Course Description

This course provides an introduction to the political, economic, ideological, and social developments in the United States from contact to 1877. The first part of the course will trace the developments that allowed colonists from thirteen disparate colonies to see themselves as one people that should constitute one nation. Following independence Americans struggled with the meaning and consequences of their Revolution. They debated the contradiction between the ideals of liberty and equality and the existence of slavery and other forms of dependence; they argued how best way to protect state interests in a federal system of government; and they negotiated the competing political ideologies of republicanism and liberalism and economic ideologies of agrarianism and capitalism that shaped American society. Within a hundred years of the Revolution, these issues had so polarized the North and South that the election of a Republican president, Abraham Lincoln, in 1860 prompted the secession of eleven slaveholding states. Only four years of bloody civil war restored the Union and destroyed slavery. This course will provide students with an opportunity to examine and discuss the significance of the American Revolution, Market Revolution, Jacksonian Democracy, and other important issues in American history as they explore the roots of sectionalism and Civil War. Particular attention will be paid to the interactions of America’s Native American, African, and European.

Course Objectives
Students will
- become familiar with the main themes in American history from contact to 1877.
- consider human agency, causality, and contingency in historical change.
- identify the roles and contributions of Native Americans, Africans, and Europeans to the development of the United States.
- learn how critically evaluate and interpret a variety of primary sources.
- develop clear and effective oral and written communications skills.

Class Organization
The class will meet twice a week. Most classes will consist of a combination of lecture and discussion. Lectures provide the background and context for the discussions. In order to keep up with the course material, it is important that you complete the assigned reading before class. Days marked “seminar” on the schedule will be devoted to class discussions of the readings.

Required Texts

Additional readings will either be emailed to the students or be placed on reserve in Reeves Library.

Attendance
While there is no formal penalty for missing classes, you are strongly encouraged to attend all classes. Success in the course depends upon comprehension of the lecture material and participation in class discussions. Lateness will not be tolerated.

Please turn off or mute all electronic devices in the classroom.

Grade Distribution
Essay One 10%
Essay Two 12%
Essay Three  15%
Quizzes (5)  16%
Mid-Term  14%
Final Exam  18%
Participation  15%
The participation grade is based on the quality of your participation. It is not an attendance grade.

Assignments

During the semester, you will be required to write three essays, two exams, and five unscheduled quizzes. In addition, to attending lectures, you will also be expected to prepare for and participate in discussions. In regards to the essays, detailed instructions will be handed out in class.

Important Due Dates
Essay One due Sept. 14
Essay Two due Oct. 26
Essay Three due Nov. 21

All assignments are to be handed in at the beginning of the class in which they are due. Essays handed in at the end of the class will be considered late. Computer and printing problems are not acceptable reasons for lateness. Late papers will immediately be assessed a 10% penalty and 2% will be deducted each day thereafter. Emailed essays will not be accepted without prior permission of the instructor.

Academic Dishonesty

According to the Moravian College Student Handbook, the following constitutes plagiarism: “as the use, deliberate or not, of any outside source without proper acknowledgment.” Plagiarism shall result in the offender receiving zero in the course. Please consult the Student Handbook for fuller details.

Students with Disabilities

Students with physical, learning, or medical disabilities should speak to me and contact Laurie Roth, Director of the Learning Center, to arrange the appropriate accommodations. Please make these arrangements in the first weeks of the semester.
