Brazilian Choir Attracts Crowd Despite Bad Weather

A bit of Brazilian culture was brought to the United States and to Moravian College as the Coro Do Brasil presented a concert from the current Community Concert series on Saturday evening, January 23.

The Coro Do Brasil, hailing from the beautiful city of Belo Horizonte, has been the pride of Brazil ever since its founding nine years ago. Known as the "Madrugal Renascentista" at home, the choir numbers twenty-five singers under the direction of Isaac Karabtchevsky, himself a protegee of the distinguished conductor Eleazer de Carvalho.

Established in 1956, the original members were music and college students attending school in Belo Horizonte, the capital of Minas Gerais State of Brazil. When Isaac Karabtchevsky heard the young people singing in various city events, he felt that the vocal quality was so outstanding that a choral ensemble should be formed. He carefully auditioned and selected the voices for a choir which was originally intended to specialize in the music of the Renaissance, hence the name "Madrugal Renascentista," a name by which it is still known in Brazil.

The ensemble made its debut in Belo Horizonte and has since appeared in Sao Paulo, Rio de Janeiro, Portugal, Spain, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Italy, and the United States. During its visit to the United States, the choir visited Moravian College where despite the weather, many people enjoyed a most delightfully light concert. The first half consisted mainly of works from the 16th and 17th centuries and included "Ave Maria," de Victoria; "Exultate Deo," Scarlatti; "What if I Never Speed," Dowland; "Hark

All Ye Lovely Saints," Weelkes; "Ranguir Me Fais," de Sermisy; "Il est Bel et Bon," Passereau; "S'io Ti Vedess," di Rasso; "Trois Chansons," Ravel.

The second half consisted of folksongs from Chile: "Opa Opa" and "Mi Caballo Blanco;" from the U.S.A.: "Deep River" and "I Got Religion"; from Brazil: "Rosa Amarela," "Nozani-Na," "Canide-Ioune," "Xango," "Estrela Do Ceu e Lua Nova."

In response to exuberant applause, the Coro did four encores, including two arrangements made by the conductor himself: "Hi, Cutie Pie" and "The Spinning Top." The two soloists during the concert were alto, Maria Lucia Godoy and bass, Evidal Trindade.

The Coro members were also guests of Moravian College at a dinner in the CUB dining room. Members of the Spanish Club and Spanish-speaking students of the college acted as their hosts. Although the native tongue of Brazil is Portuguese, in most cases there was no problem in communication since many of the Brazilians spoke Spanish and English.

Dean Heller Addresses First Convo

The "State of the College" was summarized at the first all-college convocation of this semester January 21. Dean James J. Heller, Vice President and Dean of the College, discussed the purpose, progress, prospects and problems of Moravian College today and tomorrow.

Moravian's long heritage began one hundred years before the Protestant Reformation, a heritage which produced such educational pioneers as Comenius, Antes, Haidt and Zinzendorf. These men generally affirmed the world and desired knowledge; there was no widespread sacred-secular dichotomy. It is this noble heritage that must increasingly shape our present and future.

How well are we actually doing? Dr. Thad N. Marsh, in a convocation address last October, was generally pessimistic; yet he felt the Liberal Arts College could be salvaged if it aims to better develop "competence, concern, and compassion." He was speaking in generalities; it is we who must assess Moravian College.

This semester saw the addition of 34 students, including two (Cont. on p. 4, col. 3)

Comenius Lecture Series:

Margaret Mead: "The Scientist Today"

Three leaders in science-related fields will appear at Moravian College as guest lecturers for the 1965 Comenius Lecture Series.

They are Margaret Mead, curator of ethnology, American Museum of Natural History in New York; R. Bruce Lindsay, dean of the Graduate School, Brown University; and Linus C. Pauling, only winner of two Nobel prizes and an outspoken critic of nuclear testing.

Miss Mead will be the speaker at the initial program in Prosser Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 4. Her subject will be "The Scientist and Society."

Dean Lindsay, associated with the Physics Department of Brown since 1930, will speak on "The Role of the Scientist in Civilization" at the lecture on Monday, March 22, at 8 p.m.

Pauling is scheduled to speak at 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 4, on "Scientific Freedom and Responsibility in Our World Society."

