MORAVIAN COLLEGE  STUDENT WEEKLY

Volume LXVI

Bethlehem, Pa., Friday, November 1, 1963

Number 6

Students are High Official Opening of Annual Exhibit To be Held This Sunday in Union

Record Enrollment Announced by Trustees

Moravian College has reached an all-time enrollment peak of 942 students, the college Board of Trustees were told here Tuesday as it began its two-day Fall meeting.

This year's enrollment is 34 higher than last year's record 908. The new total includes students from 17 states as well as 14 foreign countries.

There are 335 new students enrolled, with 252 of that total comprising the freshman class; 52 transfer students; 20 returning former students, and 11 special students, the latter group comprising those persons taking special courses but not enrolled for degrees.

Significant is the nearly doubling in number of transfer students over last year when 29 were enrolled. This year's 52 includes a greater number from junior colleges.

A greater influx of transfer students, it was pointed out, tends to keep enrollment in each class constant rather than having it decrease. It was further noted that transfer students are accepted over and above the number specified for the freshman class.

Another factor attributed to the over-all increase in the student body is that more students are remaining in college to complete their degree requirements — evidence of a national trend for students in higher education to fulfill their educational needs.

Moravian's student body as a whole is comprised of 594 men and 348 women. Enrollment increases are noted in the freshman, sophomore and senior class. (Cont. on p. 5, col. 1)

A reception and awards tea will mark the official opening of the 2nd Annual Juried Exhibit of the Lehigh Art Alliance Sunday, Nov. 3, in the Moravian College Union Building. Hours for the reception will be 2 to 5 p.m.

The exhibit, the only juried show by the Lehigh Art Alliance this year, was hung Monday, Oct. 28, in the College Union lounge and in the Prosser Auditorium lobby and will remain on display until Sunday, Jan. 5.

Moravian College will award certificates for the winning entries in three categories: oils, water colors; and sculptures. The award presentations will be made during the Nov. 3 tea. The show will be open to members and friends of the art alliance.

This year, for the first time, persons will be allowed to enter two works instead of one. About 50 paintings were selected for hanging following the judging on Monday, Oct. 28.

Last year was the first time the Lehigh Art Alliance had presented a show at the College Union. This year's show followed the Founder's Day Exhibit which ended Saturday, (Oct. 26).

Mrs. Dorothy Roth, Allentown, is chairman of exhibits for the Lehigh Art Alliance. Mrs. Eugene J. Denitz, Allentown, is hospitality chairman. The Sunday reception will be sponsored by Moravian College with members of the Lehigh Art Alliance serving as hostesses.

Choir Holds Retreat

Last weekend the choir held its annual retreat at Sunnybrook Baptist Camp, Echo Lake, Pennsylvania.

The purpose of the retreat was to provide a period of concentrated rehearsal (about twelve hours in all) and also to permit the members to become better acquainted. The idea was to create an atmosphere of friendship and to coordinate the members into more of a unit.

When not rehearsing, recreation was available and hiking seemed to be the most popular.

On Friday night, the movie "Wackiest Ship in the Army" was shown. It was followed by the traditional hot cider and doughnuts. A campfire concluded the evening.

On Sunday morning, there was an informal church service led by three choir members. The service itself was held on Little Kakeout Mountain overlooking the lake.

All in all, the retreat was a success, and has been characterized as perhaps "the best yet."

Cat Named

A cat who has been roaming about in the CUB has been named by a group whose purpose it is "To name stray animals found on the grounds of the college."

The cat was named "Cubby," according to John DeMuth and Harry Smith, co-chairmen of the committee.

Lear's Ugly

Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity announced the winner of the Ugly-Man contest on Wednesday, October 23.

Lear, sponsored by Phi Mu Epsilon social sorority, was presented with the Ugly Man's Key for 1963. In second place was the choir's candidate, Louis Cadwell. Craig Van Kouwenverg, the Blackfriars' choice was third.

According to John Demuth of APO, $75 was contributed to the United Fund by the students during the contest. This money was given to Mr. Schantz, college choir director, who has charge of all campus fund drives.

