Dr. Radycki      phone 610.861.1627  email: dradycki@moravian.edu
Office: Art Office Complex, South Hall, south campus
Hours: Mon & Wed 4:00-5:00 (& by chance or appointment)

COURSE DESCRIPTION
This slide lecture course is an introduction to the visual arts in Renaissance and post-Renaissance Europe. It focuses on the development of style (Early and High Renaissance, Mannerism, and Baroque) by examining a substantial body of material from, primarily, the 15th to the 17th centuries. Major artists discussed are, in Italy, Leonardo, Raphael, Michelangelo, and Caravaggio; and, in the North, Durerer, Bruegel, Rubens, and Rembrandt. Also included are El Greco, Velasquez and Poussin. Issues of patronage and gender are examined in historical context. Art museum and gallery visits are required.

GOALS
Students will learn to identify a core set of masterpieces from each period, as well as describe the compositional styles of individual works.

REQUIRED TEXTS for purchase
1) Peter and Linda Murray, The Art of the Renaissance
2) Linda Murray, The High Renaissance and Mannerism
3) Germain Bazin, Baroque and Rococo
4) Elizabeth Holt, A Documentary History of Art, vol. II

RECOMMENDED READING
- The New Testament Gospels
- Heinrich Wölflin, Principles of Art History: The Problem of the Development of Style in Later Art

COURSE REQUIREMENTS
- Students must attend all classes and bring the appropriate required text to each class. After the second unexcused absence, final grade will be dropped by one full letter. After the fourth unexcused absence, student will receive a failing final grade.
- One short paper based on the field trip to New York; one research paper; mid-term; and final exam.
- A field trip to New York City (details to be announced)
Grading: 45% is determined by written work; 45% by exams; and 10% by attendance.
(Short paper, 15%; research paper, 30%; mid-term, 20%; and final, 25%)

Papers: 1) One short paper, or “Looking Assignment,” 4-5 pages in length, comparing works of art from the museum visit to New York; 2) One research paper, 12-15 pages in length, using print sources in Reeves Library. All written work must be completed in order to receive a grade.
Papers are due at the beginning of class; papers handed in at the end of class or any time after will be marked down for lateness (minus one grade per class meeting).

You will be instructed to sign an honesty statement when you sit your exams. Cheating on exams or quizzes will not be tolerated and will result in a 0 or F. Written assignments are designed to engage students with material covered in class through visual participation and personal reaction. Papers must be your own thoughts, impressions and reactions. The Internet can provide valuable source material, but you must participate by visiting the artwork yourself, in person, and offering your own viewpoint. Plagiarism in any form will not be tolerated. As you write your papers be aware that faculty are familiar with art websites, such as the Metropolitan Museum.

Disability: Students who wish to request accommodations in this class for a disability should contact Mr. Joe Kempfer, Assistant Director of Learning Services for Disability Support, 1307 Main Street (extension 1510). Accommodations cannot be provided until authorization is received from the office of Learning Services.

Also look at monographs on the following artists:

- Leonardo (some suggested authors include K. Clark, L. Heyden-Reich, C. Pedretti)
- Michelangelo (by C. DeTolnay, A. Condivi, G. Bull, or H. von Einem); and the Sistine Chapel Ceiling
- Raphael (by J. Pope-Hennessy)
- Titian (by H. Tietze, H. Wethey, or E. Panofsky)
- Durer (by E. Panofsky, C. White, M. Levey, or H. Woelfflin)
- Breugel (by F. Grossman)
- El Greco (by H. Wethey or J. Gudiol)

The general topic for the research paper is the body. Your bibliography should have five book references beyond the required texts. In particular, consider these three:

1) Bernard Berenson, “The Value of the Nude in Art” (Section XIV “Michelangelo,” Book II “The Florentine Painters”), Italian Painters of the Renaissance

2) Kenneth Clark, The Nude: A Study in Ideal Form (any chapter)

LOOKING ASSIGNMENT GUIDELINES

"You cannot say more than you see." Henry David Thoreau
“Accuracy of observation is the equivalent of accuracy of thinking.” Wallace Stevens

A Looking Assignment is an exercise in visual analysis, synthesis, and evaluation. It has three parts.
Part I (graded): describe a work of art in one and a half to two pages (no less, no more);
Part II (graded): describe a second work in a like number of pages; and
Part III (ungraded): compare/contrast the two artworks in one page, answering a question that will be given to you in class.

Begin Parts I and II with the materials (marble, oil paint, etc), the size (ignore the frame or pedestal), and, if a painting, the palette (colors). Be sure to pay close attention to the sculptor's touch or the painter's brushstroke: that is, address the physical reality of the object before you join any narrative that is represented.

Next, consider the overall composition. For example, before identifying something as a “Virgin and Child with Two Saints,” realized that first it is a “Composition with Four Figures” (and in a particular setting such as landscape or interior). Note whether the figures are full-length or cut-off, clothed or nude; make note of where the figures are placed in the composition (center or off-center). Then go on to identify the figures and their relationship to one another, or the narrative that they are enacting.

Determine what is of primary, secondary, and tertiary importance in the work as a whole, and organize your analysis accordingly. Do not, in other words, describe the work simply from left to right, nor from top to bottom. (This results in just so many randomly piled facts, like loosely strung beads.) The point of this exercise is to hone your powers of observation so that you can rapidly identify what is relevant or extraneous. Ultimately, your goal is to develop a richly structured information base of visual knowledge. You can not say everything in two pages, so make sure you identify and say the most important things, and in the order of importance.

If the work is a painting, be sure to pay attention to brushwork and resultant style. If the work is a sculpture, be sure to look at it from all sides (and if an out-of-doors sculpture, be sure to take the site into consideration).

In Part III—which is ungraded—you are focusing on patterns, associations, or disconnections between the works.

Attention! Ignore the following at the peril of a markdown!
The paper should be between four to five pages in length. Papers that are too short, as well as those that are too long, will have to be rewritten to receive a grade. (Use the following as guidelines: 1) double spacing will produce a 26-line page; 2) the margin should be 1" all around; 3) use a standard font, such as Times New Roman, 12 point). Papers that are not proofread will be marked down. (Consult THE ELEMENTS OF STYLE by Strunk & White.) Titles of works of art (paintings/ sculptures) are underlined or italicized.
