Peace Corps Visitor Today Is African Administrator

Moravian College will observe Peace Corps Day today by welcoming to the campus Mrs. Ann Z. Pollom, administrative assistant to the Peace Corps for Abidjan, Ivory Coast, Africa, with headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Pollom will speak on sociology, religion and political science classes in the morning and will meet with students for an informal discussion period in the lounge of the College Union Building in the afternoon.

Mrs. Pollom, a former teacher and a licensed pilot with a background of extensive world travel, will meet with a combined class in social work and international politics at 9:10 a.m. in the Bethlehem-Salem Room of the College Union.

She will meet with faculty members from 10 a.m. to 10:30 before meeting with a combined political science and history class in the Bethlehem - Salem Room. at 10:20. Her final morning address will be in Room 205 of Comenius Hall when she will speak to the class in Contemporary Problems in Religion beginning at 11:35 a.m.

Mrs. Pollom will be guest of Dean of Women Halcyon Sartwell and several faculty members at a luncheon in the College Union Germantown Room and will meet with students in the CUB lounge from 1:30 p.m. until 3.

Mrs. Pollom was a teacher of foreign languages in Casper, Wyo., and in Japan.

Freshmen Elect Officers

Geof Rader is President

Three Lehigh Valley residents have been named among the officers elected to guide the Moravian College Freshman Class for the current year.

Selected as President is Geoffrey H. Rader, son of Prof. and Mrs. Marlyn A. Rader, R. D. No. 3, Nazareth. Prof. Rader is Chairman of the Mathematics Department at the college. Young Rader, a graduate of Pen Argyl High School, is enrolled in the math curriculum.

Secretary of the newly enrolled class is Ann Rodgers, daughter of the John S. Rodgers, 620 North 2nd St., Emmaus. A graduate of Linden Hall Academy, she is a pre-med student.

Scott Stoneback has been named United Student Government Representative. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Stoneback, 556 Franklin St., Alburtis, he is a Political Science major with hopes of entering the field of Law.

Elected Vice-president is Kirk Oakes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alpheus Oakes, 918 Beechwood Court, Plainfield, New Jersey. Oakes is studying Business Administration and plans a career in merchandising.

Treasurer of the class of '67 is Dorothy Thomas, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Victor L. Thomas, 709 Onedia Place, Madison, Wisconsin. A graduate of Madison West High School, she is also enrolled in the Economics and Business Administration curriculum.

38 to Visit U. of P.

Thirty-eight students enrolled in the pre-medical program will spend Saturday, Nov. 9, at the University of Pennsylvania Medical School where they will visit facilities of the school and participate in a symposium.

The students will be accompanied by three faculty members, Mrs. Rae Griffith, Prof. Kenneth Bergstresser and Dr. A. E. H. Gaumer, all of the Biology Department.

The day-long program will include tours of the U. of P. medical, dental and veterinary schools followed by a symposium on medical, dental and veterinary school admissions. Taking part in the symposium will be officials from the Philadelphia colleges of medicine.

The program is sponsored annually for a number of Pennsylvania colleges by the LaSalle College chapter of Alpha Epsilon Delta, national undergraduate pre-medical honorary.

Lions Rip Hounds 28-7

by Lowell H. Tomlinson

The fervor which has accompanied so many Moravian-Albright clashes in the past few years seemed to be lacking Saturday as Moravian took a 28-7 lacing at the hands of the Lions. Chilling winds and occasional rain certainly did not promote the crowd's enthusiasm. The main attraction of this year's Parent's Day lost much of its audience when game-opening hail chased many fans from the field. Those who remained had little to inspire their ardor as they saw the Greyhounds held to 55 yards rushing while the Reading eleven racked up 290 yards on the ground. Albright collected 102 yards in the air with 9 completions in 12 attempts for quarterback Lew Nevins, while Moravian had 88 yards in the air with Andy Semmel hitting on 5 of 14.

Dean to Address Convocation

In the College Convocation on November 14, we will be honored by an address from the Very Reverend John N. McCormick, Dean of the Cathedral Church of the Nativity here in Bethlehem.

Dean McCormick has been at the Cathedral Church of the Nativity since 1960. He is a native of Louisville, Kentucky. After his ordination into the Episcopal Priesthood, he served as Priest-in-Charge at the Emanuel Mission in Louisville. Later, he became Rector at St. Timothy's Church in Houston, Texas. He also served as Chaplain at St. Stephen's Episcopal School in Austin, Texas. He has also been on the staff of the Virginia Theological Seminary at Alexandria, Virginia.