Four campus organizations were not listed here because they had been disqualified for not observing the rules of the contest. They are Tau Kappa Epsilon, Omicron Gamma Omega, Sigma Phi Omega, and an unidentified group called "Not We."

Paul Cunningham, director of grounds, reminds students that entry and exit to the new 65 car parking lot is via Elizabeth Ave. only.

Electra Tickets Available Monday

Tickets for Giraudoux's Electra, to be presented by the Blackfriars on November 15 and 16, may be picked up at the CUB main desk beginning on Monday, November 4th. All seats reserved. Students, faculty, and staff members will receive tickets upon presentation of their student activity cards. Admission for all others is $1.00.

Mr. Rudy Ackerman, new head of the Moravian College Art Department, is designing the set for Electra and will be working with the Blackfriars who construct and paint the sets.

Frustration

by Harry Smith

Not being a member of the Behavioral Science Club, I have no idea of the projects which they might undertake. Judging from the name, it would appear that one of the fields of interest would be psychology. If this is the case, possibly a study of some aspect of college life would be an interesting project to undertake.

The best part of the idea of a study is that there has already been a perfect situation set up. The study would involve the results of a strong double approach conflict situation on two different occasions. These would be of a similar nature. As a predictive device, questionnaires could be passed out among the student body, and collected prior to each conflict situation. In so doing, it would be possible to eliminate from the study those who would avoid the whole conflict situation by running away for the duration of the study, or those who would plan to pull a withdrawal. With these persons eliminated from the study, it would not be difficult to determine the reaction patterns for the remainder of those involved. General observation during the designated period would be necessary to determine reactions of those who face up to the conflict, and additional questionnaires after the conflict would determine the reactions of those who found a way to avoid the conflict situation after the original questionnaires were filled out.

If this procedure would be repeated on the second occasion, there would be some grounds for forming a hypothesis that might be considered in the future to avoid such conflicts, thus lowering emotional stress placed on the students. Naturally caution must be used, since many other factors would be present in the various subjects, and these factors would be difficult to determine in the limited period of the study. For example, several people might have plans to leave school during that period, some might have papers to write, some may wish to study, others might not be tempted by the approach objects, and there are always those who would rather sleep than do anything else.

All of these factors might cause additional approach factors which would be stronger for an individual than the situations involved in the study. Further caution must be used, in that some subjects may go out of the field and allow their dates to suffer all the frustration and anxiety involved in reaching a decision. Then there are those who will try to be heroes and split themselves down the middle and approach both objects, obtaining only partial gratification from each object.

Certainly this is only a sketch of an idea which could be used to create an interest in the actual application of the subject matter of psychology. However, if some interested students were to plan such a study, and apply their knowledge of testing, reaction formation, personality, etc., interesting results might be obtained. Naturally a word of thanks should be given to the persons responsible for planning such beautiful conflict situations, probably without the thought that such a study could be developed.

Now it is time to discuss the situations which could be used. The first conflict will occur on November 23, 1963. On this date there will be a Community concert featuring an orchestra, and there will also be a dance sponsored by the Inter - Fraternity Council. Students will want to hear the concert, but will also want to attend the dance besides going out after the dance. What will the reaction be?

The second conflict will occur on December 14, 1963. On this date there will also be a Community Concert and a dance. Once again there will be those who will not be able to decide which one is more interesting.

The conclusion of all this is simply that a group does not have to leave the campus to find interesting things to do. The school has furnished several marvelous opportunities for anyone who recognizes them and is willing to use them in a constructive way rather than criticizing such situations. Once again it is easy to see just how much Moravian College does to allow for interesting activities — RIGHT HERE ON CAMPUS!!!!

The Spanish Club met on October 23rd in the Bethlehem-Salem Room. Mrs. Arenas, the new Spanish teacher, showed slides on her trip to Spain past year, and a business meeting followed. The Club is planning a trip to New York or Philadelphia to see a Spanish play or movie.

The TKE House will hold a coffee hour after the football game on November the second. Everyone is welcome. TKE and OGO held a football game last Sunday. TKE won. How about that!?

