I-F Queen To Be Crowned At Dance Tomorrow Eve 'Who's Who' Cites 15 Seniors For Achievements In College

The four finalists for queen of the Inter-Fraternity dance to be held tomorrow evening were chosen last week by the members of the Inter-fraternity Council (IFC). They are Elaine Fandl, to be escorted by David Larish, Janet Heller, to be escorted by Donald Morrow; Susan Kovacs, to be escorted by Gilbert Knupp; and Jean Martin, to be escorted by Emmanuel Gonzalves.

Recent Election Is Analyzed By 'Politicians'

The following two analyses are written, respectively, by the vice-president and president of the Political Activities Club.

Why Kennedy Won

by Ronald J. Stupak

The reasons why John F. Kennedy became the President-elect in 1960 are quite numerous and most obvious, therefore I shall try to touch only on the major factors.

First, was the factor of a poorly run Republican campaign. By this I mean that Nixon in trying to cover all 50 states tended to ignore the major industrial areas, and did not spend enough time in big electoral vote states.

Also Nixon held off too long in bringing President Eisenhower into the picture and thus made many people think that Nixon was either panicking in the face of defeat or that he did not have the confidence in himself during the final week of a blistering campaign.

Nixon should not have consented to meet Kennedy in the debates for three main reasons; first, he was better known than Kennedy; second, Kennedy is much quicker in replies than is Nixon; and finally, Kennedy is a very handsome man and he made quite an appeal to the women.

Secondly, Kennedy and the Democratic party were quite effective in holding together the so-called "Democratic coalition" and this certainly helped his cause. This coalition is made up of the southern states, labor groups, Negroes, urban Jews, Catholics, and northern liberals.

Finally, a major factor in the Democratic victory was the dynamic personality of John Kennedy. He seemed to radiate confidence, courage and intelligence at all times. He strived hard for victory with a campaign that was keyed very high intellectually and was very well coordinated.

Why Nixon Lost

by Henry Cordray

The Republican Party was defeated in many ways by the Republican Party, but members of the party will not accept this view. But as we look at the cities of Philadelphia under Bill Green, New York under DeSapio and Wagner, and Chicago under Daly, we must accept the fact that we lacked the organization in the big city states.

The queen will be chosen from these four finalists by Eddie Holmes, leader of the orchestra for the dance, during a buffet supper held prior to the dance. She will be crowned during intermission by James Kritis, president of the IFC.

The dance will have an "Indian" theme and will be entitled "Han Wachipi" which means "Night Dance" in the language of the Sioux Indian. Large Indian teepees will dominate the center of the dance floor, and a large teepee along with totem poles will form the back-drop for the bandstand.

Trophies will also be awarded during intermission to the various fraternities for academic and sports achievement and for the best house decorations for the weekend. Three trophies will also be awarded to the winners for the individual sports of football, baseball and basketball.

The IFC is in charge of all the arrangements for the dance. The council consists of Kritis, Patrick Boyle, David Fehnel, William Rinker, John Schlegel and Kenneth Walsh.

80-Voice Yugoslavian Chorus Heard With 'Mixed Emotions'

by Bernard Staller

A polylingual performance by the 80-voice Yugoslavian Branko Krsmanovich Chorus was received with mixed emotions on Wednesday evening in Johnston Hall.

A program of four-fifths Slavic Music and one-fifth from the Renaissance, Baroque and Romantic periods attempted to present a generous portion of Yugoslavian and Russian choral works. At the same time it attempted to satisfy the ear of listeners accustomed to more Western tonalities. In this latter respect, there was more to be desired.

Perhaps it is unfair to criticize the interpretation of Monteverdi's "Credo" since it was the opening selection. Nevertheless, an organization reputed as having won three first prizes in the International Polyphonic Contest, certainly reflected little of the celestial magnificence and clarity of line characteristic of Monteverdi. The Peletin motet, too, was sung very matter-of-factly, lacking the exalting quality of Renaissance liturgical music.

The mystical opening evolved into lighter areas through "Vospojte Gospodi," majestically military with words from the eastern Orthodox ritual. Triumphant chords rang sustained for instants after the end.

