

Winter Debuts Unofficially With Blizzard, Record Cold

Although not officially upon us, winter made an unofficial debut last weekend with a record-breaking cold spell and a 14-inch blizzard. The scene at the left, recorded Sunday evening prior to the vesper service, brought a slightly premature Christmas Eve feeling to the scene. Attendees at the vesper service entered into the spirit of the season by chanting carols following the service.

But these happier aspects of the snowstorm rapidly subsided the next morning as students discovered, much to their dismay, that Moravian was the only college in the Lehigh Valley not to cancel classes.

Unhappily but diligently they dug their cars out of snowdrifts, put on chains, and slowly made their way to the campus; or they waded knee-deep from the dorms to their classes, only to find on arrival that their eight o'clocks had been cancelled anyway for lack of attendance or, more likely, for lack of a teacher.

Nevertheless the first snowstorm of the season is always exciting and seemingly more beautiful than the rest, and this was really no exception.

Choir To Perform On Christmas Day Over CBS Radio

The Moravian College choir will be heard on Christmas Day over the radio stations of the Columbia Broadcasting System. The program, to be entitled "Christmas in Bethlehem," will be pre-recorded this morning in the Central Moravian Church and broadcast from 9:30-10 a.m. on Christmas.

Choir director Richard R. Schantz, associate professor of music, announced that the program will feature many of the works performed last Sunday at the annual Vesper Service.

Highlight of the program was F. F. Hagen's "Morning Star" which featured soloist Kay Bergstresser, daughter of Kenneth Bergstresser, associate professor of biology.

Other highlights of the 90-minute program were the processional, "Let All Mortal Flesh Keep Silence," a French hymn, and the recessional, Gustav Holst's "On This Day Earth Shall Ring."

Beeswax candles were distributed to attendees as the lights were dimmed and the congregation joined the choir in singing the closing hymns.

Frosh Program Is 'Improving', Naisby States

by John Schlegel

"The freshmen orientation program has definitely improved over last year's program, because as with anything else, it is bound to improve with experience," James Naisby, chairman of the Regulations Committee, stated early this week.

Naisby mentioned that the biggest problem with which his committee was faced was enforcement. He added that it was hard for members of the sophomore class to keep freshmen "in line," because it is difficult to draw the line between hazing and the enforcement of set school regulations.

Another problem dealt with scheduling of meetings on Tuesday during the fourth period. There were many conflicts with math exams, and little time was left for freshmen to eat due to the extended length of time for orientation meetings, Naisby said.

"It might seem more important to the freshmen if meetings were handled by the faculty or administration," Naisby stated. Attendance wasn't bad at meetings, but it probably would be improved with faculty or administration members in charge, since these meetings are planned, scheduled and given by the faculty and administration members of the orientation committee, he added.

In discussing plans for future Homecoming weekends, Naisby stated that by concentrating efforts on floats, the parades, which have been improving each year, will come closer to meeting standards which are usually expected of a college. This would allow day and dormitory students, men and women both, to work on floats rather than dormitory decorations in which only freshmen living on campus could participate.

An additional award could then (Cont. on p. 4, col. 2)

'Christmas Challenges' Noted By President At Convocation

Speaking on the "Challenges of Christmas" at yesterday's convocation, Dr. Raymond S. Hauptert urged the congregation to consider the words of a hymn, "Fod God who gave me birth came on this night to save me," and "made this the basis of our thinking at Christmas time."

Citing three challenges of Christmas, the president stated that the first is "to have faith in God and believe that God is the ruler of history, in the past, present and future."

The second challenge is to think of things to do for others rather than being selfish, the "challenge to be an active agent of good will."

Hauptert's final challenge was "to commit ourselves individually to the furthering of the Christian revolution."

An added highlight of the convocation was several selections performed by the college choir, under the direction of Richard R. Schantz, associate professor of music.

A Christmas Wish

It's been a long time since we wrote a letter to Santa Claus asking for this or that for Christmas. And when we were younger our requests tended to be, naturally, materialistic, that being the nature of children, whose minds are not yet capable of grasping the more abstract and perhaps more sophisticated conceptions of the mature adult.

But we thought it might be fun to dash off a letter to old Santa this year, with a humble request for some of the things which we consider to be pretty important to us now and which we would judge are pretty important to most college students. Our letter would go something like this:

Dear Santa,

We know you're very busy these pre-Christmas days, making gift lists, grooming your reindeer, and all, but we hope you'll think about us when you get around to delivering presents at Moravian. Our requests may sound funny because they're not exactly what would fit easily into a Christmas stocking, but maybe you can help us to fulfill some of these desires:

- Greater interest by faculty and students alike in academic affairs;
- Higher salaries for professors to continue to draw better teachers;
- A fuller, more enriched and comprehensive curriculum;
- Better equipment and more extensive facilities;
- More significant speakers at convocations and special assemblies;
- Additional "extra-curricular" faculty talks and greater student participation in such programs.