AE Pi and OGO will hold a joint Halloween party on November the first from 7 to 9 for orphans from area homes. The party will be at the OGO House.

AE Pi has just finished decorating its room at West Hall on South Campus. The sorority will present a skit night on November 18 for all freshman girls. IS will also meet next Tuesday at 7:15 p.m. in the Music Room in CUB.

Letter to The Editor

This is a letter written in anger and protest to Miss Hilda Wolff's article "Doctor is as Doctor Does" in last week's Comenian. She blindly assails our medical setup in an ignorant, tactless manner, not discriminating between the obvious, blatant defects and the few points we can be thankful for.

I agree with Miss Wolff that Moravian needs, at least, a full-time nurse, and should have a full-time doctor within reach of all students. Our medical facilities are sadly inadequate and unrealistic to meet the demand's of one thousand students and faculty members. But, it is the administration that must be brought to task here; their cry is "No money — we must remember the budget." This is the underlying reason for our inadequate facilities, for the lack of medical aid on North Campus. We are fortunate to have a doctor who devotes more time and energy than expected to his patients on campus. We are also fortunate to have two conscientious nurses on call at all time.

In reference to the accident mentioned, perhaps Miss Wolff does not know the full extent of the details. Our nurse gave the best advice for getting that patient the quickest aid possible. We do not have the training and experience Miss Graeff has; how, then, can we criticize her for fulfilling duties, the details of which we know little about?

There is posted on all bulletin boards a notice of medical procedures: who, when, where to call to contact aid. If Miss Wolff had read this, she might have realized that her comments had no real basis.

Unfortunately, school policy dictates the way our medical facilities are to be run; this is the school's policy — we must make the best of it and try to correct the situation to meet our needs.

This is written in gratitude and appreciation for the help and kindness extended not only to myself, but to many of the students here, Miss Wolff included.

Prejudice

by Celie Matus

What is prejudice? When an American thinks of prejudice, he usually associates this word with the Negro race.

In the early nineteenth century, man's prejudice was directed not against the Negro but against the Orientals and those who came from Eastern Europe, such as the Poles, the Slavs, and the Ukrainians.

Prejudice is common to all races and to all nations of the world, even today. It can be found in South America, concerning the problem of a difference in religions or Christian versus Jew. It can be found in England when schools were segregated against the West Indians and the Hindus. It can be found in South Vietnam, the Buddhists versus the Diem government.

Why is prejudice a world wide factor? In my opinion, prejudice stems from a man's fear that someone from another race or religion is superior to him. This man will then do all that is possible to belittle and shortchange anyone whom he considers different or unfamiliar.

In order to prove my theory, I will base my example on the Negro race. Before the origin of the Negro slave, when the black man was isolated from the world, he lived as the king and ruler of his domain. He was considered the best warrior, a skilled hunter, and leader of his tribe. He was asked for his opinion in all important matters concerning the fate of his tribe.

When Africa was discovered and the slave trade begun, the Negro was wrenched from his home and taken to a foreign land to work. Because of his lack of knowledge of the refinements associated with the civilized world, he was considered a savage, inferior to his white master.

Today, because of his acquired knowledge, he has become something to fear and hate, or so the white man thinks. He is treated thusly because he is now showing his true strength of character. This pattern applies to all peoples of all races and religions.

Perhaps, in time, as the prejudice against the Orientals and Eastern Europeans has diminished, so will the prejudice against the Negro subside. Fear and hatred of the Negro, however, will only subside after the unfamiliar becomes familiar, and the different becomes common. Then, and only then, will prejudice become a thing of the past.

The Doctor Revisited

(Editor's Note: It is unfortunate that personal offense was inferred in last week's editorial by Hilda. For this we apologize. But we must point out that there was an element of truth in the article in so far as it is the policy of other schools to provide more adequate medical programs. Here we think Moravian students are deserving of the same attention.)

by Hilda Wolff

I would like to take this opportunity to correct the impression which apparently my recent editorial concerning the lack of medical facilities available to Moravian College students has created. I did not wish my comments to reflect in any way on the capabilities or services provided under the prevailing conditions by any member of our medical staff. My attack was aimed at the Health Policy and not those who must labor under its restrictions. The responsibility, then, is placed on an administration whose preoccupation with financial matters has prevented it from changing this inadequate policy.