A Negro Spiritual was delightfully sung in English with a

'Friars Busy In Workshops, Polishing Their Stage Talents'

by Anne Barnes and Bernard Staller

Blackfriars are still quite busy, although they're not causing their usual commotion by running through the corridors in togas, swinging swords, and carrying sets. This semester the program is somewhat modified. A semi-weekly dramatic workshop, directed by Robert T. Burcaw, assistant professor of English, is training students in basic stage skills.

The group meets on alternate Wednesday evenings in Comenius 301. Poise in stage movements was the topic of one workshop. Sitting down on a chair may appear to be a matter of no consequence, but if an actor misses the chair, while on stage, the results can be more than slapstick.

Prospective actors are taught how to avoid such difficulties, as well as how to speak diaphragmatically, project the voice and maintain proper body carriage.

During one workshop, Tallulah Bankhead was "guest" as students played opposite her "dahlings" her way through a "Co-star" record. Scenes by Ibsen, Coward and Wilde were tape-recorded.

This week the group discussed plans for spring semester performances. A committee was appointed to select three one-act plays for possible performances under student direction.

Also considered was a program in conjunction with the choir entitled "Sounds of the Renaissance." Shakespearean scenes, Elizabethan poetry, and Renaissance prose would be read by the dramatists and music by Renaissance composers would be sung by the choir.

Production of weekly radio plays, to be performed over the proposed campus radio station, was also discussed.

USG AGENDA

1. Evaluation of the Honor System questionnaires.
2. Report by the Grading System Committee.
3. Decision from the administration on the campus radio station.
4. Report by the president on preliminary plans for an improved student activities calendar.

Honor Includes Largest Group In Recent Years

Moravian College students and faculty have selected 15 seniors to represent the college in the publication, "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." The group includes nine men and six women. The national honor cites students for outstanding achievement in scholarship, leadership, and service on their campuses. This is the largest group named in recent years.

Those named are Joan Albrecht, Dennis Bleam, Judith Lanning Cavanagh, Judith Clay, Louis Czechowski, Neil Eskolin, Robert Fatzinger, Cynthia Geiman, Alan Lippman, James MacDonald, Gene Medei, Theodore Rights, Rita Roseman, Ronald Stupak, and Sandra Yaeck.

Miss Albrecht, from Cheltenham, Pa., is a Spanish major. She is president of the Spanish Club and past secretary of United Student Government (USG). She has been co-chairman of the Social Activities Committee (SAC), secretary-treasurer of the Inter-Sorority Council (ISC) and a member of Alpha Epsilon Pi (AEP) sorority.

Bleam, an economics and business administration major from Center Valley, Pa., is business manager of The Comenian and a member of Sigma Phi Omega fraternity. He is also a member of the Varsity "M" Club, Epsilon Beta Alpha (EBA) business fraternity and Alpha Phi Omega (APO) service fraternity.

Mrs. Cavanagh, an elementary education major from Bethlehem, is president of Phi Mu Epsilon (PME) sorority and ISC. She is secretary-treasurer of Triangle Honor Society, a member of the cheerleading squad, a member of Kappa Delta Epsilon (KDE) education sorority and SAC.

Miss Clay, a resident of Bethlehem, is majoring in sociology. She is president of the Women's Athletic Association and a member of AEP and has participated in women's varsity sports.

Czechowski is a classics major from Bethlehem. He is a member of Pi Mu pre-theological fraternity and the French Club.

Eskolin, an English major from River Edge, N. J., is editor of The Comenian and a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon (TKE) fraternity. He is president of Pi Delta Epsilon (PDE), national journalism fraternity, and a member of the Choir and the Elections Committee.

Fatzinger is a business administration major from Bethlehem. He is business manager of the Choir and a member of The Comenian and TKE.

Road To An Honor System

The actual work of United Student Government's Committee on Honor Systems has now begun. Questionnaires on attitudes toward the rather nebulous concept of "honor," distributed to students last week, are now being evaluated.