The series, open to the public, is sponsored by the Division of Natural Science and Mathematics at Moravian. Dr. Herman E. Collier is chairman.

Miss Mead, known for her contributions in the field of anthropology, has held many lectureships in the past 40 years.

She is adjunct professor of anthropology at Columbia University, visiting professor of anthropology in the University of Cincinnati's Department of Psychiatry and is visiting professor at the Menninger Foundation in Topeka, Kan.

She has conducted expeditions to Samoa, New Guinea and Bali, studying habits of the natives. Miss Mead is the recipient of 13 professional awards and holds nine honorary degrees.

Dean Lindsay was named chairman of the Brown Physics Department in 1934, a post he held until he assumed his position as graduate school dean in 1954.

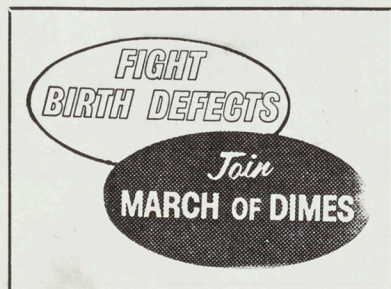

He is a former president of the Acoustical Society of America and was honored by that group and the American Assn. of Physics Teachers. He has served as consultant to the U.S. Navy Department and as a scientific advisor to the Naval War College.

Pauling, a member of the faculty at California Institute of Technology for 41 years, is now a staff member of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions.

He received the Nobel Prize for Chemistry in 1954 and the Nobel Peace Prize in 1962.

Deadline for the Manuscript is March 26th.

The Beck Oratorical Contest will be held March 18; contestants must apply by Feb. 1st. (See Mr. Jacobson)

In Memoriam

Winston Churchill is dead. It is difficult to say anything about the man which is not a cliché. Cliches, however, do have the habit of often being true. Even during his lifetime Sir Winston was often referred to as one of the truly great men of this century. In a time which has had few parallels in history, this is no small distinction.

World War II has been over now for nearly twenty years. It is all too easy for us who have reached adulthood since then to underestimate the value of his achievement.

Communism appears to us to be much more of a threat to Western Civilization than the Nazis were. Churchill's leadership of Britain during the war, however, is significant because his success meant the preservation of not only the political organizations of the Western World but also its system of values.

Winston Churchill is dead. His accomplishments were many, and the praise he received was deserved. In the heart of, not only his countrymen, but also in those of free men in all places and at all times, Winston Churchill's memory will live. He has achieved the sort of immortality given to few men.

Did Someone Say Snow Removal?!?!?

Our congratulations are extended to the Buildings and Grounds Department for a not-so-valiant effort at snow removal. On the week-end prior to the College's official opening, men were out in the cold, braving snow, wind, and cold to get rid of the snow before the student's expected return. A really great job was done. In fact so great a job was done that when we had the first real snow following the students' return, there was no more rock salt to put on the ice!

And the co-operation of our illustrious student body in the snow removal effort has really been a marvel to behold. Cars have been illegally parked on the circle, unticketed, every day of the semester. This really helps.

But then, as is typical of all Bethlehem snow "removal," no snow has been removed from the premises. It has simply been shoved aside; sometimes it has been shoved so far "aside" that most cars can not even get through it!

Oh, yes, we must not forget the regular parking areas behind the College Union Building, Johnston Hall, and beside Iron Street. The first two have a beautiful sheet of ice on them when it is cold, and many inches of feet-drying (DRYING!?) slush when it is warmer. As for the soft packed (PACKED!?) dirt on the Iron Street lot, with snow and ice on it—or even without snow and ice on it—forget it!

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

The student body constitution calls for election of student body officers in the new future. You are reminded that it is your obligation to be aware of and take an interest in your voice in student matters. The following is section K of the constitution outlining election proceedings.

