History 390: United States Labor and Working Class History
Moravian College, Spring 2009
PPHAC Room 338, Friday 10:20-12:40

Dr. Francis Ryan
Office: Comenius Hall 301
Email: ryan@moravian.edu
Office Phone: 610-861-1402
Office Hours: Thursday 1-2, Wednesday 10-Noon, and by appointment.

This seminar course explores the ways that labor and working class historians have interpreted the experiences of working people. Focusing primarily on the twentieth century, the class will challenge each student to make an original contribution to the understanding of this most important topic. Among the topics discussed include the construction of social class identities and relationships, working class institutions, especially labor unions, the power of working people in local political organizations, the fragmentation of working peoples’ identities along racial, gender, sexual orientation, region and skilled lines, and the importance of leisure and culture in modern life.

The inauguration of this seminar as part of the class offerings in the Moravian College History Department marks an important moment in the region’s economic and cultural life. Since the mid-nineteenth century, the Lehigh Valley region has been an international center for industrial production and working class culture, and our activities this semester will draw upon this rich heritage. I have invited four important labor leaders to be a part of some of our class discussions through the semester: I will provide more information about them and their contributions to American labor history the week before their arrival. It is my hope that we will uncover, both in our original research initiatives and discussions on thematic issues with the seminar’s four invited guests, some of the forgotten narratives of our regional history.

Students who wish to request accommodations in this class for a disability should contact Mr. Joe Kempfer, Assistant Director of Learning Services for Disability Support, 1307 Main Street (ex. 1510) Accommodations cannot be provided until authorization is received from the Office of Learning services.

Please be aware of Moravian College’s standards for grading. It is within the instructor’s purview to apply qualitative judgment in determining grades for an assignment or for the course.

Required texts:
The following books are available at the Moravian College bookstore.

Kathleen M. Barry, Femininity in Flight: A History of Flight Attendants
Lizabeth Cohen, Making A New Deal: Industrial Workers in Chicago, 1919-1939
Michel Honey, Going Down Jerico Road.

Grading and Evaluation:

Final exam: 20% A Final Exam will be scheduled by the Registrar’s Office.
In class Presentation 10% Students will prepare one in class oral presentation on a scholarly article that covers the topic of the week.
Participation 10% As this is a once a week seminar, attendance is expected at every class meeting. Active and thoughtful contribution to discussions and attention to all written assignments is also essential.
Consultations: 5% During the semester, student should consult with me at least once to go over research topic progress and issues.
Research Paper Bibliography/proposal 5% On January 30, students will hand in a research topic proposal along with a preliminary bibliography.
Film Review: 10% Students will write a two page, single spaced review of an assigned film.
Book Review: 10% Students will select one book from the list presented at the end of this syllabus and compose a two page, single spaced review that follows the traditional format of academic book reviews.

January 23: Introduction: Concepts of Class and Community in American Society
“The New Labor History” and U.S. Labor and Working Class History in the Early Twenty-First Century

In class Reading, David Brody, “The Old Labor History and the New: In Search of an American Working Class.”

January 30: The New Deal: Labor, Culture and American Consumerism
Lizabeth Cohen, Making A New Deal: Industrial Workers in Chicago (entirety)

Research Topic Proposal Due in class.

February 6: Working Class Politics and Radicalism

Film: The Great Debaters Time and location to be determined.

February 13: Culture and the Experience of Everyday Life
Kelley, Race Rebels, 17-77

Methods Topic: Oral History and the Challenges of Working Class History.

February 20: Pink Collar Labor: Women and the Retail Service Workplace.
Kathleen M. Barry, Femininity in Flight: A History of Flight Attendants

Guest: Wendell Young III, President Emeritus, United Food and Commercial Workers Union, Local 1776.

Bryant Simon, “Consuming Lattes and Labor, or Working at Starbucks,” International Labor and Working Class History 74 (Fall 2008) 193-211.

February 27: Research Field Trip: National Canal Museum Archives, Easton, Pennsylvania.
Details will follow.

Book Review Due in class
March 6: Spring Break

March 13: Finding the Public Sector Worker

Guest: Jeff Brown, founding organizer and president, AFSCME Local 71, Philadelphia Redevelopment Authority, (1974-2005)

Joshua Freeman, “The Strike Weapon: Can It Still Work?” Dissent (Spring 1997)

Film Review Due at beginning of class period.

March 20: Labor and the Civil Rights Movement
Michael K. Honey, Going Down Jericho Road: The Memphis Strike, Martin Luther King’s Last Campaign.

Guest: Al Johnson, Former Vice-President AFSCME District Council 33, Past-President, AFSCME Local 488 Municipal Hospital Workers, (1968-1990)

Film: Killer of Sheep Time and Location to be determined.

March 27: The Decline of Organized Labor

Guest: Dr. Alice Hoffman, Retired Director of Pennsylvania Dislocated Worker Unit, Pennsylvania Department of Labor

Film: Hoffa  Time and location to be determined.

April 3: Peer Review
First Draft of Paper Due in class.

April 10 (No Class)

April 17: Walking Tour of Industrial Philadelphia.

Tour Stops: Our tour will take us from the University of Pennsylvania in West Philadelphia to South Philadelphia where we will walk the same streets of the old 7th and 30th wards that W.E.B. DuBois surveyed in the late nineteenth century. From the Skittereen (birthplace of William Z. Foster, 17th and Kater Streets, South Philadelphia ), we will walk through center city and have lunch at the historic Reading Terminal before taking the el to Tioga Street in the city’s Kensington section to visit the original neighborhood where my family settled in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. Special stopping points are 1117 E. Tioga Street, the first Ryan household in Philadelphia, Luitlien Dye House, Scanlon Recreation center and Ascension of Our Lord Church.

