by a powerful Penn eleven last week while the Mules dropped their season's opener to the Albright Lions.

J. Scholl

Lehigh travels to Colgate on Saturday. Colgate upset a highly favored Cornell team last week while the Lehigh squad was doing the same to a highly touted Delaware team. We think Colgate will be too much for Lehigh by one or two TD's.

Now for the big move. The way we see it, the Moravian gridmen will win five games and will drop three. We won't take any bets, but that's the way we see it.

On the cross country scene we look for the Hound harriers to have a .500 record. They'll win four and drop four.

With the World Series coming up, we should make some sort of a prediction. But in this case, we can't make a decision. One of us favors the Pirates while the other is a Yankee fan. So I guess you'll have to flip a coin.

That's all for this week. Don't forget the big contest closes this afternoon.

CONTEST

Below is the Moravian College football schedule for the 1960 season. The person who comes closest to predicting the correct winner and score of all this year's games, will receive a prize of dinner for two and two tickets to any area theater of his choice. Second and third place winners will each receive a desk pen set. All entries will become the property of The Comenian.

Girls Begin Practice For Hockey Season; Six Games Scheduled

Fall is really here! If you have your doubts because of the warm weather of late, just drop by the hockey field on South Campus any afternoon and watch the girls practice field hockey—a popular autumn sport.

While you're watching the girls practice you will see a few members of last year's field hockey team readying themselves for another active season. Returning are Judy Clay, Jan Davis, Bette Dickman, Carol Horscroft, Joan Raidline, Bo Snyder, Judy Studwell and manager, Sue Gares.

The interest in field hockey seems to be very strong this year as there are twelve newcomers to the team.

They are: Andrea Aufder Heydi, Sally Deysner, Anita Filler, Gail Harpel, Irene Kasapyr, Sandra Kuehner, Patti Long, Phyllis Peters, Marta Roberts, Bennie Smith, Susan Sussman, and Sharon Yaeck.

This year's squad will begin a six-game season on Wednesday, Oct. 5 against Muhlenberg in Allentown.

WAC To Preside At 4th Art Show

The annual Founders' Day tea and art show will take place Sunday from 3-5 p.m. in Rooms 9 and 10 of Johnston Hall. Members of the Women's Activities Committee will preside at this fourth Founders' Day art contest.

Students have been invited to attend the program, which features art works submitted by 65 local amateur and professional artists.

This Week's Vespers Feature Rev. Allen

Evening vesper services this Sunday will feature The Rev. Walser Allen, D.D., pastor of Central Moravian Church and vice-president of the college's Board of Trustees, as the speaker, announced Rev. Henry A. Lewis, College Chaplain, early this week.

The series of services is sponsored by the Religious Activities Committee of the college, and by a board of students known as the Sunday Chapel Board. The series was launched last week with John Walker, of Mt. Airy, N. C., a senior at the Moravian Theological Seminary as the speaker.

A fellowship supper is held each week in the North Campus Cafeteria, preceding the service, at 5:15 p.m.

The services are open to the entire college community, and to friends and relatives of students and faculty.

Tonight's Free Movie

The Golden Age of Comedy will be shown tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Johnston Hall as the first of a series of movies to be presented through the year.

According to the Mar. 6, 1958 issue of the Reporter, "There are some very funny sequences in The Golden Age of Comedy."

Laurel and Hardy are present in some of their earliest works. Will Rogers is on hand to ridicule Douglas Fairbanks, Tom Mix, and Ford Sterling. There are also glimpses of Harry Langdon, and Ben Turpin.