1. All candidates for USB (United Student Body) offices must have at least a 1.80 cumulative average.
2. The primary elections for all USB offices shall be conducted on the third Monday and Tuesday of February.
3. A qualified student may have his name placed on the primary ballot by a petition containing the signatures of at least one-tenth ( $\frac{1}{10}$ ) of the USB.
4. A student may run for only one USB office in any one election.
5. In the event that less than four petitions are submitted to the USG permanent Elections Committee, the USG shall have the authority to place the names of up to four candidates on the primary election ballot, providing all nominees accept their nominations. At no time shall more than four names appear on a primary ballot.
6. The students with the two highest amounts of votes, for each office, in the USB Primary Election, shall be certified as the candidate in the general USB election.
7. The officers of the USB shall be elected on the first Monday and Tuesday of March. They shall hold their office for one year beginning within fifteen days after election to office.

Sincerely yours,
Ted W. Bowman
President

"Sneeze and Wheeze"

The Comenian wishes to extend its congratulations to the Big Three TV networks for the exclusive coverage given to President Johnson's cold. Last Saturday night, the three geniuses of the public eye presented a minute by minute coverage of one of the greatest news items of the year. They attempted, as always, to out do each other in the coverage of the "LBJ Wheeze and Sneeze Spectacular."

While relaxing in a cozy chair, watching portions of "The Rainmaker" starring Burt Lancaster on "Saturday Night at the Movies," the TV viewer could have been suddenly thrust to the edge of his seat as one of the leading news networks followed up a boring commercial with a special news bulletin. It may have sounded like this:

Lancaster says, "Just say over and over again, Lizzie, I'm beautiful, I'm beautiful, I'm beau. . ."

"We interrupt this program to bring you a special news bulletin from XXX News. We switch you to XXX News commentator Robert Abernathy in Bethesda Naval Hospital, Washington, D.C. 23046."

"This is Robert Abernathy XXX News. Just a few moments ago we received an exclusive interview with Nurse Zina Betesda, one of the nurses in charge of President Johnson's floor. We will now switch you to our roving reporter, Rodger Mudd with the isolated camera interview with Miss Betesda. Come in Mudd." (delay of 15 $4,600.00 seconds).

"This is Rodger Mudd, with Miss Zina Betesda. Miss Betesda, just how is President Johnson?"

"Oh, simply wonderful, he's so nice."

"I'm sure the viewers back home are interested in just which cold capsule the President is taking."

"He's on Tetramycin 250 mg. 1 qid.,  $\frac{1}{4}$  oz. of Tao susp. tid., one tbs. of Tussagesic qid., and one application of Tegrin."

"Just what are these for, Miss Betesda?"

"Well, the first two are antibiotics, the third is an expectorant cough formula for the wheezing, and the last is for dandruff."

"Just a moment! I have just been signaled by Wil Due that some action is on up on the Regal Floor! Come in Due."

"This is Wilbert Due. Nurse Diana Haverford just carried a bed pan out of room 1463. Back to you Rodger Mudd."

"Thanx Wil Due. Miss Betesda, just what is the President reading?"

"He's reading Shakespeare's 'Much Ado About Nothing,' and he's watching 'Gunsmoke' at present."

"Zina, what made you become a nurse?"

"Well, my first name is Zina like in Zina Bethune and my daddy owns this hospital. He's a navel specialist. That's where they get the name I guess, Betesda Navel Hospital."

"Thank you Miss Betesda and goodnight, Wil Due."

"Goodnight, Rodger and goodnight Miss Zina."

"Goodnight Bob Abernathy."

"Goodnight Rodge and goodnight David."

"Goodnight Bob and goodnight Chet."

"Goodnight David. And now back to our regularly scheduled program in progress."

Lancaster says, "Goodnight Lizzie."

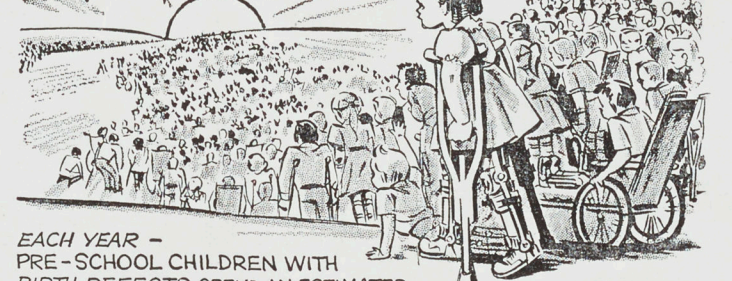

"Goodnight Starbuck." (fade out to a commercial)

We may have exaggerated this a trifle, but the actual interruptions were in reality as incongruous and unnecessary as a request to Moravian College to remove snow from parking spaces.