The next step in evaluating the existing campus climate will be to sound out the attitudes of faculty and administration, and a special questionnaire for this purpose has been prepared for distribution soon. Following these initial general samplings of campus opinion, personal interviews will have to be made to discover insights which are often difficult to determine from impersonal surveys. And the honor systems of other colleges will be evaluated, as will the attitudes of students whose campuses do or do not operate under an honor system.

Next, working from these preliminary investigations, the committee will attempt to determine the nature of Moravian students' understanding or misunderstanding of the actual purpose of an honor system, and a mass encouragement of self-discipline will have to be made.

The next step will be to determine the nature of the most effective type of honor system to adapt to the prevailing situation here. Then, a plan may be drawn up for submission to student government for tentative approval. At the same time a program of educating the student body vis-à-vis the concept of the honor system will be required.

The system will, of course, need to be "tested" before it is ultimately acted upon, to determine its flaws and the improvements which will have to be made before it can be considered potentially effective.

Finally, the test period should be evaluated, the system improved where needed, and a final plan drawn up for submission to the students at large.

Only at this time can a referendum for acceptance be submitted to the student body. And, if the system is accepted, administrative approval will need to be granted. Even then, a lapse of time will be required before students will fully understand the system in order to be able to function under it properly.

The process is at best long and tedious. Nor is it as simple as here outlined. Moravian will not have an honor system this year. Nor next. But the road is being travelled, and today's honor system "dream" will perhaps some day become a reality.—AJL

Re: Camp Hope Retreat

To the Editor:

In the October 21 issue of the Comenian I was pleased to see the front page story on the weekend rehearsal retreat held at Camp Hope. The article was both enlightening and worthy of front page news, and this publicity for Camp Hope is helpful and much appreciated.

I must, however, take exception to the article "Heard on Tiptoe" which contains what I consider extremely unfair criticism. Fortunately not all who attended this retreat were of the same opinion, for this type news can only harm the efforts extended to make our Moravian camp improve and progress.

Dust is an item we always have here at camp inasmuch as the local roads and the camp roads themselves are unpaved. The buildings were swept prior to the choir's arrival and the dust therein was probably the usual result of automobiles and campers' feet.

The criticism that no camp staff member came to help clean up indicates an ignorance of the fact that there are ordinarily no other staff members besides myself on camp grounds at times other than the summer season.

The staff members who were at Camp Hope that particular weekend were there to enjoy a staff retreat planned last summer, and were not on the payroll.

For your readers' benefit let them be informed that there are two types of retreats available for groups renting the camp facilities. One type is for full facilities where meals are provided with other special services, etc.

The other type retreat, which the choir chose on this occasion, is to cook and fend for themselves. The latter type retreat represents a considerable financial saving for each camper. Both types of retreats are discussed in full in the "Director's Guide" which is made available to all our clients.

The phrase "cool and obstinate response" seems an incorrect way to describe the manner with which many changes were made to help satisfy the needs of the choir retreat.

Two major items I recall include boarding off the kitchen to eliminate noises and changing pianos for a more desirable one.

In the future Camp Hope will improve as we feel it has always been doing. Our efforts are sincere and although we may not always seem to be doing our best, we are learning what is expected of us and adjusting our goals accordingly.

Finally may I say that those who were assigned the task of cleaning up did, generally speaking, a splendid job. Looking forward to serving your choir group, and all others, to the best of our abilities, I am,

Sincerely yours,

Bruce R. Couillard,
Manager, Moravian
Church Camp Hope

Student Government Concern Implies More Extensive Role

This is the second of a four-part study of the role and scope of student government on the small college campus, and is concerned with student government's administration and organization for effective functioning. The next article in the series will deal with student government at Moravian.

by Alan Lippman

Regarding the question "Why student government?" many divergent views have been offered. But an underlying agreement seems to indicate that student government should concern itself with as many aspects of campus life as possible. This implies a more comprehensive, mature role than student governments are often willing to take, but, as part of the overall educational experience, such a role should not be neglected.

The divisions of responsibility in campus governmental affairs are five-fold. First, insofar as the educational process is concerned, student government can, in cooperation with the faculty and administration, deal with curriculum and instructional appraisals, and with co-curricular educational programming, such as debates, seminars and lectures.