The theme for the speech will be "Is Christianity Relevant to Modern Life?"

scored again within minutes on a 46 yard run. Albright's third TD within ten minutes came when Co-captain Bob Kropp intercepted a Semmel pass and carried it to the Moravian 1. Fullback Bill Bors scored on the one yard plunge. Terry Anker kicked the three PAT's giving him a total of four for the day.

The Greyhounds' only scoring of the afternoon came late in the final quarter. A fifty yard pass play, Semmel to Riccardi, took the Hounds deep into Albright territory. Pass interference

Dean McCormick is a speaker whose presence is in great demand at many college and university convocations. The Religious Life Council is presenting this convocation. In an interview, Professor John Machell made the following statement concerning this convocation: "Contemporary life, with all its tensions and turmoils, is difficult for all of us. We live in an anxiety-producing age; and some of us wistfully look for securities from various directions. It is good that we continue to look, and one of the challenges of life today presents to us in that we find the courage to be "open" to communications from traditional and from new sources of "truth." Dean McCormick is one of those excellent "communicators," and the Religious Life Council is grateful to be able to present him to all students and faculty who are "open," searching, and seeking.

C.U.B. News

The Hitchcock Thriller "North by Northwest" will be shown in Prosser Auditorium tonight and Saturday night at 8:00 P.M. preceded by the travel short "Ireland" at 7:30 P.M.

A representative of the Peace Corps will be in the Bethlehem-Salem Room today from 9:00 to noon.

Band Asks Aid

The Moravian College Band, comprised of approximately 20 members, is seeking student aid in the form of proficient musicians, as well as favorable ideological student support.

According to Terry Musselman, president, "If we had a few more members, we would be much better." Musselman pointed out that the band needs uniforms. The cost of $44 per person has not as yet been underwritten by the administration, according to Musselman.

The band plans its first concert shortly before Christmas.

Other officers of the band are; John Manck, vice president, and Myra Heimbrook, secretary-treasurer.

Interested persons may report to the chapel 7 p.m. Monday.

Dane to Speak

The Foreign Policy Assn. of the Lehigh Valley has as its primary purpose the education of citizens about the United States' foreign relations. Its aim is to increase individual participation in World Affairs. A non-professional organization, it is designed for the general public. It has a program of lectures and study groups. Speakers are drawn from among foreign diplomats and American experts in the field of foreign relations.

This Wednesday evening, in Prosser Auditorium at 8:00 P.M. The speaker will be Ole Bjorn Kraft, vice-president of the Danish Parliament. His topic will be "The Common Market Crisis and the U.S.A."

Aphasia in the Public Domain

There is a point at which ubiquity merges into anonymity. This is one of the problems in trying to assess the critical opinions of a great portion of our population that wishes its opinions heard, but in anonymity.

This applies to any responsible individual in so far as any source of responsibility, such as a government or a news media, cannot seriously consider the opinion of a group or an individual, no matter how valid the argument may be, if it cannot be authenticated by those responsible enough to affix their names to it.

In a more important sense, the desire for anonymity in the college community as seen by responsible students and members of the faculty is asinine, for it is a foregone conclusion that we are all here because there is an element of seeking and discovery in our motivation to reach self discovery.

Perhaps uncertainty in this area is due to a lack of the use of terms of precise definition. We want the freedom to express ourselves, but we find, in the final analysis, that we very often have nothing to say.

This miscellaneous rambling applies here because it outlines one important aspect of Comenian policy: No Articles or Letters Will be Printed if They are Submitted Unsigned. The Comenian is Based on a Philosophy of Self-Assertion, With Belief in the Individual Worth of a Personality. If One Lacks the Responsibility for the Conviction to His Beliefs, He Must Remain Anonymous.

Girl's IM Hockey Schedule

by Arlene Ebner
Women's Sports Editor

Girls' intramural volleyball began this past week, with the seniors versus the freshmen on Wednesday night and the juniors versus the sophomores on Thursday night. All girls are welcome and urged to come out and support their class. All games, unless otherwise indicated, will be played at 7 p.m. in Johnston Hall. The schedule for the remaining games is as follows:

With the advent of November has come a surging wave of new activities and items of interest.

Plans for a tutoring program to aid needy students is now under discussion by members of USG and Triangle Honor Society. Possibilities for the program include departmental services which would provide scholastic aid by those students qualified to those requesting such help. A joint committee has been appointed to look into the case and to report its findings.