ELIZABETHTOWN BEATS GREYHOUNDS 80-69

Moravian College shot a mere 53 per cent from the foul line and it cost the Greyhounds an M.A.C. basketball win as Elizabethtown triumphed, 80-69. Elizabethtown (10-1), the leader of the northern division of the M.A.C., hit on 23 of 63 floor shots but made up for the slack in the foul shooting department hitting 34 of 47.

Moravian (1-4) had a poor shooting percentage but scored more field goals than Elizabethtown getting 26. The Hounds lost the game from the foul line as they hit on only 17 of 32.

A trio of scorers led the way for the Blue Jays with Doug Boomershine (24), Larry Evans (19), and Dan Reitmeyer (17) pacing the attack.

John Lentz was the defensive leader for the Jays coming up with the big rebounds, stealing passes, and doing an excellent job of guarding Murtaugh.

The game was close as the Hounds began to get hot in the fourth quarter and the lead was cut from 20 points to 10 points. However, within 10 minutes Cvammen, Zerfass, and Fry fouled out and the Hounds lost control of the boards. Zerfass was the Hounds' top scorer with 21 points followed by Murtaugh with 19 and Baksa with 14.

LEOPARDS TROUNCE GREYHOUNDS 109-65

Lafayette won its thirteenth straight game over Moravian on Saturday at Easton, 109-65. The Leopards outplayed the Hounds and won the battle of statistics in all departments. They made good on 43 of 63 floor shots compared to 25 of 70 for the Hounds; they hit on 23 of 29 from the charity stripe as compared to 15 of 26 for the Hounds; they held a 62-42 advantage in the rebound department.

Lafayette (4-2) outclassed the smaller Greyhound team which suffered its fifth setback in six games.

