

Supervision of Student Research (Selected)

Conference Presentation

Dunn, D. S., Baker, J., Domedion, H., & Odenwelder, K. (2008, March). The bathroom is no place for propaganda: Unobtrusive assessment of attitudes toward anti-war sentiments. Poster presentation at the Annual Meeting of the Eastern Psychological Association, Boston, MA.

Independent Studies

Baker, J. (2008, fall). Wakes and funerals: Shedding light on death and the dismal trade.

Adams, S. (2004, fall). Intentionality and psychological processes.

Summer Student Opportunities for Academic Research (SOAR) Student

Boyer, S. (2009). New directions for the study of disability and rehabilitation psychology.

Brody, C. (2007). Defining the good life following acquired physical disability.

Dougherty, S. B. (2003). Social psychological processes and adaptation in rehabilitation.

Collaborative Research with Students

Fisher, D. (2010). Revisiting the “mine and thine” exercise for understanding disability.

Vicchiullo, C. I. (1999). Social inhibition and HIV status.

Stoudt, B. G. (1999). Social support and HIV status.

Dutko, S. L. (1993). Attributions about disability.

Goldbach, K. R. (1989 – 1990). Explanations for pregnancy loss.

Undergraduate Honors Thesis Projects

Boyer, S. (2010). Social psychology and group interaction [working title].

Fraulo, M. L. (1998). A social psychological analysis of the Holocaust: The propaganda that persuaded German citizens to accept the Nazi agenda and the coping strategies employed by the concentration camp survivors.

Stoudt, B. G. (1998). The effects of perceived coach support on anxiety and performance of college basketball players.

- Evans, R. A. (1997). Negative social interactions and depression: Symptoms in caregivers of a mentally ill relative.
- Schaeffer, J. (1997). Music and emotion: A comparison between musicians and non-musicians. [C. Traupman-Carr, co-advisor]
- Vicchiullo, C. I. (1995). Exploring three correlates of thought suppression: Attention, absorption, and cognitive load.
- Abad, J. (1993). Dispositional optimism and self-complexity act as buffers against the stress of a major life-altering event.
- Heberling, L. (1991). The Oedipus complex as a pivotal determinant of adult neurotic behavior: Implications for art & religion [S. R. Gordy and L. Reker, co-advisors].
- Sudol, P. (1991). The effects of attribution therapy and explanatory style on academic success in college freshmen.
- Fuenfsteuck, C. A. (1990). Moral development in children: Guilt and empathy.
- Weber, M. (1990). The use of the Just World Hypothesis when making attributions about AIDS victims.
- Christiano, G. (1980). The effects of Locus of Control on the adjustment of college freshmen.

Member of Dissertation Panels

2000–2003 Susan Parnell Scholtz, School of Nursing, Widener University

1991–1992 Daniel Salzman, Department of Psychology, Lehigh University

1990–1991 Kristen R. Clinton-Goldbach, Department of Psychology, Lehigh University