Some questions have been raised concerning my reference to an accident which occurred last December in a North Campus dorm. Because I happened to be there when the accident occurred, I felt qualified to use it as an example of the need for better medical facilities. I do not dispute Miss Graeff's qualifications or ability as a nurse or the soundness of her professional judgment at the time. I do, however, question the extent to which any full-time student, provided with no available means of transportation, is able to take over the full-time job as nurse for approximately one thousand people. That this situation has developed and is allowed to exist, points, again, to poor administration and planning and not to either Miss Graeff or Dr. Hahn.

will speak on "Errant Nonsense or New Age Challenge" in the Bethlehem-Salem room. This is in connection with the Lehigh Valley Peace Council.

The winners of the Lehigh Art Alliance exhibit and contest, whose paintings are presently on display in the lounge, will be announced at the reception on Sunday, November 3 in the lounge. The reception is open to the public from 2:00-5:00 P.M.

D. Hunt, library career consultant from Drexel Institute in Philadelphia will arrive at Moravian on Monday, November 4 at 9:30 A.M. He will meet with those students who are interested in library science as a career.

On Thursday, November 7, Dr. Burkhardt will be in charge of the Book-of-the-Semester faculty lecture in Prosser Auditorium. A discussion will follow in the browsing library.

Hounds Face Lions Here Tomorrow

by Frank S. Kovacs, Jr.

The Moravian Greyhounds (2-2) prepare to take on the Albright Lions (2-4) Nov. 2 at home. This game, marking Family Day at Moravian, will begin at 2:00 p.m. and will be attended by many students and their families.

Albright, fresh from a 63-0 trouncing of Delaware Valley last Saturday, should be regarded as tough opposition for the locals.

In 1962 the Lions defeated the 'Hounds to the tune of 16-13 and went on to compile an overall record of 3-5. Moravian was 5-3 that season.

Albright has 20 lettermen and should improve on the last season's mark. The Lions have an excellent ground game which is led by Bob Kopp and Bill Bors. Their main weak spots are at quarterback and in their defensive line.

For Moravian the strong points are quarterback Andy Semmel the divisions Most Valuable Player, and end Pat Mazza, all Middle Atlantic Conference. Six lettermen ball carriers are also available for use. An excellent punter can be found in the person of Bill Silcox. The 'Hounds main weakness is finding adequate substitute tackles.

Vince Seaman, junior end, is a valuable asset for the Greyhounds as he is an excellent field goal and extra point kicker.

The biggest breakway threat for Moravian is Frank Grablachoff, while fullback Dick Ritter provides the power running inside.

The Lions of Albright basically resort to a Split T offense. They employ the belly series heavily because of its deception and change of pace. Quick openers are used to cross up the defense.

Moravian uses a Wing T to capitalize on the talents of quarterback Andy Semmel. The right halfback plays outside the end enabling the 'Hounds to use him as a pass receiver. Primarily and increase backfield deception.

L V Downs Greyhounds 9-7

by Frank Kovacs, Jr.

Lebanon Valley evened its record at 2-2 at Lebanon Saturday as the Flying Dutchmen downed Moravian's Greyhounds 9-7.

Moravian, also 2-2, led in the statistical column but came out on the short end of the score in this heartbreaker.

The game marked Lebanon Valley's Homecoming and was played before 3,000 fans on the former Lebanon High School football field. A local player, Bob Campbell of Hellertown, appeared at end for the Dutchmen.

In the closing minutes of the final quarter the Greyhounds went on a 50 yard scoring drive with fullback Dick Ritter apparently scoring from 2 yards out. Officials ruled he didn't have possession as he went into the end zone and fumbled. The TD that would have changed the game's outcome was nullified. Lebanon Valley gained possession and ran out the clock.

All the scoring for the Dutchmen came in the second quarter.