Second, in the area of "social consciousness," student government can study and act upon matters of community and intercampus relationships, campus political activities and the degree to which the student voice is heard on a national scale.

Third, the campus climate itself is not to be neglected. Concern with "campus spirit," student spiritual needs, and encouragement of self-discipline are mentioned in this context.

Fourth is concern for student extra-curricular opportunities. Under this heading would come programming of social and cultural events.

Finally, student government's program must be effectively coordinated with the rest of the college activities, through effective communication of student government's work.

How can such programs best be effected? No doubt the underlying problem here is the best means of representation. Opportunity must be afforded for all students to participate widely in student government.

Student government is, after all, a "training ground" for citizenship and fullest participation should be encouraged. Whether students serve as formally appointed delegates or as chairmen or members of standing committees is not important, but the principle of wide participation should not be overlooked.

The development of a permanent committee system affords such delegation of responsibility and enlargement of scope. Such areas would include educational affairs, social life, public relations and public information, intercampus affairs, student affairs, human relations, religious life, and campus organizations.

It must be said, of course, that all of these programs are in operation on this campus to some degree. But the question arises as to whether these programs can be expanded and made more effective. That will be the concern of the next two articles in this study.

Heard On Tiptoe

by Sylvia Perkins

I don't know about you but I am in deep mourning. Mourning over what? Mainly the past, fateful election and the fact that New York completely flipped its lid and went Democratic to give Senator Kennedy (the term President-elect doesn't roll off my tongue as yet) forty-five electoral votes. When the choir boarded the bus in Harrisburg to return to campus Tuesday evening, the omens of a Kennedy victory were already looming. I don't know where all the Republicans were but they must have lost their way to the polls that day.

Just two questions bother me—What do I do with all my Nixon banners, pins and pictures, and what will be the translation of "Lady Bird" in foreign languages when the Vice-president-elect and his spouse go on good-will tours?

Another cause for mourning is some parts in the appearance of the "love letters" or valentines from the faculty at the beginning of this week. To those who got them even the best possible Bethlehem weather seems pretty drab. So far there has been no mention of a Valentine dance for this semester, but then who really feels like dancing? I guess that for a while the mailboxes will be smoking as the letters start arriving from the various parts of the country.

But for those parents who were here on Saturday it must have been an experience to be introduced to a professor and find out that he had given their son or daughter a valentine. One attitude may have been on the part of the faculty that the reports would spur the pupil on—but may I say that the real spur will not come from the valentine itself—

But no one is mourning over the terrific game the football team played Saturday at a very successful Family Day. Wagner College was surprised, to say the least, that they couldn't walk up to the goal unopposed. The Hounds really held them down and for a team which has won all their games this season, thirteen points must seem rather meager to the "College on Grimes Hill."

Politics And Moravian

To the Editor:

During the last few months all of us have participated in some way in the great variety of political activities that have been offered on this campus.

We had the basic principles of both political parties presented to us by Elkins Wetherill and Governor Lawrence. The series of faculty-student debates informed the students of the issues, and Mr. Johnson provided a new insight into politics as he lectured on the psychologists' view of voting trends.

Perhaps the highlight of the fall was the visit to Moravian by President-elect Kennedy to which the young Democratic and Republican clubs devoted their efforts.

The faculty and administration are to be congratulated, as should the students who so enthusiastically supported these series of programs presented by the Political Activities Club. It is our hope that the community of Moravian College has been able to gain a new insight into the nature of their government and political parties through these events.

BENIGNA PICTURES

Seniors are reminded that their yearbook pictures will be taken on Thursday and Friday, Dec. 1 and 2, in the George Washington Room, South Campus.

Men are requested to wear dark suit coats, white shirts and a solid colored tie. Bow ties will not be acceptable.

Women's attire is not stipulated, as drapes will be used.

Thanks For Aid

To the Student Body:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all those persons who worked so hard to make Family Day a successful event.

Thanks are due to the members of Triangle who were seriously understaffed in attempting a job of this size, Mr. Robert Snyder for his coordination of the entire program, Women's Activities Committee for its help in the decorations, and Mr. Paul Cunningham's staff for physical arrangements.

