Western Literature

Western Literature is over 2,000 years old and has recorded many civilizations some disappeared long time ago but go on living through the written word. These writings and civilizations have influenced our culture, way of thinking, reading, seeing and feeling. During our semester together we will explore some of these civilizations and heritages by reading books, essays, poems and plays representing the great western literature since the Bible. You would be required to make your own choices of different forms of literature, to respond, react, evaluate and appreciate the writing and enhance your understanding of the roots of western literature: your own inheritance.

Course Objectives

- Enhance your reading
- Facilitate your ability to use books as space ships to other worlds
- Develop your inner voice
- Help to improve your written and oral skills
- Give you some experience in working alone and in group
- Enable you to distinguish between constructive and destructive criticism
- Allow you the freedom to shape your own literary taste and penchant

Required reading

Western Literature The Norton Anthology Volume 2
Recommended Reading

Atonement Ian McEwan
Blindness Jose Saramago
Emma Jane Austen
Catch 22 Joseph Heller
The Unbearable lightness of being Milan Kundera
One Hundred Years of Solitude Gabriel Garcia Marquez

Expectations

You are expected to show up to every class, and on time. Missing lessons and lateness will interfere with learning and hence affect your grade. Since there is a large emphasis on teamwork you will be required not to disrupt your fellow student's creativity and to be considerate. No ringing cell-phones and no eating during class.

All assignments will be presented in print; hence you have to master computer skills.

Grading

Your contribution in class will determine 20% of your final grade
The work done in groups with other students will determine 15% of your final grade
The presentations you will give in class on your own, and/or with fellow students will determine 15% of your final grade
The written works you will be required to present throughout the semester will determine 25% of your final grade
The last assignment, a research paper on your chosen topic, (in lieu of final exam) will determine 25% of your final grade

Schedule- with possible modifications according to student researches

Week I
Tuesday January 16
Introduction
Thursday January 18  The Bible
Week II
Tuesday January 23  Ancient history
Thursday January 25  Homer
Week III
Tuesday January 30  The Divine Comedy
Thursday February 1  Chaucer
Week IV
Tuesday February 6  Women's situation
Thursday February 8  Don Quixote
Week V
Tuesday February 13  Shakespeare
Thursday February 15  Religion and literature
Week VI
Tuesday February 20  Romanticism
Thursday February 22  Romantics and Revolution
Week VII
Tuesday February 27  Realism and Symbolism
Thursday March 1  Mid-term paper due
Week VIII
Tuesday March 6  Spring recess
Thursday March 8  Milton
Week IX
Tuesday March 13  Moliere
Tuesday March 15  Voltaire
Week X
Tuesday March 20  Faust
Thursday March 22  Madam Bovary
Week XI
Tuesday March 27  Civilization on trial
Thursday March 29  Mann and Rilke
Week XII
Tuesday April 3  Baudelaire
Thursday April 5  A Room of One’s Own
Week XIII
Tuesday April 10  Metamorphosis
Thursday April 12  War's literature
Week XIV
Tuesday April 17  Sartre and De Beauvoir
Thursday April 19  Final essay due
Week XV
Tuesday April 24  Edward Said versus Primo Levi
Thursday April 26  Conclusion

Notes
1) You can expect to dedicate 3-6 hours per week outside of class, reading and preparing assignments.
2) Students with disabilities who believe that they may need accommodation in this class are encouraged to contact the Learning Services Offices as soon as possible to enhance the likelihood that such accommodations are implemented in a timely fashion.
3) Do not hesitate to address me with any kind of problem you have during class or after.
4) This syllabus is subject to change.