Aided by 20 yards in penalties, the Dutchmen drove to the Greyhound 7, where triple-threat back Wes MacMillan threw an 8 yard pass to John Kimmel for a TD that was called back when Lebanon Valley had an illegal receiver down field.

Two plays later Bob Marlaus booted a 29 yard field goal to put LVC in front 3-0.

A 27 yard pass, Wes MacMillan to Larry Painter, accounted for the rest of the Dutchmen's scoring.

Moravian's first TD; an Andy Semmel 30 yard pass to Paul Riccardi, in the end zone; was offset by a personal foul. This was the third Greyhound TD called back in the last two games.

In the second period Wes MacMillan, who leads the LVC team in just about everything, intercepted a Semmel pass and went 70 yards for a touch down that was called back because of a clipping penalty.

Moravian's only TD came in the final minute of the third period when Frank Grablachoff took a pitchout from Semmel, after Moravian gained possession of the pigskin on their own 20 on downs. Grablachoff raced 80 yards for the score and Vince Seaman booted the PAT to make it 9-7.

Vaszily and MacMillan were held to only 30 yards in the air and completed only 5 out of 10 passes.

MacMillan was held to only 38 yards on the ground in 13 attempts but Kimmel went 72 yards in 8 carries for Lebanon Valley.

Grablachoff carried 11 times for the Greyhounds, gaining 114 yards.

Moravian hasn't yet lived up to their preseason notices; however, they are an extremely dangerous team. Their biggest threat is their outside running and passing, but they can also hurt with their countergame and quick hitting plays. Vince Seaman's talented toe also gives the Blue and Grey an excellent field goal threat. Coach Calvo is sure to have his forces ready for their next outing, Nov. 2, against the Albright Lions on the Moravian field. This game will mark Moravian's Family Day and will begin at 2:00 P.M.

Bullets Play Tomorrow

Muhlenberg College's football team concentrated on pass defensive this week in preparation for an aerial invasion by the Gettysburg Bullets Saturday afternoon.

The Bullets have emerged as one of the top small college passing teams in the nation. Quarterbacks Vance Johnston, a senior, and Jim Ward, a sophomore, have accounted for seven touchdowns through the air.

Dale Boyd and Ken Snyder, flankers, have each caught three touchdown passes. In six games, Boyd has caught 22 pass for 418 yards, and Snyder has snared 15 for 184 yards.

Gettysburg complicated the pass defense problem last week by surprising Albright with a running game. Heretofore, the Bullets passed almost 80 per cent of the time. In beating Albright, Gettysburg threw fewer passes than at any time this season.

Muhlenberg should be almost up to full strength. Co-captain Dan Poust, injured earlier in the season, may not see action Saturday. He limped away from the locker room on crutches after the Lebanon Valley contest Saturday.

Woginrich is the team's leading ground gainer with 211 yards.

Rules of the Game

(Author Unknown)

The Chaplain's advice to my son Bill on graduation day—"I am giving you the ball, son, and naming you the quarterback for your team in the game of life. I am your coach, so I'll give it to you straight.

"There is only one schedule to play. It lasts all your life, but consists of only one game. It is long with no time out and no substitutions. You play the whole game—all your life.

"You'll have a great backfield. You are calling the signals, but the other three fellows in the backfield with you have great reputations. They are named Faith, Hope, and Charity.

"You'll work behind a truly powerful line. End to end, it consists of Honesty, Loyalty, Devotion to Duty, Self Respect, Sturdy Cleanliness, Good Behavior, and Courage.

"The Goal Posts are the Gates of Heaven."

"God is the referee and sole official. He makes all the rules, and there is no appeal from them.

"There are ten rules. You know them as the Ten Commandments and you play them strictly in accordance with your own religion.

"There is also an important ground rule. It is, 'As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise.'

"Here's the ball. It is your immortal soul! Hold onto it. Now, son, get in there and see what you can do with it."

A Moravian Booster Club was formed this year under the leadership of our cheerleading squad. This club sponsors buses to all away football games and sells Greyhound Booster Pins. We hope that you will buy a pin and help the cheerleaders cheer MO-MO on to a 1963 Parents Day Victory over the Lions from Albright.