We appreciated the warmth added to the luncheon program by the highly talented Moravian College Choir and the efforts of certain interested students who assisted in both the decorating and serving at the meet-the-faculty coffee hour despite the fact that they were not connected with the organization mentioned above.

Thank you again for your cooperation.

Basketball Squad Prepares For This Season's Opener

by Bob Fatzinger

The 1960-61 basketball season is fast approaching, Dec. 2 being the date of Moravian College's first hardwood encounter.

The Hoopsters have been practicing since Oct. 24 under the watchful eyes of assistant coach Paul Marcincin.

Head coach Rocco Calvo will assume full time duties upon the completion of the football campaign. However, Calvo has held some evening practices in order to familiarize himself with this year's material.

With seven returning lettermen and a promising array of freshmen, the oncoming season may well be another successful one for Calvo.

The big problem, of course, is to replace the versatile Ducky Potter. Either Jim Gano or Hal Rice, both lettermen and juniors, is expected to become the playmaker with able assistance from sophomore Dick Kosman.

Kosman was the number two man in scoring last year, behind Potter, and is very adept at the fast break which Calvo's proteges must perfect due to the lack of height.

Other lettermen include seniors Leo Stinner, Rocco Zulli, and Jim McCrudden. Len Zavacky is a returning junior.

Bright freshmen prospects include Ray Pfeiffer, Frank Demko, Ed Wolfson, Dennis Robison, Bob Mushrush, Andy Semmel, and Larry Horinka.

Demko was one of the better players in the East Penn League last year, while Robison was named to the All Bux-Mont League squad.

All the freshmen are being heavily counted upon by Calvo in order to insure a winning season.

From all indications, Hofstra is rated as being the strongest team opposing the Hounds this year. Lafayette, Muhlenberg, Rutgers and Albright will also be formidable opponents.

Seahawks Win Eighth Straight By 13-0 Score

Last Saturday, the Moravian gridmen extended their present winless streak to six in a row before 3,000 Parents Day spectators.

Moravian's latest conqueror, Wagner (8-0) also stretched a streak of their own as they continued undefeated and remained tied for first place with Albright in the Northern Division of the MAC.

The Seahawks were aided in acquiring their two touchdowns by Moravian miscues. An intercepted pass led to one touchdown and a bad pass from center followed by a blocked punt accounted for the other touchdown.

Wagner fullback Wally Pagan intercepted an Andy Semmel pass in the second quarter and ran the ball back to the 1-yard line.

Pagan then scored over right guard for the first Wagner touchdown. A 15-yard penalty nullified a perfect extra point conversion.

In the third quarter, two plays after Jabby Williams had a punt blocked by Wagner's Pagan, the Seahawks struck again. This time Don Cavalli, Wagner quarterback, hit end Al Ferrie in the end zone. Bob Plotkin kicked the extra point.

Moravian's defensive unit held Wagner's outstanding seasonal stars to comparatively small achievements.

Moravian Faces Cedar Crest, Kutztown In Sports Day Games

by Irene Kasapyr

The Moravian girl's hockey team closed its season last Saturday morning with the traditional All Sports Day games.

Cedar Crest College and Kutztown State College filled the triangle of participants for the day. Three games were played on the Moravian home field.

In the first game the Houndettes bested Cedar Crest by a score of 2-0. Junior Betty Ann Dickman provided the two winning goals for the home team.

Kutztown then defeated Moravian by the score of 2-0. Judy Clay, Betty Ann Dickman, and Barbara Snyder played an outstanding game. However, the team could not score against the strong Kutztown line.

In the third game Kutztown played Cedar Crest to a scoreless tie.

Kutztown and Moravian by virtue of one win apiece shared the first place honors for the Sports Day event.

OGO Teams Lead I-M Bowling Action; Smith's 516 Is High

This week's action on the alleys once again featured some fine bowling by the OGO squads and also a mild upset administered by the Sigma Phi foursome.

The TKE 3 team was held to a tie for the second week in a row. It was forced to share the 4 points with the Vets 7 squad.