And for our collegiate brethren both here and abroad we ask a greater respect for student rights and welfare, for equal educational opportunities regardless of race or religion, and for stricter adherence to the basic freedoms of thought and speech.

We guess this is a pretty big order, Santa, and maybe it's too much for us to ask, but the spark of possible fulfillment still shines. At least these are goals toward which we can strive.

Praise For The Choir

For those who attended last Sunday's annual Christmas vespers service in Central Moravian Church there was an atmosphere of sacredness and sincere dedication.

The congregation, sitting almost spellbound, was treated to a truly inspirational service. The confines of the church and the scripture reading and prayers all contributed to the program but the college choir must be considered the shining star of the evening.

The group performed with precision and feeling and conveyed this to the congregation. It was truly a beautiful and inspiring program.

Early this week, the choir was invited to perform over a national radio network on Christmas day in a program of a "Christmas in Bethlehem" theme.

We feel that it is a great honor for our choir to have been chosen to appear on this program, and we wish to express our appreciation and praise to them for the exceptional job they have been doing over the past several years as ambassadors for Moravian College.

We would also request that the college community be offered more frequent opportunities to hear this outstanding group.

Christmas Story According To St. Luke Recalls True Meaning Of Holiday Season

To the average adult, Christmas has become a meaningless holiday. To the average college student, it has significance, but not because of its religious implications. It is merely a well-needed respite from classes and studying.

With all the trite, sloppy sentimentality and artificiality of our Christmas, the most beautiful and refreshing thing left to the Christmas season is a snowfall which temporarily buries the glitter and the garishness of commercialism. Yet left undefiled, if somewhat lost in over-familiarity, is one of the simplest and most dramatic stories known to man, the story of Christmas according to St. Luke.

We reprint a portion of it here in hope that you will read it intently and let its impact cut through your outer coat of sophistication and satiation with the brashness and crass materialism of our 1960 world.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, Fear not; for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger. And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

And it came to pass as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known to us.

And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger.

And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child.

And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

Since I was rushed with tests and term papers before the holidays, I figured I'd just write a column of thoughts that have occurred to me over the last month. Nobody asked for my opinion, but I think . . .

Leo Stinner is a great rebounder who does not get the credit he deserves for his outstanding ability on the back boards . . .

Henry Cordray is a typical "Young Philadelphian" . . .

The "Veteran" is a dying breed in the colleges of the 60's . . .

A student who works a 40-hour week is cheating himself, his boss, and his college . . .

The behavior of this year's freshmen at Moravian is proof that "I. Q." tests are only "paper deep" . . .

Joel "The Loser" Leeb would lose in a "one-horse race" if it were sponsored by the USG . . .

The Moravian College choir should sing at more student convocations so that the entire student body could have the pleasure of hearing this exceptionally talented "traveling-group" . . .

"Jabby" Williams punts like a "pro footballer" . . .

Married men and single girls form many of the strongest friendships on the campus . . .

Married students should introduce their spouses into their college life as much as possible . . .

Moravian needs either more instructors or fewer students . . .

The new theory of "a term paper in every course" is the substitution of quantity for quality. The good student must replace depth and interest with breadth and expediency . . .

Scholarships should be divided between incoming freshmen and needy upper classmen. They should not be over-balanced in favor of the "brilliant, I. Q. Wizards."

Most Freshmen Girls tend to be hero-worshippers of the college athletes . . . The girls at Moravian are as charming as any co-eds in the country . . . Dick Kosman will break every scoring record in basketball at Moravian . . . Dick Tewell wrote the longest "letter-to-the editor in the Comenian's history . . . "Sons and Lovers" was the top movie of the year . . . The "Kennedy" jokes are getting boring . . . No departments should be allowed to administer tests during Tuesday's "free" fourth period . . .

The Honor System is doomed . . . The women who work at the Emcee and Femcee are great girls . . . A return to "freshmen hazing" should be considered . . . The proposed College Radio Station may be "red-taped" out of existence . . . The Triangle Honor Society is thought to be a higher award on the Moravian Campus than Who's Who in American Colleges, though I give the nod to "Who's Who" . . .

Muhlenberg is finished as a "big-time" basketball School . . . The Library Annex is one of the best moves the administration made at Moravian in the last four years . . . The "Frankly Shocked" letter-to-the-editor, in last week's Comenian was a perfect example (Cont. on p. 4, col. 1)

Kuklantz Coaches And Teaches While Working On Ph. D. Paper

by Bob Fatzinger

Versatile Paul Kuklantz is presently in his fourth year of coaching at Moravian College. His coaching duties include cross country, wrestling, and indoor track.