April 24: Literary Sources as Primary Evidence

Our class today will allow for additional peer review and editing. As part of the class meeting, we will also explore some methodological issues of applying cultural history methodologies to literary work. Our in-class workshop will focus on the writings of Chester Himes, Anzia Yezierska and Amiri Baraka.

May 1 : Presentations

Books to Review: Please look over these selections and chose a book to review for the assignment due on February 27. (I would suggest reviewing a book that fits your broader research topic. If there is not one listed here that dies so, please let me know as soon as possible...)

Robin G.D. Kelley, Hammer and Hoe: Alabama Communists During the Great Depression.
Dorothy Sue Cobble, Dishing it Out; Waitresses and their Unions in the Twentieth Century.
Leon Fink and Brian Greenberg, Upheaval in the Quiet Zone: A History of Hospital Workers’ Union Local 1199
Laurie B. Green, Battling the Plantation Mentality: Memphis and the Black Freedom Struggle
Rick Halpern, Down on the Killing Floor: Black and White Workes in Chicago’s Packinghouses, 1904-1954
Eduardo Obregon Pagan, Murder at the Sleepy Lagoon: Zoot Suits, Race and Riot in Wartime LA.
Roger Horowitz, Negro and White Unite and Fight: A Social History of Industrial Unionism in Meatpacking, 1930-1990
Bruce Nelson, Divided We Stand: American Workers and the Struggle for Black Equality.
Daniel Letwin, The Challenge of Interracial Unionism: Alabama Coal Miners, 1878-1921
Lawrence Glickman, A Living Wage: American Workers and the Making of Consumer Society

Research Paper Possibilities....

Due to the short amount of time we will have in this one-semester seminar, it is essential that you begin work on your major research paper immediately. As stated earlier, by January 30 your topic proposal should be handed in, and once it is approved by me, assemble a preliminary bibliography and bring it to class on February 6.

The paper is to be no fewer than 20 pages. It will require significant original research using primary sources—the sooner you begin canvassing local manuscript and newspaper collections the better off you will be.

For those selecting topics related to Philadelphia labor history, a number of local libraries and collections will be of value. Temple University Urban Archives maintains the records of numerous regional labor unions and twentieth century activists, in addition to community based organizations that had working class men and women as their primary constituents. Besides Temple University’s rich collection, you may also make use of the Union Labor Record a journal of the local labor movement from the 1930s that reported extensively on the Reading and Lehigh Valley industrial world. It is housed at the Free Library of Philadelphia.
I will be leading research trips to Temple University Urban Archives through the semester. The first trip will be Monday, February 9.

Histories of local strikes from the Philadelphia, Lehigh Valley and Berks County area provide a legion of untapped narratives of working class culture, power and division that you may discover. To successfully construct these works, you will need to be fully versed in local and national politics, the dynamics of local labor movement. Please consult with me as you progress in your work, as I am familiar with most of the regional collections and archivists with whom you will be working.

Other research centers include the Reading Public Library, which has runs of the Reading Eagle and Reading Times. The Historical Society of Berks County is also a local research source that may have useful records. The Marx Reading Room of the Easton Area Public Library also has a full range of regional newspapers you may wish to canvass, including the Easton Express Times, Easton Sunday Call, and Easton Sentinel.

Very close to home, The Moravian Church Archives has microfilm copies of The Globe Times, a Bethlehem newspaper that covers the last decades of the nineteenth century into the 1960s, and would be a useful primary resource that you can canvass. I encourage those interested in Moravian Church history to explore topics that will build a new understanding of the relationship of the Moravian community and significant leaders (such as Archibald Johnston, an early twentieth century Bethlehem Mayor and Moravian Church Elder) to the Steel industry and industrial conflicts such as the 1919 Steel Strike.

Please keep in mind the potential wider readership your original scholarship on Pennsylvania labor history will involve. These original works of Pennsylvania history have potential for publication in highly respected historical journals and or as presentations at historical conferences, especially the annual Pennsylvania Labor History Conference and the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Historical Association.

You may have an interest in a specific research topic: please meet with me about your interests before January 30 so we may discuss your ideas. I have assembled the following list of possible research topics:

Association of Catholic Teachers Strike 1976.
Philadelphia Dressmakers Strike 1922.
1890 Catasauqua Ironworkers Strike.
Allentown Mack Truck Strikes (1941, 1946)
1913 Easton Trolley Strike.
1957 Cement Strike (Easton)
Organizing Bethlehem Steel 1940s.
Organizing Allentown School District.
Organizing Philadelphia Teachers (1965)
AFSCME Organizing in Easton, late 1960s.
The Rise and Fall of John F. Kennedy Hospital (labor health collectives in Philadelphia)
The Carl Mackley Homes (Philadelphia experiment in collective housing, run by Hosiery Workers)
Father Dennis Comey and Philadelphia Longshoremen, 1940s-1970s.
The Socialist Era of Reading Politics (J. Henry Stump, James Hudson Maurer)
Communist Activism in Pennsylvania, 1925-1936.
Max Weiner and Community Activism in Philadelphia (1970s-1980s)
Working class leisure activities.
Industrial Sports Leagues.
Pennsylvania Miners.
The impact of the New Deal in local communities.
The History of Housework.
The Social Uses of the Steelworkers Union Hall.
Police/Fire Unionization in the Lehigh Valley.
Drinking Establishments of South Bethlehem in the early postwar era.
Building Trade Unionism.
Working Class/labor union responses to the Vietnam War.