The Sigma Phi team, led by Robert Smith's 516, captured all 4 points from the TKE 4 group.

Ken Sepe, firing a 492, led the OGO 1 foursome to a 3-1 victory over the Sigma Phi 5 squad.

The Vets 8 team managed to salvage 1 point due to a 458 score by Ivan Vadelund. However, the OGO 2 team carried the remaining 3 points.

Nov. 10 Standings:
OGO-2	17 pts.
OGO-1	15 pts.
Sigma Phi-5	11 pts.
Sigma Phi-6	10 pts.
TKE-3	7 pts.

Mules Seeking Fourth Straight Win Of Season

by Gary Straughan

The Moravian College Greyhounds finish off their football schedule tomorrow by playing the Mules of Muhlenberg on the Moravian field at 2 p.m.

The Mules, who have won five of their eight games, including three straight, are fresh from a 50-7 win over Franklin and Marshall last Saturday. The Mules are assured of a winning season.

The Hounds, on the other hand, have managed only to get one win and one tie out of their seven games this season.

Quarterback Rollie Houseknecht will probably start for the Mules.

Charlie Kuntzelman will be the big gun for the Mules as he was their leading ground-gainer in last Saturday's trouncing of F. & M.

Kuntzelman made three runs last week that were all over fifty yards. One was a 95-yard kickoff return and another was a 56-yard gallop for a touchdown.

Merle Wolfe is also one of the Mules leading ground-gainers.

Greyhound Starters

Andy Semmel will probably start at quarterback, with John Yelovich and Jim Insigna at halfback and John Williams rounding out the backfield at fullback.

There have been eight games played between Moravian and Muhlenberg so far in the series. The Hounds have won two while the Mules have registered four victories. There have been two scoreless ties.

The winner of tomorrow's contest will get possession of a trophy contributed by the student governments of the two schools two years ago.

Muhlenberg holds the trophy at present by virtue of a 20-8 victory over Moravian last year.

Sports Unillustrated

by Tom & Jay

The problem which has been plaguing the Hounds all year hit home again. The gridsters played on par with a strong Wagner team, but lost the game on costly miscues. A blocked punt and an intercepted pass led to the Seahawk scores. If the breaks change and a few fall in favor of the Hounds they should be able to pull out a win against the Mules.

T. Fromhartz

On the other hand, the Mules are riding a three game win streak. With each win, they have looked better than the last. They reached their peak last week with a 50-7 win over the Diplomats of Franklin and Marshall.

J. Scholl

This pasting of the Diplomats cannot indicate too much because the Dips have not had an impressive record. Tomorrow the season closes for both the Hounds and the Bergmen. The Hounds haven't had their best year, but this fact can be disregarded in this traditional game.

Another traditional game played this week will be the Lehigh-Lafayette tussle scheduled for Fisher Field in Easton tomorrow afternoon. This is one of those games you just don't bet on.

It seems as if the Leopards of Lafayette are always up for this one, more so than the Engineers. We'll stick with Lafayette because they always have the ability to be "up" for the big ones. Like the man said, we wouldn't bet on it.

Last week a meeting was held in an attempt to organize an ice hockey club on campus. From what we hear the meeting was successful. Fourteen interested parties showed up while many others have expressed an interest in such an organization. Anyone interested in joining the group should contact Roy Frack.

In our next issue we will announce the winners of our football contest and name our choices for Most Valuable Player in football and cross country.

Harriers Beat M-berg Squad In Final Match

In a brilliant finale, the cross-country team defeated a surprisingly strong Muhlenberg team last Thursday by a score of 28-30 on the home course.

Muhlenberg's Pete Breinig won the race with a time of 27:22, with Tom Grammes of Moravian on his heels with 27:27. Muhlenberg took the next two positions under Tom Chuss and John Yregy.

The next ten places were dominated by Moravian runners. They took nine out of these ten. Moravian's Byron Borst, George Fiegel, Terry Harlacher, Jim Wyrzten, and Jim Worman took the five through nine spots for the meet.

Although the Mules had three out of the top four positions, Moravian's united middle power pulled it out. This victory made the seasonal record four wins and five defeats.