Kuklantz's cross country squads have compiled a 16-15-1 record while his grapplers have an enviable 19-7 record over a three year span. Last year his Hounds placed third behind Wilkes and Bucknell in the Middle Atlantic Conference tournament.

The indoor track team has competed in major winter indoor track events.

Kuklantz was named coach of these three sports when they were introduced into the Moravian College athletic program four years ago.

Coach Kuklantz graduated from East Stroudsburg State Teachers education at the junior high school.

Presently, Kuklantz is working on his doctoral thesis at Temple University after having completed requirements for his Master's degree in Physical Education at the University of Pennsylvania.

Hounds Travel Tomorrow To Meet Leopards

Tomorrow evening the Moravian College basketball Greyhounds travel to Easton to meet the Lafayette Leopard squad.

The Hounds, who boast a 3-0 won and loss record so far this season, will try to make it 4-0.

Head Coach Rocco Calvo will open with his regular starting lineup of Rocco Zulli, Dick Kosman, Leo Stinner, Hal Rice, and Jim Gano. Len Zavacky, Calvo's number one reserve will see plenty of action.

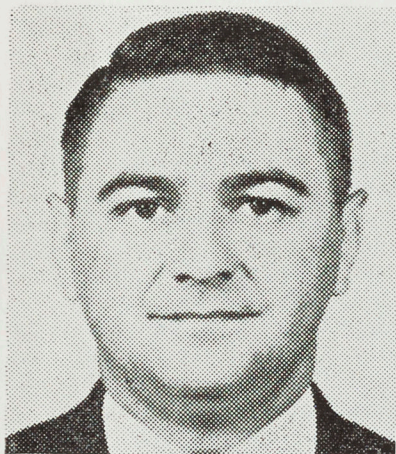

Lafayette has a strong starting five, but does not seem to be too strong on the bench.

The Leopards have two good forwards in six foot five Chip Lundy and Morris Boyer.

Guard Pete Pavia will be paired with either Bob Kauffman or Dan George.

This leaves Lafayette without a good center. Andy Cook, Mike McHale and Gene Denahan are all eyeing that fifth and last starting position.

Last year, Lafayette won a very close game by a 77-76 score.

College in 1946 after a tour of duty in the armed services.

Upon graduation, "Kuki" assumed the position of head track coach at Lansdowne High School.

In September of the same year Kuklantz transferred to Franklin Junior High, later to become Northeast Junior High School in Bethlehem to coach football and wrestling.

Along with his coaching duties here at Moravian, Kuklantz remains an instructor of physical

Kosman's 39 Paces Hoopsters In Third Victory Of Campaign

Haverford Falls Victim To Fast Moravian Team

by Tom Fromhartz

Paced by Dick Kosman's 39 point scoring splurge, the Moravian College basketball team won its third straight game of the season by defeating Haverford 76-67.

Kosman opened the game by scoring Moravian's first seven points. By the end of the first half Kosman had scored 25 points on 11 field goals and three foul shots.

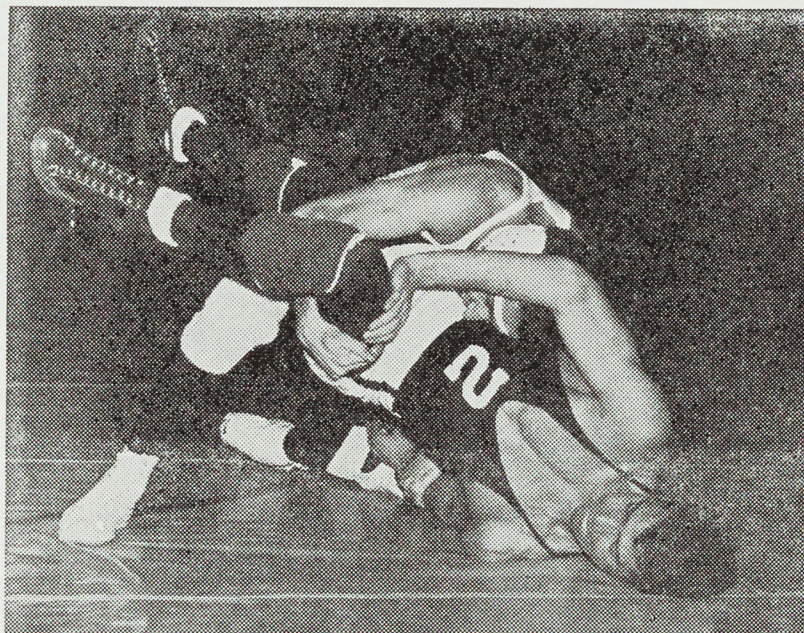

Leo Stinner and Jim Gano followed Kosman in scoring with 12 and 11 points respectively. Stinner along with Rocco Zulli and Len Zavacky played an aggressive game under both backboards.