USG added to its ranks recently when the College Choir received admission to the governing body. No allocation was requested, a fact which, members feel, points up an organization's responsibility to provide leadership whether or not money is given in return.

Mu Sigma Sigma Sociological Society has also applied for membership into the organization without allocation demands. This society which reorganized itself this year elected for its officers, Frank Kish as president; Jess Sekey, vice-president; Nancy Olenwine, secretary; and Sven Danielson, treasurer.

APO brothers and pledges are going up to the Poconos to Camp Minisi, Bethlehem Area Boy Scout Camp on Nov. 16 to do some cleaning. The members of the national service fraternity are going to help to improve forest areas under the national Timber Stand Improvement program.

A display of different phases of psychology will be presented by the Psychology Club the week of Nov. 18. The Bethlehem Salem Room will be the scene of such demonstrations as the use of conditioning and its practical applications and the use of abnormal psychology and personality techniques, such as the acting out of a group therapy situation. Examples of industrial psychology tests used in job applications will be shown along with numerous other items of interest in the field of psychology.

Sorority-wise, the AEP's just completed redecorating their sorority room in time for Inter Sorority Informal. New benches of the built-in variety are featured along three of the walls with occasional lamp stands as dividers. Silhouette profiles of the seniors provide eye-catching interest on the walls while new draperies in blue, a sorority color, round out the decor. Cushions with each girl's name will eventually be an added feature of the room's furnishings.

Dr. Shao Working In Florida School

Dr. and Mrs. Otis Shao left Moravian College in July, 1962 and entered a new phase of activity in St. Petersburg, Florida.

Dr. Shao, the "new man" at Florida Presbyterian College, is associate professor of political science, and an authority on Far Eastern government. Each of his several term lectures has taken 30 to 40 hours of preparation and the study of numerous books. "I teach a freshman course in Western Civilization in addition to my own discipline (political science). As part of these responsibilities, I take two discussion groups each week. In these 90-minute periods students and teacher analyze the lectures, discuss reading materials and explore the issues," he said. "Such discussions quickly show up the teacher who doesn't know."

Dr. Shao's teaching schedule is but a fraction of the whole picture. He is conducting public lectures at the college this year on the "unique elements" of the Chinese, Indian, Arabian, Polynesian, Hebrew, and other civilizations. He confers with the FPC student councils and worked out "proposals to develop our curriculum."

Katowitz in Local Play

Philip Katowitz, Moravian senior, is an actor in "A Palm Tree in a Rose Garden," now playing at the Pennsylvania Playhouse on Old York Road in Bethlehem. Katowitz has appeared in several Blackfriar's productions.

The play, written by Meade Roberts, is the story of Rose Frobisher, beauty contest winner who tries the big time of Hollywood.

Failing to find stardom, she seeks happiness in marriage, but her dream lingers on. She passes this dream and acquires "The Rose Garden" boarding house for starlets.

Other local talent in the work include Agnes Gackenback of Bethlehem; Donna Soloi of Bethlehem, and Bonnie Carnham of Bethlehem.

The play will run Nov. 6 through Nov. 9, and Nov. 15 and 16. Curtain time is 8:40 p.m. Tickets are available at Huff's Music Store, or by calling 867-9797.

Imitations of Immorality

by Roger Hudak; ad. manager

It has been said that in order for society to exist in harmony, a code of morals must be established. This order is regulated by representatives of society as a whole. The moral code is a designed to keep order and to attain the "good life."

Here at Moravian, we find a moral code which is quite unrealistic. Among other things in the code, we find the subject of alcoholic beverages. The rules set forth by the administration of the school forbids the drinking or possession of alcoholic beverages on campus. With this we all agree, because Moravian is a church-supported college, and it should have a stiffer code concerning alcohol than the university across the river.

But when the hierarchy of the college begins to promote rules concerning secondary or suggestive sources of immorality in alcohol, they are over-stepping their rational limitations. A moral code can be improved to only a certain degree, then it becomes ridiculous.

The golden example of such an irrational judgment was brought to my attention last week. The so-called suggestive source involved was a ceramic beer stein with the college emblem and decorative art work painted on it. The stein sells for $9.00 at a local reputable jeweler. It is a decorative, not a functional piece of ceramic art. Yet, the Comenian was not allowed to print an advertisement of this article. The administration claimed that heirarchy called the Board of Trustees would not condone such an ad due to the fact that it suggested alcoholic beverages on this campus.