Capobianco, a freshman, has slipped into second spot with 102 yards.

Although somewhat leaky at times, Muhlenberg's pass defense showed improvement in the Lebanon Valley game. Mule defenders grabbed three aeriels. Rothrock raced 74 yards for a touchdown on one interception.

Sideline Slants

with Norm Ziegler

Something new has been added to Moravian since last year's Parents Day. This new thing is Moravian's soccer team under the leadership of coach Terry Jackson. The soccer team playing in the M.A.C. has compiled a 2-4 record to date. The losses were at the expense of Lafayette, Wilkes, Wagner, and Drew. The two wins were over P.M.C. and Muhlenberg, Jackson, a graduate of Springfield College, was an All-American Nominee in his senior year at Springfield. Jackson is also teaching physical education and is Intramural coordinator at Moravian.

Looking at our football team, they have compiled a 2-2 won—lost record going into the game today. The grid-iron men won their first game at Wilkes, lost their second to Wagner and beat

P.M.C. Last week the Hounds were on the losing end being squeezed out by the Dutchmen from Lebanon Valley. The Lions from Albright, are 2-4 for the season but don't let this record fool you. Last week they handed the Aggies from Delaware Valley a 63-0 setback. The Hounds will be lead by co-captains Dough Wilkins, a History Major from Suscasunna, New Jersey and Andy Semmel, a Political Science Major from Lehigh, Pennsylvania. Last year Andy was named Most Valuable Player in the M.A.C.

NATIONAL SPORTS SCENE

by Chuck Berger

When Roger Kochman critically injured his knee in a recent football game, the anti-violent sports supporters hopped on the bandwagon in an attempt to lessen or eliminate the injury-prone games in today's athletic programs. Whether Kochman, a former Penn State All-American now with Buffalo in the AFL, ever walks again won't be known for a few months. The ever-increasing controversy against boxing and certain other contact sports has ignited investigations left and right. The young men who participate in athletics accept the possibility of injury versus their desire and enjoyment of the game itself. The percentage of crippling sport injuries, whether in grade school or pros, is lower than the average accident rate in the world, and who is going to ban the automobile, etc.? From ancient Greece down to the modern Olympics, men have met and accepted the challenge of sports regardless of the rare instances of special damage. Instead of condemning, the investigation should give conclusive protective measures to aid athletes. The contact games will never die, but neither will the controversies. Last week Jimmy Brown was mentioned as the all-time great rusher, but the men responsible never share the same billing. Cleveland's Front Four of Bill Glass, Bob Gain, Paul Wiggins, and Frank Parker, have continuously overpowered opponents defensive lines to enable Brown to grab the limelight. Recognition will come in the annual post-season All Pro Lists unless the gullible press still support their "local heroes."

For many years Pennsylvania has opposed thoroughbred racing in the state on the grounds that it would "corrupt" the morals and introduce large-scale gambling. It seems strange that the Keystone politicians were stubborn in this respect and still managed to share the headlines in various scandals. Incidentally they didn't come off so poorly in the harness racing debate after state taxes claimed $2.5 million of pari-mutual bettings for the 1963-64 season!

The Philly Eagles and Detroit Lions were offered $4.7 and $6 million respectively for their NFL franchises... Local colleges have instituted boxing clubs with the aid of veterans, Frankie Alotta, Billy Eck, and John Olejack and amateurs competing at all levels... Twenty-two year old Bob Shoemaker captured the L. V. Bowling Proprietor Championship with a 214 plus average for 16 games... Bailey Robertson, brother of "Big O" is a candidate for the Wilkes-Barre Barons in the local Eastern Pro Basketball League... Pete Monska, former coach of Trenton, takes over the Allentown entry in this same circuit... Al Senavitis becomes Phillipsburg (N.J.) High basketball coach after starring for Bethlehem High and Seton Hall.

Houndettes Match LV State Wishes to Create Interest in Librarianism

by Arlene Ebner
Women's Sports Editor

In two games played last Saturday at Lebanon Valley, the girls' hockey team went 1 and 1. The Houndettes also dropped their game with Wilkes last week by a score of 3-0.