The first half was a closely played affair with Moravian leading most of the way. In the final minute of the half, with the Hounds leading by five, Kosman dropped in two quick baskets to give Moravian a 41-32 halftime lead.

In the second half Kosman scored 14 more points and the Hounds were never in serious trouble.

Kosman, Gano, and Hal Rice used the fast break almost to perfection against the Fords. The larger Haverford squad could not come back fast enough to defend and Kosman and Gano were able to score easily on driving layups.

Haverford was led by Jerry Darlington and Tom DelBello who scored 19 points each.

Wrestlers Win Opening Meets With Albright And Swarthmore

The Moravian wrestlers opened their 1960-61 season impressively with one-sided victories over Albright, 25-5, last Saturday, and Swarthmore, 21-8, last Tuesday evening. The Hounds have now won 21 of their last 23 dual meets.

Mike Marino of Albright scored his team's lone points at 123 lb. as he threw Moravian's Jerry Symons in 7:53 with a double arm bar.

Three Moravian wrestlers won shut-out decisions. Bill Rinker, 130 lb., decisioned Bob Melnick, 9-0; Roger Grubbs, 147 lb., defeated Irv Godbolte, 6-0; and Dick Bedics, 157 lb., topped Roy Templeton, 5-0.

Dan Turner, 167 lb. and Gene Medei, 137 lb., extended their undefeated streaks over two seasons as they defeated Jack Roessner, 10-4, and John Poulos, 9-2, respectively.

Dick Schaeffer, 177 lb., Moravian's MAC champion, and heavy-weight Dave Linaberry captured the only Greyhound pins in the Albright match. Schaeffer pinned Duanne Gautier in 7:33 with a double arm bar while Linaberry threw Roland Griesemer in 3:28 with a chancery and inside crotch.

In the Swarthmore match Symons dropped the 123 lb. bout to Buddy Berman, 5-2.

Rinker, 130 lb., and Medei, 137 lb., picked up Moravian's only pins as they threw their opponents Conrad Weiler and Martin Weitzman, respectively.

Moravian's grapplers picked up points on decisions as Grubbs, 147 lb., defeated Dave Swanger, 5-0; Bedics, 157 lb., decisioned Tony Parsons, 4-0; and Schaeffer, 177 lb., trounced Mike Cook, 14-5.

I-M League Scene Expands To Include Basketball Action

The Intramural basketball season got off to a flying start with the OGO and Panther teams registering wins. The OGO's, in the Blue League, beat the Seminary team, 53-28.

High scorer for the OGO team was Hunter Matthews with 12. High scorer for the Seminary was Ted Wilde who also had 12.

The Panthers of the Grey League beat the Bandits 47-30. High scorers in the game were Jim Kelyman with 16 points and Tim Marsden, who scored 14 for the Panther team.

The Intramural bowling league this week saw wins for the OGO 1 and 2 teams, Sigma 5, and the Vets 8.

OGO 2 took four points from SPO 6. Grove Stoddard led the OGO's with a 553 series. Ron Smith had a 480 for SPO.

OGO 1 got four points over the Vets 7. Mike Lansenderfer paced the OGO team with a 576. For the Vets, John Modernach had a 481.

SPO 5 played the TKE 3 team and won 3 points.

BASKETBALL

The basketball game between Moravian and Drew which was to be played last Monday night was postponed due to the snow storm. The game has not yet been rescheduled.

The Greyhound cagers, with three wins under their belt, travel to Easton to meet the Leopards of Lafayette tomorrow evening. The Leopards, a perennially strong team, should prove to be one of the tougher remaining opponents of this year's schedule. The game should be a real donnybrook, with the local intra-college spirit and a well rounded Moravian team.

T. Fromhartz

Dick Kosman, who scored 35 points against Muhlenberg, seems well on his way to breaking his 17 point per game average of last year. The front court is also well taken care of by Rocco Zulli and Leo Stinner.

J. Scholl

Against this aggregate, the Leopards will send a strong defensive team. They held the Ivy League scoring champ, Peter Campbell of Princeton, to a game output of four points last week.

Another first at Moravian . . . Donkey Basketball will be here. The Political Activities Club and the Veterans Association, with the help of several of our illustrious faculty, plan to stage the extravaganza sometime during February.

The matmen are also off to a good start. They started off their season with wins over Albright and Swarthmore. The team seems to us to have greater strength and better balance and should have a very successful season.

Now, just a bit of reflection upon this year's football squad. Lebanon Valley, who tripped the Hounds 22-16, picked the outstanding members of the football teams that opposed them. Among their choices were tackle Tony Gawronski and fullback Jabby Williams. Congratulations, men for a fine showing.