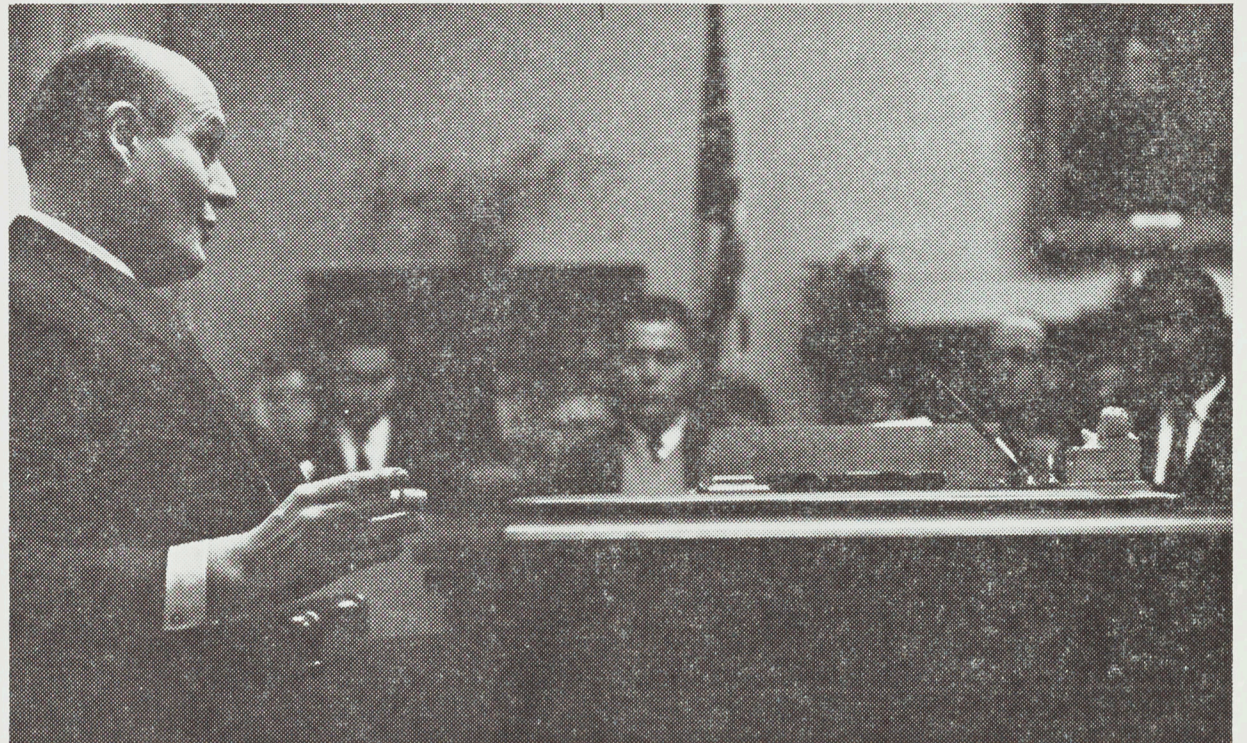

Lafayette, a fast breaking team, was at its best and the Leopards ran up the highest point output of the campaign.

Dave Brown and Dan Kristoff led the Leopards with 24 points each followed by Preston Denby and Joe Klarberg, both with 13 points.

Kristoff, who specializes on short jump shots, hit on 10 for 14 from the floor for a 71.4 shooting percentage.

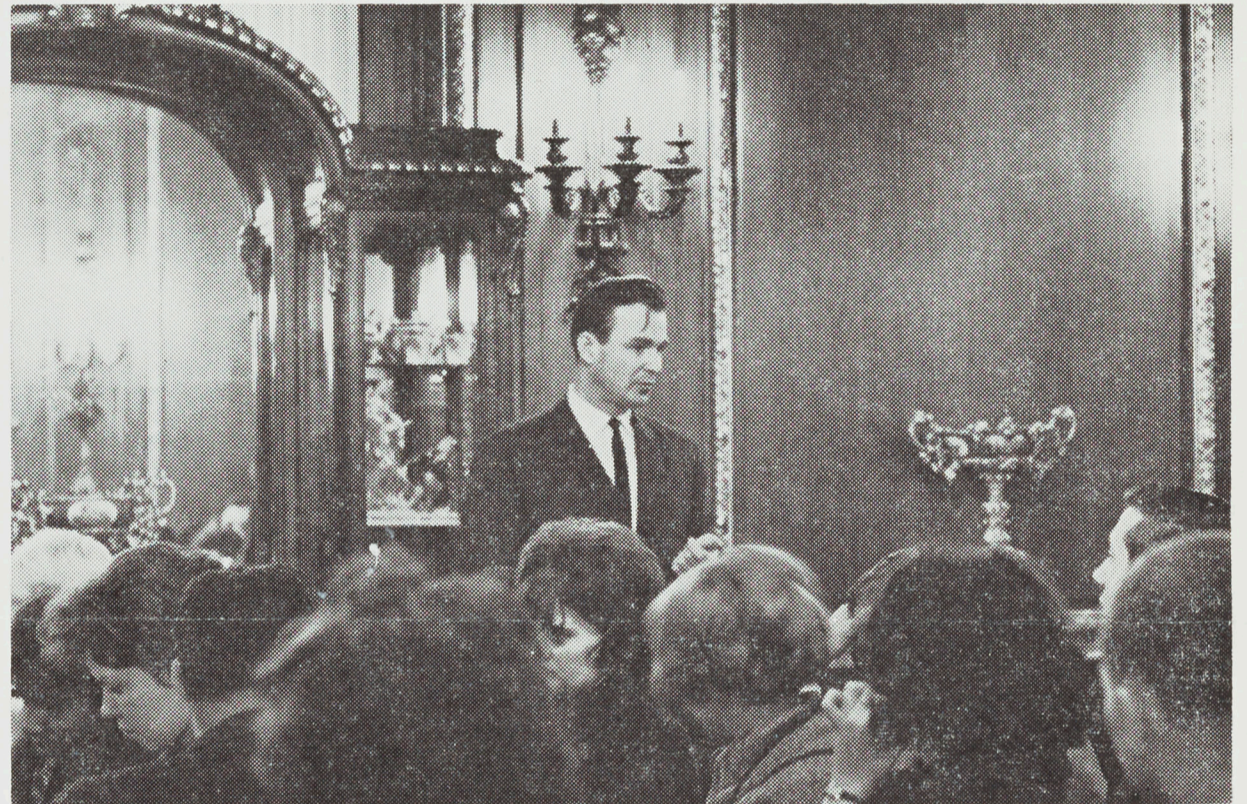

The only bright outlook in the Greyhound defeat was the fact that Bob Zerfass finally found the range as he scored 23 points.

