COURSE DESCRIPTION

Educational Psychology is a course designed to guide the student to understand and apply the concepts and principles of the psychological aspects of teaching and learning. Our focus is on the process by which information, skills, values, and attitudes are transmitted from teachers to students in the classroom. Topics included in the course are: human development, student variability, theories of learning and motivation and methods of evaluation. Current trends and issues in the field is an important component.

COURSE TEXT

Students are expected to complete all reading assignments in the text prior to the class in which a particular topic is scheduled for discussion. Students are expected to bring the text to each class session.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

- To identify the major stage theories of human development including those of Piaget, Erikson, and Kohlberg
- To identify and analyze physical, social, emotional, and cognitive characteristics specific to gender, age, and grade levels
- To describe the assessment of student variability with a focus on the nature and measurement of intelligence
- To characterize types of individual exceptionalities and adapt instruction to meet the diverse needs of students;
- To identify special education students through their I.E.P.’s and to have a greater understanding of “exceptionality” as it pertains to the classroom
- To demonstrate an understanding of information processing and the impact of memory on learning

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

EXAMS

Three exams will be given on or about the dates indicated on the reading/topic schedule. These may consist of several essay questions as well as short answer question, multiple choice, and/or true/false and matching questions.

FIELD EXPERIENCE/JOURNAL ASSIGNMENTS

Your cooperating teacher’s evaluation of your performance in your field experience will be calculated into your final grade. However, an unexcused absence or professional removal from the field experience will result in a grade of “F” for the course. The evaluation will be placed on file for consideration by the Teacher Education Committee if you apply to the teacher certification program.

You should create a journal entry for each visit to your classroom. I want you to note teaching style, lesson content, and student responses. Also, comment on classroom management techniques and any observations or questions you may have. Often, journal entries may correspond to the specific topic(s) discussed in class. You will often be given a “topic” for the week.

For each class, from your first visit to your last visit of your “field experience” you are to bring your word processed journal entry to class for review. Upon return of each week’s journal entry you should maintain them in a three-ring binder.

Each journal entry will be headed as follows:

(Your name)
ED 155Z Mr. Feinberg
Journal Entry #
School: (school name)
Grade: (grade and/or subject)
Date Submitted: (date)
HOMEWORK

In addition to your “weekly” journal entries, various homework assignments will be given throughout the course.

TOPIC STUDY PRESENTATION

Students will be divided into small groups and will orally present a current educational topic to the class. Each group will prepare a written outline for your instructor which details your group’s presentation. Each group will be prepared to defend their “topic study” and respond to questions from their instructor and their peers at the conclusion. Your presentation will be research supported however group “positions” on your topic are appropriate. Each presentation should be approximately one hour in length. We will discuss the specific topics as well as group and individual expectations at our first class meeting.

ACCOMMODATIONS

Students with disabilities who believe that they may need accommodations in this class are encouraged to contact the Learning Services Office as soon as possible to enhance the likelihood that such accommodations are implemented in a timely fashion.

POLICY ON ACADEMIC HONESTY

Recognized standards of honesty are part of the foundation on which the integrity of an academic community rests. Accordingly, the Moravian College Faculty in 1986 adopted a statement on academic honesty, the standards of which will be strictly applied in this course. You are encouraged to read carefully the description of this policy which is printed in your Student Handbook. If you are unsure about the propriety of a given procedure or approach for completing assigned work in this course, please consult with me before completing the assignment. Any breach of the College’s honesty code will constitute grounds for the assignment of a failing grade in the class.