All of Wilkes' tallies came in the first half of the game played on the winner's field. In the second half, however, the only things lacking for the Moravian girls were goals. Their play was outstanding, but the goal attempts just wouldn't gell.

In the first of two games played at Lebanon Valley, the varsity was defeated 5-1. The game was played under foggy conditions, putting a damper not only on the weather, but also on the teams' spirits. Moravian's only goal was scored by Vivienne Aldersley.

The junior varsity game proved to be a different matter, with the Houndettes coming out on top 2-1. The goals in that game were scored by sophomore Dottie Gandy and freshman Elaine De Reamer.

Guiana Speaker Outlines Challenge to Students

Internal strifes and accomplishments in British Guiana and the challenges that await dedicated missionaries were told to Moravian College Theological and general students at two seminars this week on the campus.

The speaker was Reuben Baird, retired school principal from British Guiana and the only lay member of the Moravian Board of British Guiana. Baird is traveling through the United States under sponsorship of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Moravian Church in America.

At a Wednesday morning seminar in the theological school he told of the "urgent need for dedicated Christian men to work alongside the people of British Guiana. We need those who are ready to lead the people to self help rather than waiting upon the government of British Guiana to provide it."

Baird reviewed recent government developments in his native land, referring to political, racial, economic, and labor problems. Of the people he said: "British Guiana has not gone Red. The leader (Cheddi Jagan) has shown tendencies toward the Red Bloc, but the people have not. And I personally feel that the people who directly support him are not inclined toward the Eastern Bloc," he said.

He spoke of recent government troubles over budget and labor proposals by Jagan, noting "this, despite what has been said, was not a racial strife, but rather political."

He hailed the role played by the United States trade unions in helping preserve the trade union system in British Guiana recently "during those perilous times when it appeared our labor system would not survive."

"The student of today," he concluded, "cannot only live on the traditions of the past, but must consider what he can contribute to society and what he can leave for the generations yet unborn."

Students . . .
es.

There are 501 students from Bethlehem and the Lehigh Valley vicinity and 157 more from other sections of Pennsylvania. Enrollment from New Jersey records the second highest total by states at 165. New York is next with 45. Other states represented are Connecticut, Wisconsin, North Carolina, Massachusetts, Maryland, Maine, Minnesota, Idaho, Michigan, North Dakota, Ohio, Georgia, Rhode Island, and Texas.

The State's program to encourage more college graduates to consider librarianship as a career will be brought to the Moravian Campus, on Monday, November 4. The State of Pennsylvania is currently initiating a program to improve and develop public libraries throughout the Commonwealth. However, there are at present fewer than half enough librarians in the State to do this job, in addition to the many vacancies which also exist in college, university, and school libraries.

As part of this program, Donald Hunt, of Drexel Institute of Technology, will spend all day Monday, November 4, on the Moravian campus to encourage local interest in librarianship as a career, and to interview students who would like to investigate the possibilities of a library career.

According to Mr. Hunt, the bright student with a bachelor degree will find that a career as a librarian offers an exciting and rewarding future. Salaries are good and library school graduates are now placed in beginning positions with salaries between $5,000 and $6,500 a year.

In addition to discussing the training for library science, which leads to the Master's Degree in one year, Mr. Hunt will also provide information on the State Library training program, other types of scholarships, and work-study programs.

25,000 librarians are needed in the immediate future to fill current vacancies in libraries in the immediate vicinity as well as throughout the United States and the world. More than any other profession, librarianship offers the student with a college education the opportunity of selecting a location and position ideal to him, Hunt said. Both men and women are needed to fill openings in public libraries, and in school, college, science, government, medical and overseas libraries, among many other types.

Mr. Hunt stated that he would gladly interview anyone interested in becoming a librarian, on Monday, November 4, at Moravian College. To reserve an interview appointment, please contact Mr. Henry Williams, Librarian.

Nominations for the new vice president of USG will be entertained at the USG meeting 7 p.m. Monday in the Bethlehem-Salem Room of the CUB. The post was left vacant recently by the absence of Mark Sussman.