FALL FOCUS

Jeff Gannon—Football

The Fall Focus this week falls on Jeff Gannon, the speedy little halfback from Rutherford, N. J. Gannon, who is 22, weighs 160 pounds and stands 5' 9" tall. He attended Rutherford High School.

Jeff has won three letters in football and baseball here at Moravian. In high school he also won three letters in each sport.

Jeff is a General Studies major and plans to go into teaching after graduation. Here at Moravian he is a member of Omicron Gamma Omega social fraternity and the Varsity M Club.

When questioned about this year's Greyhound squad, Gannon said, "We have a better team than the record shows. We have had a lot of tough breaks. With a few breaks we should be able to take the Muhlenberg game tomorrow."

Stupak 'Ugliest,' Apjohn Is 2nd In Recent Vote

Ronald J. Stupak, representing the Moravian Veteran's Association was awarded a $5 prize and was named the winner of this year's "Ugly Man Contest" during halftime of last week's football game with Wagner.

John Pasco, president of the Vets, received a trophy on behalf of the organization for sponsoring the winning candidate in the contest. The contest was sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity.

Stupak received a total of $66.10 in the form of votes to put him far ahead of the runner-up, Tom Apjohn. Apjohn, sponsored by Alpha Epsilon Pi sorority, came in "second ugliest" with $27, over a third of which was in pennies.

A close third place went to Joe Stefanavage representing Omicron Gamma Omega Fraternity with a total of $26.40.

Dick Schaeffer of Sigma Phi Omega fraternity finished fourth with $21.97 and Rod Rathbun of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity garnered $17.99. All proceeds were donated to the United Fund.

Tonight's Free Movie

"Annapurna" considered by the New York Times to be "an extraordinary film" will be featured as tonight's free movie and will begin at 7:45 p.m. in Johnston Hall rooms 9 and 10. The movie will follow a pep rally which is scheduled to be held in Johnston Hall at 7 p.m.

According to a review of the 1952 production, it is "the magnificent color documentary of the preparation for, the ascent of, and the agonizing descent of Annapurna, one of the magic circle of 'Eight Thousanders,' the great mountains of the earth.

"Maurice Herzog's Himalaya expedition, with its wealth of human interest, its vividly picturesque jungle and mountain settings, is one of the amazing true stories of our time."

Why Nixon Lost . . .

the Democrats, operating 365 days a year with masterful efficiency, continually discouraged Republican hopes to rebuild on their great decay that has occurred in these areas.

The big city machine was not the only cause for defeat because perhaps Nixon found out too late that a Raul Castro is of great value in a campaign, and I don't use this name with disrespect, for this is what the Kennedy groups call Bobby Kennedy. A candidate cannot campaign and manage his campaign too, which is what the Republican nominee attempted.

Finally the Kennedy television debates practically insured a Kennedy victory as the Senator disqualified Republican claims of immaturity and lack of great depth and understanding.

Here was the greatest mistake, as a self assured Nixon, against the advice of Eisenhower, yielded to the pressure of the networks, to debate this supposedly young upstart of a personality.

Richard Nixon will undoubtedly remain the head of his party, if his desire equals his ambition. His attempts will be to bring the Goldwater conservatives and the Rockefeller liberals together to avoid what many have called the nation's second Civil War.

Heard on Tiptoe . . .

Many parents cheered for the first time since they left college, and many haven't been exposed to such a great amount of fresh air in ages. For the first half of the game a distinct impression developed that the referees didn't know that there was another team playing besides Moravian. During the second half, however, the calling of penalties seemed to be more evenly distributed. To say that the game was played all over the field would be a mild description.

Seahawks Win . . .

back in many M.A.C. statistical departments was held to only 10 completions in 25 pass attempts for a total of 122 yards.

Ace Wagner pass receiver Al Ferrie caught only two passes for 38 yards while leading MAC scorer Frank Melos, Wagner half-back, was held to -2 yards.

Moravian's Jim Kritis was voted lineman of the game while teammate Tony Gawronski was selected as sophomore of the game.