The Comenian lost money on this decision, and we will probably lose the advertiser involved as well. Who will play for this deficit? Who pays the tuition?

The suggestive nature of the stein toward alcoholic consumption is a ridiculously far-fetched example of moral irrationality. First of all, who would spend $9.00 for a stein and then ruin it with beer? What "bad name" could such an article bring the school when Villanova (a Roman Catholic Institution) sells the same article?

The student is not compelled to buy a stein like he is compelled to buy a gym suit. The manufacturer, the dealer, and the advertising department of the Comenian feel that the stein would be purchased for fraternity houses, souvenirs, or mom and dad, not for beer but as a decorative article. Anyone against beer steins could buy a cake plate from Lear.

I wholeheartedly agree with the Board of Trustees that ads concerning alcohol directly, should not be permitted in the Comenian. However, when they get down to petty ideas suggestive of alcohol they are being naive.

Miss Grundy of victorian literature is an old lady who should have changed some of her ways long ago. When she finds a basically good moral situation, she begins to look for hidden immorality, or better, "Imitations of Immorality." Then she appears ridiculous.

When invitations are sent out for the Eastern Bowl (formerly the Cement Bowl), it's a cinch that none of the local collegiate teams will receive a bid. The post-season classic was initiated last year in Allentown and puts the two top small college teams against each other. While Muhlenberg sports the best record (3-3), local collegiate football is on the downgrade the past few seasons. Moravian (2-3), Lafayette (1-5), and Lehigh (0-6) are all suffering through sub-par seasons.

Delaware (6-0), Temple 5-1-1), Susquehanna (6-1), and West Chester 6-1) are the leading prospects for an Eastern berth. Unless the committee decides in favor of a major school (such as Princeton, 6-0), the teams will be recruited from the M.A.C. division and the state schools. Local interest would support a neighboring team, but until improvement is shown the Bowl games will suffer through poorly-attended matches between "outsiders."

Last week mention was made of the four outstanding linemen on Cleveland's N.F.L. entry as being offensive stars not sharing the Jimmy Brown spotlight. Well, the four are defensive standouts, and in all fairness to all-pro selections, this mis-statement should be overlooked.

With the 1964 Olympics not far off, the International Olympic Committee is beset with innumerable political headaches. Thirty-five specific problems ranging from East-West German tension to South African racial politics loomed as major stumbling blocks for a smoothly-run program. Avery Brundage, American president of the I.O.C. told newsmen,

... "We are faced with two alternatives. You can either suspend an Olympic Committee in which case there will be many innocent people inside that country who will suffer, or we can suspend an Olympic sport in which case there would be many innocent people outside the country who might suffer." At this stage the '64 events are the most disorganized in the past few decades of international athletic competition.

The Green Bay Packers showed no signs of fading since all-pro quarterback Bart Starr has been side-lined. With subs John Roach and Zeke Bratkowski filling in, it was the heavy ground game which enabled the defending Western champs to cop their seventh straight last Sunday. How about the Chicago Bear - Green Bay game fast approaching? The Midway Monsters from Chicago lead the N.F.L. in defense, while the Packers are on the top in offense. Take your pick in the season's biggest battle.

This Friday competition for the Penna. Bowling Proprietors Championship commences at the Jordan Lanes in Allentown. Local winner Bob Shoemaker, together with Hal Zimmerman, Ron Stoneback, May Jordon and Tess Kocis will represent the Lehigh Valley. Bowling enthusiasts have a chance to see the top amateurs in action in the most prestiged tournament.

Sideline Slants

with Norm Ziegler

It is very difficult for a person to criticize friends and fellow students that he respects to a great degree. But, this writer believes that there is a very bad problem facing the student body of Moravian College. The problem is our football team. This writer definitely believes that our football team is a much better team than that of Lebanon Valley or Albright. Why, then did we lose? I believe that the answer to this problem lies in the following conclusions:

1. The attitude of the football team is very complacent. It is a well known fact on this campus that some of the football players do not believe that our coach, Mr. Calvo, is suited for the job. In America an individual is entitled to his own personal opinions concerning people. But I don't think this feeling toward Mr. Calvo, by some of our football players, should be noticeable on the playing field. An athlete should play a sport because he loves to play that sport. This feeling of self dedication should overshadow all other obstacles.

2. The reflection of the attitude of the administration and faculty towards sports on this campus is very low. How many faculty members or members of the administration attend Moravian home games I am sure one can count them on his right hand. Also there is the fact that the equipment is not the best and that our "stadium" is not sufficient.