Lafayette's junior varsity romped over Moravian by posting a 72-57 victory.

PAC Tour Visits Nation's Capital

The problems which face Israel today are both internal and external, according to His Excellency the Israeli ambassador to the United States, Avraham Harman. The ambassador spoke to the 44 Moravian College students and faculty members who were in Washington for the annual PAC trip to the nation's capital.

To unify not only the Arabs and the Jews living in Israel into a nation, but also to unite the Jews from the various parts of the world who have come there is perhaps the most important task facing Israel today. The latter task is somewhat the easier because of the common religious background of both European and non-western Jews. To bring both Jews and Arabs closer together is a more difficult task. The government has taken steps which it hopes will make the Arabs feel that they have a stake in Israel's future and that they are an accepted part of the community. Israel for example has two official languages, Hebrew and Arabic. Any Arab-speaking member of the Israeli Parliament can address that body in his native tongue, and the legislative chambers have facilities for simultaneous translation.

In speaking of the relationship between Israel and the Arab nations which surround her, the ambassador noted that the conflict between the two will not end in the foreseeable future. It is a conflict between different cultures—one progressive and democratic and one which is conservative and authoritarian.

The PAC group visited other diplomatic posts in Washington including the British, Soviet, and West German Embassies and the Hungarian Legation.

At the State Department, the group met with Mr. William Stearman, Public Affairs Advisor for European Affairs. The same evening, in the ballroom of the hotel at which the group was staying, another State Department official, Dr. MacIntyre, spoke to the group about German-American relations.

Discussions were held with Senator Strom Thurmond, Acting Attorney-General Katzenbach, and Justice Byron White. During a visit to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the group was told about President Johnson's program to provide aid to education.

Accompanying the group were Mrs. Jane Haines, Dr. Walter Moeller, Dr. G. Alan Sears and his son, Douglas Sears.

Audubon Film-Sat.

An imaginary trip under the sea will be in store for those in attendance at this coming Audubon Screen Tour. Harry Pederson of McAllen, Texas will represent the National Audubon Society in presenting this third screen tour of the current series, with the Moravian College Conservation Association as the local sponsoring organization.

A small remote coral formation is the heart of a "Village Beneath The Sea," inhabited by many bizarre citizens who live cooperatively in a fascinating aquatic environment. Viewers will be introduced to the flying gurnard, who uses his fins like the wings of a plane, the neon gobies who operate a scale-cleaning "service station," the barking jawfish, and other odd creatures.

Pederson has filmed footage for many underwater adventure motion pictures; during World War II, he and his brother tinkered with an 8 mm. camera in a home-built underwater project in San Diego. They then worked in the Bahama Islands, where they supplied films for Rachel Carson's "The Sea Around Us." The brothers later produced documentary material for Walt Disney Produc-

Thomas To Speak At All College Worship

The Religious Life Council has given us the privilege of having Dr. D. Reginald Thomas as speaker at this semester's first All-College Worship on Thursday, February 4. His topic will be "The Essentials of Faith."

Dr. Thomas has been Minister of The First Presbyterian Church in Germantown (Philadelphia) since 1955. However, Dr. Thomas is by no means a native of this particular area. He was born in London of Welsh parents in 1914. His schooling consisted of St. Anne's in London, the University College of Wales and the Theological College which is also located at Aberystwyth.

On September 14, 1944, Dr. Thomas was ordained at the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Wales. After serving the Argyle Presbyterian Church at Swansea for four years, Dr. Thomas became Minister of Llandinam Presbyterian. The pulpit at Llandinam is one of the most noted in the Presbyterian Church of Wales. Dr. Thomas represented the Presbyterian Church of Wales at the World Council of Churches in Evanston, Illinois in 1954.