At 10:45, a talk — "Moravian College Planning" will be held in Prosser Auditorium.

cost of $1.50 payable when registering.

A brief account by the Moravian College Choir will be held in Prosser Auditorium at 12:15. The presentation of the International Flags will take place at the East Entrance to the College Union Building at 1:00 p.m.

Manuscript Seeks Entries

The Manuscript, Moravian College's annual literary publication, is seeking entries of poetry and short stories from any interested students.

While the winds about you wip
And the autumn leaves fly Frighten
Think hard of the Manuscript
And masterpieces you'll have written.

Once again the Manuscript is opening its literary campaign to all students regardless of "class." All types of written works are accepted and, like last year's Manuscript, black and white photos and illustrations will be accepted also.

The written pieces must be type written and submitted with the flyer that will be distributed at Convocation. Illustrations should be neat and contrasting colors.

All entries must be submitted before March.

8½ is Fellini's Drama Of Existential Quest

by Reed Treible
Comenian Editor

Federico Fellini's long awaited new film, 8½, is the controversial director's latest offering since "La Dolce Vita." Already acclaimed by critics, the film is now playing at the 19th Street Theatre in Allentown.

The story of 8½ is said to be the director's own life. The dilemma of 'having nothing to say, but wanting the freedom to say it' points up the basic existential problem of our time. The film is beyond the genre of what was once considered avant garde, for it includes a new stream of consciousness. The film switches quickly from the external situation to the inner thoughts of Guido, (played by Marcello Mastroianni) the main character, in the role of a film director. The interesting conflict arises in the mind of the viewer when he tries to make order out of the chaos. The audience reaction to the film was mixed. Most of the audience writhed in impressionistic horror as they attempted to create an order into which the quick changes could fit.

The film is done in Italian, with English sub-titles. If you're at all up on Italian, it's not hard to tell why the translations in the sub-titles are inaccurate.

The symbolism in the movie is extremely well thought, and has many underlying meanings. Very sharp commentary of contemporary Italian life, from their love of nature cures and mineral water to the hopelessness of the marital situation, is the high point of the film. Underlying meanings regarding the use of the color white and the use of the symbolic sex element must be seen more than once to be completely analyzed.

Another underlying, but not as important Existential dramatic conflict is present in Guido's dilemma regarding the maintenance of his own public image, versus the image of what he himself has created within his own Lebenswelt.

Done in black and white, the film includes dramatic use of lighting techniques which set it apart from the norm. The film may be in some instances compared to the Broadway production of "The Fantasticks," an avant garde production of sparse stage settings and dramatic lighting.

"OKAY, LEARY, YOU'VE MADE A POINT - SOCIETY IS RESPONSIBLE FOR YOU... SO LETS SAY IT'S NOT YOU I'M FLUNKING. LETS SAY IT'S TWENTIETH CENTURY MAN."

Meet Gerald Bourland

Computer Systems Associate at WE

Gerald Bourland, B.S., Central Missouri State College, '61, picked Western Electric because it offered many interesting and challenging opportunities in his favorite fields—automation and data processing. Gerald's work here consists of writing, testing and documenting computer programs—each one a different and exacting assignment.

Also of great interest to Gerald when he joined Western were the Company's numerous management courses and paid Tuition Refund Plan. He knows, too, that we'll need to fill thousands of supervisory positions within the next few years. And he's getting the solid experience needed to qualify.

Right now, Gerald is working on a verification sub-system for maintaining production control. It consists of seven distinct computer programs that operate as one routine which performs the function of tying together and verifying forecasted with actual customer orders.

If you, like Gerald Bourland, set the highest standards for yourself, enjoy a challenge, and have the qualifications we're looking for—let's talk! Opportunities for fast-moving careers exist now for liberal arts, physical science and business majors, as well as for electrical, mechanical and industrial engineers. For more detailed information, get your copy of the Western Electric Career Opportunities booklet from your Placement Officer. Or write: Western Electric Company, Room 6405, 222 Broadway, New York 38, N. Y. And be sure to arrange for a personal interview when the Bell System recruiting team visits your campus.