3. The attitude of the student body in respect to supporting their team is also very low. This year we have seen two definite steps forward in this area. These two steps are the band and the Booster Club. But, above all the students must support their team to a greater extent and show more respect, on and off the grid-iron, for our football players.

The opinions above are the opinions of the writer on this delicate subject. I hope the Moravian student body will take these criticisms as adults. This writer will welcome and print in this column any other suggestions or opinions on this subject.

Lions . . .

against Albright gave Moravian the ball on the Albright 1 yard line. Moravian's touchdown came on the third play from scrimmage with Semmel carrying. The PAT kick by Vince Seaman made it 28-7, Albright.

This win brings Albright's seasonal record to 3 wins against 4 losses while this loss of Moravian marks the first time this season that the Hounds have fallen below the .500 mark. The Hounds (2-3) must defeat both Upsala and Muhlenberg in order to post a winning season's record.

We Face Upsala Tomorrow

After a disastrous 28-7 rout by the Albright Lions last Saturday, Moravian's Greyhounds (2-3) prepare to meet the Upsala Vikings (4-2) November 9 at home. Game time is 2:00 P.M.

Upsala, fresh from a 26-13 Homecoming defeat at the hands of Muhlenberg Mules, November 2, would like nothing better than to regain the win column at the Hound's expense.

Last season in a game played in the snow, rain, and mud of Viking Field, East Orange, New Jersey, the Upsala Vikings handed the Greyhounds a 9-0 setback. This year Moravian hopes to emerge as the winner of this game.

This gridiron duel marks the annual Blue-Grey game and a handsome trophy will be rewarded to the victor.

Upsala allowed Muhlenberg an early 14-0 lead in last Saturday's game but late showed their scoring potential and almost pulled out a victory. Muhlenberg scored two TD's in the early part of the final period to pull out the win.

Upsala has a fine quarterback in the person of Charlie Cocaezza, who scored both of his team's TD's against the Mules. Lou Checchetto aids in the Viking scoring by his fine field goal and extra point kicking.

Moravian should be at almost full strength for this crucial game. Andy Semmel's passing to both Paul Riccardi and Pat Mazza, as well as Vince Seaman's superb kicking should give the Hounds a strong enough scoring punch to win this one. A victory over the Vikes would even Moravian's record at 3-3 this season. A loss would assure the Hounds of a losing season.

The starting line-ups for this Saturday's game for both teams include:

UPSALA

Ends—Accone, Brenner
Tackles — Glesseuobel, Hette-sheimer
Guards—Pierson, De Fillopes
Center—Bartell

Backs — Cocuzza, Dowds, Checchetto, Lee

MORAVIAN

Ends—Mazza, Riccardi
Tackles—Balliet, Coull
Guards—Weinhoffer, Wilkins
Center—Long
Backs — Semmel, Grablachoff, Morganstine, Ritter

I'd like to urge all students, parents, and friends of Moravian to come to old Moravian field this Saturday, Nov. 9, at 2:00 p.m. and cheer our team on to victory.

I'd also like to wish Coach Rocco Calvo, his assistants, and the Greyhound football squad the best of luck in this vital game. Go MO-MO!

E'town Nixes Houndettes

by Arlene Ebner

Women's Sports Editor

The girls' hockey team went down to defeat last week in a game played at home with Elizabethtown. The score, however, did not shed a true light on the play, as the Houndettes played one of their best games of the season.

The final tally of the game ended up 11-1, with Moravian's only goal being made by Vivienne Aldersley. The rain had a somewhat dampening effect on the last home hockey game of this season.

This Saturday, November 9, the girls' hockey team will travel to Cedar Crest for a playday there. Also participating will be Muhlenberg, Kutztown, and Albright.

Hounds Tie Stevens

Last Wednesday the soccer team played a long hard game against Stevens but only tied with a score of 0-0. The wind was a main factor; it was cold and hard. Every time the Hounds seemed to have a good shot at the goal the wind would blow it astray. As usual Moravian had control of the ball the majority of the time running Stevens ragged on Stevens half of the field.

The previous Saturday on October 26, Mo-Mo won their second win of the year by beating the Mules of Muhlenberg with a score of 3-2. The Mules seemed to have more than the usual men on the field by having help from the striped whistle blower. Even with these odds the greyhounds out played and controlled the ball the majority of the time. Jackson and his boys are playing well and should succeed for the rest of the season.