Dr. D. Reginald Thomas

Two years later he received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Temple University. In 1959, he made the colored film "Land Where Our Father Died" at Valley Forge and in 1961, wrote a book entitled Love So Amazing.

Dr. Thomas has travelled extensively throughout England and Wales and conducted radio services over the British Broadcasting System. Currently Dr. Thomas has a radio program every Sunday on NBC called "The Bible Study Hour" which is heard from coast-to-coast as well as in Canada, the Philippines and Liberia.

The present art exhibit of Art from Bethlehem Homes and photographs by Ib Henriksen, portraying scenes in Athens, will close on February 1, 1965. The next exhibit, of the Bethlehem Palette Club, will be hung on February 2. All students are invited to attend the reception which will be presented in the student lounge on Sunday February 7 with the assistance of the CUB Art and Food Committee.

The current display in the showcase of the Germantown room is a collection of minerals from the college Earth Science Department. Dr. R. E. Meyers assembled the exhibition which includes some beautiful specimens of agate, crocoite, and amethystine quartz. Included also are quartz models of the famous diamonds of history, and a few minerals of the Rick-secker collection.

The Concert Film Committee has recently acquired more records for the CUB desk. Included among these records are: Mozart's Requiem, Music for the Lute—John Dowland, Music for Brass Ensemble, "Rodeo," and "Billy the Kid"—Arron Copeland.

On Friday, February 5, 1965, the movies "The Sand Castle" and "The Idiot" will be shown at 6:30 and again at 9 p.m.

SPO

Although having occurred last semester, Sigma Phi Omega is proud to announce that Vince Seaman and Dave Wilson were elected into Who's Who Among American Universities and Colleges.

Three SPO brothers, Dave Wilson, Tony Iasiello and Clay Miller are starting members of the Moravian College Wrestling team.

This past week, Vince Seaman, SPO president, was selected as Moravian College's scholar-athlete and was honored at a subsequent banquet.

The brothers of SPO are now looking forward to the coming social events of the semester and the seniors to graduation.

E.B.A. Sponsors Program

Mr. Claude Peters, the executive director of the Joint Planning Commission of Lehigh and Northampton Counties, will present a film entitled It Takes Planning on Monday, Feb. 1, at 7:00 p.m. in the Bethlehem - Salem Room.

The film strip is approximately 15 minutes in length and describes the planning process as applied to the Lehigh Valley and current Joint Planning Commission projects. At the close of the film, Mr. Peters will make a few comments relative to the future planning activities of the Joint Planning Commission and then open the floor to discussion and questions.

freshmen, 22 transfers, and ten returnees. The incoming students in general are increasingly better qualified and have higher college board scores. Students are doing more work in independent study and honors programs. Moravian graduates are being considered more favorably and are receiving more honors after graduation. The faculty-student ratio has declined to 17:1. About half of the faculty members now hold the Ph.D. degree, while more are working for the degree at the present time. Classroom instruction continues to be of the highest calibre; professors are now enjoying easier work loads and increasing salaries. And it is the student who is the final beneficiary of these innovations.

It is obvious that our physical facilities have changed drastically from the time when the Library Annex was the school gymnasium and the first floor of the Seminary Building served as the cafeteria and "C.U.B." At this new Moravian College, we enjoy Concert Series, movies, and the Comenius Lecture Series.

The prospects look still brighter. Comenius lecturers now scheduled include Margaret Mead, Linus Pauling and Robert Lindsay. Ground will soon be broken for a new library, and then a science building. Enrollment will level off at approximately 1,100 full-time day students, and no new programs are planned at the present time; the emphasis will be on quality as opposed to quantity. We now have our first "language floor," with more expected to follow. Students will be encouraged to do some of their study abroad.

Problems invariably exist in any optimistic outlook. We are necessarily faced with increasing tuition charges. We need to seek greater support from industry, alumni, foundations, friends and our sponsoring denomination. We will strive to couple student freedom with high standards and create a better learning climate in the process.

The major challenge for the future, concluded Dean Heller, will be to "excite all of you to adventure with us in the search for truth, and knowledge, and goodness."

Civic Little Theater Presents Comedy

A comedy containing what many New York critics called the funniest lines to be heard on the stage in years, is scheduled to be presented at the Civic Little Theatre of Allentown January 29 and 30 and the 2nd through the 6th of February. This is "King of Hearts" in which Bob Kratz will be starred not as the hero but as one of the most obnoxious villains of recent times. Tickets are available at the box office or by phoning 432-8943.

1. Isn't it remarkable how about one hundred and fifty pounds, more or less, can be balanced so delicately on one small eighteen by fourteen inch cafeteria tray.

2. Have you noticed that as the college progresses, the number of parking spaces decreases and the number of students increases. Wonder what mathematical formula the IBM machine developed to cause this?

3. Consistent with changing of the name from dormitories to residence halls (it sounds more home like), carpeting will be installed in the new Wilhelm Residence Hall next year. This will insure the following: non-skid water battles, less cigarette burn marks on the asphalt tile, ease in cleaning up mud and spilled soft drinks.

4. We could comment on how well they've cleaned the snow out of the parking spaces.

5. About this time during the semester most parents and close relatives of students at Moravian College are expecting letters from their favorite student. Realizing that most students have neither the time nor inclination to write, but feel that they ought to, we have prepared a form letter. All a student need do is to fill in the appropriate blanks.

Dear....., (Mother, Father, etc.)

I have been at college for..... now and things are..... except that I'm a little short of funds. If it didn't trouble you too much I could sure use.....dollars. My grades are..... so far. I have a..... in..... but that is more than balanced by my..... in..... because..... The reason you received that letter from the dean was..... Actually he didn't understand the situation; what actually happened was..... I would appreciate it if you didn't write him about it though, since it seems to have blown over. Yesterday the weather was..... I used the day to..... I've got to get back to my homework now.

Your loving..... (son, daughter, etc.)

INTERVIEWS for:

Sales and Sales Management Training Program

This Program is designed to develop young men for careers in life insurance sales and sales management. It provides an initial training period of 3 months (including 2 weeks at a Home Office School) before the men move into full sales work.

Those trainees who are interested in and who are found qualified for management responsibility are assured of ample opportunity to move on to such work in either our field offices or in the Home Office after an initial period in sales.

The Connecticut Mutual is a 118-year-old company with 560,000 policyholder-members and over six billion dollars of life insurance in force. Aggressive expansion plans provide unusual opportunities for the men accepted.

Glamour Announces Best Dressed Contest

For the ninth year GLAMOUR Magazine has invited colleges across the country and in Canada to help them find the "Ten Best Dressed College Girls."

We have been asked to select the best dressed girl on our campus, photograph her in a typical outfit, a daytime off-campus outfit and a party dress. The photographs will then be sent to the magazine with the official entry form for the national judging by a panel of GLAMOUR editors.

The COMENIAN is sponsoring the competition on the Moravian campus, with Miss Chris Whytock acting as faculty advisor. A committee consisting of representatives from various campus organizations will be formed to select and screen all candidates for the "Best Dressed College Girl." Heads of organizations on campus have already received letters asking them to choose members for this committee.

The girl selected will be judged on ten points by the GLAMOUR editors: (1) A clear understanding of her fashion type; (2) A workable wardrobe plan; (3) A suitable campus look (she's in line with local customs); (4) Appropriate — not rah, rah — look for off-campus occasions; (5) Individuality in her use of colors, accessories; (6) Imagination in managing a clothes budget; (7) Good grooming, not just neat, but impeccable; (8) Clean, shining, well-kept hair; (9) Make-up — enough to look pretty but not overdone; and (10) Good figure, beautiful posture.

The GLAMOUR judges will first select a group of semi-finalists and from these the ten winners and up to twenty honorable mention winners will be chosen. The "Top Ten" will be photographed in the spring for the annual August College Issue of GLAMOUR and will be flown to New York in June via American Airlines for a visit as the guests of the magazine. The honorable mention winners will be featured in a fall issue of GLAMOUR.

The winners, flown to New York for two weeks, stay at the Barclay Hotel. They will learn the inner workings of a magazine, visit with leaders of the fashion and beauty industries and will be entertained with the infinite variety found only in New York.
